BALTIMORE CLIPPER.

U. S. DISTRICT COURT.

Tuesday, June 15.—In the case of the brig Malek Adhel, part of the day was occupied in taking the testimony of Andrew Josephe, the Portuguese cabin boy, interpreted for the Court by a gentleman of this city. This evidence differed in no material point from that brought out in previous examinations; and the testimony closed here. We shall, of course, keep our readers advised of any further proceedings in the case.

[Reported for the Baltimore Clipper.]

BALTIMORE CITY COURT.

Tuesday, June 15, 1841.

Present—Judges Brice, Nesbit and Worthington.

The jury in the case of State vs. Mary C. Patterson, indicted for keeping a bawdy house, and for keeping a disorderly house, returned into court this morning with a sealed verdict of guilty on the first count, but not on the second.

State vs. David Ogle, (colored) indicted for stealing a saddle. The prisoner plead not guilty. The evidence on the part of the State went to prove the fact, and the prisoner was found guilty.

State vs. Alfred C. Harris, indicted for an assault and battery upon a lad named Burke, his apprentice. Burke testified that he had scribbled upon a piece of paper and thrown it in the yard. Harris picked it up, but not being able to read it, some one to whom he shewed it, said that there was blackguard upon it. Harris came in the shop, and told witness so. Witness denied it, when H. struck him with his fist on the head, then with a stick, which broke over his head, and finally assailed him with a cowhide. On his cross examination he persisted in his declaration that there was nothing improper on the paper—nothing but mere scribbling. Some of the witnesses for the state testified that the cowhiding was so severe that the marks of blood were to be seen upon the pantaloons of Burke.

On the part of the defendant, testimony was adduced to show that the boy was of a somewhat turbulent disposition, and that the master's conduct had in general been kind to him.

The court fined the traverser five dollars and costs.

The court directed the complainant to return to his master, and behave himself properly; as, although his master had been fined for an excess of authority in this particular instance, yet he had a right to inflict proper chastisement upon him, when it was deserved.

State vs. Michael Dunn, indicted for an assault and battery upon Arthur Hutchinson, a watchman. Complainant stated that, in the course of a conversation between Dunn and himself, the former abused him; and, upon his making some reply, Dunn clinched him, and threw him down, when, upon his rising, D. ran in the house.

Upon the part of the traverser it was shown in evidence that the watchman had been very abusive to him; that after traverser went into the house, the watchman had gone to the door and challenged him to come out and take a fair fight with him, using abusive language at the same time; that he had subsequently gone off and returning with three others, one of them opened the basement cellar door, by putting his hand through a broken pane of glass; that they proceeded up to Dunn's room in which he was locked, attempted to enter it forcibly; but, finding they could not succeed, they left the house, upon Dunn's promising to deliver himself up at a magistrate's office next morning.

The Court decided that the traverser was not guilty, and ordered the watchman to pay costs.

Mary Ann Barry, indicted for stealing a piece of calico of the value of ten and a half dollars, was placed in the bar, plead not guilty and requested to have her trial removed. The court has not yet decided upon the application.

State vs. John Davis, indicted for stealing one boot, value two dollars and a half. From the evidence, the Jury returned a verdict of guilty, without leaving the box.

Zebulon Mitchell, committed to jail for want of security, to keep the peace towards his wife; was ordered, upon her application, to be discharged, upon the payment of the fine of $5 and costs.

BALTIMORE MARKET, June 15.

Flour. But limited transactions have taken place in Flour since our last report. Some small parcels have been sold from stores without any variation in price. We continue to quote Howard street Flour from stores at $5 for good common brands. We quote the receipt price at $4.87½. Of City Mills the market is bare. Last sales are noted at $5.25. Susquehanna is very scarce and in considerable demand at $5.12½.

Grain. Maryland white wheats we quote at 110a120 cents, though there is but little in market. We note sales of red at 118a114 cents; do. Pennsylvania red and mixed 116a118 cents. Maryland Rye, 58a60 cents; Pennsylvania do. 59a60 cents. Maryland white Corn, 56a57 cents; yellow do. 54a55 cents. Sales of Maryland Oats have been made at 41a43 cents. Virginia, do. 36a38 cents.

Provisions. Transactions in this commodity have been confined to small parcels. We quote prime western assorted Bacon at 5½a6 cents.—Hams 6a8 cents; sides 5 3-4a6 cents, shoulders 4a5 cents. We note some sales of assorted prime quality at 6 cents. The receipts continue abundant, though the demand is limited. We have not been apprized of any transactions in Balt. bacon. We have no alteration to make in barrel meats. Baltimore Mess Beef is held at $12,50; No. 1. at $9, and Prime at $8, nominal. The last sale of Mess Pork was at $12, cash.—The stock of Mess and Prime is heavy with no demand. Some holders of No. 1. Western Lard are less firm and the article is now held at 7½ to 8 cents. Stock moderate.

Cattle.—The demand for live cattle is rather inactive. We quote at $6a$7,75 per hundred lbs. as to quality, from inferior to prime. Live Hogs are in abundance, and are found to be dull sale at $4 to $4,25 per 100 lbs.

Whiskey.—We quote Whiskey in Hhds. 23a24 cents; and in bbls. 24 cents. The wagon price for barrels is 20c., exclusive of the barrel.

Accident on the Norwich and Worcester Rail Road. An accident occurred on the Norwich and Worcester Rail Road on Sunday evening. The forward axletree of the engine broke, and ploughed up the track about thirty feet.—The engineer immediately detached the engine from the train. The engine ran off the track, on the left, at a place of about ten feet descent, and was nearly destroyed. Neither of the passenger cars run off, and were but slightly damaged.—The engineer and one of the firemen were slightly injured, and were the only persons hurt.

DAVIES' FAMILY PILLS.

Philadelphia, June 2, 1840.

☞ To Dr. Davies: Dear Sir—I have had experience in the virtue of your Pills, sufficient to recommend them as a superior cathartic and excellent carminative, and also as a family medicine that every one should be in possession of. There is no doubt that if persons and families generally were acquainted with their efficacy, they might save many a dollar now paid for doctor's bills. Yours respectfully,

E. PARRISH.

Harper's Ferry, August 11, 1840.

Dr. Wm. Davies: Dear Sir—I am happy to inform you and the public, that I have been cured of that dreadful disease the Rheumatism, by taking your Family Pills. I had been laboring under that disease for more than a year, during which time I tried the skill of our best physicians without effect; at length I was induced to try your medicine—I found relief after taking half a box, I continued to take them until I had taken five boxes; my age is 71 years, and I consider that none but the old and rheumatic persons know how grateful I feel to the medicine that has restored me to health. Yours, respectfully, JOHN DYE.

We, the undersigned, are agents at Harper's Ferry for the sale of Dr. Davies' Family Pills, know our neighbour, Mr. Dye, sold him the pills of which he speaks so highly, and believe his statement to be substantially true. Respectfully,

MOFFAT'S LIFE PILLS
AND VEGETABLE BITTERS.

THE perfectly safe, unerring and successful treatment of almost every species of disease by the use of MOFFAT'S LIFE MEDICINES, is no longer a matter of doubt, as a reference to the experience of many thousand patients will satisfactorily prove. During the present month alone, nearly one hundred cases have come to the knowledge of Mr. Moffat, where the patient has, to all appearance, effected a permanent cure by the exclusive and judicious use of the Life Medicines—some eight or ten of these had been considered beyond all hope by their medical attendants.—Such happy results are a source of great pleasure to Mr. M. and inspire him with new confidence to recommend the use of his medicines to his fellow citizens.

The Life Medicines are a purely VEGETABLE preparation. They are mild and pleasant in their operation, and at the same time thorough—acting rapidly upon the secretions of the system—carrying off all acrimonious humors, and assimilating with and purifying the blood. For this reason, in aggravated cases of dyspepsia, the Life Medicines will give relief in a shorter space of time than any other prescription; in Fever-and-ague, Inflammation, Fevers of every description, Sick headache, heartburn, dizziness in the head, pains in the chest, flatulency, impaired appetite, in every disease arising from an impurity of the blood, or a disordered state of the stomach, the use of these medicines has always proved to be beyond doubt greatly superior to any other mode of treatment.

All that Mr. Moffat asks of his patients is to be particular in taking them strictly according to the directions. It is not by a newspaper notice, or by any thing that he himself may say in their favor, that he hopes to gain credit, it is alone by the results of a fair trial. Is the reader an invalid, and does he wish to know whether the life medicines will suit his own case? If so let him call or send to Mr. Moffat's agent in this place, and procure a copy of the Medical Manual, designed as a domestic guide to health, published gratuitously. He will here find enumerated very many extraordinary cases of cure; and perhaps some exactly similar to his own. Moffat's medical office in New York, 375 Broadway, and for sale by the Agents. JAS. WEBB'S PATENT BURNERS,
AND CAMPHINE OIL.

FOR SALE AT No. 109 E. BALTIMORE STREET, between South and Calvert streets, where Burners of every description can be obtained. Those who are sceptical as to its safety or economy, would, I trust be perfectly satisfied by examining the opinion of Professor Locke, of Ohio, on "Webb's Camphine," or by referring to the Journals of the Franklin and American Institutes, of Philadelphia and New York. All those desirous of obtaining a clean, brilliant, and economical light, will find it really to their advantage by calling on the subscriber. The public may be assured of one fact, that we require no meters to ascertain the amount of Camphine consumed, as they register correctly and in plain English.

☞ ASTRAL LAMPS ALTERED.

N. B. We have appointed Joshua Atkinson Agent, No. 23 Market street, P. F., where all orders will meet with immediate attention.

P. AUGUSTUS BAILEY, Agent
For the Proprietors.

The following letter to the Agent, exhibits the superiority of the Camphine over Gas or Oil light, in brilliancy and cleanliness:

New York, March 20, 1840.

Dear Sir—I received yours of the 19th instant, and proceed, as you request, to inform you that WEBB'S PATENT LAMP, in my opinion, is much superior to any Lamp now in use—the Camphine produces better light than Gas or Oil. I have burned Oil for five years, Gas for eleven, and Webb's Camphine for 20 months. I have a better light in my bar-room with five of Webb's burners than I had in the same room with eleven gas lights. In fact, I light my whole house at less expense with the Camphine than it cost me to light my bar-room alone with gas. I recommend it as being the cheapest and best light now in use.

Yours respectfully, THOMAS RILEY,
mh10-tf Fifth Ward Hotel.

"NO CURE NO PAY."

DR. HUNTER'S RED DROP. This long established and highly valuable medicine is now no novelty. It has been before the public for a long time, and by its merits alone, has it risen to a degree of estimation not enjoyed by any other medicine, for the certain cure of the Syphilitic disease. Prompt and effectual in action, yet harmless to the constitution, is its well established character, having never failed to give entire satisfaction in all the many thousand cases, where it has been used as directed.—These absolute and undeniable facts speak trumpet-tongued to the afflicted, and are the basis of a well founded hope of the philanthropist, that this unequalled medicine may circulate far and wide for the benefit of the human race.

This medicine gives the prodigal a chance to repent. Thousands have been saved and radically cured, after suffering under the hands of impostors, by this medicine, and who with grateful hearts are ready to attest to its value, and have allowed themselves to be referred to.

Persons residing at any distance, can have medicine sent to them, packed secure from observation.

It was out of pure motives of philanthropy, that this medicine was first made public; the price always to remain $1 per Bottle, to be within the reach of the most unfortunate.

☞ Letters addressed, (post paid) describing the case, mode of living, &c. will be promptly attended to. Direct No. 17 Harrison street.

N. B. All sold elsewhere under the name of Hunter is a base fraud. Call and read certificates. m1 tf

REMOVAL.

THOMAS M. CROUCH has REMOVED his Brush, Basket, and Wooden Ware Factory and Furnishing Store, from Baltimore street, to No. 6 CENTRE MARKET SPACE, (4th house from Baltimore street,) where he will be pleased to wait on his old customers and the public generally.

UNRIVALLED SPEED!
SUMMER ARRANGEMENT.
GREAT SOUTHERN
UNITED STATES' MAIL LINE,
DAILY TO THE SOUTH.

☞ Bear in mind, that Passengers who go by the Chesapeake Bay and Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road, have 40 miles of Rail Road travelling through the DISMAL SWAMP at midnight, over one of the worst Rail Roads in America, and there are often compelled to lay over 17 hours at Weldon, one of the most unhealthy places in the whole Southern country.

TRAVELLERS FOR THE SOUTH, are informed that, by taking the Cars at Baltimore for Washington at 9 A. M., they proceed, without one moment's delay, via Washington, Fredericksburg, Richmond, Petersburg, Weldon, and Wilmington, N. C. to CHARLESTON, S. C., reaching Charleston the second morning after leaving Baltimore, and often one day in advance of any other Line—the Companies on the route being bound by the Postmaster General to make the following quick Schedule:

Leave Philadelphia	12 P.M. reach	Baltimore	8 A.M.
" Baltimore	9 A.M.	" Washington	11 A.M.
" Washington	11½ A.M.	" Fred'ksburg	6 P.M.
" Fred'ksburg	6½ P.M.	" Richmond	11 P.M.
" Richmond	11½ P.M.	" Petersburg	1 A.M.
" Petersburg	1½ A.M.	" Weldon	6½ A.M.
" Weldon	7 A.M.	" Charleston	on the next morning.

Passengers by this Line not only reach Charleston ONE DAY SOONER than by the Bay boats but they avoid being compelled to remain all night at Weldon, on the Roanoke, one of the most unhealthy places in the whole southern country, where, by the Bay Line, they are often delayed twenty-four hours.

Passengers for Richmond and Petersburg will find this Line far the most expeditious, arriving at Richmond to lodge, (as will be seen from the above Schedule,) on the evening of the day on which they leave Baltimore, being from 16 to 18 hours in advance of those taking the Bay Steam Boats.

☞ This is much the nearest, quickest, and cheapest route to the interior of Virginia, North and South Carolina—at Petersburg, Va. commences the route by way of Raleigh, N. C.—145 miles of Rail Road from Petersburg to that city. Stage Lines branch off from Raleigh Rail Road to the old Piedmont Line, to Milton Danville, &c., and to Knoxville, (Tenn.)

☞ Passengers for the Raleigh and Gaston Rail Road pay through to Petersburg, Va.

Fare to Richmond,	$10 00
Fare to Petersburg,	10 50
Fare to Weldon,	12 50

UNITED STATES MAIL LINE,
DAILY TO THE SOUTH, Sunday's excepted.
Via the Chesapeake Bay and Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road,

THE BALTIMORE STEAM-PACKET CO. announce to the public that in accordance with the New Mail Arrangement, the Boats composing their line, viz: ALABAMA, Captain Sutton; GEORGIA, Captain Coffey; and JEWESS, Captain Holmes, will, on and after WEDNESDAY, the 26th of May, leave the lower end of Spear's wharf daily, (Sunday's excepted,) at nine o'clock, A. M. for Norfolk and Portsmouth, Va.

Passengers for Charleston will find the cars of the Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road Company, on the wharf, on their arrival at Portsmouth, ready to convey them to Weldon, N. C., where they will always arrive in time to take the cars for Wilmington, from which point to Charleston is by the Steamboat, which leaves Wilmington immediately after the Passengers are delivered from the cars.

Passengers for Richmond, Petersburg, or intermediate points on James River, by leaving Baltimore on Monday, Wednesday, or Friday, will sleep on board the Bay Boat and be transferred to the James River Boat next morning.

The Steamboat Fox leaves the Black Water station on the Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road, every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, on the arrival of the cars from Portsmouth, for Edenton and Plymouth, N. C., and returns every Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday, delivering her passengers to the cars as they pass down from Weldon, enabling them to arrive in Baltimore next day, (Sundays excepted.)

RETURNING, one of the above Boats will leave Norfolk every night (Saturday being excepted) at 10 o'clock, and cross over to Portsmouth where she will wait the arrival of the Cars from Weldon, and depart for Baltimore as soon as the passengers and baggage are on board, arriving here in about 14 hours after departing from Portsmouth.

Should the Boat get an early start from Portsmouth, Passengers for Philadelphia and New York will have the opportunity of being placed on board the Philadelphia Steamboat in the Patapsco River, and will arrive in Philadelphia the same night by 11 o'clock, after having travelled 300 miles in 20 hours, without as much fatigue as would be incurred in walking from the Hotel to the wharf.

☞ No freight will be forwarded on the day it is left, unless it is alongside, prior to 8 o'clock, A. M.

ASHAMED OF CHRIST.

Ashamed of Christ! Creation's mighty king!
Before whose blazing throne arch-angels sing,
While at his feet the flaming seraphim
Bows down in homage, bends the glittering wing
Ashamed of Him! at whose uplifted rod
Hell trembles, and her monarch owns him God.
Ashamed of Him! who with a single frown
Can hurl Creation's massive pillars down,
Blot out her blazing suns, her systems crush
And cause her pond'rous worlds on worlds to rush,
And sink them headlong into chaos all,
And crush to atoms in the mighty fall. [lime
Ashamed of Him! whose throne shall stand sub-
When worlds have sunk beneath the arm of Time,
When flaming suns have ceased to spread their light,
Ashamed of Him! who left his lofty throne
Before admiring angels man did own,
And on the ragged brow of Calvary hung
A scene which Earth into convulsions flung.
Angels in silence dropped the sorrowing tear
While Satan quaked, and devils shook with fear.
Ashamed of Him! who barred the gates of hell,
That we might not in her dark caverns dwell
To howl forever thro' her dismal plains,
With rebel angels drag the clanking chains.
Ashamed of Him! who gave the firm command
That Heaven's glittering gates should open stand
That mortal man might freely enter there
Ashamed of Him! who o'er the gloomy grave
Planted the bloody banner, there to wave
'Till the last day, when we shall boldly rise
And bear it proudly thro' the flaming skies
And on Heaven's chrystal battlements sublime
Plant it to wave beyond the touch of Time.
Ashamed of Christ! if I were such as this

PRISON MANUFACTURES.

The opinion that the price of the products of free labor are injuriously affected by the operations of our Penitentiary system, is so firmly interwoven with the prejudices of those, among whom it prevails, that any attempt to convince them of its falsity will probably make but little impression. I am, however, induced to encounter those prejudices from a firm conviction that they are without proper foundation; this conviction is based upon the following facts:

1. The manufactures of the Penitentiary are not sold in the market at a less price, according to quality, than other manufactures, consequently they do not exert a greater influence in depressing prices than similar products made at any other manufactory, whether free labor, convict labor, steam or any other power is used; therefore, if the manufactures of the Penitentiary cost less to produce them than similar products made elsewhere, this difference in cost does not affect the free laborer, (inasmuch as they do not exert an undue influence in depressing the market value of his labor) but goes in the shape of profits towards defraying the expenses of the institution. These expenses are borne by the property-holders in the community, and are much less than they would be were the existing system abolished, and the prisoners allowed to remain unemployed; this burden, although first levied upon the holders of property, is ultimately shared by the whole community in the indirect shape of increased rents, etc., proportioned to the increased taxes levied upon property; so that what is made by keeping criminals employed (while it does not take any thing out of the pockets of the community,) is so much saved to the public at large.

2. The productions of men in a state of bondage are no greater than they would be in a state of freedom. The only difference is, that one is compulsory while the other is voluntary. The one receives no compensation for his labor, while the other is adequately remunerated; and as it is better for men and women to labor, than to be supported in idleness at the expense of the public, so is it right that compulsory measures should be resorted to, where the law can reach the offender; if society were properly organized every person would be taught some trade or calling, which they might prosecute until independent of it; and because this means of obtaining a support is imparted to men after they have committed a crime, (perhaps from this very want) shall this be an objection? If a system of idleness should be adopted among the inmates of our prisons, the chief object of confinement, which is punishment and reformation, runs the risk of being defeated. Their vicious thoughts and impure reflections are driven off by the occupation of the mind in useful pursuits. Their toil is a severe punishment, and while it promotes health to the body it affords employment to the mind and fits the individual to assume his proper place in the community. There is no need of instituting a comparison between the free laborer and the inmate of a prison, merely, because the latter is compelled to labor in an employment, which the former has voluntarily chosen, and which he is free to continue or not, as he may deem proper; there is no disgrace attached to this—nor does he suffer a single abatement of his income, or the slightest detraction of respect or privilege from it, but is in fact really benefitted by its existence; if a system of idleness should be adopted among the inmates of our prisons, he bears an additional burthen and runs the risk of being subject to a far worse condition of society, than under the existing Penitentiary system. I cannot, from these reasons, admit the opinion entertained by many persons, that criminal labor operates injuriously upon the market value of mechanical industry, or that there is any disgrace attached to that branch of labor by the operations of the system referred to.

THE GREEK MOTHER.—(A FRAGMENT.)

The separating forever of parent and child chills the heart, and casts a hopeless darkness o'er fate. Those who have not experienced a parental love, who know not the cares & continued anxieties that fill their hearts, for their beloved offspring, cannot now fully appreciate the condition of Mrs. Amalki, when by tyranny and ruthless barbarism she was compelled to give up for baseful purposes, her young, innocent and beautiful daughter. Mrs. Amalki was a native of Greece, educated in the best schools and brought up in the most refined circles; her husband, Col. Amalki, who was a patriot and a distinguished officer of State, at the commencement of the Greek revolution, met an untimely grave at the first outbreak. His widowed wife was left amid the storms of war, with nought to comfort or console her, save the presence of Ida, her first born and only child. Alas! how little did she think as at night she drew her child to her fond embrace, that this sweet rose, which had been nurtured with such fostering care, was soon to be plucked from its parent stem, and she, the mother like a boughless tree left to wither and die. Rebellion's portals once opened, war's desolating hand was seen and felt throughout all Greece. The Turks fired by the darkest passion of the soul, with a ceaseless thirst for blood, and a stinging desire for revenge, pushed their wanton cruelties to unnatural extremes; not a town, hamlet or village escaped their devastating course, but like the besom of destruction rolling over the land, the innocent and the guilty, the young and the old, regardless of sex, all shared a like fate. Ida had just attained that most interesting of all ages, the green age of sixteen, being the pride and hope of her parents, no pains had been spared in superintending her education, and in affording every facility for making her perfect in all those accomplishments which belong to and adorn woman; with beauty almost matchless, a mind polished and highly cultivated, characterised by the most fascinating manners, and the sweetest disposition, Ida Amalki attracted the universal observation, and was beloved by all who came within the sphere of her acquaintance; she doated upon her mother, and always received from that mother's lips, these words, "My dutiful child! my more than life! my Ida!" At the siege of Missolonghi, Mrs. Amalki and her daughter were forced to fly the city for safety; by a faithful muleteer they were securely conducted to a little village some twenty or thirty miles distant from the scene of battle, but scare had their throbbing hearts ceased to beat with fear, than the cry of "Turk! Turk! to arms! to arms!" was heard, and soon the village in which they hoped in safety to repose, was filled with the savage foe, and then commenced the bloody scene of havoc. Men, women and children were butchered indiscriminately, and nought was heard but the clash of arms and the groans of the wounded and dying; the small village force was soon overpowered by the hosts they had to contend against. Mrs. Amalki and Ida had taken shelter in a small hut, thinking that there they would less likely be discovered, but the scrutiny of the Turk left no place unexplored, as theirs was a war of extermination; soon the unfortunate couple were found and dragged from their lurking place with brutal violence, and when the uplifted arm was about to strike the fatal blow, the commander, as if spell-bound by Ida's charms, cried out, "Halt slave! strike at your peril—sheathe your sword." A ray of hope at this time shot through the heart of the parent and child, but soon this glimmering of hope was blighted, as the commander in the next breath ordered Ida, in consideration of her beauty, to be conveyed to the harem of the great Sultan, while Mrs. Amalki, as she was the mother, was ordered to be thrown into prison, and there remain at the pleasure of her captors. You readily perceive that death to each would have been preferable to such a doom. Suffice it, however to say, that in a few weeks the grave swallowed up the sufferings of Mrs. Amalki, who died of a broken heart. What became of the unfortunate daughter we know not, but no doubt their parting for the last time on earth, was to meet each other in the arms of their Creator.

From the Brighton (Eng.) Herald.

RECENT EXTRAORDINARY EFFECTS OF GALVANISM IN RESTORING LIFE, APPARENTLY EXTINCT. Galvanism was resorted to as a means of restoring the unfortunate Scott, the diver; and, though unsuccessful in that particular instance—the vital spark having fled—its application in cases of suspended animation, particularly from drowning, possesses strong claims to the attention of medical men. The following are a series of very interesting experiments made by a gentleman of Brent, near Ashburton, named Halse, to test the power of galvanism in cases of suspended animation from drowning:

"On Thursday last one of my spaniels whelped, having a litter of thirteen, six of which I took for my experiments. I drowned three of them in cold water, and kept them immersed for fifteen minutes, at which time I took them from the bucket, and placed them in front of a good fire. No motion could be perceived in either of them I then put the front legs of one of them in a jar containing a warm solution of salt and water, and its hind legs in a similar jar, in each of which was inserted one pole of the galvanic battery; the whole were then placed near the fire.

"The position of the dog being now favorable for operating on, without making any incisions in the flesh, I passed a very strong shock through its body; it moved its hind legs. I gave it another shock, which caused its tail also to move. I now passed twenty shocks in quick succession through its body; it moved every limb, its mouth opened, and I was inclined to believe that the dog had actually come to life; but the moment I ceased passing the shocks the dog was as motionless as it was previous to my commencement.—Again I continued the shocks, and I noticed that there was more motion in the limbs. Considering that, in proportion to the return of the sensibility, these shocks would be too powerful for it, I decreased the intensity of them, and passed many hundreds in rapid succession. I continued this for about five minutes, the motion of the limbs increasing as the shocks increased in number. I now ceased; the dog still moved: IT WAS RESTORED TO LIFE. I placed on it a warm flannel in front of the fire, and in a short time it appeared as well as it was previous to its being drowned; it crawled on the flannel, and made the noise peculiar to young dogs.

"I now examined the two other dogs, which were drowned and taken from the water at the same time this one was. They were both dead; a plain proof that it was entirely owing to the galvanic fluid that life was restored. The other three dogs I drowned in warm water, and kept them immersed for forty minutes, at which time all motion had ceased. Two of them I laid in front of the fire, and the remaining one I placed in the jars, as in the preceding experiment. I now passed a few shocks of weak intensity thro' the body, but no motion was perceptible. I therefore increased the intensity of them considerably, and gave the shocks in quick succession. Every limb moved, the belly protracted and again collapsed, and the head was raised. At this period, I stopped passing the shocks, in order to see if there was any motion in the dog, when not under the galvanic influence—there was none. I again proceeded with the shocks, and noticed that the limbs moved more rapidly than before, I considered it necessary to decrease the intensity and increase the quantity of electric fluid, which I did, so much as to be enabled to perceive a slight tremor in the dog. I continued in this manner for about five minutes, at which time I removed it from the jars, and placed it on the table. It was alive. In a quarter of an hour it appeared to be perfectly recovered. The other two dogs (which were not allowed to get cool during the whole experiment) were now examined; no motion whatever could be perceived. I tried the effect of galvanism on one of these. I was successful. In one hour after this I operated on the other dog also, but it was in vain. There was no vigor remaining in the vital powers; life had fled."

A ROBBER SENTENCED. The Boston Post states, that Wm. Wallis, who confessed that he stold a check for eleven thousand dollars, by means of a forged order, from The Boston Post Office in October last, was sentenced to three years imprisonment in the common jail. The sentence was made thus light, because he gave important information to the government, and disclosed the modus operandi by which such robberies may be effected, without any connivance on the part of the clerks or other employers in the post office, to wit, by looking into the private boxes through the glazed portions, and seeing if any letters be marked with double postage.—Should there be any such, a forged order for their delivery is presented, and the letters taken out. If they contain cash, checks, or drafts, its O. K. If not, it is so much roguery thrown away.

MYSTERIOUS. The Bloomfield Democrat states that the dead body of a man was found some time since about four miles from New Port, Perry Co., Pa. The head and hands had been severed from his body. A pistol and butcher knife were found on the spot. This with other circumstances strongly induced the opinion that he had been murdered. He is supposed to have been a drover from the West. There were no marks to ascertain his identity.

FROM FLORIDA. The steamer Cincinnati, Capt. Smith arrived at Savannah on Thursday, 8th inst. and brings intelligence that Col. Worth is at Fort King and has issued an order revoking all passports and arresting all peaceable negotiations; all Indians are to be seized, and Capt. Fulton is ordered to be relieved at Fort Mellon by another Company. Dr. Hammond, is ordered to Fort Mellon; the troops still continue very sickly.

A PHENOMENON. The Chicago American says: "Yesterday our city was visited by thick swarms of small flies that hovered about the roofs and corners of our buildings, and presented the appearance of dense and black clouds of smoke arising out from the chimneys or the roofs. They flew so low as to cover the passers by, and their hum was like the distant roar of a waterfall."

☞The Park Theatre, N. Y. has been jammed and crowded with persons to witness Fanny Elssler. Some of those in the pit offered five dollars for a seat in the boxes. This is ample proof that there are some fools living yet. The charming creature should get her 18 year old son to take the place of Monsieur Sylvane. This would keep the profits in the family.

FREDERICK COUNTY BANK. The latest intelligence informs us that nothing has yet been heard of the robbers. The Examiner says:

"The measures taken by the Board, when fully effected, cannot fail utterly to prevent the use by the robbers, of the chief part of the money stolen."

MURDER. An old man in Brown county, N.Y. was murdered a short time since. He was found dead in his house. The murderers took his gun and sold it about three miles from the place of their crime. They were Germans—have not been taken.

THE PIRACY. The New Orleans paper of the 9th have further accounts of the mysterious piracy and murder, but nothing very definite. The Picayune state that two Irishmen and two Englishmen have been arrested on suspicion of having participated in the bloody tragedy.

WOMAN'S LOVE. An Irishman was lately imprisoned in New Orleans. His wife was permitted to visit the wiadow. She took her two children and with them remained in the same position till her husband's release. She was advised by some, who felt for her grief, to go home, when she replied that "she had no home if he could not come to it." Her remark comprises volumes, and evinces woman's deep and ardent devotion to the man she loves.

INVALUABLE

CONSUMPTION AND BLEEDING OF THE LUNGS CURED. Mr. Wm. Sheppard, residing in Beaver county, Pa. near the state line, relates as follows: "In the month of May last my wife was taken with Bleeding from the Lungs, coughing, night sweats, hectic fever, &c. She had taken a violent cold; having previously given symptoms of the approach of Consumption, I felt much alarmed and made immediate application to a physician. Under his treatment she became worse, instead of better, until the first of June, when I heard from an intelligent man of DR. SWAYNE'S SYRUP OF WILD CHERRY, and from the earnestness in recommending it I was induced to try one bottle. The effect exceeded my utmost expectations—she felt immediate relief. I then mounted my horse and rode to the office, No. 41 St. Clair street, Pittsburg, where it is kept for sale, and procured six bottles more, which I am happy to say has effected a perfect cure. Please publish this certificate, with my name in full, that others may know where to find the greatest blessing on earth.

100 DOLLARS REWARD.

DR. STORM'S SPECIFIC COMPOUND, For the cure of Gonorrhœa, Gleets, Strictures, Diabets or difficulty in making water, and all other unnatural discharges from the urethra of either sex.

In no case has this medicine been known to fail, to effect a permanent cure, and too, in the shortest possible time. Should this medicine fail to effect a cure where it has been taken according to directions, return the empty vial and get back the money. Why then spend both time and money with such quack nostrums as cannot be depended upon; when, for $1, you can purchase a pleasant, sure, and speedy cure, composed solely of vegetable substance! One hundred dollars will be paid to any one who will produce a medicine to equal this compound, or who will prove that it contains any mineral substance whatever.

N. B. This Medicine can be had of JAMES P. WILLIAMSON, corner of High and Green street, (O. T.) of T. J. PITT, Market Space, Fell's Point, and by J. W. W. GORDON, cor. of Pratt & Howard-sts. Also of L. B. THOMAS, corner of Bridge and Forest streets—with full directions accompanying each bottle at $1 per bottle.

TO THE PUBLIC.—The price of HATS again lowered. TOWSON is now selling in Eutaw street, one door north of Lexington street, his superior Hats at the following low prices—fine short Nap Mole Skin Hats at $2.50, fine Brush Hats $2.50; Fur Hats from $1.50 upwards. It may be asked how such Hats can be sold (if as represented) at such very low prices; I answer in the first place, I manufacture very extensively, and am able to purchase materials by the quantity much lower than if I bought by the small; and secondly, I sell for cash, and do not have to charge those who pay a high price, to make up for those who do not pay, as the natural result of the credit system. I think my Hats the best as now offered ever sold in this market for the price. Persons will please call and look at my hats before purchasing elsewhere. Remember TOWSON, one door from Lexington street.

CASH FOR NEGROES. The highest cash prices will at all times be given for Negroes of both sexes, that are slaves for life, and good titles. My office is in Pratt street, between Sharp and Howard streets, and opposite to the Repository—where I or my agent can be seen at all times. All persons having Negroes to sell, would do well to see me before they dispose of them, as I am always buying and forwarding to the New Orleans market. I will also receive and keep Negroes at twenty-five cents each, per day, and forward them to any Southern port, at the request of the owner. My establishment is large, comfortable and airy, and all above ground; and kept in complete order, with a large yard for exercise; and is the largest and most splendid building of the kind in the United States. And as the character of my house and yard is so completely established, for strength, comfort and cleanliness, and it being a place where I keep all my own, I will not be accountable, for the future, for any escapes of any kind from my establishment.

BALTIMORE CLIPPER.

THURSDAY MORNING, JUNE 17, 1841.

THE NEWSPAPER PRESS. It is undeniable that the discovery of the art of printing has effected an entire revolution in the political, social and moral condition of mankind. Previous to the introduction of this art authority was despotic; knowledge restricted to a few, and the precepts of morality not understood, or disregarded.—Printing shed abroad a light, which has been gradually diffused throughout the earth. Among the greatest advantages which have resulted from the introduction of printing, are those derived from the newspaper press. In general the proprietors of papers have a proper appreciation of the responsibility of their situations, and a due regard to the moral influence which the press should exert—hence they guard against the admission of articles into their columns of a demoralizing tendency, or which can administer to the morbid appetite of the viciously disposed. But it sometimes unfortunately occurs, that persons obtain control of a public press, who are not governed by these honorable principles, but look to the accumulation of money as the only thing worthy of attention. Such papers exert an influence as fatal to the welfare of society, as the poison of the Upas is to life. They carry their contamination to the domestic fireside; destroy the peace of families; and rend asunder ties of the most sacred nature. By insinuation and hints, they render the purest matrons and virgins the object of suspicion; and thus plant the rankling thorn where, before their interference, all was peace and happiness. Emboldened by the impunity which has been extended to their malicious and diabolical efforts, in some cases they have dared to proclaim to the people upon whom they are dependent for support, that their wives and daughters are the frequenters of assignation houses—thus casting a general imputation upon the fair sex of the community in which they live.—When the press is thus conducted, it is devoted to the basest of purposes, and is an engine of desolation and destruction. It strikes at the very foundation of civil society, by attempting to destroy confidence in those where it should be most cherished. Female reputation is thus placed at the mercy of pimps and mercenaries, who may be employed and paid to make false reports, to excite public curiosity, and to sell the paper! for the latter is the main object. The glorious art of printing, which should be employed principally is thus dishonored by being made the vile instrument of traducing female honor, and making the fair sex of a whole city a by-word of contempt to the world. This is a wanton perversion of the newspaper press; but it is gratifying to know, that, wherever proprietors thus dishonor the profession, they are held in contempt by those who would not take hush-money from an infamous woman, nor a bribe to slander female innocence.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES. The grave members of the house are as busy as bees from 12 o'clock until dark, doing nothing. The labors of Sysiphus were nothing in comparison of those of the house of representatives. They take one step forward and two backward, and we doubt whether they would not save time by commencing denovo. They seem to have a tangled yarn, which each is pulling at but none can unravel.—And is this the reform which the country was promised? Will members sit out this month snapping and snarling at each other, to the neglect of the public business? We will inform gentlemen, that unless they quit their fooleries and go to work, the people will speak in a voice of thunder in their ears. If we had a set of school boys under our care who would proceed with as much disorder as the house of representatives, we would apply the birch freely. It is shameful; and we know not how those who cause the disorder, can conscientiously put their hands into the public treasury.

We believe that much confusion would have been prevented, had not Mr. Adams mounted his eternal hobby, abolition petitions; which infliction might have been well spared at the extra session.

Abolish the per diem allowance, and substitute a moderate annual salary, and members will quit wrangling and despatch the public business.

GALVANIC EXPERIMENT. We published some time since, an account of certain galvanic experiments said to have been made in Louisville, on the body of a man who had been hanged. The editor who originally inserted them in his paper, subsequently stated that the publication was designed as a hoax, and it was admitted that the whole was a fabrication. We did not think it marvellous that he was should be resuscitated when animation had been suspended for a brief space of time only; and we believe that future experiments will bring convincing evidence that the principle of life may be restored under peculiar circumstances, by galvanism.

In another column will be found the account of various galvanic experiments made in England upon puppies, which we publish for the inspection of the curious. It may be that they are also fabricated; but their accuracy can be easily tested by scientific men.

☞Information from Illinois states that a severe draught has been experienced which has proved injurious to the crops.

DELIGHTFUL SUMMER RETREAT, FAIR HAVEN. Perhaps few persons can be found more anxious to enjoy, or more capable of appreciating, all the advantages of a pleasant retreat in the summer season, than those engaged in the toil and confusion ever attendant upon the transaction of business, in large cities like this. Not only are all of them capable of placing a proper estimate upon those advantages, but many of them are yearly in the habit of enjoying them, in a greater or less degree. To all such we would say, that the beautiful situation, the title of which we have placed at the head of this article, offers inducements equal to any other—superior to most places of public resort. To the south of our city, but fifty miles distant from it, its boundaries laved by the waters of the majestic Chesapeake, upon the Western Shore of which it is located, surrounded by the most beautiful scenery, both rural and aquatic; few can fancy its attractions without desiring to visit it—none can visit it without desiring to remain or to return again. We speak thus enthusiastically of it now, because the period has arrived when our citizens usually forsake the bustlingcity and its crowded streets, for the greenwood and the glen; and, we observe, by an advertisement which will be found in another column, that Fair Haven will be opened, ready to receive visiters, on Monday next, on which day a steamboat will commence running, and run regularly twice a week through the season.

RELIGIOUS SERVICE FOR THE FOURTH OF JULY. Bishop Onderdonk, of New York, has published a notification to the Clergy of his Diocese, that he has "thought it proper, and a duty, to set forth a Form of Prayer, to be used in this diocese on the 4th day of July when that day shall happen on a Sunday, as will be the case this year, and also in other years, where the religious observance of the day shall be deemed proper and desirable."

We think that this is a very appropriate mode of celebrating the Anniversary of American Independence, when it falls on a Sunday, and we should be glad to see it adopted in the various Churches of this State. This would not preclude military and other ceremonies in honor of the day, as they would take place on the succeeding Monday. The importance of keeping in remembrance so glorious an event as the declaration that "these colonies are, and of right ought to be, free and independent," should be annually impressed upon the rising generation; for, it may induce them to hold in higher estimation the liberties which were achieved by a long, unequal and bloody struggle.

We hope that our fellow-citizens of Baltimore will not permit the day to pass unnoticed; if not, it is time that preparations were in progress.

SALES OF REAL ESTATE. The spacious and well built mansion, formerly occupied by John Donnell, deceased, situated one mile west of the Eutaw House, together with the outbuildings and 6¼ acres of ground surrounding the same, sold at public auction, at the Exchange, for $20,000—purchaser John S. Donnell.

A farm in Baltimore county, situated between the Bel-Air and Philadelphia roads, about five miles from the city, containg 236 acres, slightly improved, property of the late Richard B. Spalding, sold for $3,500—purchaser Samuel B. Spalding.

A lot on the south side of Hawk street, fronting 12½ feet on Hawk street and running back 50 feet, was sold yesterday, by H. W. Bool, at $700.

MUSIC. "And is it Prayer?" words from the Baltimore Clipper; Music composed and dedicated to Miss S. W. of Georgetown, D. C., by James M. Deems." The beautiful lines commencing with the above words "And is it Prayer," which appeared in this paper some time since, have been published by Mr. Carusi, of this city, set to music by that accomplished musician, Mr. James M. Deems. We are certain that this will prove an acceptable present to young ladies who delight in melody.

☞The communication by V. G. W. relative to the Green Spring Hotel is written in quite a handsome style, and would, we have no doubt, meet its object, but as its interest is directed towards but one individual and one establishment, we can admit it only upon terms of reciprocacy.

BOUND OVER. Mary Ann Hooper was yesterday bound over by Justice Gorsuch, upon the complaint of Hannah Wisebury, to keep the peace; and, upon giving security, was released.

William McCafferty, charged, upon complaint of Rebecca Jones, with breaking the peace; released upon security by Squire King.

Charles Russell, charged with assaulting Wm. Miles, and Wm Miles, charged with the same offence against Charles Russell, were each committed by Squire Gorsuch.

ACCIDENT. Last evening as Mr. A. Kendall was passing in a buggy wagon along North street, one of the wheels came off, and the reins breaking as he held up the horse, he lost his balance, and was thrown out, receiving, however, no serious injury. The horse then started and ran until the wagon brought up against the curb stone near the watch house, considerably shattered, where he was stopped by some persons near.

☞By a letter from Bermuda from Col. Robinson, dated 30th May, we learn the death of Vice Admiral Sir THOMAS HARVEY—he died on the evening of the 28th May, at his residence, Clarence Hill. He was much respected and beloved, and was to have been buried with proper honors on the 31st May.

CORONER'S INQUEST. An inquest was held yesterday morning, by Wm. T. Rice, over the body of a black boy named Emanuel, belonging to Virginia. Verdict of the jury, accidental drowning.

WASHINGTON, June 16, 1841.

Last evening when I closed, the question pending before the House was the resolution originally adopted, appointing a committee "to revise the rules, and report thereon, until which time the rules and orders, except the 21st, of the last House were to be observed."

When Mr. Rayner had closed his remarks, he offered an amendment as follows: strike out all after the word "resolved," and insert as follows: "That the rules and orders of the last House of Representatives be adopted as the rules and orders of this House, until otherwise ordered; and that a committee of nine members be appointed by the Speaker under the said rules, to revise, amend, and report on the same."

As this amendment did not strike out the 21st rule, it was not satisfactory, and the question being put it was negatived. Yeas 104—Nays 107.

Resolved, That a committee of nine members be appointed to revise, amend and report rules for the government of this House, and that until such committee make report, and the same be finally acted upon, the rules and orders of the last House, except the 21st, shall be considered the rules and orders of this House.

On this resolution, the previous question was ordered, but before the vote was announced, the most uproarious proceedings took place in the Hall.

Mr. Stanley charged some gentlemen with changing their votes.

Mr. Stanley asked them to try it.

After order had been restored, the vote was announced and the resolution rejected. The effect of the rejection was to place the House exactly where it stood a fortnight ago, without any rules for its government except the parliamentary rules. At eight o'clock an adjournment was carried amidst great noise and confusion.

The Senate agreed to the motion for referring that portion of the message relating to the McLeod case, and then went into an executive session. On the doors being opened, it immediately adjourned.

As soon as the journal was read this morning, Mr. Stuart, of Virginia, offered by way of comparison, a resolution proposing to adjourn the question relating to the 21st rule over to the next regular session of Congress.

Mr. S. said he trusted that all parties would rally around him, and like brothers, do all they could to put this exciting question at rest for the present session.

The previous question was then moved, and on that motion a long debate arose.

Mr. Alford, of Georgia, opposed the previous question, as did several others, on the ground that the South ought not to submit to any compromise in relation to so vital a subject. They desired it settled at once and for ever.

Mr. Brown, of Penn., gave notice of a proposition that he resolved to offer, by which he thought all parties might be reconciled. It was, that no petition for the abolition of slavery or other supposed grievance should be received, unless the petition should have come from the place where the grievance was said to exist.

Mr. Rhett thought this a very reasonable proposition, as all parties could thus meet on common ground, he hoped the previous question would not be sustained in order that the proposition might be offered.

After some further debate, the cry of "question" "question" was raised from many parts of the Hall. But it was of no avail, for every man on the floor was desirous of making some explanation of the vote he should give.

Very little business of interest transpired in the Senate. After the reference of numerous memorials on various subjects, Mr. Woodbury took the floor on the motion to print extra copies of the Report of the Secretary on the establishment of a Fiscal Agent. He spoke at great length on the financial measures of the late Administration, and defended them with much zeal.

NEWS ABOUT TOWN.

FATE OF GENIUS. Passing down street yesterday afternoon late, we observed an individual somewhat in advance of us, whose dress and appliances denoted that he was, most unquestionably, a child of genius. His hat no common mortal would have worn—it was so shocking bad—his coat and pantaloons of rusty black—and boots which seemed tremendously, they were so worn out—and then, to crown the whole, beneath his arm he carried a ponderous volume of Coke upon Littleton; and, as if "to make assurance doubly sure," he had evidently been drinking deep, though we do not pretend to say of what spring—certainly it was not from the "Chrystal Fount." Could we doubt there was something more than ordinary about this man? We did not. Nor was our opinion far from right—for, scarcely an hour after, we learned that the individual alluded to had been taken from the bosom of his mother earth, upon which he had fallen, by a police officer who was near him at the time, and who kindly accommodated him, his hat and boots, and his (or some other person's) Coke upon Littleton, with safe lodgings for the night.

FIRE. The alarm of fire yesterday morning about 6 o'clock, proceeded from the burning of some rubbish on McElderry's wharf where the late fire occurred. The grain store adjoining caught, but was soon extinguished by the activeness of our firemen.

MELANCHOLY ACCIDENT. The steamboat Telegraph, in coming out of the harbor of New Haven, about ten o'clock on Monday evening, ran over a fishing smack, on board of which were three persons. One of them, named Richard Hand, belonging to Sag Harbor, was drowned.

ESCAPE OF PRISONERS. Yesterday, a few minutes prior to the adjournment of the City Court, an outcry was heard in the neighborhood of the prisoners' box that some of them had escaped.—All hands rushed to the doors and windows, when it was found that four of the prisoners in the box had made their escape for the time being, by opening the lower shutter of the window looking from the corner of the court room in which the box is situated into the yard, hoisting the lower sash, and jumping out. The officers were instantly in pursuit, and two of the offenders speedily retaken. One of them was Augustus Brown, convicted, as will be seen by our report, but a short time before of stealing from the store of Messrs. Norris & Beatty, a quantity of knives; the name of the other we did not learn. The other two, Edward Janny, indicted for stealing bank notes, to the value of three hundred dollars, from Samuel McPherson, and a boy, name unknown, had not been caught at the time this article was written. Of the whole, Brown alone, we believe, had been tried.

PLEASURE EXCURSION TO ANNAPOLIS. A delightful opportunity is afforded this afternoon to those who wish to enjoy a steamboat excursion to Annapolis. The steamboat Boston will leave Light street wharf at 3 o'clock, P. M. precisely and return about 10 o'clock at night. Every thing we learn has been gotten up in the very best style. A fine band of music has been procured which will furnish the material for all those desirous of joining in the merry dance. These excursions should be estimated as a public accommodation and therefore handsomely patronized. Doubtless there will be a Clipper on board.

IMPUDENT HOAX. The Organ of yesterday morning contained an advertisement that the celebrated New Orleans Band would give a "GRAND INSTRUMENTAL CONCERT," gratis, opposite the Washington Monument, last evening, at half past eight o'clock, "at the urgent solicitations of several respectable families." The evening being pleasant a large concourse of persons assembled at the place designated, when lo! the only playing, was upon the credulity of the people, for the "New Orleans Band" never appeared.

FIRE. The steam company's building at Providence R. I. was consumed by fire on the 13th inst.

TO THE EDITORS OF THE CLIPPER.

Sirs: Having learned by personal application to you, that the article signed "Emigrants," in your paper of this morning, was actually written by one desirous of obtaining information upon the subject of African Colonization, I have to solicit of you the favor of a little space in your columns for a reply, not doubting, from the interest you have so frequently manifested in the cause, that it will be readily granted.

My first impression in reading the article was, that no further notice of it was necessary, than was implied in your introductory remarks, viz: that all information respecting the Maryland Colony of Cape Palmas, and of the facilities afforded by the Maryland State Colonization Society for going thither, could best be obtained by applying at the Colonization Office, where an agent can be consulted, whose principal business it is to disseminate information with regard to the subject, and to act upon all matters relating to the Colony. And I would now say to all those who have any wish or desire to become "Emigrants," that necessary, clear, and definite information can only be obtained by applying at the Office, where not only an agent can be consulted, but one of the Citizens of the Colony of Maryland in Liberia, who is now in this country for his wife and children. Many documents also, of deep interest and importance, can be examined there, as maps and plans of the Colony, drawn by the Colonial Secretary, delineating in full every feature and peculiarity of the Country, and the actual location of the farm or town lot of each and every individual emigrant, with their names affixed. Tables of statistics can also be seen, showing the number of acres of land under cultivation by each colonist, the articles raised on the same, the births, marriages and deaths in the Colony, the census of each several year since its foundation, with the occupation or mode of life of each individual, and in fact all information of the most minute and trivial character connected with the subject, can most readily be obtained by any and every colored person, on application, and they are most earnestly and kindly invited to call, even if they have nothing like a fixed determination to emigrate.

In answer to the one special question of your correspondent, respecting the sailing of the next vessel, I will say, that it is determined to despatch one from the 1st to the 10th of November next, capable of carrying 100 emigrants, should that number apply for passage. The terms now approved by the Society are as follows: All emigrants shall be supplied with farming utensils sufficient to enable them to cultivate their lots, and also with suitable and necessary fixtures and furniture for their voyage, provided they do not already possess the same. Their passage and provisioning will be free, and good and ample rations and provisions furnished for six months after their arrival in the Colony. All baggage, trade goods, household furniture, &c., will be carried free to the extent of two barrels to each individual. Every adult head of a family, and every male member over 21 years of age, will be entitled, on arriving at the Colony, to a lot of good land, containing at least five acres, on which a good and comfortable house can be erected for one hundred dollars at furthest; and in case the heads of families have not the means of erecting their own dwellings, the colored agent will do so for them, at the above reasonable charge, or at the actual cost, and the occupant shall have a deed of the same, by paying for the cost of the house in labor, at from 75 cents to $2 per day, according to the capacity and occupation of the emigrant.

Having made a longer notice than I intended in simply answering the first question of your correspondent, I will defer until another time some additional remarks upon the character and condition of the present inhabitants of Maryland in Liberia, and upon the subject generally of emigrating thither, of the persons most suitable to emigrate, as it regards their own interest and the welfare of the Colony, and upon the preparations necessary preparatory to their departure, &c.: as you doubtless will be more willing to afford me a small space at sundry times, than a column or two at once; and besides, short articles will be more likely to meet the eye, and be read by those most interested.

Very respectfully yours,

J. HILL, General Agent.

☞LOTTERY INFORMATION for THIS DAY, June 17. Another foreign lottery, for "Internal improvement in the District of Columbia" is advertised to be drawn TO-DAY. This is only the second Scheme which has been before the Baltimore public this week for improving the District, amounting together to $406,564, and yielding a profit, if calculated according to a rule lately adopted by the State Commissioners, of SIXTY-NINE THOUSAND DOLLARS! Truly this is a profitable business to some one, and explains why it is that in defiance of the most solemn decisions of Court and Juries, the Commissioners of the TOWN HALL LOTTERY find themselves continually beset with quibbles and special pleadings.

Now THIS DAY the citizens of Baltimore can show their preference for either the foreign or the Town Hall Lottery. In the Town Hall Tickets are $5—Lowest Prize $6; in the foreign the Tickets are $5, and the Lowest Prize $5. je17-1t

FAIR HAVEN. This elegant establishment will be open for the reception of visiters on and after Monday next, the 21st June. The proprietor having made considerable additions and improvements to the establishment, and having provided the same with everything necessary for the comfort and convenience of visiters, feels the utmost confidence in recommending it as a very desirable summer retreat. Fair Haven is situated on the Western Shore of the Chesapeake Bay, about 22 miles below the city of Annapolis; is remarkable healthy—the scenery beautiful and pleasant. (Strangers have said that the scenery alone was a sufficient inducement to visit the place.) The proprietor, ever anxious to accommodate the public, has determined to make such a reduction from his former rates, as will correspond with the present pressure of the times.

The Steamboat Patuxent will leave Baltimore every TUESDAY MORNING, at 6 o'clock, for Fair Haven, and return from thence in the evening. She will also leave Baltimore every THURSDAY MORNING, at 6 o'clock, and will land passengers at Fair Haven on her route to the Patuxent; and will return thence on SUNDAY, touching at Fair Haven. Persons availing themselves of the conveyance to visit Fair Haven only, will not be subject to any charge returning.

BALTIMORE General Intelligence and Accommodation Office, W. Fayette street, Basement story of the Baltimore Temperance Hotel, one door from St. Paul's Lane. The proprietor of this Institution is fully aware that its success depends entirely upon the manner in which it is conducted, and begs leave to recommend it to the notice of the public. There is scarcely any institution more truly valuable in any community than an Intelligence Office. Here the citizens, whom chance or misfortune has bereft of employment, may find a comfortable or lucrative situation. Strangers, though far from their native land, can be supplied with employment, and in short every person with industrious habits, in this happy land of freedom, can obtain a livelihood by applying at Lewis F. Scotti's Intelligence Office.

CLERKS, Book keepers, Bar-keepers, Waiters, Ostlers, Laborers, Teachers, Agents, Cooks, Chambermaids, Wet and Dry Nurses, &c. wanted daily at this office. Strangers in the city would do well to call.

ON REGISTRY—Several negro Girls and Boys of excellent character, for a term of years.

P. S. The terms of this office will be very moderate and reasonable, the plan of conducting business shall be used to promote mutual satisfaction. Those who wish to become yearly subscribers will find the subscription book open at the office—and particularly be it understood, that all communications through the Post Office must be post paid. BALTIMORE CLIPPER.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 16, 1841.

In the case of Malek Adhel, the counsel for the United States having admitted on Tuesday that there was no reason to suppose the claimants liable to any charge, in reference to the aggressions which the M. A. was now under trial for, no further testimony was offered on either side. The court was addressed by the counsel for the government upon points of law, after which the counsel for the claimant submitted the case, without argument to the court. The decision will probably be given to-day.

BALTIMORE CITY COURT.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 16, 1841.

Present—Judges Brice, Nisbet and Worthington.

State vs. James Clifford, indicted for an assault and battery upon James McChesney. From the evidence of the complainant it appeared that he went into the traverser's store, and called for liquor, which was refused him, and some abusive language was used towards him—he then asked for a segar, which was given him, but, not liking the previous treatment, he threw the segar down, and then Clifford ordered him out of the store—afterwards Clifford came to the door and ordered him away—he then told C. if he had him out he would whip him. Clifford then went in and returning in a moment or two with something in his hand, ordered him off the pavement, and, upon his refusing to go, he raised a pistol and shot at him, wounding him with several shot in the face. Further evidence was submitted on the part of the state, amounting to about the same thing.

Some evidence was produced on the part of the defence, to shew that a conspiracy existed between McChesney and a man named Shillenburger, (indicted for an assault upon Clifford) that this attack should be made upon Clifford, but it was not made out. Testimony was also adduced proving that Clifford bore the character of a peaceable, quiet man.

State vs. Henry Shillenburger, indicted for an assault upon James Clifford. Complainant stated that before the affray between McChesney and himself he observed Shillenburger and McChesney standing together, and shortly after the affray, as he came to the door, Shillenburger struck him in the face with a stick, inflicting a severe wound.

Some evidence was here produced by the counsel for the defence, in the case of state vs. Clifford, to shew that the traverser was apprehensive of injury from McChesney, from the quarrelsome character of the latter, when he happened to be intoxicated. And here the two cases closed.

State vs. Thomas Armous and Joseph Beard, indicted for rescuing a prisoner from the hands of an officer, who had him in charge upon a civil process. From the evidence of the officer it appeared that the traversers were in company with John Gelbach, the individual arrested, that they advised him not to go to jail, as they would not; that a crowd followed them on the way to the office of the magistrate, among whom were the traversers; that upon reaching Gay street bridge, the crowd pressing upon the officers, Gelbach made a rush past the officers, and disappeared through the private entrance of a tavern near there. They pursued and made search for him, but could not find him. The traversers did not commit any act of violence.

For the defence several witnesses were examined to prove that the traversers were not guilty of any acts of violence—that they did not advise said Gelbach not to go—and that they were not near enough at the time of his escape to aid in it.

State vs. Augustus Brown, indicted for felony in stealing fifty penknives. From the evidence of an intelligent lad in the employ of Messrs. Norris & Beatty, it appeared that on a certain Tuesday in February last, the traverser entered the store and asked to see some fine knives, when witness took him to the drawer containing them, outside of the counter; the traverser examined them, spoke of the prices, and in the course of the conversation, the clerk came in, and the traverser continued the conversation with the clerk for a short time, after which he left the store. On the next morning, Wednesday, as the witness was engaged in opening the store, a young man came in and enquired for some knives and forks; while he was shewing them, a well grown boy came in, followed immediately by the traverser. The boy went round the counter, where the person was looking at the knives and forks, while the traverser went to the drawer in which the knives were kept, and stood with his back against the drawer, playing with the handle. In the course of about ten minutes, after enquiring about the other clerk, he left the store—in a short time the others also left; and witness, after putting up the knives and forks, went round and examining the drawer, found the knives gone. He had, previous to traverser's leaving the store, heard the drawer shut—he had that morning shut the drawer, it being partially open, and, in so doing, saw the bundle of knives in it. When he examined it after the traverser left, they were all gone. As soon as the clerk came in he went before the magistrate, who issued the warrant.—Some days after the prisoner was arrested; and he then identified him as the person whom he suspected of having taken the knives.

The testimony of Mr. Lowe, the clerk, went to identify the prisoner as the individual holding the conversation with him on the morning of the robbery, about the knives.

No evidence was offered by the defence; and, after a few remarks from the counsel engaged in the defence, and the State's counsel, the case was given to the jury, who, after a short absence returned a verdict of guilty.

State vs. Edward Conley, indicted for stealing three knives. The evidence on the part of the State went to prove the loss of the property; and its being found upon the prisoner; and the identification of the property. The officer who arrested him saw nothing like derangement about him, but thought he might be in liquor—did not, however, smell any on his breath—thought him in liquor because he laid down before he got to jail and cried murder.

The evidence of the warden of the jail and one of the subordinate officers went to prove that, from the time of his being brought to jail up to three or four days afterwards, the prisoner shewed evidence of derangement. Another witness, the committing magistrate, stated that he did not think he was drunk, but smelt liquor upon him—he had known him as a drinking man, who did nothing but go about and get drunk. A witness, summoned by the defence, stated that he had known him for some years, and had always known him to be a hard drinking man; but knew nothing of his honesty or dishonesty—had always looked upon him as inoffensive.

One of the jurors was sworn, who testified that upon the day the traverser was committed to jail, he saw the officers conducting him along French street, when he laid down, and the officers dragged him along the street some distance, the man screaming in such a way as to lead him to think him delirious, but whether he was deranged or his conduct was the effect of liquor, he could not determine.

The Jury not being able to agree, retired to the Jury room, with instructions from the court to return a sealed verdict in the morning.

BALTIMORE COUNTY COURT.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 16, 1841.

Kennard vs. Baltimore and Philadelphia Rail Road Company. This is a suit for damages for $10,000, for an injury done to the son of plaintiff, which resulted in his death—and also for the subsequent derangement of the mother for a certain period, alleged to have been caused by distress of mind, consequent upon the death of the child.—The case came before the court on Monday, and the examination of witnesses occupied the time of the regular sitting of the court up to yesterday morning, when the evidence was closed on both sides. Testimony was produced by the plaintiffs to shew that on the day when the unfortunate child met its death, (the 13th March, 1839,) the cars were travelling with great rapidity, the horses in a gallop, going at the rate of eight or ten miles an hour, and that, had ordinary care or prudence been used by the driver, when advised first of the boy's danger, he might have been saved. To rebut this, witnesses were summoned by the defendants, who testified that the cars were proceeding at the ordinary rate at which they pass through the city, of from four to five miles an hour—that the child in question, in company with two others, were playing between the track and the curb-stone—that the three attempted suddenly to cross the track within a few feet of the cars—that the two elder children got across in safety, but this boy, being quite young, only two and a half years old, becoming frightened, kept down the middle of the track—that the driver and brakesman, aided by several passengers who were on the front of the car endeavored to rein up the horses and stop the car in time to prevent injury to the child, but that before this could be effected, he was knocked down by one of the horses, and the car passed over him, crushing him so severely as to cause his death in a few hours afterwards. This, we believe, covers the principal points of the evidence in the case. After the closing of the testimony, the counsel for the defendants submitted several prayers to the Court, the arguments upon which occupied the balance of the day up to hour of adjournment.

DAVIES' FAMILY PILLS.

[From Captain PARRISH, who commenced to use them when diseased in August, 1839.]

PHILADELPHIA, June 2, 1840.

☞To DR. DAVIES: Dear Sir—I have had experience in the virtue of your Pills, sufficient to recommend them as a superior cathartic and excellent carminative, and also as a family medicine that every one should be in possession of. There is no doubt that if persons and families generally were acquainted with their efficacy, they might save many a dollar now paid for doctor's bills. Yours respectfully,

E. PARRISH.

HARPER'S FERRY, August 11, 1840.

DR. WM. DAVIES: Dear Sir—I am happy to inform you and the public, that I have been cured of that dreadful disease the Rheumatism, by taking your Family Pills. I had been laboring under that disease for more than a year, during which time I tried the skill of our best physicians without effect; at length I was induced to try your medicine—I found relief after taking half a box, I continued to take them until I had taken five boxes; my age is 71 years, and I consider that none but the old and rheumatic persons know how grateful I feel to the medicine that has restored me to health. Yours, respectfully, JOHN DYE.

We, the undersigned, are agents at Harper's Ferry for the sale of Dr. Davies' Family Pills, know our neighbour, Mr. Dye, sold him the pills of which he speaks so highly, and believe his statement to be substantially true. Respectfully, W. & S. ANDERSON.

☞They will carry off the bile from the stomach.

Sold by G. Savage, General Agent for Washington; J. Thomas, and Mrs. Banks Georgetown; W. G. Cole, Hatter, and J. Brunner, Frederick; S. Church, Alexandria; J. Demuth, York; No. 34 Fayette street; and by T. MOORE, No. 74 Market street, General Agent for Baltimore. Price 25 cents per box, five for $1, or $2 per dozen. m22

NOTICE.

BALTIMORE & OHIO RAIL ROAD.

THE CHANGE in the hour of arrival of the Mail Train from Philadelphia, renders it necessary that a corresponding change should be made in the departure of the Morning Cars for the west:

Notice is therefore hereby given, That on and after WEDNESDAY, 26th instant, the Passenger Train for Ellicott's Mills, Frederick, and Harper's Ferry will be despatched from the Depot in Pratt street, at half past 9 instead of 7 o'clock, A. M., the present hour of departure—of which travellers will take notice.

☞The Extra Train for Frederick will continue to leave at 3½ o'clock every evening, with which, as well as with the Morning Train, passengers from Washington can still connect at the Relay House. By order,

m24-tf B. CHASE, Agent.

MOFFAT'S LIFE PILLS AND VEGETABLE BITTERS.

THE perfectly safe, unerring and successful treatment of almost every species of disease by the use of MOFFAT'S LIFE MEDICINES, is no longer a matter of doubt, as a reference to the experience of many thousand patients will satisfactorily prove. During the present month alone, nearly one hundred cases have come to the knowledge of Mr. Moffat, where the patient has, to all appearances, effected a permanent cure by the exclusive and judicious use of the Life Medicines—some eight or ten of these had been considered beyond all hope by their medical attendants.—Such happy results are a source of great pleasure to Mr. M. and inspire him with new confidence to recommend the use of his medicines to his fellow citizens.

The Life Medicines are a purely VEGETABLE preparation. They are mild and pleasant in their operation, and at the same time thorough—acting rapidly upon the secretions of the system—carrying off all acrimonious humors, and assimilating with and purifying the blood. For this reason, in aggravated cases of dyspepsia, the Life Medicines will give relief in a shorter space of time than any other prescription; in Fever-and-ague, Inflammation, Fevers of every description, Sick headache, heartburn dizziness in the head, pains in the chest, flatulency, impaired appetite, in every disease arising from an impurity of the blood, or a disordered state of the stomach, the use of these medicines has always proved to be beyond doubt greatly superior to any other mode of treatment.

All that Mr. Moffat asks of his patients is to be particular in taking them strictly according to the directions. It is not by a newspaper notice, or by any thing that he himself may say in their favor, that he hopes to gain credit, it is alone by the results of a fair trial. Is the reader an invalid, and does he wish to know whether the life medicines will suit his own case? If so let him call or send to Mr. Moffat's agent in this place, and procure a copy of the Medical Manual, designed as a domestic guide to health, published gratuitously. He will here find enumerated very many extraordinary cases of cure; and perhaps some exactly similar to his own. Moffat's medical office in New York, 375 Broadway, and for sale by the Agents. JAS. WEBB'S PATENT BURNERS, AND CAMPHINE OIL.

FOR SALE AT No. 109 E. BALTIMORE STREET, between South and Calvert streets, where Burners of every description can be obtained. Those who are sceptical as to its safety or economy, would, I trust be perfectly satisfied by examining the opinion of Professor LOCK, of Ohio, on "WEBB'S CAMPHINE," or by referring to the Journals of the Franklin and American Institutes, of Philadelphia and New York. All those desirous of obtaining a clean, brilliant, and economical light, will find it greatly to their advantage by calling on the subscriber. The public may be assured of one fact, that we require no meters to ascertain the amount of Camphine consumed, as they register correctly and in plain English.

☞ASTRAL LAMPS ALTERED.

N. B. We have appointed JOSHUA ATKINSON Agent, No. 22 Market street, F. P., where all orders will meet with immediate attention.

F. AUGUSTUS BAILEY, Agent
For the Proprietors.

The following letter to the Agent, exhibits the superiority of the Camphine over Gas or Oil light, in brilliancy and cheapness:

New York, March 23, 1840.

DEAR SIR—I received yours of the 19th instant, and proceed, as you request, to inform you that WEBB'S PATENT LAMP, in my opinion, is much superior to any Lamp now in use—the Camphine produces better light than Gas or Oil. I have burned Oil for five years, Gas for eleven, and Webb's Camphine for 99 months. I have a better light in my bar-room with five of Webb's burners than I had in the same room with eleven gas lights. In fact, I light my whole house at less expense with the Camphine than it cost me to light my bar-room alone with gas. I recommend it as being the cheapest and best light now in use.

Yours respectfully, THOMAS RILEY,
mh16-tf Fifth Ward Hotel.

BALTIMORE LOCK DISPENSARY,
No. 17 HARRISON ST.
"NO CURE NO PAY."

DR. HUNTER'S RED DROP. This long established and highly valuable medicine is now no novelty. It has been before the public for a long time, and by its merits alone, has it risen to a degree of estimation not enjoyed by any other medicine, for the certain cure of the Syphilitic disease. Prompt and effectual in action, yet harmless to the constitution, is its well established character, having never failed to give entire satisfaction in all the many thousand cases, where it has been used as directed.—These absolute and undeniable facts speak trumpet-tongued to the afflicted, and are the basis of a well founded hope of the philanthropist, that this unequalled medicine may circulate far and wide for the benefit of the human race.

This medicine gives the prodigal a chance to repent. Thousands have been saved and radically cured, after suffering under the hands of impostors, by this medicine, and who with grateful hearts are ready to attest to its value, and have allowed themselves to be referred to.

Persons residing at any distance, can have medicine sent to them, packed secure from observation.

It was out of pure motives of philanthropy, that this medicine was first made public; the price always to remain $1 per Bottle, to be within the reach of the most unfortunate.

☞Letters addressed, (post paid) describing the case, mode of living, &c. will be promptly attended to. Direct No. 17 Harrison street.

N. B. All sold elsewhere under the name of Hunter is a base fraud. Call and read certificates. m1-tf

REMOVAL.

THOMAS M. CROUCH has REMOVED his Brush, Basket, and Wooden Ware Factory and Furnishing Store, from Baltimore street, to No. 6 CENTRE MARKET SPACE, (4th house from Baltimore street,) where he will be pleased to wait on his old customers and the public generally.

Persons commencing housekeeping, will find it to their advantage to call and select from my assortment of BRUSHES, BASKETS, TIN WARE, WOODEN WARE, &c as I will make a liberal discount to those who make their general bill at my Store.

☞Mr. JOHN S. BRASHEARS has a Tin & Sheet-iron Ware workshop in the rear of the Store, and will make and repair all kinds of Tin and Sheetiron work, Spouting, Roofing, &c. in a workmanlike manner, at short notice. His friends and the public are invited to patronize him. ap1-tf

THE PROPRIETORS OF THE GAY-ST. CHAIR WARE ROOMS, would inform their friends and the public generally, that they have now on hand, a very splendid assortment of Parlour and other CHAIRS, comprising Mahogany, Maple, Walnut, and a variety of imitation wood colours. They would request persons, disposed to purchase, to give them a call, as their assortment is not surpassed if equalled by any establishment in the city.

They would also inform Shipping Merchants that they have on hand a large assortment of Cane and Slatt-back KNOCK DOWN, suitable for the West Indies or South American market, among which is a large proportion of very rich colored white tops—all of which they are willing to sell on the most accommodating terms. se1—dtf A. & J. UNRIVALLED SPEED!
SUMMER ARRANGEMENT.
GREAT SOUTHERN
UNITED STATES' MAIL LINE,
DAILY TO THE SOUTH.

☞Bear in mind, that Passengers who go by the Chesapeake Bay and Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road, have 60 miles of Rail Road travelling through the DISMAL SWAMP at midnight, one of the worst Rail Roads in America, and often are often compelled to lay over 17 hours at Weldon, one of the most unhealthy places in the whole Southern country.

TRAVELLERS FOR THE SOUTH, are informed that, by taking the Cars at Baltimore for Washington at 9 A. M., they proceed, without one moment's delay, via Washington, Fredericksburg, Richmond, Petersburg, Weldon, and Wilmington, N. C. to CHARLESTON, S. C., reaching Charleston the second morning after leaving Baltimore, and often one day in advance of any other Line—the Companies on the route being bound by the Postmaster General to make the following quick Schedule:

Leave Philadelphia	12 P.M.	reach Baltimore	8 A.M.
" Baltimore	9 A.M.	" Washington	11 A.M.
" Washington	11½ A.M.	" Fredk'sburg	6 P.M.
" Fred'ksburg	6½ P.M.	" Richmond	11 P.M.
" Richmond	11½ P.M.	" Petersburg	1 A.M.
" Petersburg	1½ A.M.	" Weldon	6½ A.M.
" Weldon	7 A.M.	" Charleston	on the next morning.

Passengers by this Line not only reach Charleston ONE DAY SOONER than by the Bay boats but they avoid being compelled to remain all night at Weldon, on the Roanoke, one of the most unhealthy places in the whole southern country, where, by the Bay Line, they are often delayed twenty-four hours.

Passengers for Richmond and Petersburg will find this Line far the most expeditious, arriving at Richmond to lodge, (as will be seen from the above Schedule,) on the evening of the day on which they leave Baltimore, being from 16 to 18 hours in advance of those taking the Bay Steam Boats.

☞This is much the nearest, quickest, and cheapest route to the interior of Virginia, North and South Carolina—at Petersburg, Va. commences the route by way of Raleigh, N. C.—145 miles of Rail Road from Petersburg to that city. Stage Lines branch off from Raleigh Rail Road to the old Piedmont Line, to Milton Danville, &c., and to Knoxville, (Tenn.)

☞Passengers for the Raleigh and Gaston Rail Road pay through to Petersburg, Va.

Fare to Richmond,	$18.00
Fare to Petersburg,	10 50
Fare to Weldon,	12.50

UNITED STATES MAIL LINE,
DAILY TO THE SOUTH, Sunday's excepted.
Via the Chesapeake Bay and Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road,

THE BALTIMORE STEAM-PACKET CO. announce to the public that in accordance with the New Mail Arrangement, the Boats composing their line, viz: ALABAMA, Captain Sutton; GEORGIA, Captain Coffey; and JEWESS, Captain Holmes, will, on and after WEDNESDAY, the 26th of May, leave the lower end of Spear's wharf daily, (Sunday's excepted,) at nine o'clock, A. M. for Norfolk and Portsmouth, Va.

Passengers for Charleston will find the cars of the Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road Company, on the wharf, on their arrival at Portsmouth, ready to convey them to Weldon, N. C., where they will always arrive in time to take the cars for Wilmington, from which point to Charleston is by the Steamboat, which leaves Wilmington immediately after the Passengers are delivered from the cars.

Passengers for Richmond, Petersburg, or intermediate points on James River, by leaving Baltimore on Monday, Wednesday, or Friday, will sleep on board the Bay Boat and be transferred to the James River Boat next morning.

The Steamboat Fox leaves the Black Water station on the Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road, every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, on the arrival of the cars from Portsmouth, for Edenton and Plymouth, N. C., and returns every Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday, delivering her passengers to the cars as they pass down from Weldon, enabling them to arrive in Baltimore next day, (Sundays excepted.)

RETURNING, one of the above Boats will leave Norfolk every night (Saturday being excepted) at 12 o'clock, and cross over to Portsmouth where she will wait the arrival of the Cars from Weldon, and depart for Baltimore as soon as the passengers and baggage are on board, arriving here in about 14 hours after departing from Portsmouth.

Should the Boat get an early start from Portsmouth, Passengers for Philadelphia and New York will have the opportunity of being placed on board the Philadelphia Steamboat in the Patapsco River, and will arrive in Philadelphia the same night by 11 o'clock, after having travelled 360 miles in 20 hours, without as much fatigue as would be incurred in walking from the Hotel to the wharf.

☞No freight will be forwarded on the day it is left, unless it is alongside, prior to 8 o'clock, A. M.

Lines written on hearing the Rev. Mr. TIPPET ask the question,

WHAT IS AN ANGEL?

When sickness comes, and Death's lean hand
In terror meets the victim's eye,
When as he waits the dread command,
"Spare not his breath, he too must die;"
'Tis then an angel meets our view,
In Pity's mock and gentle face,
In Friendship's hand forever true,
And Love's sweet breath, with Mercy's grace,
Affection, Hope, and Faith, to save
A sinner from an endless grave:
With these to guide, our path is true,
All trouble's cease—Heaven's in our view.

THE FIRST IMPULSE OF LOVE.

Bright is the beam of the morning's first dawn,
As it breaks through the dusk of the night,
Gladd'ning and cheering the traveller on
With its pure and most heavenly light.

But still brighter, and clearer, and pleasanter far,
Is to feel the first impulse of Love,
As we look, and behold it above.

Oh! cold is that breast that throbs not at all,
When the feeling comes over the heart,
Of Purity, Loveliness, whatsoe'er we may call,
What the first impulse of Love should impart.

A SHORT PATENT SERMON.

BY DOW, JR.

A wife, like echo, should be true
To speak when she is spoken to;
But not, like echo, still be heard
Commanding for the final word.

My hearers:—A wife is not only a choice piece of household furniture, but a useful article for domestic purposes. She can, besides darning stockings and mending breeches, keep all the apartments of man's heart in order, and entwine for him garlands of tenderness to bedeck his connubial bower. She is the very marrow of comfort—the principal tributary to the silvery stream of happiness—the fountain of joy—a lump of the pure gold of love, refined in the crucible of Hymen. I would earnestly advise all my young male friends, who wander along the dark avenues of celibacy, with no such bright star as woman to guide their erring steps, to enter immediately upon the blooming lawns of matrimony, and bask in the sunshine of a fond wife's affections—even as snakes quit their tenebrious dens, and lie out to warm beneath the congenial rays of a vernal sun. But, my friends, you must analyze well the component parts of a female before you amalgamate. You mustn't let your better judgment be kidnapped by the allurements of beauty; for beauty is but a flower that fades in the noontide of life, and bolsoms no more. The brightest jewel pertaining to a woman is not worn upon her finger—neither does it glitter upon her bracelet. No, it lies buried beneath a whole cargo of silks, satins, and laces, in the casket of her mind. It is there that you should seek for those precious gems which adorn the female character, and give to a woman all the attributes that belong to an angel—minus the wings and a diadem of perfect holiness.

My dear young friends! I hope you will not be misguided in your search after those qualifications and natural disposition which a wife ought to possess. She should, of course, be submissive to the husband, inasmuch as the husband ought to be as mild towards her as is the balmy breath of May to the tender rose.—Her bosom should be a peaceful lake of love, surrounded by the high hills of forbearance, over which the gales of passion may blow and never ruffle its placid surface. She should, like an echo, always be ready to speak when spoken to by her bigger and more substantial half; and yet she should not, like an echo, be ever contending for the final word, for she ought to know that perverseness in a wife always presents a worse appearance than it does on the husband, even as a fly speck marreth the beauty of white cambric more than doth an ink spot the comeliness of a black broadcloak. She ought also to be aware that the obstinacy of the man genus is likened unto the bristles upon a hog's back; which being stroked from the head towards the tail, appear smooth and delicate; but, when manipulated from the tail towards the head, are found to be as rough and obtrusive as the pickets that surround the prison-house of endless torment.

O, my beloved hearers! I hope and trust that all you masculines who bear the conjugal yoke have made good selections from the female creation, to help you drag the plough of care over the stubbles of such a bargen existence as is allotted to man. I know some wives whose incorrigibleness is enough to wear the patience of a mile-stone—whose indefatigable exertions in the cause of mischief are worthy of a scholastic monkey—and whose gun powder tempers are liable to explode with a fearful concussion when touched with a spark of reproof. They draw their social tea altogether too strong for weak constitutions, and throw too much salt into their husbands' porridge. They want to wear the breeches whether they will fit or not. They set their lords to pealing potatoes while they go out and chop wood, which the God of nature never intended should be subjected to the control of a person in petticoats. Oh, this doesn't any more accord with my ideas of what female worth should consist than does the tolling of a funeral knell with the merry notes of Yankee Doodle! A wife who assumes too much—who will have her own notions gratified always—who will raise a flame of dispute upon trifling occasions, and persist in keeping on fuel at the last—is worse than no wife at all. When Heaven first saw fit to work up some of its choicest material into the delicate figure of woman, and placed her in the hermitage of lonely man, it was intended that she should be to him a help-mate—a cheerful companion—a solace in his desolate hours, a turtle dove that he should press to his bosom in the fondness of affection, and shelter from the cold storms of want—that she should dress the garden of his heart with the perennial flowers of peace—water them with tenderness, and strew his bed with the roses of reciprocal love. For all which she should be, to a degree submissive, and never let the tongue do damage to those fine qualities which should ever be her pride and her boast.

My friend—to find a good wife in these days of hoohey and fashion is like seeking for pearls among an ocean of oyster shells; but if you are lucky enough to find one, hang on to her like hemp—for she is as rich a treasure as ever existed in the imagination of an enthusiast. Cherish her, protect her and love her; and you will find but few barren spots between the altar and the grave. And you, young maids, who are now delighting in the joyful anticipations of one day becoming happy brides! I warn you to conduct yourselves properly lest your blooming hopes be suddenly overspread with the mists of mortification, and you be doomed to go sighing down to the tomb unwooed, uncourted and unwed. May you all, whether single or married, endeavor to live on such terms with one another that the triune joys of friendship, love and happiness may wait on you to the confines of eternity. So mote it be!

THE LOVERS OF VIRE.

The sun was shining as fair as the sun could shine in a bright May morning—bright, yet gentle, warm, but fresh; mid-way between the watering-pot of April and the warming-pan of June; when in the beautiful valley of Vire—every body knows Vire—but, lest there should be any body in the wide world who does not, dearly beloved reader, I will tell you all about it. Get into the stage-coach which journeyeth diurnally between London and Southampton; enjoy the smoothness of the road—bless Mr McAdam—put up at the Dolphin, and yield yourself to the full delights of an English four posted bed, for no such sweets shall you know from the moment you set your foot on board the steamboat for Havre, till the same steamboat or another, it matters not which, lands you once more on the English strand. Supposing you then arrived at Havre—get into a diligence as fast as you can; rush across the river to Honfleurs, from Honfleurs dart back to Caen; and after you have passed five minutes to think of William the Conqueror, put yourself into the diligence for St. Malo, and when you have travelled just twelve leagues and a half, you will come to a long steep hill, crowned by a pretty, airy-looking town, whose buildings, in some parts gathered on the very pinnacle, in others running down the slope, seem as if coquetting with the rich valleys that woo them from below. Go to bed; and if you bathe your feet beforehand, which, if you are of my faction you will do, walk over the tiled floor of the inn bed-room, that you may have a fit opportunity of cursing tiled floors, and of relieving yourself of all the spleen of your nature before next morning. Then, if both your lover and the day be favorably disposed, sally forth to the Eastern corner of the town, and you will have a fair view over one of the loveliest valleys that nature's profuse hand ever gifted with beauty.

The soft clear stream of the Vire winding sweetly along between the green sloping hills and the rich woods, and the fields and chateaux, and gardens, and sunshine catching upon all its meanderings, and the birds singing their songs of love, as its calm waters roll bountifully by them. Look upon it, and you will not find it difficult to imagine how the soul, even of an obscure artisan in remote age, was warmed into poetry and music in the bosom of that valley, and by the side of that stream. It was, then, in that beautiful Vale of Vire, some twenty years agone, that Francois Lormier went out to take his last May walk with Marietta Duval, ere the relentless conscription called him from his happy home, his sweet valleys and his early love. It was a sad walk, as well may be imagined; for though the morning was bright, and nature, to her shame be it spoken, had put on her gayest smiles as if to mock their sorrow; yet the sunshine of the scenes could not find its way to their hearts, and all seemed darkened and clouded around them. They talked a great deal and talked a long time: but far be it from me to betray their private conversation.

I would not for all the world—especially as I know not one word about it—except, indeed, that Francois Lormier vowed that the image of Mariette should remain with him forever—should inspire him in the battle, and cheer him in the bivouac; and that Mariette protested that she would never marry any body except Francois Lormier, even if rich old Monsieur Latoussefort, the great fortune, were to lay himself and fortune at her feet; and, in short, that when "seven long years were out," Francois would find her still a spinster, and very much at his service. "Mais si je prednis une femme?" said Francois Lormier.—"Qu'est ce que c'nen fait?" replied Mariette. They parted—and first we follow the lady. Mariette wept a great deal, but soon after got calm again, went about her ordinary work, sang her song, danced at the village fete, talked with the talkers, and laughed with the laughers, and won the hearts of all the youths in the place, by her unadorned beauties and her native grace. But still she did not forget Francois Lormier; and when any one came to ask her in marriage, the good dame, her mother, referred them directly to Mariette, who had always her answer ready, and with a kind word and gentle look sent them away refused, but not offended.

At length good old Monsieur Latoussefort presented himself with all his money-bags, declaring that his only wish was to enrich his gentle Mariette; but Mariette was steady, and so touchingly did she talk to him about poor Francois Lormier, that the old man went away with tears in his eyes. Six months afterwards he died, when to the wonder of the whole place, he left his large fortune to Mariette.

In the mean while Francois joined the army, and from a light handsome conscript, he soon became a brave, steady soldier. Attached to the great Northern army, he underwent all the hardships of the campaign in Poland and Russia, but still he never lost his cheerfulness, for the thought of Mariette kept his heart warm, and even a Russian winter could not freeze him. All through that Miserable retreat, he made the best of every thing. As long as he had a good tender piece of saddle, he did not want a dinner; and when he met with a comfortable dead horse to creep into, he found board and lodging combined. His courage and his powers of endurance called upon him, from the first, the eyes of one whose best quality was the impartiality of his recompense. Francois was rewarded as well as he could be rewarded; but at length, in one of those unfortunate battles by which Napoleon strove in vain to retrieve his fortune, the young soldier, in the midst of the most gallant daring, was desperately wounded in the arm. Pass we over the rest.

Mutilated, sick, weary, and ragged, Francois approached his native valley, and doubtful of his reception—for misery makes sad misanthropes—he sought the cottage of Madame Duval. The cottage was gone! and on inquiring for Madame Duval, he was directed to a fine farm house by the banks of the stream. He thought there must be some mistake, but yet he dragged his heavy limbs thither, and knocked timidly against the door. "Entrez," cried the good humored voice of the old dame. Francois entered, and unbidden, tottered to a chair. Madame Duval gazed on him for a moment, and then rushed to the stairs, called loudly, "Come down, Mariette, come down; here is Francois returned!" Like lightning, Mariette darted down the stairs, saw the soldier's old great coat, and flew towards it; stopped—gazed on his haggard face and empty sleeve—and gasping, fixed her eyes on his countenance.

'Twas for a moment she gazed on him thus, in silence, but there was no forgetfulness, nor pride about her heart; there was sorrow, and joy, and love, and memory, in her every glance. "O, Francois!" cried she, at length, casting her arms around his neck, "how thou hast suffered!" As she did so, the old great coat fell back, and on his bosom appeared the golden cross of the legion of honor, "N'importe!" cried she, as she saw it "voila sa recompense!" He pressed her fondly to his bosom—"My recompense is here," he said, "my recompense is here!"

IMPORTANT FROM COLUMBIA, S. AMERICA.

By the way of Kingston, Jamaica, we have received very late intelligence from Carthagena, on the Spanish Main. The following is the despatch:

CARTHAGENA, May 11.

As to political matters, we are, I think, while near the crisis. I think I told you that Carmona was entirely defeated by Mosquera, at Tescua in Ocana. A schooner load of the fugitives arrived a week or two ago from Maracaibo, they having fled through Venezuela. Some say that Carmona is dead; others, that he is prisoner in Venezuela; however, we have not heard anything of him since the battle on the 1st April. Ocana has reproncunced, and in possession of Mosquera.

From Bogota, or the Cora, we hear nothing; we are expecting another special messenger from the former place in all this month. Don Vicente Pinceres had a quarrel with Carmona and left him, returning to Mompox. After the battle, he was sent up the river to Ocana with 150 men to meet Mosquera, who drove him back to the Banco, where he took up his position, and it was then supposed, and is now confirmed, that he was in treaty with Mosquera to join him. Last week Vicente attacked Mompox, and would have succeeded in making that place reprononce, had not Col. Hernandez arrived there the same day from Corozal, with 300 men.

Don Vicente was obliged to fly, and is now at the Cerre de San Antonio, nearly opposite to Barranca. If Mosquera does not ably assist him, I doubt he will have to give it up; he has been rather too precipitate—a few days will bring us the news; 150 men left our place last night for Barranca, against Vicente. This week will be rather an eventful one. I have just heard that Vicente has 600 men, and is increasing his force. You will have heard some news by the Caroline, that left Savanilla some short time ago. Captain Symmonett will also give you some news. Several are now in prison, and they are still hunting after more.—Our Jefe went to Barranquilla last week to look after them there. Some say that he too is in communication with Mosquera, quere Sabe. One or two attempts have been made here by the exalitedos to depose him, but they have failed. Col. Losada was named by some, and Gen. Carabona by others. The impressment still goes on very rigidly, and they are now forming a corps of the Civicos. The packet has not yet made its appearance; she will carry you important news.—N. Y. Herald.

LATE FROM JAMAICA. By the schooner Cyrus we have Jamaica papers to the 28th ult., with news from the Windward Islands to the 15th. The Island of Jamaica had been suffering from drought, but partial rains had revived vegetation, and there was a prospect of an average crop.

The Legislature of Dominica had passed a bill laying a duty of one per cent. on all imports and exports, to make roads, and another laying a separate duty on imports to raise the sum of £19,000 for paying off the Government loan. The Governor General refused his assent to both these bills.

Two vessels arrived at Jamaica on the 25th, having on board 267 native African emigrants from Sierra Leone.

Dr. Madden had suffered severely from sickness, since his arrival on the African coast, and was going back immediately to England.

INVALUABLE

CONSUMPTION AND BLEEDING OF THE LUNGS CURED. Mr. Wm. Sheppard, residing in Beaver county, Pa. near the state line, relates as follows: "In the month of May last my wife was taken with Bleeding from the Lungs, coughing, night sweats, hectic fever, &c. She had taken a violent cold; having previously given symptoms of the approach of Consumption, I felt much alarmed and made immediate application to a physician. Under his treatment she became worse, instead of better, until the first of June, when I heard from an intelligent man of SR. SWAYNE'S SYRUP OF WILD CHERRY, and from his earnestness in recommending it I was induced to try one bottle. The effect exceeded my utmost expectations—she felt immediate relief. I then mounted my horse and rode to the office, No. 41 St. Clair street, Pittsburg, where it is kept for sale, and procured six bottles more, which I am happy to say has effected a perfect cure. Please publish this certificate, with my name in full, that others may know where to find the greatest blessing on earth.

100 DOLLARS REWARD.

DR. STORM'S SPECIFIC COMPOUND, For the cure of Gonorrhœa, Gleets, Strictures, Diabetes or difficulty in making water, and all other unnatural discharges from the urethra of either sex.

In no case has this medicine been known to fail, to effect a permanent cure, and too, in the shortest possible time. Should this medicine fail to effect a cure where it has been taken according to directions, return the empty vial and get back the money. Why then spend both time and money with such quack nostrums as cannot be depended upon; when, for $1, you can purchase a pleasant, sure, and speedy cure, composed solely of vegetable substances? One hundred dollars will be paid to any one who will produce a medicine to equal this compound, or who will prove that it contains any mineral substance whatever.

N. B. This Medicine can be had of JAMES P. WILLIAMSON, corner of High and Green street, (O. T.) of T. J. PITT, Market Space, Fell's Point, and by J. W. W. GORDON, cor. of Pratt & Howard sts. Also, of L. S. THOMAS, corner of Bridge and Forest streets—with full directions accompanying each bottle at $1 per bottle.

BALTIMORE CLIPPER.

FRIDAY MORNING, JUNE 18, 1841.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES. We congratulate the country that the House of Representatives has at last organized. We hope that the agony is over for the session, and that there will be no further attempt at agitation. The resolution adopted by the House is as follows:

Resolved, That all the rules and orders of the last House of Representatives, not superseded by any rule or resolution adopted at the present session and now in force, be, and the same are hereby adopted, for the regulation of the House at the present session; and that the select committee upon the rules, heretofore raised, proceed to revise and amend the rules hereby adopted, and that they have leave to report at all times.

A resolution which passed the House some days since, restricts the action of the House to such measures as are mentioned in the President's message, laying aside all other matters during the present session: so that the House can proceed at once to the consideration of the business for which Congress was convened. It is possible that the abolition question may be again started. It certainly will, if the select committee upon the rules make a report, which we hope they will not do during the extra session.

It is high time that this abolition business should be permanently settled. We cannot believe that Northern members design to interfere with the rights of the South, as they must be aware that any attempt on the part of Congress to legislate on the subject of domestic slavery, would be productive of dangerous consequences, if not an immediate dissolution of the Union.—We confess that we do not think that the course pursued by Southern members generally is the most judicious. Instead of wrangling in the House and getting into high excitement on the subject of abolition petitions, we would say to the Northern members, "bring forward your petitions by the cart-load, if you please—we will refer them to your own consideration for report—we are fearless on the subject." Is there a Northern member of the House who would dare to affix his name to an abolition report? Not one. They know that the action of Congress on the subject is prohibited by the constitution—they know that the South would not submit to legislative interference—and, besides, we do not believe that the disposition exists among intelligent men of any section of the country, to disturb the institutions of the South. We believe that a strong report adverse to abolition would be made, and agitation cease—for fools and knaves would be rebuked for their impertinence; and the cry about abolition would die away and be forgotten. It is partly because Southern members are so sensitive and excitable that these abolition petitions are forwarded to Congress; and the denial of their right to petition, being considered as an infringement of the constitution, it affords a pretext for what they do. But, let them be met boldly, and challenged to touch the subject of slavery, and we shall hear nothing more from them.

The House having now organized, (or rather re-organized,) we indulge the hope that there will be no unnecessary delay in proceeding with the public business. There should be no speaking against time. We would not desire to have free discussion prevented; but, members should be confined strictly to the question under consideration. This is essential to the despatch of business. We entertain a high opinion of the ability and decision of the Speaker, and therefore rely with confidence, that he will keep members within the rules of the House. Should he do this, the House will be saved from a repetition of the riotous and disreputable scenes which disgraced the late House of Representatives, and from the disorders which have so far attended the proceedings of the present House.

PUBLIC LIBRARIES AND LITERARY ASSOCIATIONS. We are always well pleased to see good examples followed. For many years Baltimore was without a public literary association. Frequent attempts had been made to establish them, which succeeded for a time and then failed. The Baltimore Lyceum has the credit of having been the first institution of the kind which succeeded. It went into operation many years ago—obtained a charter from the State, and by the subscriptions and donations of members, procured a tolerably extensive library, which was unfortunately destroyed by fire when the Athenæum was burnt down. Since the commencement of the Baltimore Lyceum, various similar institutions have been originated, and a more general taste for literary pursuits has been introduced. This is a subject of felicitation, for it augers improvement in the condition of society. We therefore hail with pleasure the design of the "Young Men's Social Literary Society," to connect a library with their institution, and sincerely hope that the committee appointed to solicit contributions to the object, may be eminently successful. If young men can be induced to read they will reflect, and reflection will work moral reformation. The library and literary associations, by creating a spirit of emulation and giving a proper direction to ambition, are producing great benefit, and they cannot be too extensively multiplied.

THE EXPLORING EXPEDITION. The New York Courier announces that the U. S. Naval Lyceum, will forward letter-bags for the U. S. Exploring Squadron in a few days. Letters, postage being paid to New York, will be taken from the post office and duly forwarded.

THE FISCAL AGENT. We observe in some of our exchange papers, that the Fiscal Agent as proposed by the Secretary of the Treasury, meets with little favor; and we have strong doubts whether it will receive the approbation of Congress. We have heretofore expressed ourselves adverse to the intermixing individual with government and state subscriptions, for the reason that we would place the Fiscal Agent entirely beyond the control or influence of brokers. We have had enough of expansion and contraction, and the rise and fall of stocks, produced by stock-jobbers and speculators; and would much rather leave things to settle down by themselves, than to have a new Bank of the United States organized, which could, by possibility, be wielded by brokers. If the stock be owned by the general and state governments alone, it will be of permanent value, (not being transferable,) and the institution might become of great public utility. To insure this, however, it will be absolutely necessary to prevent officers (including directors,) of the Bank and speculators, from using its capital. Have few directors and let them be sworn and paid; and prohibit them, under severe penalties, from obtaining loans, directly or indirectly, to any amount, from the institution.

A National Bank, having no individual stockholders, and operated under rigid rules, would have the immediate effect of compelling the state banks to either pay specie or wind up their concern. Mushroom or rotten institutions would no longer disgrace the country with promises which they are unable to fulfil, and those that are solvent would be restored to public favor. We doubt whether this result would be as soon or as effectually produced, if individual subscribers be received for the stock of the contemplated Fiscal Agent. It would probably fall under the control of men who would manage it for their own purposes.

For the Baltimore Clipper.

GENTLEMEN: Knowing that your columns are always open to defend the cause of virtue and decency, I would call your attention to a set of rowdies who congregate at the corner of Pitt and Exeter streets to the great annoyance of the citizens in that section of the city, and to any decent person who may happen to pass that way. This evil has been running on for a great while, and I think it is high time that it should be remedied. It is coming to a pretty state of affairs in an enlightened community like this, that a female cannot walk the streets of an evening (especially is that part,) without either being insulted, or having to listen to the most indecent language. It is a pity that the police and watchmen are not a little more vigilant to aid in the cause of DECENCY.

[We would advise the fair writer, or any other female who may be insulted, to call for aid if any one be near, and if not, to mark well the person who may offer the insult, so that he may be arrested and punished—or punished at all events. These gatherings of impertinent striplings at the corners of streets are a positive nuisance; and if they cannot be compelled by legal means to forbear using indelicate language to females, perhaps they can be quieted by the cudgel, and that should be freely used wherever the offender is identified.

The frequent complaints of insults such as our correspondent speaks of, demonstrate the falsity of the charge that respectable females of this city encourage assignation houses.]

DISASTROUS EXPLOSION. At Quincy (Ill.) on the 6th inst. the steam boiler in a mill of Dr. Rodgers, exploded with great violence, instantaneously reducing the whole building to a heap of ruins. Mr. Cavill the engineer was severely wounded. Mr. Benson, the lessee of the mill, was blown out of a two story window and is very badly hurt. John and James Wilson, who were standing near the mill, received much injury; John having his shoulder blade broken. Another person is missing. It is supposed that three of the sufferers cannot survive.

Next to the mill was a brick store, which was greatly damaged and set on fire.

The mill was of brick; and Dr. Rodgers's loss is set down at $6000—no insurance.

RESCUE OF A SLAVE. We learn from the Lancaster Intelligencer that on Wednesday last two of the police of that city, in company with Mr. Gambrill, the brother-in-law of Dr. Shields of Maryland, proceeded to arrest a female slave of the latter, who had absconded in Lancaster county, and was secreted in Salisbury township. They succeeded in capturing her, placed her in a carriage, when they were attacked by eight or ten colored men with a shower of stones. Gambrill and Lewars, one of the officers fired upon the mob; the ball of the latter struck one of the men, who it is rumored has since died. The mob however rescued the woman and carried her off. Mr. Gambrill was considerably hurt; and Messrs. Myers and Lewars considerably bruised. The attack was made in an unfrequented spot and at an early hour in the morning.

A DREADFUL ACCIDENT. The Lancaster Union states that a most painful accident occurred on the 9th instant at the raising of a barn on the farm of Mr. Martin Pfautz, two miles and a half South-east of Strasburg. The skull of Mr. Heckman, one of the persons injured, was so terribly fractured, that he expired on the following day. Mr. Long had his back broke and is otherwise hurt. Several other persons, whose names we have not heard, were considerably injured.

☞The Pennsylvania Inquirer is over run with invitations to exchange. We do not wonder at it, for the Inquirer is a most valuable and interesting journal.

Two counterfeiters, one of them named Hewitt, were last week arrested and committed to the jail of Atlantic county, N. J.

WASHINGTON, June 17, 1841.

Last evening after I closed, the debate as to whether the previous question should be ordered on the resolution of Mr. Stuart, was continued until six o'clock. The previous question was then recorded and the resolution adopted by a vote of 119 to 103.

The effect of the resolution is to postpone all further discussion on the abolition question until the next regular session of Congress. And the only rules by which the House at the present session is to be governed are as follows:

"Upon the presentation of petitions or other papers on subjects not specially referred to the consideration of the House in the message of the President at the opening of the present extra session, objection to the reception shall be considered as made, and the question of reception shall be laid on the table. This rule to be considered only in force during the present session. Petitions either for or against a bankrupt law to be excepted from the operation of this rule."

"The action of all committees on all subjects not specially referred to the consideration of the House in the message of the President, shall be suspended during the present session; this suspension not to apply to business before the committee on elections, ways and means, accounts and mileage, nor, if the House shall so determine, to the subject of a bankrupt law."

The first business the House transacted this morning was to adopt a resolution requiring the daily hour of meeting to be hereafter 10 o'clock, A. M.

Mr. Waterson asked leave to offer a resolution calling upon the President and Heads of Departments to furnish the names of all officers removed from office by them, with the reason for such removal.

After much debate, the resolution was objected to.

Mr. Waterson then moved a suspension of the rules in order that it might be received; but the motion to suspend was rejected.

A resolution offered by Mr. Gilmer was then adopted, appointing a select committee to inquire what number of clerks and officers are in the employ of the government, and to report whether the same cannot be reduced, without injury to the public service.

A resolution in relation to the abuses by members of their privilege with regard to stationery, &c. was offered.

On motion of Mr. Adams, the House then resolved itself into a committee of the whole, and took up the bill providing for the relief of the family of the late President Harrison.

Mr. Adams, after setting forth the great expense the late President was at for various purposes, moved that the blanks in the bill be filled up by inserting $25,000.

Mr. Snyder moved to amend by adding a similar clause providing for the relief of the family of the late Charles Ogle, of Pennsylvania.

A long debate on the constitutional power of Congress to make an appropriation took place, and was pending when this was closed.

In the Senate, after the preliminary business of the morning hours, the consideration of the motion to print 15,000 extra copies of the Report of the Secretary of the Treasury was resumed.

Mr. Evans replied at great length to the remarks of Mr. Woodbury on yesterday, and defended the report.

Mr. Wright followed and criticised the report.

NEWS ABOUT TOWN.

PLEASURE EXCURSION OF THE INDEPENDENT BLUES. This favorite corps have chartered the steamboat Columbus, in which they propose to make an excursion, this afternoon. The splendid boat attached to the company will accompany the party, and there will also be excellent cotillion music in attendance. To those who love to glide through the witching mazes of the dance—those who delight in watching the beautiful evolutions of the dancers, where beauty and grace combine to make the scene attractive, or those who love to sit enwrapt by the power of music as it floats upon the wings of the night zephyrs around—to each and all of these, the trip here noticed must bring gratification and enjoyment. We trust there will be a goodly company of our citizens along; and we venture to predict, although the prediction may seem paradoxical, that, while they go with the Blues and return with the Blues, they will not have the blues while away.

GREAT IMPROVEMENT. We observed yesterday, in passing along Gay street, near the engine house, a trench opened down the middle of the street; and, upon inquiry, learned that a sewer was about to be constructed to carry off the water from the different cellars in that street. Similar sewers have been placed in the adjoining streets, each communicating with the main sewer on Gay street, which is intended to empty into the Falls, and thus, by a very simple mode, the proprietors of houses are rid of a serious inconvenience, and the neighborhood of a great nuisance. We learn that the public are indebted to Mr. Frel'k Crey, long known as one of the principal pavers of our city, for this improvement—and we advise all those who are subjected to the annoyance of wet cellars to give him a call.

AS LARGE AS THE SIDE OF A HOUSE. Yesterday, the enterprising Taylor, No. 12, North St. left at our office, a number of the twice double Universal Yankee Nation. It is to all intents and purposes a nation within itself, and a curiosity unsurpassed in the literary or newspaper world. We did not take time to ascertain its precise dimensions, but any one who can form an idea of the size of a large house, or of eight barn doors spliced together, can imagine within a fraction of its appearance. Those wishing to purchase the wonderful of all wonders, can be accommodated by application to Mr. Taylor.

EXPLANATION. We understand that a certain initial used by us, a day or two since, in the publication of an article headed "Diamond cut Diamond," was understood as applying to a person who was not concerned, because it chanced to be the first letter of his name. This was not the case, and we offer this explanation now for the purpose of having it understood, that in any case where the reporter of this paper may see proper to publish an account of a transaction without naming the parties, initials contrary to those appertaining to the real name will always be used.—We have no desire to confound the innocent with the guilty.

VERY REVEREND. We learn that, yesterday, about one o'clock, p. m. a great commotion, accompanied by loud cries of murder, was heard in a certain large three story brick house in South Howard street, near the Catholic church, and which house is said to be in the joint occupancy of a certain lady, not of the most spotless reputation, and a gentleman holding an official station in this city. By the time the officer, who was sent for by some one in the neighborhood, reached the spot, all was still as the silent grave. What meant those outcries at such an hour? Can any one tell? Don't all speak at once, now.

BOUND OVER. Neale Davidge, colored, was yesterday bound over by Squire Wright, upon the complaint of John V. Emich, to keep the peace. Released on security.

John Drondfeld was on Wednesday held to bail by Justice Snyder, to keep the peace, upon the complaint of Francis Hosey.

Grace Brown, colored, was, on complaint of E. Duff, also colored, bound over to keep the peace by Squire Blair.

Sally Jones, upon the complaint of Elizabeth Christmas, was also compelled to give security to keep the peace, before James Blair, Esq.

"A LEG I SEE." Yesterday morning a mysterious looking bundle was observed floating in the basin, near Light street wharf, upon being picked up and opened it was found to contain a human leg, which had been amputated just above the knee. It was presumed to be the leg of a man, though some persons, connoisseurs, perchance, conceived it to be one of the lower appendages of a female form. How it came there remains to be discovered.

CHARGE OF THEFT. John Horaski, charged with stealing two books, the property of J. H. B. Latrobe, Esq., was committed yesterday by J. Barnard, Esq. This is the man whose singular appearance we noted yesterday. We knew he was a genius—and such he turns out to be—one of those who seek that kind of enviable fame only to be gained by purloining the property of another and appropriating it to self.

SINGULAR INSTANCE OF PRECOCITY. We were yesterday informed by a gentleman upon whose correctness we can rely, that he has seen a heifer, of a particular breed, belonging to a gentleman on the Hookstown road, which is now but seven or eight months old, and gives milk already twice a day. Our informant saw the animal milked, so there can be no doubt of the fact.—What part of the world can beat this?

ASSAULTS. Wm. Austin, charged with assaulting Sarah Baker, was taken before Wm. Pechin, Esq., by whom he was released upon security to appear at Court.

James Leavy, charged with assaulting Amanda Melvin, was also released upon security, by Wm. B. Jones, Esq.

STABBING. James Bryan, a colored boy, was committed by Jas. Barnard, Esq. upon a charge of having, on Wednesday evening, between 8 and 9 o'clock, stabbed a white boy, named George Mitchell. Mitchell was, we learn, considered in some danger yesterday morning.

MATRIMONIAL. John Esick charged with assaulting and beating his wife, was, on Wednesday night, committed to the Eastern District watch house; but released in the morning upon the application of his loving spouse.

"Oh! 'tis love, 'tis love, 'tis love,
That rules us all completely."

SETTLING A DISPUTE. Two men, William Vinson, white, and Samuel Douse, black, on Monday evening at Fistland, L. I., quarrelled about some clams. Douse knocked the other on the head with a heavy stone, and then cut his throat. He was arrested, and will be made to answer for the savage act.

NAVAL. A detachment of marines, eight in number, left the Navy Yard at Philadelphia on the 16th, for Norfolk, Va., thence destined for service in one of our vessels fitting out for a cruize.

VAGRANTS. Sarah McDermott, white, and Margaret Curtis, colored, were yesterday committed to the Alms House as vagrants.

COMMITTAL. Napoleon Casler, charged with threatening the life of Wm. Chester, was yesterday committed by J. Barnard, Esq.

DRUNK. George Smith was taken to the watch house on Wednesday night, having been found in the street drunk.

A span of horses, the property of David Clarkson, of New York, were struck by lightning a day or two ago, and instantly killed.

The Sovereigns of Spain, Portugal, Great Britain and Turkey, are all under 23 years of age; and the three former are females.

[COMMUNICATION.]

"GREEN SPRING HOTEL."

☞MESSRS. EDITORS—Permit me, through the medium of your valuable paper, to call the attention of the citizens of Baltimore to this beautiful and healthy situation, on the Baltimore and Susquehanna Rail Road. It has been re-opened and fitted up for the reception of visiters and boarders, by Mr. WILLIAM C. FORDER, a gentleman every way calculated to take charge of such an establishment. It would be unnecessary to write a labored eulogy on the attractions of "Green Spring," for there are few, if any, in this city who have not breathed its pure air, fresh from its native forests and laden with the perfume of a thousand flowers, and drank its cool and sparkling water, as it gushes joyously from the bosom of the earth. Added to the attractions of the place, is the pleasant ride along the wild and picturesque scenery of the Rail Road, running as it does, for a considerable distance, on the margin of the Falls, where the eye is constantly greeted with a succession of scenery beautiful and romantic in the extreme, and unsurpassed on any road in the country. To those who have the leisure to escape from the turmoil and heat of the city, I know of no place that offers greater inducements than "Green Spring." The Proprietor has his "Bar" well stocked with the choicest Liquors of all kinds—so that those who are not satisfied with "Nature's beverage," can "mingle strong drink" and tickle the palate to their heart's content. His table is sumptuously spread with all the delicacies of the season, and his affable and obliging manners render him a favorite with all who call on him. I would hereask, why the Baltimore Company have discontinued the pleasure train on Sunday? The convenience of the citizens require it, and they will afford encouragement sufficient to remunerate the company tenfold. [je18 1t*] Y. G. W.

☞ LOTTERY INFORMATION. Two lotteries are advertised in to-day's paper, one a foreign lottery, called the Maryland, for the benefit of the people of Jersey city. This is a 75 number and 12 drawn ballot affair, containing 67,525 tickets, which, at the scheme price of three dollars and fifty cents per ticket, amounts to $236,337½; it contains sixty five prizes over $100. Selling price of the tickets $5. Lowest prize $3. Retailers' profit on the scheme forty three per ct.

The other is the TOWN HALL, for the benefit of Baltimoreans, which is also a 75 number and 12 drawn ballot scheme, and has, like the foreign one, 67 525 tickets, which, at the scheme price of $4, amounts to $270,100, showing a difference in favor of the purchaser in the Baltimore scheme of $33,762½, which explains why it is that while the foreign lottery has but 65 prizes over $103, while our city one contains no less than one hundred and sixty five of the same value.

The selling price in each is the same, but the agents of the Town Hall are restricted to charging 10 per cent. commission on their sales, while the foreign agents, as it has been seen, receive 43 per cent.

Therefore, between the citizen and the stranger choose ye.

☞ The intrinsic value of Town Hall Tickets is $4, while the foreign are worth but $2.50. NUF CED.

CASH FOR NEGROES.

THE HIGHEST PRICES will at all times be given for NEGROES of both sexes, that are slaves for life, and good titles. My office is in PRATT STREET, No. 85, between Sharp and Howard streets, where myself or my Agent, (Mr. J. M. WILSON,) can be seen at all times. All persons, having Negroes to sell, would do well to see me before they dispose of them, as I am always buying and forwarding to the New Orleans market. I will also receive and keep Negroes at twenty-five cents each, per day, and forward them to any Southern port, at the request of the owner. My establishment is large, comfortable and airy, and all above ground; and kept in complete order, with a large yard for exercise; and is the strongest and most splendid building of the kind in the United States. And as the character of my house and yard is so completely established, for strength, comfort and cleanliness, and it being a place where I keep all my own, I will not be accountable, for the future, for any escapes of any kind from my establishment.

APPRENTICES' LIBRARY.

The Directors of the Apprentices Library announce, that the LIBRARY will open for the issue of BOOKS, in the room over the Patapsco Engine House, North street, on FRIDAY EVENING 18th inst., at 8 o'clock, and will, until further notice, be open at the same hour every Friday Evening.

BOOKS will be loaned to apprentices and other youths free of charge, under regulations which will be made known at the Room. By the terms of the Constitution members of the association are also entitled to the use of the Library, at such charges as may from time to time be required by the Directors. This is at present fixed at 25cts per quarter. The subscription of membership in one dollar per year.

In announcing the opening of the Library, the directors avail themselves of the occasion to return their thanks to those citizens by whose liberality they have been enabled to progress thus far in the work they have undertaken. They acknowledge with gratitude the receipt of 100 dollars, through Wm. C. Shaw, esq. Their thanks are also particularly due to H. Seroy Edgar, esq. Rev. Mr. Burnap, Otis Spear, esq. Hon. J. P. Kennedy, J. D. Armstrong, esq. Dr. Dunbar, Rev. Mr. Adams, and Geo. W. Andrews, esq. for pecuniary assistance and valuable donations in Books.

The present collection of Books, nearly 600 vol. although sufficient to justify the Directors in commencing operations, would doubtless soon be found insufficient for those for whose use they are intended. They trust however, that the claims of this interesting portion of the community will be liberally responded to. Persons desirous of presenting Books are requested to leave them with Otis Spear, Green street, Woods & Crane, Charles near Market-st., S. & T. H. Hunt, No 127 Market street, at the Public School, Aisquith-st., O. T., with Peter Leary, Thames street, F. P., or at the Library room, on any Friday evening, or to leave their address at the room when the books will be sent for.

MEDICAL AID.

THE SUCCESS that has attended the treatment of many thousand cases of Venereal Complaints for twenty five years past, induces the subscriber to inform the public that he may be seen daily, and consulted on all cases of the kind, recent and chronic, and on diseases of the urinary organs generally—such as Gonorrhœa, Gravel, Ulcers, Strictures, &c. His treatment is speedy, safe, and certain—the medicines are so mild that the most delicate may take them without restrictions in diet or occupation. Many persons, who have tried all the lauded quack nostrums of the day, are frequently calling on the subscriber to have the injuries they have sustained by their use relieved. In recent cases a thorough cure will be guaranteed for three dollars. Gonorrhœa Medicines will be furnished at one and two dollars a bottle, according to size, a large one generally cures in a few days. PILLS may be had at a dollar per box. The Vegetable Anti-mercurial CORDIAL is one dollar and fifty cents per bottle—this Medicine is the greatest purifier of the Blood in the world. It renews and regenerates old and shattered constitutions, and, it may be said, is literally working wonders. Apply at

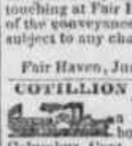
FAIR HAVEN. This elegant establishment will be open for the reception of visiters on and after Monday next, the 21st June. The proprietor having made considerable additions and improvements to the establishment, and having provided the same with everything necessary for the comfort and convenience of visiters, feels the utmost confidence in recommending it as a very desirable summer retreat. Fair Haven is situated on the Western Shore of the Chesapeake Bay, about 20 miles below the city of Annapolis; is remarkable healthy—the scenery beautiful and pleasant. (Strangers have said that the scenery alone was a sufficient inducement to visit the place.) The proprietor, ever anxious to accommodate the public, has determined to make such a reduction from his former rates, as will correspond with the present pressure of the times.



The Steamboat Patuxent will leave Baltimore every TUESDAY MORNING, at 6 o'clock, for Fair Haven, and return from thence in the evening. She will also leave Baltimore every THURSDAY MORNING, at 6 o'clock, and will land passengers at Fair Haven on her route to the Patuxent; and will return thence on SUNDAY, touching at Fair Haven. UNITED STATES' DISTRICT COURT.

THURSDAY, JUNE 17, 1841.

Case of the Malek Adhel. His honor, Judge Heath, delivered his opinion in this case to-day. In reference to the three first charges, he acquitted the vessel; but condemned her upon the two last, viz:—the Portuguese vessel, and the British brig Albert. His honor exonerated the owners from any blame in the matter, conceiving that there was not a shadow of an imputation upon them, as he believed it to have been the intention of the captain to make off with the vessel altogether—but regarding the acts of the captain in reference to the vessels above alluded to, as piratical, according to his construction of the act of Congress upon this subject, the vessel was liable for those acts, and he therefore condemned her. He did not consider the cargo liable, under the evidence given, and it was acquitted.

BALTIMORE COUNTY COURT.

THURSDAY, JUNE 17, 1841.

Keavins vs. the Baltimore and Philadelphia Rail Road Company. The arguments on the prayers of the defendants in this case were closed yesterday, and the opinion of the court was delivered by his honor, Judge Purviance. Out of seven prayers, four were overruled, and three granted. The argument before the Jury was then commenced by J. M. Buchanan, Esq., for the plaintiff, but, before he concluded, the court adjourned.

(Reported for the Baltimore Clipper.]

BALTIMORE CITY COURT.

THURSDAY, JUNE 17, 1841.

Present—Judges Brice, Nisbet and Worthington.

Edward Conley, whose case was tried yesterday, was placed at the bar, and the jury called upon for their verdict, which was handed to the court. They found the prisoner not guilty.

State vs. Thomas Jones, colored, indicted for an assault and battery upon Priscilla Howard. Found guilty and fined one dollar and costs.

State vs. Jane Blays, colored, indicted for larceny in stealing certain dry goods from two different stores. The traverser plead not guilty. The evidence on the part of the State was conclusive; and the jury returned an immediate verdict of guilty in both cases. The court sentenced her to be sold out of the state for five years, having formerly been in the penitentiary.

State vs. Jefferson Griffith, indicted for an assault and battery upon Alexander Thompson. From the statement of the State's witnesses in the case, it appeared that Griffith, in company with several others, entered the house of complainant, and dragging him out from behind the counter, beat him severely. He was fined $10 and costs.

State vs. James Peregoy, indicted for the same offence as Griffith. The evidence was the same, except that this traverser did not appear to have been as violent as the other.—Fined $5 and costs.

State vs. James Peregoy and John Galloway, indicted for a riot and assault upon Jacob Kellholtz. From the evidence on the part of the prosecution, it seems that the affray occurred in that garden of vice, "the meadow," where the parties met, and where the traversers, in company with others, made the assault complained of. Several of the frail sisterhood in that neighborhood were examined in relation to the case. Nearly all the evidence on the part of the State proved that the traversers were very drunk.

The court considered that there was no evidence of riot, and fined the traversers each $1 and costs.

Thomas Armons and Joseph Beard, tried on Wednesday for rescuing a prisoner from the hands of an officer, were each fined $5 and costs.

James Clifford, also tried on Wednesday for an assault upon James McChesney, by firing a pistol at him, was fined $30 and costs.

Henry Shilleburger, tried for an assault on James Clifford, was fined $20 and costs.

State vs. Andrew Freeburger. In this case the party is indicted for manslaughter, but, not being ready for trial to-day, the case was continued until Monday next, when it is understood that it will be tried.

In the case of Augustus Brown, convicted yesterday, and who was among the party attempting to escape, but was afterwards retaken, a motion was made to-day for a new trial, but overruled by the court for want of sufficient grounds to justify such a grant.

SCIENTIFIC EXPERIMENTS. M. Thillorier, a French philosopher, has perfected an apparatus for congelation, by means of which he obtains a degree of cold one hundred degrees below zero. He has announced his intention of liquifying atmospheric air.

Josiah Quincy, Jr. of Boston, resigned the office of President of the Boston and Providence Rail Road Company, and Joseph Grinnell, of New Bedford, was elected in his place.

FIRE IN PITTSBURGH. Considerable damage was sustained by Messrs. Sheriff, Fitzimmon & Kean, by the burning of their extensive copper and tin establishment, situated on the corner of Ferry and Front streets. Several small dwelling houses were also destroyed.

A DEFAULTER. The St. Augustine News of the 4th says—"It is rumored that Lieut. Asheton, Adjutant 2d Dragoons, has eloped, absquatulated, or retired without leave from his post, and that the regimental fund is minus some hundreds. We give the rumor, and shall be happy to correct it if unfounded."

The Senate of Connecticut have rejected a Bill from the House of Representatives of that State, granting a small sum of money for the erection of a monument over the bones of the Connecticut men at the massacre of Wyoming.

Commodore Renshaw has been relieved from the command of the New York Navy Yard, and Capt. M. C. Perry appointed his successor.

RAIL ROAD ACCIDENT. On the morning of the 15th the train of cars running from Baltimore to Philadelphia, when this side of Havre de Grace, ran over a cow. The cow was killed but the cars were not thrown off the track.

VESSEL MISSING. The Bremen ship Elizabeth, which cleared at Philadelphia the 9th of last February for Bremen, has not been heard of since her sailing.

The proprietor of this Institution is fully aware that its success depends entirely upon the manner in which it is conducted, and begs leave to recommend it to the notice of the public. There is scarcely any institution more truly valuable in any community than an Intelligence Office. Here the citizens, whom chance or misfortune has bereft of employment, may find a comfortable or lucrative situation. Strangers, though far from their native land, can be supplied with employment, and in short every person with industrious habits, in this happy land of freedom, can obtain a livelihood by applying at Lewis F. Scott's Intelligence Office.

CLERKS, Book keepers, Bar-keepers, Waiters, Ostlers, Laborers, Tea boys, Agents, Cooks, Chambermaids, Wet and Dry Nurses, &c. wanted daily at this office. Strangers in the city would do well to call.

ON REGISTRY—Several negro Girls and Boys of excellent character, for a term of years.

Translations correctly made from Spanish and French. Families supplied with domestics at the shortest notice. Lost children kept at the office until called for.

P. S. The terms of this office will be very moderate and reasonable, the plan of conducting business shall be used to promote mutual satisfaction. Those who wish to become yearly subscribers will find the subscription book open at the office—and particularly be it understood, that all communications through the Post Office must be post paid. THE PATENT COFFEE CLEARER.

THOSE who are fond of a "GOOD CUP OF COFFEE" are requested to try the above article, which will be found to be of unsurpassed utility in settling Coffee. It is also much cheaper and more handy than any thing else which is used for the same purpose—a small piece, thrown into the coffee while boiling, will make it as transparent as amber—price 12½ cents at retail. For sale by

CASH FOR NEGROES.

THE subscriber being permanently located in this city, is at all times wanting to purchase likely young negroes of both sexes, for which cash and the most liberal prices will be paid. Persons having such to dispose of will find it to their interest to call on me before they sell, as they may rest assured, by doing so they shall obtain their VALUE to them. The subscriber's establishment is located on Harford Avenue, in one of the highest and most healthy parts of the city, having a free circulation of air, and a yard for exercise through the day—must necessarily be more healthy than in the centre of the city, especially in hot weather. Servants will be received for safe keeping, and every attention paid to their comfort and cleanliness, at the low rate of 25 cents per day. Application to be made to me at my office in Calvert st. Near Market st., one door below Mr. Bloomer's hat store, or at my residence, or to my brother at Whitman's Eagle Hotel, Pratt st., immediately opposite the Baltimore and Ohio Rail road Depot. DAVIES' FAMILY PILLS.

[From Captain PARRISH, who commenced to use them when diseased in August, 1839.]

PHILADELPHIA, June 2, 1840.

☞To DR. DAVIES: Dear Sir—I have had experience in the virtue of your Pills, sufficient to recommend them as a superior cathartic and excellent carminative, and also as a family medicine that every one should be in possession of. There is no doubt that if persons and families generally were acquainted with their efficacy, they might save many a dollar now paid for doctor's bills. Yours respectfully,

E. PARRISH.

HARPER'S FERRY, August 11, 1840.

DR. WM. DAVIES: Dear Sir—I am happy to inform you and the public, that I have been cured of that dreadful disease the Rheumatism, by taking your Family Pills. I had been laboring under that disease for more than a year, during which time I tried the skill of our best physicians without effect; at length I was induced to try your medicine—I found relief after taking half a box, I continued to take them until I had taken five boxes; my age is 71 years, and I consider that none but the old and rheumatic persons know how grateful I feel to the medicine that has restored me to health. Yours, respectfully, JOHN DYE.

We, the undersigned, are agents at Harper's Ferry for the sale of Dr. Davies' Family Pills, know our neighbour, Mr. Dye, sold him the pills of which he speaks so highly, and believe his statement to be substantially true. Respectfully,

W. & S. B ANDERSON.

NOTICE.

BALTIMORE & OHIO RAIL ROAD.

THE CHANGE in the hour of arrival of the Mail Train from Philadelphia, renders it necessarry that a corresponding change should be made in the departure of the Morning Cars for the west:

Notice is therefore hereby given, That on and after WEDNESDAY, 26th instant, the Passenger Train for Ellicott's Mills, Frederick, and Harper's Ferry will be despatched from the Depot in Pratt street, at half past 9 instead of 7 o'clock, A. M., the present hour of departure—of which travellers will take notice.

☞The Extra Train for Frederick will continue to leave at 3½ o'clock every evening, with which, as well as with the Morning Train, passengers from Washington can still connect at the Relay House. By order,

MOFFAT'S LIFE PILLS

AND VEGETABLE BITTERS.

THE perfectly safe, unerring and successful treatment of almost every species of disease by the use of MOFFAT'S LIFE MEDICINES, is no longer a matter of doubt, as a reference to the experience of many thousand patients will satisfactorily prove. During the present month alone, nearly one hundred cases have come to the knowledge of Mr. Moffat, where the patient has, to all appearance, effected a permanent cure by the excessive and judicious use of the Life Medicines—some eight or ten of these had been considered beyond all hope by their medical attendants.—Such happy results are a source of great pleasure to Mr. M. and inspire him with new confidence to recommend the use of his medicines to his fellow citizens.

The Life Medicines are a purely VEGETABLE preparation. They are mild and pleasant in their operation, and at the same time thorough—acting rapidly upon the secretions of the system—carrying off all acrimonious humors, and assimilating with and purifying the blood. For this reason, in aggravated cases of dyspepsia, the Life Medicines will give relief in a shorter space of time than any other prescription; in Fever-and-ague, Inflammation, Fevers of every description, Sick headache, heartburn, dizziness in the head, pains in the chest, flatulency, impaired appetite, in every disease arising from an impurity of the blood, or a disordered state of the stomach, the use of these medicines has always proved to be beyond doubt greatly superior to any other mode of treatment.

All that Mr. Moffat asks of his patients is to be particular in taking them strictly according to the directions. It is not by a newspaper notice, or by any thing that he himself may say in their favor, that he hopes to gain credit, it is alone by the results of a fair trial. Is the reader an invalid, and does he wish to know whether the life medicines will suit his own case? If so let him call or send to Mr. Moffat's agent in this place, and procure a copy of the Medical Manual, designed as a domestic guide to health, published gratuitously. He will here find enumerated very many extraordinary cases of cure; and perhaps some exactly similar to his own. Moffat's medical office in New York, 375 Broadway, and for sale by the Agents. JAS. WEBB'S PATENT BURNERS,

AND CAMPHINE OIL.

FOR SALE AT No. 199 E. BALTIMORE STREET, between South and Calvert streets, where Burners of every description can be obtained. Those who are sceptical as to its safety or economy, would, I trust be perfectly satisfied by examining the opinion of Professor Locy, of Ohio, on "WEBB'S CAMPHINE," or by referring to the Journals of the Franklin and American Institutes, of Philadelphia and New York. All those desirous of obtaining a clear, brilliant, and economical light, will find it, greatly to their advantage by calling on the subscriber. The public may be assured of one fact, that we require no meters to ascertain the amount of Camphine consumed, as they register correctly and in plain English.

☞ASTRAL LAMPS ALTERED.

N. B. We have appointed JOSHUA ATHERTON Agent, No. 92 Market street, P. P., where all orders will meet with immediate attention.

P. AUGUSTUS BAILEY, Agent

For the Proprietors.

The following letter to the Agent, exhibits the superiority of the Camphine over Gas or Oil light, in brilliancy and cheapness:

New York, March 23, 1840.

DEAR SIR—I received yours of the 19th instant, and proceed, as you request, to inform you that WEBB'S PATENT LAMP, in my opinion, is much superior to any Lamp now in use—the Camphine produces better light than Gas or Oil. I have burned Oil for five years, Gas for eleven, and Webb's Camphine for 20 months. I have a better light in my bar-room with five of Webb's burners than I had in the same room with eleven gas lights. In fact, I light my whole house at less expense with the Camphine than it cost me to light my bar-room alone with gas. I recommend it as being the cheapest and best light now in use.

Yours respectfully, THOMAS RILEY,

"NO CURE NO PAY."

DR. HUNTER'S RED DROP. This long established and highly valuable medicine is now no novelty. It has been before the public for a long time, and by its merits alone, has it risen to a degree of estimation not enjoyed by any other medicine, for the certain cure of the Syphilitic disease. Prompt and effectual in action, yet harmless to the constitution, is its well established character, having never failed to give entire satisfaction in all the many thousand cases, where it has been used as directed.—These absolute and undeniable facts speak trumpet-tongued to the afflicted, and are the basis of a well founded hope of the philanthropist, that this unequalled medicine may circulate far and wide for the benefit of the human race.

This medicine gives the prodigal a chance to repent. Thousands have been saved and radically cured, after suffering under the hands of impostors by this medicine, and who with grateful hearts are ready to attest to its value, and have allowed themselves to be referred to.

Persons residing at any distance, can have medicine sent to them, packed secure from observation.

It was out of pure motives of philanthropy, that this medicine was first made public; the price always to remain $1 per Bottle, to be within the reach of the most unfortunate.

☞Letters addressed, (post paid) describing the case, mode of living, &c. will be promptly attended to. Direct No. 17 Harrison street.

SUMMER ARRANGEMENT.

GREAT SOUTHERN

UNITED STATES' MAIL LINE,

DAILY TO THE SOUTH.

☞Bear in mind, that Passengers who go by the Chesapeake Bay and Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road, have 40 miles of Rail Road travelling through the DISMAL SWAMP at midnight, over one of the worst Rail Roads in America, and then are often compelled to lay over 17 hours at Weldon, one of the most unhealthy places in the whole Southern country.

TRAVELLERS FOR THE SOUTH, are informed that, by taking the Cars at Baltimore for Washington at 9 A. M., they proceed, without one moment's delay, via Washington, Fredericksburg, Richmond, Petersburg, Weldon, and Wilmington, N. C. to CHARLESTON, S. C., reaching Charleston the second morning after leaving Baltimore, and often one day in advance of any other Line—the Companies on the route being bound by the Postmaster General to make the following quick Schedule:

Leave Philadelphia	12 P. M. reach	Baltimore	3 A. M.
" Baltimore	9 A. M.	" Washington	11 A. M.
" Washington	11½ A. M.	" Fredericksburg	6 P. M.
" Richmond	11½ P. M.	" Petersburg	1 A. M.
" Petersburg	1½ A. M.	" Weldon	6½ A. M.
" Weldon	7 A. M.	" Charleston	on the next morning.

Passengers by this Line not only reach Charleston ONE DAY SOONER than by the Bay boats but they avoid being compelled to remain all night at Weldon, on the Roanoke, one of the most unhealthy places in the whole southern country, where, by the Bay Line, they are often delayed twenty-four hours.

Passengers for Richmond and Petersburg will find this Line far the most expeditious, arriving at Richmond to lodge, (as will be seen from the above Schedule,) on the evening of the day on which they leave Baltimore, being from 16 to 18 hours in advance of those taking the Bay Steam Boats.

☞This is unquestionably the nearest, quickest, and cheapest route to the interior of Virginia, North and South Carolina—at Petersburg, Va. commences the route by way of Raleigh, N. C.—145 miles of Rail Road from Petersburg to that city. Stage Lines branch off from Raleigh Rail Road to the old Fishpaint Line, to Milton Danville, &c., and to Knoxville, (Tenn.)

☞Passengers for the Raleigh and Gaston Rail Road pay through to Petersburg, Va.

Fare to Richmond,	$10 00
Fare to Petersburg,	10 50
Fare to Weldon,	12 50

UNITED STATES MAIL LINE,

DAILY TO THE SOUTH, Sunday's excepted.

Via the Chesapeake Bay and Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road,

THE BALTIMORE STEAM-PACKET CO. announce to the public that in accordance with the New Mail Arrangement, the Boats composing their line, viz: ALABAMA, Captain Sutton; GEORGIA, Captain Colley; and JEWESS, Captain Holmes, will, on and after WEDNESDAY, the 26th of May, leave the lower end of Spear's wharf daily, (Sunday's excepted,) at nine o'clock, A. M. for Norfolk and Portsmouth, Va.

Passengers for Charleston will find the cars of the Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road Company, on the wharf, on their arrival at Portsmouth, ready to convey them to Weldon, N. C., where they will always arrive in time to take the cars for Wilmington, from which point to Charleston is by the Steamboat, which leaves Wilmington immediately after the Passengers are delivered from the cars.

Passengers for Richmond, Petersburg, or intermediate points on James River, by leaving Baltimore on Monday, Wednesday, or Friday, will sleep on board the Bay Boat and be transferred to the James River Boat next morning.

The Steamboat Fox leaves the Black Water station on the Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road, every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, on the arrival of the cars from Portsmouth, for Edenton and Plymouth, N. C., and returns every Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday, delivering her passengers to the cars as they pass down from Weldon, enabling them to arrive in Baltimore next day, (Sundays excepted.)

RETURNING, one of the above Boats will leave Norfolk every night (Saturday being excepted) at 8 o'clock, and cross over to Portsmouth where she will wait the arrival of the Cars from Weldon, and depart for Baltimore as soon as the passengers and baggage are on board, arriving here in about 14 hours after departing from Portsmouth.

Should the Boat get an early start from Portsmouth Passengers for Philadelphia and New York will have the opportunity of being placed on board the Philadelphia Steamboat in the Patapsco River, and will arrive in Philadelphia the same night by 11 o'clock, after having travelled 300 miles in 20 hours, without as much fatigue as would be incurred in walking from the Hotel to the wharf.

☞No freight will be forwarded on the day it is left, unless it is alongside, prior to 8 o'clock, A. M.

WORCESTER, (Mass.) June 5th, 1841.

MR. MITCHELL,

President "Washington Total Abstinence Society of Baltimore:"

Dear Sir:—Presuming upon our acquaintance with, and our respectful and grateful remembrance of Messrs. Hawkins and Wright, those worthy delegates from your association, to whose agency, with the co-operation of other philanthropists, and the blessing of Heaven, a Society, similar to your own, is indebted for its existence in this locality, and which seem to serve as links, both of kindred and communion, between us, the "Washington Total Abstinence Society of Worcester," (Mass.) would now, through you, address this friendly greeting, and extend the hand of fellowship to that parent Society, over which you have presided with such honor to yourself, and such signal advantages to its members and the community.

To a Society engaged in an enterprise like yours, it doubtless will not be unacceptable to learn something of the rise, progress, present state and prospects of that joyous reformation in this vicinity, which has rescued many an unfortunate inebriate from the fangs of that which "biteth like a serpent, and stingeth like an adder"—raised him from the degradation of a "common drunkard"—blanched his purple visage of the legitimate hues of habitual indulgences, and restored him "clothed," as well "in his right mind" as in goodly apparel, to his family, respectability, and the world.

To us, most acceptable indeed would it be, to hear from you in return, either in the way of information of your successes, and modes of managing your associate affairs, or of suggestions and advice in relation to the management of our own—or of any other matter that may be deemed worthy of your attention. Societies like this, for example and instruction, very naturally, with a kind of filial confidence and regard, turn to the "Monumental City," which has become the origin and the celebrated centre of that "new movement" of philanthropy—so surprising in its results, and so promising of the ultimate and the speedy triumph of a cause, of which it has truly become the most wonderful and successful auxiliary! The phalanx of Intemperance is now subjected to an uncontrollable and unexpected combination of events! With the "Cold Water Army" of the rising generation pressing on its rear, it has lost all chance of recruits to supply the ravages of Death in its midst—and the constant desertion of the veteran drunkards from its front, and even now begins to hesitate, and waver, and must soon fall into confusion, rout and dispersion. Under such circumstances so suspicious to its existence, even intemperance itself, like an army assaulted, in front, flanks and rear—like a flambeau blazing at both extremities—or a sand bluff surrounded by a rushing flood, must gradually, but inevitably, become extinct; and all its professional and anti-professional "practitioners" must abandon the "bar," and gradually become transmitted and absorbed, either among the silent communities of the dead, or among the temperate communities of the living!

Worcester is the shire town of one of the largest and most populous counties of Massachusetts. Its population is now about seven thousand five hundred. There are in our village ten large hotels, of which eight have been until recently—and seven are now engaged in the sale of intoxicating drinks, and two have been for some years liberally supported as temperance houses. In the withering visitations of alcohol, this place, as well may be supposed, has not been passed by forgotten. Many are the silent memorials in the church yards—and many were the breathing monuments in our streets, of its blasting influences dispensed under some of its countless forms and multifarious disguises. But a new era has dawned upon us. Through your devoted and gifted delegates, you have proclaimed here, and practically demonstrated the doctrine, the truth, that the drunkard is worthy of regard, and can be reclaimed! When Mr. Hawkins left us, on his return to Baltimore, about three hundred here signed the total abstinence pledge. We have now a "Washington Total Abstinence Society," embracing about five hundred and fifty male adult members. Of these, about fifty were "hard cases," such as were sober occasionally—about fifty were what might be regarded as simple "cases"—such as drink habitually and were drunk occasionally—about two hundred were "moderate" drinkers, such as were "corned" perhaps only at long intervals and on special emergencies—and about two hundred and fifty were of temperate habits, and belonging, many of them, to some of the other temperance societies of the place. Weekly and semi-weekly meetings of the society are held—are well attended, and seem to promise fair for the prospective increase of members and influence. Since Mr. Hawkins was here, several juvenile total abstinence societies have also been formed among us, and the ladies have now another society for themselves in the preliminary stages of organization; and the keeper of one of our largest and most fashionable hotels has enrolled his name as one of the members of our society—has cleared his bar, closed his house of intoxicating nuisances, and hung out the broad banner of temperance upon his "outer walls." Thus there are now marshalled on "our side" three of the most spacious and respectable of the six respectable public houses of the town.

And the impulse of this "new movement" seems not to be confined to this, but, to have extended to many of the adjacent villages and surrounding towns. Washington total abstinence societies are springing up here and there, like fountains of redemption, to restore the garniture of verdure and flowers to scenes so often and so long, by alcoholic fires, laid waste and desolate! And as you look abroad upon them, so rapidly multiplying, like children around you, may you not with propriety exclaim, as did the mother of Caius, and Tiberius Gracchus, when exhibiting her sons as the fruits of her culture and her choicest treasures—"These are my jewels."

Such was the celebrity of those enjoying the parentage and instruction of that Roman matron—and such the purity of her virtues, and the force of her example, that even in her life time, a monument was erected to her honor, with the inscription—"Cornelia Mater Gracchorum"—Cornelia, the mother of the Gracchi! And so, even in the "life time" of your own far famed association, such is the benevolence of its precepts, and the power of its example—and such the benign influence of its legitimate and numerous offspring, professing the principles and imitating the practice, as well as bearing the name of their parental origin, that a monument shall arise, and is now rising to its honor in thousands and thousands of grateful hearts, with the inscriptive sentiment—deeply felt, and ever springing to the lips—the Baltimore Society of reformed inebriates—the mother of the blessed and the blessing fraternities of reformed inebriates throughout the land!!

If the rewards of the next world are at all commensurate with the glorious results of benevolent action in this, brilliant will be the crown of him who first set this new Temperance "Ball in motion," and bright the coronets of those of your associates who have kept it so constantly and so successfully "rolling," whether laboring in the "highways and "byways"—amid the homes and firesides of your own vicinity—or sent forth as missionary delegates, proclaiming glad tidings to unfortunate and suffering humanity abroad!

May God speed the progress of this holy cause, and grant to the efforts of all its friends, associate or individual, the sanctioning benison of continued success! JESSE W. GOODRICH,

One and in behalf of the "Corresponding Committee" of the Washington Total Abstinence Society of Worcester, Mass.

IMPORTANT FROM EUROPE!

EIGHT DAYS LATER.

ARRIVAL OF COLUMBIA AT BOSTON.

RENEWAL OF THE WAR BETWEEN CHINA AND THE ENGLISH—FALL OF CANTON—TRIUMPH OF THE BRITISH FORCES—RISE IN TEAS—GREAT DEBATE IN THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT—SPEECH OF SIR ROBERT PEEL—PROBABLE DISSOLUTION OF THE COMMONS—RUMORS OF THE PRESIDENT STEAMER—EXECUTION OF DARMES—MARKETS, &c. &c.

The Columbia steamship arrived at Boston on Wednesday evening at half-past 10 o'clock. She brings London dates to June 4th—Paris to June 2d—and Liverpool to June 4th, inclusive.

She also brings dates from Bombay of the 3d of May—just six weeks back. And Canton to the 1st of April, only 77 days since.

The principal feature in the news is, that the war has again broken out in China, because the Emperor would not ratify the treaty. The British have captured Canton, and all the forts on the river, without the loss of a single man. The trade is open to Canton, the owners of vessels running all risks. Canton was taken on the 25th of February; on the same day Chusan was given up to the Chinese.—High Commissioner Keshen has been disgraced and sent to Pekin in irons. The Chinese lost 400 men,

An American gentleman from Canton says the city is doomed to the flames. There are 200,000 Chinese starving in the neighborhood for want of employment, who are as ready to sack the place as the sailors are.

We give in its proper place all the rumors about the President. She had not arrived.

There is a prospect of peace with Persia.

Trade of all kinds is still dull. Money was scarce. The funds were flat; teas rose 2d a pound. The cotton market was dull, and without any change of importance in prices.

The packet ships Cornelia and Roscoe have arrived out at Liverpool. The Independence had also arrived. The St. James had arrived at London.

ENGLAND.—THE QUEEN, &c. The Queen, Albert, and baby are all in fine health. She met Madame Rachael at the Queen Dowager's, at a party, on the 1st of June. The Queen goes to Ascot Races.

THE PRESIDENT STEAMSHIP. The settlement of the risks upon the President entered at Lloyd's was to have taken place to day, but was postponed to the 11th inst. to allow further time for news respecting her.—London Times, June 3.

DISSOLUTION OF PARLIAMENT. We learn from the best authority that the dissolution of Parliament will take place about the 12th of this month. The proclamation is ready, and only waits the Queen's signature. The new parliament is to meet on the 4th Aug. We trust that the conservatives in this district will be fully on the alert, but the remark is almost unnecessary, for the very best spirit prevails all through the county.—Hereford Jour.

Liszt, the great pianist, had been thrown out of a carriage and nearly killed.

The British Iron Company has compromised with Mr. Attwood by paying him £350,000. The property of the company, including book debts, is estimated at £883,604, and the annual value of the estate at £45,000.

The house of Grant & Co. of Glasgow, has failed for £180,000.

Murdered on shipboard. Patrick Cahill, a passenger in the ship United States, at Liverpool from New Orleans, killed the steward, Eli Robinson, in a fit of passion.

THE PRESIDENT STEAMSHIP.—London, Saturday, May 29. This morning Mr. Macgregor Laird, the managing director of the company, received the following communication from Messrs. Emerson & Co. the company's agent at Paris, and Havre-de-Grace, in reply to a letter requesting them to make inquiry whether a steamship belonging to the French navy, was likely to be cruising in lat. 99 deg. 29 min. lon. 32 deg. 28 m. on the 22d of April, the Portuguese brig Conde de Palma, which arrived at Lisbon on the 6th inst., having reported having seen a very large steamer proceeding under canvass only, in that latitude at that date, and which might probably have been the missing President:—

PARIS, May 27, 1841.

Dear Sir: In compliance with your request our Mr. Emerson has obtained an interview with the Secretarie des Mouvement de la Marine, and the following is the information received: "The only steamer belonging to the French navy that could be within or in the proximity of the tropic on the 22d of April, is the Tonnerre, of 130 horse power and 600 tons. The last news of this steamer is of the 1st of January, at which time she was lying in the Plata. She is supposed to have left there in March for Martinique, where she would obtain a supply of coal, and continue her voyage homeward. She has not yet arrived in France. We shall be informed of her arrival, and be allowed to read the Journal de Bord, to know if on the 22d of April she was in lon. 40 28, lat. 99 29, according to the report of the Conde de Palma, recently arrived at Lisbon. We presume this is the report you allude to. Should there be any other place, give us the latitude and longitude,

"We are, yours, very truly,

"EMERSON & CO.

"Macgregor Laird, Esq."

CHINA. Most Important Intelligence from China—Capture of the Bogue Forts and the City of Canton by the British.—We have extracted various items of Chinese intelligence from the Calcutta papers of the 30th of April. On the morning of that day the Queen steamer, from Macao the 31st of March, arrived at Calcutta with Commodore Sir James Gordon Blemer. His Excellency is said to have come to India for the purpose of consulting the Governor General, and obtaining reinforcements. The British troops have possession of the factory at Canton, but it would appear there is a provisional Chinese government in the city. The Calcutta Courier states that the forcing the passage between the Bogue and Canton was most gallantly effected. The Chinese lost 400 men. The English had only six wounded.

We have been favored with private letters from Singapore to the 10th ult., Macao to the 28th, and Canton to the 26th of March. From these we learn that Canton was almost deserted. The Hong merchants remained on the spot, but said that the people were afraid to trade whilst the men-of-war remained in the river. The Chinese at Canton now believe that no traffic of importance can be carried on until the question is definitively settled.

No dispatches had been received in Canton since the Emperor's reply to the announcement of the capture of the Bogue forts. The imperial chop breathed nothing but vengeance and defiance to the English. This induced the Commodore to start immediately for Calcutta. He at the same time ordered her Majesty's troop-ship Jupiter to proceed to Cannanore for the 94th Regiment. A report was prevalent among the Chinese that the Emperor's nephew had arrived in Canton, and ordered all the chops about the opening of the trade to be cancelled.

Three Englishmen, two of them officers of the Blenheim were carried off from a passage boat near Macao on the 26th of March, and have not since been heard of. It is supposed they were captured by order of the Mandarins.

The commodore's principal object in coming to Canton is said to be the expediting the dispatch of reinforcements. His Excellency being of opinion that matters cannot be satisfactorily arranged without another visit to the Gulf of Petchell.

PROCLAMATIONS OF THE CHIEF SUPERINTENDENT. In the first proclamation, dated 6th of March, 1841, Capt. Elliot says:—

"PEOPLE OF CANTON:

"Your city is spared, because the gracious Sovereign of Great Britain has commanded the High English Officer to remember that the good and peaceful people must be tenderly considered.

"But if the high officers of the Celestial Court offer the least obstruction to the British forces in their present stations, then it will become necessary to answer force by force, and the city may suffer terrible injury."

In another dated the 20th of March he says—

"A suspension of hostilities at Canton and in this province has been this day agreed upon between the Imperial Commissioner Yang and the undersigned.

"It has further been publicly proclaimed to the people under the Seals of Commissioners and the acting governor of the Province, that the trade of the Port of Canton is open, and that British and other foreign merchants who may see fit to proceed there for the purpose of lawful commerce shall be duly protected."

These are the most important facts in the proclamations of Captain Elliott.

Canton is in possession of the British troops and a truce had been agreed upon between the new commissioners and Captain Elliott; the trade is to be reopened at Canton, pending the imperial decision.

The accumulation of goods outside Canton is immense, and will, without doubt, be thrown on the market. Prices will rule very low—Patna is quoted at 400 to 410 Sp. dollars, Benares 400, and Malwa, 410.

It appears that after Captain Elliot's notice of the re-opening of the trade, nine American and fourteen British ships proceeded to Whampoa, but in a few days new obstacles were thrown in their way, it being intimated that the Chinese traders were all armed, as the ships of war were so near Canton, and that no trade would be carried on until they were removed. It is said Captain Elliot was inclined to yield this point. Before, however, any arrangement could be made, the reply of the Emperor to the despatch announcing the destruction of the Bogue Fort was received, which was fierce in the extreme, and orders a war of extermination to be carried against the English. The notices posted by the Canton authorities on the walls, announcing the opening of the trade, were pulled down, and all communication with the English ordered to be cut off.

Another letter says. "All the factories in Canton are occupied by our troops. The Chinese villagers render every assistance in their power to the steamer Menesis, in removing stakes and other obstructions in the river, between Macao and Canton."—Her. April 10.

PUBLIC NOTICE. Notice is hereby given that British and foreign vessels have permission to proceed to Whampoa, all consequences arising from the possible and sudden resumption of hostilities of course remaining at the risk of the parties.

J. J. GORDON BREMER.

We copy, without any remark, the following from the Borsenhalle—"Gottenburg, May 19. We have been assured that a large ship's deck, supposed to be that of a large steamship, has been found by some fishermen in the Cattegat, and towed into Marstrund."

PRESIDENT STEAMER. Liverpool letters announce that a large vessel, supposed to have been the President steamer, was seen on the 27th May, in latitude 47, longitude 24, making slow progress towards England. The point where she was seen is about 900 miles distant from Liverpool, and as it is known that the President was not capable of sailing faster than three miles an hour without using her steam, she could not have reached that port in less than twelve days from the above date.

THE BRITANNIA STEAM SHIP. The non arrival in England of this vessel which ran on the rocks at Halifax, has occasioned great uneasiness in London, as appears by the following—

THE ATLANTIC STEAMERS. The arrival of the Halifax steamers has hitherto been so regular and punctual that some little disappointment appears to be experienced if the slightest delay takes place in their appearance. The Britannia, which was advertised to leave Boston on the 16th ult. was, according to the usual calculation, due on Sunday last. It is not at all improbable that she may have been detained a few days at the other side in order to bring some definite information as to the result of the present steps in the case of McLeod, who, it is known, has been removed from Lockport to New York. We hope to see the Britannia in the course of the day.

THE WEATHER AND CROPS. Since the date of our last, the weather has been exceedingly hot, and has had a powerful influence in forwarding vegetation. The braird, which in many situations during the cold weather, showed the effects of the worm, are now coming away freely, and promise luxuriant crops.

Indeed harvest prospects have not at this early stage looked so promising for many years.—Ayr. Adv.

FRANCE. Paris, June 2—On Saturday the trial of Darmes and his supposed accomplices, before the Chamber of Peers, was brought to a close. Considere was acquitted, Duclos delivered over to the ordinary tribunals, and Darmes condemned to death.

The sentence of the Court of Peers was carried into effect this morning on Darmes. The preparations, which were made at a very early hour this morning, at the Barriere St. Jacques, gave notice to the immediate neighbors that a criminal was to suffer the extreme penalty of the law within a few hours; the name of Darmes transpired, and a large crowd was collected.—Several squadrons of Municipal Guards and other troops kept the ground, and perfect order was maintained. Darmes was brought from the prison of Luxumbourg, and mounting the fatal scaffold, at half past six, suffered immediate decapitation. His behaviour was firm, and he appeared resigned to his fate. From the total silence observed by the authorities with regard to the time of his execution, few persons expected it would take place so soon; and the prudent motives of government in avoiding all needless display in a case of this kind, and in not giving too much indulgence to the idle curiosity of the public, are to be applauded.—Galignani, May 31.

The Constitutionnel contains a protest from Prince Louis Napoleon, at Ham, in which that personage bemoans his fate, and says he is treated like a prisoner of the twelfth century.

The funds are improving, owing to the complete calm in respect of politics observable in the capitol and the departments.

Louis Phillippe has promised the Northern Courts to liberate Don Carlos so soon as Espartero should be proclaimed Regent of Spain.

SPAIN.—Madrid, May 27th. The Chamber of Deputies met to-day, but transacted no business of importance.

It is expected that a decree ordering the disbanding of 20 battalions of the provincial militia would shortly appear in the Gazette.

A good deal of business was transacted on the Bourse. Speculators evinced more confidence than on the previous days. The operations in the five per cents amounted to 35,000,000 rials, and were done at 27¼ for cash, and at 27 15-16 at 60 days.

PORTUGAL.—FRONTIERS OF ITALY, May 17. The negotiations with Don Miguel at Rome, with reference to his entire renunciation of his claims to the throne of Portugal, on the condition of receiving a suitable pension are still proceeding, and favored not only by the Austrian Court in concert with Russia and Prussia, but likewise by the Papal See.

ITALY. According to private letters from Naples of the 17th ult. it was contemplated to construct a railroad between that capital and the Manfredonia, which would establish a communication between the Mediterranean and the Adriatic. The king had declared his readiness to grant a guarantee of 4 or 4½ per cent. interest to the company who should undertake to execute it. The whole expense was estimated at 14,000,000 of ducats (£2,044,000) The King and queen accompanied by the young Princess and all the Royal household, had returned from Caserta to Naples.

GERMANY. The Constitutionel publishes a letter, dated Frankfort, 22d ult. which announces that the British Charge d'affaires to the Germanic Confederation had fled from that city with an English lady, a married woman, and the mother of 11 children. The Constitutionel adds that this scandalous affair had caused a great sensation at Frankfort. It was not known what direction the parties had taken. The husband of the lady had pursued them to Belgium.

RUSSIA. Accounts from Moscow to the 10th May, mention that the hopes already entertained in Central Russia, of the coming harvest, had led to a fall of twenty per cent. on the price of corn. Prussian State Gazette.

STATE OF THE CROPS, &c. The wheats are growing beautifully, and are are very forward.—Some of them last week began to acquire a tint of yellow, but the last few warm days have so greatly revived them as to excite hopes of an abundant harvest. Lent corn of all descriptions never looked better, and the green crops are heavier than they have been for several years. The grass land is equally luxuriant.

[Dover Chronicle.

DEATHS. Rear Admiral Samuel Motley, and Admiral Sir George Montague Hamilton, Sir Robert Wilmot Horton, and the widow of Sir Everard Home, are dead.

Earl Fortescue is dead.

LIVERPOOL COTTON MARKET, June 2. There has been a very moderate extent of business done in cotton to-day, the sales being scarcely 1,500 bags, all to the trade, comprising 50 Pernams 8 1-4d to 8 1-2d, 40 Maranhams 7 3 4d to 7 7 8d, 20 Egyptians 9 1 2d to 10d, 300 Surats 4d to 5d, and the rest Americans, chiefly from 5 1 2d to 7 1-4d. Prices are without much perceptible alteration, although the tone of the market is decidedly heavy and flat.

June 3. The cotton market still continues without the least improvement either in the demand or in prices. The business to day is again very limited; the total sales not exceeding 1,200 bags, consisting principally of American descriptions, but including 100 Surats 4d to 4 7 8d, and 100 Brazils 8 1-4d to 8 1-2d

LONDON CORN EXCHANGE, June 2. The arrivals are moderate, except of foreign wheat, which amounts to 6,360 quarters. The wheat trade is very dull on Monday's terms. All other articles are unaltered in prices, with a very slow sale.

LONDON TRADE REPORT, Tuesday evening, June 1. The great attraction was the Tea trade, and a good deal of business was transacted; otherwise the produce markets were not very animated.

TEA. About 11,000 packages were brought forward, and at the commencement a large quantity was withdrawn. As the sale proceeded, it was made known that news from China had arrived. Only a few congous had previously been sold. Ordinary at 1s 6 1-2d to 1s 7d; good common 1s 9d; blackish leaf 1s 10d to 2 ; and one break of Twankay at 1s 7 1-2 d and 1-8d; Orange Pekoes at 2s 8d. The effect of the news was an advance on the few congous that were subsequently sold of 2d to 3d; but nearly all the remainder of the sales were withdrawn or bought in. Company's congous advanced to 1s 11 1-4d, and closed on 'change at 1s 10 3 4d to 1s 11d per lb.

LONDON TEA TRADE, June 3. In the tea trade the news from China gave a fresh zest to speculation, and it produced quite a sensation at the public sales, which were proceeding in Mincing lane when it was first announced. At first there appeared a probability of the sales adjourning, but this idea was soon relinquished, and as soon as the news had been read they continued. Out of doors the speculators were very busy in concluding contracts, and as to the close of business on 'change there still seemed the desire to operate. However, there was that slight reaction in prices which generally takes place when a considerable advance has been attained. At the sales, although a good deal was withdrawn for higher prices, the few congous that were sold went at a rise of 2d to 3d per lb. The most experienced parties still think, however, that this disposition to speculate is too hasty, and that the supply will be sufficient to meet all ordinary demand.

LONDON MONEY MARKET, Wednesday evening, June 2. The funds were a shade better to-day; Consols for money 92 7 8 to 90, and for account 93 to 3 8; Bank Stock 168½ to 9 1-2; Exchequer Bills 11s to 13s premium; Money was easy, at rates varying from 4 to 5 per cent.

In the foreign Market there is no particular feature to be noted. Dutch two-and-a half per cents were 52¾ to 5 8; the five per cents 99 1 2 to 100; Belgian 100 to 1; Spanish Active with the Coupons, 23 5 8 to ¼; Portuguese five per cents 23½ to 4, the three per cents 20½ to 3-8; Brazilian 67 to 8; Mexican 27½ to ¾; Columbian 9½ to 2.

Thursday, June 3, 12 o'clock. The funds, British and Foreign, are still in a stagnant state, and the prices in both markets are this morning as at yesterday's close.

The following notice has just appeared:

"Bank of England, 3d June, 1841.

"At a Court of Directors, held this day,

"Resolved, That until further notice, the Bank of England will discount bills of Exchange and notes not having more than 95 days to run."

Half past one. Although this is the settling day in the British market, the funds remain inactive. Money is tight to day, to-morrow being the 4th of the month, when a number of commercial bills become due. Consols for Account are a shade better than in the early part of the morning, being at present 93¼; but for Money Consols have receded ¼ per cent., the present price being 89¾, after having been done at 90. India Stock has gone back to 251, and Exchequer Bills, 7-8 pm — India Bonds are 1 3 pm.

☞ In the foreign house, Columbian bonds are 21 1 4, Mexican 28, Spanish 23 3 4, and Dutch 99 7 8 5-8.

BANK OF ENGLAND. Quarterly average of the weekly liabilities and assets of the Bank of England, from the 2d March, to the 25th of May, 1841:

LIABILITIES.		ASSETS.
Circulation,	£16,615,000	Securities,	£21,817,000
Deposites,	7,242,000	Bullion,	4,921,000

Compared with the last return, the circulation shows an increase of £28,000, the deposites an increase of £17,000, the bullion an increase of £263,000, and the securities a decrease of £255,000.

TO THE PUBLIC.—The price of HATS again lowered. TOWSON is now selling in Eutaw street, one door north of Lexington street, his superior Hats at the following low prices—fine short Nap Mole Skin Hats at $2.50, fine Brush Hats $2.50; Fur Hats from $1.50 upwards. It may be asked how such Hats can be sold (if as represented) at such very low prices; I answer in the first place, I manufacture very extensively, and am able to purchase materials by the quantity much lower than if I bought by the small; and secondly, I sell for cash, and do not have to charge those who pay a high price, to make up for those who do not pay, as the natural result of the credit system. I think my Hats the best as now offered ever sold in this market for the price. Persons will please call and look at my Hats before purchasing elsewhere. Remember TOWSON, one door from Lexington street.

BALTIMORE CLIPPER.

SATURDAY MORNING, JUNE 19, 1841.

THE OCEAN for the present week is, as usual, replete with interest. Its contents are of the very choicest kind. In it will be found full proceedings of Congress, the plan submitted by Mr. Ewing for a Fiscal Agent, as also one by ourselves. Besides these are Select Tales, Poetry, all the City News of the week, and a variety of other matter.

With this number closes the first volume of the Ocean. For its unrivalled success we cannot but return our sincere acknowledgments, with a hope that its merits will insure a like encouragement in future. Numbers can be had at the counter in wrappers or otherwise. Price per single copy, 6¼ cents. Per annum $1.50, in advance.

VERY IMPORTANT NEWS FROM EUROPE—ARRIVAL OF THE COLUMBIA. Under our steamship head, on the first page, will be found most interesting intelligence, eight days later from Europe. We extract from the N. York Herald, for which we are especially indebted to the enterprising and indefhtigable Wm. F. Harnden, esq. by whose express it was received in advance of the mail.

☞On our first page will be found a very excellent letter on Temperance, from a correspondent to his friend in this city. In our humble opinion it is a document, highly creditable to the writer and well worthy a perusal. We are indebted to Mr. Mitchell for the favor.

NATIONAL INTELLIGENCER. The readers of this valuable and ably conducted paper must feel themselves much indebted to the proprietors for the change which they have made in their mode of reporting the proceedings in Congress. But, we presume, that few are acquainted with the additional labor and expense which have been incurred in carrying into effect the new arrangements. Heretofore a mere congressional abstract was given, and the speeches of members were reserved to be reported at length. This necessarily required time, and the consequence was, that we had the speech long after the subject upon which it was delivered, had grown cold, or passed entirely from our recollection. Now the whole proceedings of both houses, including a sufficiently copious report of what was said, appear in the National Intelligencer on the morning after they have occurred. This is an important amendment, for which the proprietors of that paper deserve the thanks of the public, and particularly that portion of it attached to the newspaper press. To effect this change great additional night labor must be performed, and the reporting corps must be considerably increased. We can fully appreciate the sacrifices which have been made to add to the interest of the Intelligencer, and the incessant toil which those connected with the establishment have to undergo; and it excites our astonishment how so much can be performed within the given time. If "Sunday shine no holyday" to them, they must have a sad time.

We sincerely trust that the enterprising proprietors of the Intelligencer may receive an ample reward for their indefatigable exertions to increase the usefulness of their journal. It would be doing injustice to superior talents, industry and perseverance, were their paper to fail in receiving a bountiful patronage.

TWO WORTHIES. The American people, with a unanimity almost unparalleled, throwing aside all party feeling and political differences, have demanded that a liberal appropriation shall be made to the family of the deceased Patriot and and late President, General W. H. Harrison, whose body yet lies in the public cemetery at Washington—and yet, when a bill was introduced into the House of Representatives on Thursday last for that purpose, the occasion was seized by Mr. Dean, an unworthy representative from Ohio, to speak in disrespectful terms of the deceased; and a Mr. Snyder, from Pennsylvania, endeavored to turn the subject into ridicule. The colleagues of Mr. Dean, and others, gave him a castigation, which, if he possess feeling, (which we doubt,) must have touched him to the quick; but poor Snyder appears to have been deemed too contemptible for notice, although he evidently sought notoriety. Men who could thus make war on the dead hero whom they would not dare to look in the eye whilst living, should be spurned with indignant contempt by all honorable men. Members may conscientiously entertain scruples as to the constitutional power of Congress to vote the appropriation; but the vile slanderers of the dead are unworthy seats in the House of Representatives; and they much mistake, if they think that any party will sustain them in their unjustifiable course.

THE GULF PIRATES CAPTURED. The New Orleans Picayune of the 9th inst. states that the tow boat Swan arrived from the Balize on that morning—she towed up the Pilot schooner Argus, having on board Capt. de Putron and his crew of seven men found on board the piratical schooner and six other suspicious characters since arrested. Nugent, found on board the tow boat Tennessean, had a large bloody Bowie knife concealed on his person. They are all now in the Parish Prison.

The Swan left the Pass at 9 o'clock on Tuesday morning—nothing certain was received at that time relative to those persons missing from on board the ship Charles.

Three Pilots and Mr. Henry Collins of that city, guarded the pirates up there.

PUFFING. The Organ men yesterday treated their readers to a column and a half of matter from its puffing department. It consists of sundry extracts from Western papers, announcing the receipt of the President's Message in the Organ extra, with various self-congratulatory comments by the proprietors of the Organ.—These they blazon forth as evidences of "Newspaper Enterprise;" and they would have it believed that they had expresses running to all parts of the Union. Now let us see how far they merit applause for their extraordinary enterprise. Their extras were printed, as those for other papers were, in Washington city. The U. S. express mail from Washington eastward, contained also a mail for the West which was transferred to the Frederick express car at the junction of the two roads. The great enterprise of the Organ men then, consisted simply in having a few extras directed to Western papers placed in the express mail in Washington, and here their labors, exertions and expenditures ceased. The same mail conveyed extras from the Intelligencer and Madisonian offices; and yet the Organ lays claim to marvellous enterprise, and would have it understood that their expresses outstripped the wind. We feel no disposition to detract in the least from their real merit, for we have no envious or malignant feeling to gratify—we therefore admit that their arrangement was judicious and proper. We can admire the hue of the snake, though it be a venomous reptile. But we will suggest an improvement to their arrangements for the West in future—it is, to obtain leave to send an agent with the car, and have the extras from other papers thrown from the mail. This would give them a monopoly in the line of extras, as they desire to have it in newspapers. And should any cotemporary still attempt fair and honorable competition, let the Organ men contrive means to pocket the letters of such competitor, and monopoly is secure.

There is one portion of the Organ article which, we confess, has excited our astonishment. It is that in which an appeal is made to the ladies.—If the statements of that print are to be believed, there are no ladies in Baltimore; for the term lady carries with it the idea of respectability of character; and is inapplicable to females who visit "assignation houses." We think that the Organ should at least have preceded its appeal to the ladies, with an apology for having slandered their reputations.

Whilst the Organ men were taking measures to send messages to Western papers, that they might obtain puffs in return, we were intent on being the first persons in this city to supply our customers with copies of that document, which we accomplished, in despite of the exertions of the "enterprising" puffers of the Organ.

THE EXCURSION TO ANNAPOLIS. The steamer Columbia, Capt. Gayther, in place of the Boston, as advertised, left our city on Thursday afternoon, taking with her about three hundred persons on the previously announced cotillion excursion to Annapolis. The evening, though about the time of starting threatened rain, proved to be fair and pleasant. We were one of the number on board, and can add our testimony to the fact that every thing went off satisfactorily. The prospect on the bay was delightful. When near North Point we counted distinctly fifty eight vessels, moving in different directions, some coming into, and others departing from, our port. So charming a scene we have not witnessed for some time. Here, doubtless, we should have began to speculate upon the great machinery of commerce, had not our attention been diverted from the spectacle by the lively music of Murray's band, followed by dancing. Cotillion succeeded cotillion, and waltz followed waltz, until the time-honored city of Annapolis became visible, which was made about half past seven o'clock. We were hailed by a large number of the Annapolitans who had collected on the wharves, with great courtesy and kindness. After a sufficient time having elapsed for the purposes of supping, &c., (which was finely served up at the Maryland Hotel,) the bell rung and all hands were again on board, the steam up and the Columbia paddling her way homeward. We landed in Baltimore about 12 o'clock, all safe, taught, trig and trim. Mr. Ash and his partner who got up this trip deserve much credit—it was all O. K. The encouragement with which they have met, it is hoped, will induce them to give another, either to Annapolis or further down the bay.

MORE BANK FRAUDS. We think that some publisher could make a handsome sum, by collecting into one or a dozen volumes, as the case might require, all the accounts of Bank frauds and robberies, and the defalcations of public officers, agents, &c.—and we now furnish an additional item to go with the preceding mass. We presume that a few days will give us further particulars.

The Mobile Journal of the 11th instant says: "There are sundry rumors in town, of grave discoveries of frauds in obtaining discounts at the Montgomery Branch of the State Bank. We have heard names given, and the amount fraudulently obtained on worthless or fictitious paper, is variously stated at $150,000 to $200,000. We refrain from mentioning any particulars, until we are sure of our accuracy."

THE BUNKER HILL MONUMENT. The Boston Transcript says, eight layers of stone have been added to the Bunker Hill Monument this season; each layer being two feet eight inches in thickness, making an additional height of twenty one feet four inches. The monument is now, consequently, upwards of one hundred feet in height, and it is rapidly increasing in altitude. We once feared that none of the present generation would live to see this monument completed. We no longer entertain such fears. Indeed, it is not risking much to predict, that the "top stone" will be laid on or before the 17th of June, 1843.

IMPOSITION UPON EMIGRANTS. The St. Johns N. B. News of the 7th inst. announces the arrival off the harbor, on the 26th ult. of a vessel named the Montreal Packet, commanded by Capt. Stuart, under circumstances of a very nefarious character. It appears that the Packet is owned by a Mr. Carson, and in the beginning of April last was cleared at the Dublin Custom House for New York, and sailed under that clearance, having on board 195 passengers bound to that port; many of them in the hope of rejoining friends and relatives from whom they had been long separated. These passengers had all paid from £4 to £4 10s. besides 4s. 6d. for a doctor, (although we understand there was none on board the vessel,) previously to leaving the harbor of Dublin.

The vessel, it seems, was kept out of her proper course on purpose by the Captain, and detained until the passengers, provisions had almost exhausted. He then proposed to make for Boston, to which those on board agreed. But instead of doing so he landed all hands at St. Johns harbor. Provisions were made, however, by the citizens for the cajoled sufferers, and steps taken to punish the aggressors.

NEW YORK CUSTOM HOUSE INVESTIGATION. The New York Herald has the following:—"Swartwout's deficiency has never exceeded $400,000—that he has received permission to return home from the Government, and that when he returns home he will expose the knavery that made him a defaulter for $1,250,000, by confusing his accounts. That Wm. M. Price is not a defaulter to the government at all—that his resignation of office was forced upon him by the intrigues of others—that when he went to Europe, his purpose was to return with Swartwout. That one Mr. Dayton, a respectable importer, has testified that he gave his check for $25,000 by way of a compromise, to recover his goods from the public stores, amounting to $400,000, including the usual duties. There are other round charges made against the officers of the customs, of secretly obstructing the foreign trade of New York at the instigation of a confederacy of manufacturers of other cities, which, as the evidence upon which they rest has not yet been made public, may or may not be true."

FROM FLORIDA.

ST. AUGUSTINE, June 13.

Capture and departure of Wild Cat.—Colonel Gates arrived yesterday from Fort Pierce, Indian River, in the Wm. Gaston, and informs us that 15 minutes before he arrived at Fort Pierce, Major Childs took the notorious Indian Wild Cat or Coacoochee, with 15 warriors and 3 negroes, in all 19, and after two days confinement they were shipped to New Orleans, in the schooner Walter M., Captain Thompson. He is as bold and independent as ever, and boasts of his having committed the horrid murders near the city some time since. This news was received by the citizens with three cheers.

COLONIZATION JOURNAL, vol. 1, No. 1, new series, conducted by James Hill, general agent of the Maryland State Colonization Society. This number is handsomely printed, and contains the report made by the President of the Society to the late State Convention, together with the entire proceedings of the Convention. The substance of this number of the journal has been heretofore published in the columns of the Clipper.

ACCIDENT ON THE MORRIS AND ESSEX RAIL ROAD. A loose piece of iron rail, called "a snake head," while the cars were in full speed, came in contact with the ground, forcing one end through the bottom of the car and through the thigh of a young man, a passenger. He is seriously ill from the accident. The unfortunate affair took place on Tuesday last.

RUMORED FAILURE OF A BANK. Information was received in this city yesterday, stating that the Merchants and Mechanics Bank of Wheeling, Va. had failed. Its notes, we understand, were refused by the brokers. Some, however, did offer to purchase them at a very great discount. We shall probably have further and more definite particulars to-day.

☞The amount of the suit instituted by the Bank of the United States against Mr. Biddle, its late President, is $1,018,000, paid out during his administration, for which no vouchers can be found, of which sum more than four hundred thousand dollars, it is asserted, were paid to him for purposes unknown, upon the checks of the Cashier.

THE NATIONAL BANK. We learn that the Board of Trade of this city, adopted at its meeting held on Thursday evening, the memorial to Congress submitted by the committee to whom the subject was referred, asking the establishment of a National Bank.

SHIP STRUCK BY LIGHTNING. The foretopgallant mast and fore top gallant yard of ship Mohawk, lying in Hampton Roads were shivered by lightning on Sunday afternoon last. The ship sustained no other injury.

OHIO RIVER. Extract of a letter from Wheeling, dated 16th instant: "Our river continues low and a man might wade across any of the ripples between here and Pittsburg. In fact, it is scarcely knee deep."

MELANCHOLY. On Friday of last week, a dwelling house in the village of Kinderhook was burned down. It was occupied by a colored family. Five of its inmates, consisting of two grown persons and three children perished in the flames.

UNFORTUNATE. A deck hand on board the steamer Republican, on her way from St. Louis to Pittsburg, was accidentally shot by the discharge of a gun from one of the passengers. The deceased's name was Francis Willard.

HAY. The Germantown Telegraph says that the farmers in that quarter have commenced hay making in earnest. The crop generally is as good as in any ordinary season.

WASHINGTON, June 18, 1841.

This morning in the House, Mr. Adams offered a resolution setting forth that by the reconsideration of the vote adopting the rules, the standing committees were no longer in existence.

After some remarks from Mr. A. it was decided that the position taken by him was untenable, and that the existence of those Committees was not affected by the recent action of the House.—Mr. Adams on his motion was then discharged from serving on the committee on Indian Affairs.

A BILL for the relief of Mrs. Harrison, widow of the late President of the United States.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States in Congress assembled, That the Secretary of the Treasury pay, out of any money in the Treasury, not otherwise appropriated, to Mrs. Harrison, widow of William Henry Harrison, late President of the United States, or in event of her death before payment, then to the legal representatives of the said William Henry Harrison, the sum of ——.

Mr. Adams had moved to fill up the blank by inserting $25,000.

Mr. Gordon had moved to strike out $25,000 and to insert $6,520.

Mr. Snyder's amendment relating to Mr. Ogle, being decided out of order, he moved to amend by striking out the sum proposed, and inserting "a gratuity of $1,000 to be paid now to Mrs. Harrison, and ever after during her life a semi-annual payment of $500.

Mr. Gilmer, of Va., thought that Congress had no power to make the appropriation in the bill. He thought the better way would be to lay the subject before the people of the U. S., so that, without distinction of party, the country at large might participate in the act of remuneration. In his opinion, generosity was a dangerous virtue in legislation.

Mr. Pope spoke briefly in favor of the bill. General Harrison was called to the Presidency by nineteen States out of the twenty-seven, and of course he was bound by every consideration to obey that call. He did so, but in so doing he incurred expenses which he was not able to bear; it was, therefore, the duty of Congress, inasmuch as the late President died before his salary could remunerate him, to be just and indemnify his family.

In the Senate, after the disposal of some preliminary business, the debate on the Report of the Secretary of the Treasury was resumed.

Mr. Wright being entitled to the floor, resumed and concluded his remarks from yesterday, attacking the report as incorrect and sophistical.

Mr. Woodbury replied to the remarks made by Mr. Evans on yesterday, and attempted to shew that his charges against the report were substantiated by the report itself.

NEWS ABOUT TOWN.

APOLOGY. We never wish to give offence, and are therefore always willing to apologise when we have unintentionally done wrong. It has been whispered in our ear, that our having designated a certain paper as the "Penitentiary Organ," is extremely offensive to some of the inmates of that state institution. They have no desire that additional odium shall be cast upon them. We assure them that we had no design to wound their feelings; but as the thing is christened, the name cannot be recalled.

ACCIDENT. A boy of about ten or eleven years of age, living in a house in Hanover street opposite the market, fell from the top of the garret stairway over the banisters to the landing place below, striking upon his head, injuring himself severely, though, we believe, not dangerously. When seen by our informant, some half hour after the occurrence, he was still delirious from the effect of the fall.

WAVERLY NOVELS. Mr. N. Hickman, No. 86 Baltimore street, has kindly laid upon our table the 3d Number of those popular works.—This number completes the "Antiquary." Our readers will bear in mind that the whole series, will be finished in twenty five weekly numbers, for the astonishing low price of five dollars.—The work is got up in the very best style of typography.

BARNABY RUDGE, by Boz. The 8th Number of Barnaby has been received. From the known popularity of the author, it will be only necessary for us to say that the work can be had of Messrs Knight and Colburn, No 174 Baltimore street.

POSTPONEMENT. The Independent Blues' Cotillion excursion which was to have taken place yesterday afternoon, has been postponed until Friday next, in consequence of the inclemency of the weather.

THE GENIUS AT LARGE. John Herdynski, the genius, in whose fate we have taken so much interest as to trace his erratic wanderings, was, we learn, discharged yesterday morning, for want of sufficient evidence.

PARDONED. We learn that the Governor has pardoned William Legar, who was convicted at the last term of the Anne Arundel County court. Legar was convicted for keeping a faro table.

KILLED BY A CAB. A man named James Walch was carelessly run over by a cab in New York on the 14th and was killed instantly. The driver, J. F. Johnson, has been imprisoned.

A NEW CHURCH. The corner stone of a new Methodist Episcopal Church was laid at Westchester on Thursday last. The Rev. Mr. Kennedy delivered an address on the occasion.

FIRE. The prairie through which the Nashville rail road passes, has lately been on fire, and rendered a considerable portion of the road unpassable.

DROWNED. A young man named Simpson, engineer of the steamship Acadia, was drowned at Boston on Saturday night.

"ONE OF YOUR ACQUAINTANCE"

☞The person who addressed a letter to a young gentleman of this city, signed "One of your acquaintance," is informed that they are not a little sucked in as regards their opinion, and if the lady, (if she calls herself one, which, of course, she does, whether she is or not,) will attach the real name to the next letter it will give the person addressed an opportunity of treating her as she deserves. All I have to say is that my Mammy forbids me being seen in your company unless you reform your bad practices. So, my young lady restrained as I am, I have still some hopes for you keep out of my sight until then, for otherwise I would respect you. Rem—Shakespeare. (Who cares—asks no favors.) je19-1t*

TO THE LADIES.
BARGAINS! BARGAINS!!

MRS. M. A. LANGFORD being determined to close her present stock of Goods without any regard to cost or profit, would most respectfully call the attention of the ladies and the public generally to the following articles in her line of business, which she will sell at prices so that no lady need leave the store without purchasing: Florence BRAID, Pendie BRAID, GIMP, LAWN and SILK BONNETS, great bargains; SILKS; BOMBAZINES; MOUSLIN DE LAINES and SCARFS of all descriptions, long and short. A large assortment of French worked CAPES and COLLARS will be sold for half cost. A particular description of all the articles in her line of business would be superfluous, as any ladies disposed to purchase will no doubt call and see for themselves, as she is disposed to sell any and every article without regard to cost or profit.

FAIR HAVEN. This elegant establishment will be open for the reception of visiters on and after Monday next, the 21st June. The proprietor having made considerable additions and improvements to the establishment, and having provided the same with everything necessary for the comfort and convenience of visiters, feels the utmost confidence in recommending it as a very desirable summer retreat. Fair Haven is situated on the Western Shore of the Chesapeake Bay, about 20 miles below the city of Annapolis; is remarkable healthy—the scenery beautiful and pleasant. (Strangers have said that the scenery alone was a sufficient inducement to visit the place.) The proprietor, ever anxious to accommodate the public, has determined to make such a reduction from his former rates, as will correspond with the present pressure of the times.

The Steamboat Patuxent will leave Baltimore every TUESDAY MORNING, at 6 o'clock, for Fair Haven, and return from thence in the evening. She will also leave Baltimore every THURSDAY MORNING, at 6 o'clock, and will land passengers at Fair Haven on her route to the Patuxent; and will return thence on SUNDAY, touching at Fair Haven. Persons availing themselves of the conveyance to visit Fair Haven only, will not be subject to any charge returning.

CASH FOR NEGROES.

THE HIGHEST PRICES will at all times be given for NEGROES of both sexes, that are slaves for life, and good titles. My office is in PRATT STREET, No. 85, between Sharp and Howard streets, where myself or my Agent, (Mr. J. M. WILSON,) can be seen at all times. All persons, having Negroes to sell, would do well to see me before they dispose of them, as I am always buying and forwarding to the New Orleans market. I will also receive and keep Negroes at twenty-five cents each, per day, and forward them to any Southern port, at the request of the owner. My establishment is large, comfortable and airy, and all above ground; and kept in complete order, with a large yard for exercise; and is the strongest and most splendid building of the kind in the United States. And as the character of my house and yard is so completely established, for strength, comfort and cleanliness, and it being a place where I keep all my own, I will not be accountable, for the future, for any escapes of any kind from my establishment.

THE POTOMAC PAVILLION,
PINEY POINT.

THE SUBSCRIBER respectfully informs his friends and the Public that he has resumed the management of this popular Bathing Place, and that it is now open for the reception of company.

Piney Point, on which the Pavilion is situated, is a clear open cape, (though wooded in the rear on the north and east,) jutting into the Potomac near its mouth, where the river is eight or ten miles wide, in full view of the Chesapeak bay. The bathing is very fine, the water being nearly as salt as that of the ocean, and the air is pure. It possesses the advantage of the greatest abundance of the largest oysters, of soft and hard crabs, and all the varieties of excellent fish with which the waters of the Chesapeake abound.

There are a spacious Ball Room, Billiard Room, Bowling Alley, Quoit Yards, &c., the whole fronting the river to the south, within a hundred yards of the clean white beach. There are provided, also, two beautiful and commodious yachts, under the charge of an experienced and skilful seaman. There are bathing houses for those who prefer them to the open surf; also a substantial wharf for the steamboats to come up to, instead of landing and taking off passengers in the small boats, as heretofore; which, moreover, enables visiters to bring carriages and horses, if they choose.

Besides the salt water luxuries above named, every thing will be supplied for the table which the markets of the District, Baltimore, and Norfolk can afford, to which the steamboat lines furnish regular access; and the house will be amply provided with the best wines and other liquors.

The establishment has been well, though plainly, furnished throughout, including new mattresses and bed furniture. The establishment is sufficiently large to accommodate 200 visiters.

The steamers which ply between the District and Baltimore and Norfolk furnish to the inhabitants of these cities regular opportunities for visiting and departing from the Pavillion.

The subscriber has procured the aid of efficient and attentive assistants for the Bar and other departments of the establishment.

It is determined that moderate charges shall constitute one of the advantages of the establishment; to this shall be added the most zealous efforts to please, and the subscriber trusts that these efforts, united to the experience acquired by him as keeper for several years of a public house, will enable him to give satisfaction to all who may favor him with a visit.

P. J. HEPBURN.

Price of board $1 25 per day, children under twelve years of age and servants half price.

N. B.—Families desirous of spending a considerable portion of the season will be taken on more moderate terms.

CASH FOR NEGROES.

THE subscriber being permanently located in this city, is at all times wanting to purchase likely young negroes of both sexes, for which cash and the most liberal prices will be paid. Persons having such to dispose of will find it to their interest to call on me before they sell, as they may rest assured, by doing so they shall obtain their VALUE for them. The subscriber's establishment is located on Harford Avenue, in one of the highest and most healthy parts of the city, having a free circulation of air, and a yard for exercise through the day—must necessarily be more healthy than in the centre of the city, especially in hot weather. Servants will be received for safe keeping, and every attention paid to their comfort and cleanliness, at the low rate of 25 cents per day. Application to be made to me at my office in Calvert-st. Near Market st., one door below Mr. Bloomer's hat store, or at my residence, or to my brother at Whitman's Eagle Hotel, Pratt-st., immediately opposite the Baltimore and Ohio Rail road Depot. JAMES F. PURVIS.

BALTIMORE CLIPPER.

BALTIMORE CITY COURT.

FRIDAY, JUNE 18, 1841.

Present—Judges Brier, Nisbet and Worthington.

State vs. John Sewell, colored, indicted for an assault and battery upon an officer, while serving a writ of replevin for the recovery of a dog. One of the witnesses stated that when he saw the affray the officer and boy had hold of the dog; that the dog escaped from both—that the boy struck the officer and knocked off his hat—"that the officer ran after the hat—the boy ran after the gate—the dog ran after the boy—and the officer ran after the dog." The court declared the traverser not guilty.

State vs. A. Dean, indicted for an assault and battery upon Hetty Jones, a colored woman.—Found guilty, and sentenced to one day's imprisonment, having already been in jail.

In the cases of Samuel Bender, Jefferson Griffith, and George Forsyth, indicted for a riot some time since, the state acknowledged her inability to prove them guilty, and the cases were abandoned.

State vs. James Carey, indicted for felony, in stealing iron to the amount of six dollars, plead not guilty. A jury being sworn, the case proceeded to trial; but as the identity of the articles stolen was not clearly established, the indictment was handed to the jury, who found him not guilty.

State vs. James Tilghman, colored, indicted for stealing a pocket book containing two hundred and thirty-two dollars, the property of W. P. Maulsby, Esq. The case was tried before the court. After the statement of the case to the court, their honors, not conceiving that the evidence was sufficient to convict him, there being no positive proof of his guilt, acquitted him.

State vs. Hezekiah Caldwell, colored, indicted for being the father of an illegitimate child, Margaret Gilliard, also colored, being the mother. The testimony on the part of the state, of the girl and her father, was given very clearly, that of the latter particularly. Some evidence was produced on the part of the defence to shew that the girl was common in her behaviour, but it resulted in proving directly the reverse, and establishing more clearly her previous and subsequent good behaviour. Some points of law were argued by the counsel for the defence, but the court did not consider them as applying to the case, if at all, until after the decision of the jury. The case was then given to the jury, who instantly returned a verdict of guilty.

State vs. George Johnson, colored, indicted for an assault and battery with intent to kill, and for a simple assault upon George Watkins, also colored. Before the jury. Various witnesses were summoned on both sides, all of the same color. The jury acquitted the traverser on the first count, but found him guilty on the second. Fined him $20 and costs.

BALTIMORE MARKET, JUNE 18.

FLOUR.—We note a small advance in Howard-street Flour during the week. Sales have been made from stores at $5.12½. The wagon price has raised to $5. Some sales of City Mills have been made since our last quotations at $5.44a5.50, as per quality. The stock on hand is light.

GRAIN.—There has been but little alteration in this market. We quote Pennsylvania reds at 118c. and white do. at 120c. Maryland reds have been sold at 109a113c. Corn, white, will command from 54c. to 56c.; yellow 56c. Rye, 58a60c.; Maryland Oats 38a40c.; Virginia 33a35c.

PROVISIONS.—Transactions in this commodity have been confined to small parcels. We quote prime western assorted Bacon at 5½a6 cents.—Hams 6a8 cents; sides 5 3-4a6 cents; shoulders 4a5 cents. We note some sales of assorted prime quality at 6 cents. The receipts continue abundant, though the demand is limited. We have not been apprized of any transactions in Balt. bacon. We have no alteration to make in barrel meats. Baltimore Mess Beef is held at $12,50; No. 1. at $9, and Prime at $8, nominal. The last sale of Mess Pork was at $12, cash.—The stock of Mess and Prime is heavy with no demand. Some holders of No. 1. Western Lard are less firm and the article is now held at 7½ to 8 cents. Stock moderate.

CATTLE.—The demand for live cattle is rather inactive. We quote at $6a$7,75 per hundred lbs. as to quality, from inferior to prime. Live Hogs are in abundance, and are found to be dull sale at $4 to $4,25 per 100 lbs.

WHISKEY.—We quote Whiskey in hhds. 23a24 cents; and in bbls. 24 cents. The wagon price for barrels is 20c., exclusive of the barrel.

REMEDY FOR A LIGHTNING SHOCK. As this is the season when all are more or less liable to experience a shock from nature's battery, the Buffalo Commercial Advertiser suggests that any person struck down by lightning, no matter if apparently dead, ought to be laid immediately extended on the damp ground; and if it do not rain upon him, water should be thrown on freely which in most cases will conduct off the electric fluid without serious injury. Many a one has lost his life when a knowledge of these facts on the part of friends or bystanders, would have preserved it.

DAVIES' FAMILY PILLS.

[From Captain Fanstan, who commenced to use them when diseased in August, 1839.]

PHILADELPHIA, June 2, 1840.

☞To Dr. Davies: Dear Sir—I have had experience in the virtue of your Pills, sufficient to recommend them as a superior cathartic and excellent carminative, and also as a family medicine that every one should be in possession of. There is no doubt that if persons and families generally were acquainted with their efficacy, they might save many a dollar now paid for doctor's bills. Yours respectfully,

E. PARRISH.

HARPER'S FERRY, August 11, 1840.

Dr. Wm. Davies: Dear Sir—I am happy to inform you and the public, that I have been cured of that dreadful disease the Rheumatism, by taking your Family Pills. I had been laboring under that disease for more than a year, during which time I tried the skill of our best physicians without effect; at length I was induced to try your medicine—I found relief after taking half a box, I continued to take them until I had taken five boxes; my age is 71 years, and I consider that none but the old and rheumatic persons know how grateful I feel to the medicine that has restored me to health. Yours, respectfully, JOHN DYE.

We, the undersigned, are agents at Harper's Ferry for the sale of Dr. Davies' Family Pills, know our neighbour, Mr. Dye, sold him the pills of which he speaks so highly, and believe his statement to be substantially true. Respectfully,

MOFFAT'S LIFE PILLS

AND VEGETABLE BITTERS.

THE perfectly safe, unerring and successful treatment of almost every species of disease by the use of MOFFAT'S LIFE MEDICINES, is no longer a matter of doubt, as a reference to the experience of many thousand patients will satisfactorily prove. During the present month alone, nearly one hundred cases have come to the knowledge of Mr. Moffat, where the patient has, to all appearance, effected a permanent cure by the exclusive and judicious use of the Life Medicines—some eight or ten of these had been considered beyond all hope by their medical attendants.—Such happy results are a source of great pleasure to Mr. M. and inspire him with new confidence to recommend the use of his medicines to his fellow citizens.

The Life Medicines are a purely VEGETABLE preparation. They are mild and pleasant in their operation, and at the same time thorough—acting rapidly upon the secretions of the system—carrying off all acrimonious humors, and assimilating with and purifying the blood. For this reason, in aggravated cases of dyspepsia, the Life Medicines will give relief in a shorter space of time than any other prescription; in Fever and ague, Inflammation, Fevers of every description, Sick headache, heartburn, dizziness in the head, pains in the chest, flatulency, impaired appetite, in every disease arising from an impurity of the blood, or a disordered state of the stomach, the use of these medicines has always proved to be beyond doubt greatly superior to any other mode of treatment.

All that Mr. Moffat asks of his patients is to be particular in taking them strictly according to the directions. It is not by a newspaper notice, or by any thing that he himself may say in their favor, that he hopes to gain credit, it is alone by the results of a fair trial. Is the reader an invalid, and does he wish to know whether the life medicines will suit his own case? If so let him call or send to Mr. Moffat's agent in this place, and procure a copy of the Medical Manual, designed as a domestic guide to health, published gratuitously. He will here find enumerated very many extraordinary cases of cure; and perhaps some exactly similar to his own. Moffat's medical office in New York, 375 Broadway, and for sale by the Agents. JAS. BOOZ,

WEBB'S PATENT BURNERS,

AND CAMPHINE OIL.

FOR SALE AT No. 199 E. BALTIMORE STREET, between South and Calvert streets, where Burners of every description can be obtained. Those who are sceptical as to its safety or economy, would, I trust be perfectly satisfied by examining the opinion of Professor Locke, of Ohio, on "Webb's Patent Burner," or by referring to the Journals of the Franklin and American Institutes, of Philadelphia and New York. All those desirous of obtaining a clear, brilliant, and economical light, will find it greatly to their advantage by calling on the subscriber. The public may be assured of one fact, that we require no means to ascertain the amount of Camphine consumed, as they register correctly and in plain English.

P. AUGUSTUS BAILEY, Agent

For the Proprietors.

The following letter to the Agent, exhibits the superiority of the Camphine over Gas or Oil light, in brilliancy and cheapness:

New York, March 23, 1840.

DEAR SIR—I received yours of the 19th instant, and proceed, as you request, to inform you that WEBB'S PATENT LAMP, in my opinion, is much superior to any Lamp now in use—the Camphine produces better light than Gas or Oil. I have burned Oil for five years, Gas for eleven, and Webb's Camphine for 20 months. I have a better light in my bar-room with five of Webb's burners than I had in the same room with eleven gas lights. In fact, I light my whole house at less expense with the Camphine than it cost me to light my bar-room alone with gas. I recommend it as being the cheapest and best light now in use.

Yours respectfully, THOMAS RILEY,

"NO CURE NO PAY."

DR. HUNTER'S RED DROP. This long established and highly valuable medicine is now no novelty. It has been before the public for a long time, and by its merits alone, has it risen to a degree of estimation not enjoyed by any other medicine, for the certain cure of the Syphilitic disease. Prompt and effectual in action, yet harmless to the constitution, is its well established character, having never failed to give entire satisfaction in all the many thousand cases, where it has been used as directed.—These absolute and undeniable facts speak trumpet-tongued to the afflicted, and are the basis of a well founded hope of the philanthropist, that this unequalled medicine may circulate far and wide for the benefit of the human race.

This medicine gives the prodigal a chance to repent. Thousands have been saved and radically cured, after suffering under the hands of impostors, by this medicine, and who with grateful hearts are ready to attest to its value, and have allowed themselves to be referred to.

Persons residing at any distance, can have medicine sent to them, packed secure from observation.

It was out of pure motives of philanthropy, that this medicine was first made public; the price always to remain $1 per Bottle, to be within the reach of the most unfortunate.

☞Letters addressed, (post paid) describing the case, mode of living, &c. will be promptly attended to. Direct No. 17 Harrison street.

SUMMER ARRANGEMENT.

GREAT SOUTHERN

UNITED STATES' MAIL LINE,

DAILY TO THE SOUTH.

☞Bear in mind, that Passengers who go by the Chesapeake Bay and Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road, have 40 miles of Rail Road travelling through the DISMAL SWAMP at midnight, over one of the worst Rail Roads in America, and then are often compelled to lay over 17 hours at Weldon, one of the most unhealthy places in the whole Southern country.

TRAVELLERS FOR THE SOUTH, are informed that, by taking the Cars at Baltimore for Washington at 9 A. M., they proceed, without one moment's delay, via Washington, Fredericksburg, Richmond, Petersburg, Weldon, and Wilmington, N. C. to CHARLESTON, S. C., reaching Charleston the second morning after leaving Baltimore, and often one day in advance of any other Line—the Companies on the route being bound by the Postmasters General to make the following quick Schedule:

Leave Philadelphia	12 P.M. reach	Baltimore	8 A.M.
" Baltimore	9 A.M.	" Washington	11 A.M.
" Washington	11½ A.M.	" Fredk'sburg	6 P.M.
" Fred'sburg	6½ P.M.	" Richmond	11 P.M.
" Richmond	11½ P.M.	" Petersburg	1 A.M.
" Petersburg	1½ A.M.	" Weldon	6½ A.M.
" Weldon	7 A.M.	" Charleston	on the next morning.

Passengers by this Line not only reach Charleston ONE DAY SOONER than by the Bay boats but they avoid being compelled to remain all night at Weldon, on the Roanoke, one of the most unhealthy places in the whole southern country, where, by the Bay Line, they are often delayed twenty-four hours.

Passengers for Richmond and Petersburg will find this Line far the most expeditious, arriving at Richmond to lodge, (as will be seen from the above Schedule,) on the evening of the day on which they leave Baltimore, being from 16 to 18 hours in advance of those taking the Bay Steam Boats.

☞This is much the nearest, quickest, and cheapest route to the interior of Virginia, North and South Carolina—at Petersburg, Va. commences the route by way of Raleigh, N. C.—145 miles of Rail Road from Petersburg to that city. Stage Lines branch off from Raleigh Rail Road to the old Piedmont Line, to Milton Danville, &c., and to Knoxville, (Tenn.)

☞Passengers for the Raleigh and Gaston Rail Road pay through to Petersburg, Va.

Fare to Richmond,	$10.00
Fare to Petersburg,	10.50
Fare to Weldon,	12.50

For further information and Through Tickets, apply at the office of STOCKTON, FALLS & CO. Adjoining the Philadelphia Rail Road Office,

UNITED STATES MAIL LINE,

DAILY TO THE SOUTH, Sunday's excepted.

Via the Chesapeake Bay and Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road,

THE BALTIMORE STEAM-PACKET CO. announce to the public that in accordance with the New Mail Arrangement, the Boats composing their line, viz: ALABAMA, Captain Sutton; GEORGIA, Captain Coffey; and JEWESS, Captain Holmes, will, on and after WEDNESDAY, the 26th of May, leave the lower end of Spear's wharf daily, (Sunday's excepted,) at nine o'clock, A.M. for Norfolk and Portsmouth, Va.

Passengers for Charleston will find the cars of the Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road Company, on the wharf, on their arrival at Portsmouth, ready to convey them to Weldon, N. C., where they will always arrive in time to take the cars for Wilmington, from which point to Charleston is by the Steamboat, which leaves Wilmington immediately after the Passengers are delivered from the cars.

Passengers for Richmond, Petersburg, or intermediate points on James River, by leaving Baltimore on Monday, Wednesday, or Friday, will sleep on board the Bay Boat and be transferred to the James River Boat next morning.

The Steamboat Fox leaves the Black Water station on the Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road, every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, on the arrival of the cars from Portsmouth, for Edenton and Plymouth N. C., and returns every Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday, delivering her passengers to the cars as they pass down from Weldon, enabling them to arrive in Baltimore next day, (Sundays excepted.)

RETURNING, one of the above Boats will leave Norfolk every night (Saturday being excepted) at 8 o'clock, and cross over to Portsmouth where she will wait the arrival of the Cars from Weldon, and depart for Baltimore as soon as the passengers and baggage are on board, arriving here in about 14 hours after departing from Portsmouth.

Should the Boat get an early start from Portsmouth Passengers for Philadelphia and New York will have the opportunity of being placed on board the Philadelphia Steamboat in the Patapsco River, and will arrive in Philadelphia the same night by 11 o'clock, after having travelled 366 miles in 20 hours, without as much fatigue as would be incurred in walking from the Hotel to the wharf.

☞No freight will be forwarded on the day it is left, unless it is alongside, prior to 8 o'clock, A.M.

SCOTTISH MANNERS A HUNDRED YEARS AGO.

In the early part of the eighteenth century, many of the ladies of the highest rank in Scotland could not write, and some of them could not even read. Some brilliant specimens indeed, of female talents and accomplishments, graced the northern capital; but these were rare exceptions to the general rule. A certain bluntness and even licentiousness, of conversation prevailed among women of rank; and the youngest and fairest of them, in social parties, could not sing with wonderful complacency such equivocal, or rather unequivocal, songs as are now only to be found in the cabinets of virtuosos and relic hunters. Lady Stair, who was the leader of ton in Edinburgh about the middle of the eighteenth century, was so free of speech, that having quarrelled with the Earl of Dundonald, she defied him to his teeth, and called him thrice "a d——d villain." Anne, the eldest daughter of Lord Royston, a lady of wit, beauty and accomplishment, used to disguise herself in male attire and scour the streets at midnight, in quest of adventures, like a regular Mohock. In one of these sallies she fell into the hands of the town-guard, and was confined for a whole night in the guard-house. When ladies walked in the streets, their favorite attire was a large plaid, which was gracefully disposed to cover the head like a Spanish mantanilla, so that it formed a more complete disguise than even a mask. On this account it served to cover, or rather conceal, a multitude of sins, in the shape of assignations and intrigues, a circumstance which brought upon it the ban both of Town Council and Kirk Session.

Ladies also were frequenters of taverns, as well as gentlemen; and it would appear that, on these occasions, they did not generally stint themselves in drinking to the measure of feminine propriety. But of all the excesses of these aristocratic rantipoles, their oyster suppers were the most startling. Edinburgh, at this time, abounded with little dark cellars, which were used as vulgar hostelries, and in these subterranean dens fashionable parties of both sexes assembled for the purpose of feasting and revelry. The supper on these occasions, was generally oysters and porter; the conversation that enlivened it was as low as the place of festival; and, when the course banquet was over, dancing brandy and rum-punch kept the whole party in a state of uproarious excitement till the morning light began to dawn. Sometimes, too, by way of heightening the revel, town courtezans were actually invited to take a share in the dancing and merriment.

Edinburgh at this period, and even until she had "flung her white arms to the sea," enjoyed the unenviable situation of being the filthiest city in Europe. While war was rife between England and Scotland, the citizens, in building their houses, were anxious to keep as near the protections of the castle as possible, and therefore, instead of increasing the limits of the city, piled story upon story after the model of the Parisians, until a house sometimes rivalled the steeples in height, while it sheltered some twenty or thirty families within its walls. This was especially the case in the High street, where some of these fourteen story dwellings remained till within these few years. The streets being very narrow, while the houses were so lofty, were consequently gloomy and ill-ventilated; and, as those who dwelt in the airy regions begrudged the toil of a descent to the street when it could be avoided, the whole garbage of many families was ejected from the windows with little ceremony. This vile process, indeed, was confined to an early period of the morning; but wo to the stranger who ventured to go forth in the hope of inhaling the morning breeze! A whole volley of miscellaneous abominations lighted upon his head, before the tardy warning of "gar de l'eau could travel to his ears.

Another source of the dirtiness of Edinburg was the circumstance of so many outside stairs projecting from the houses, under which the inhabitants kept swine, that were allowed to wander about in the streets, and play the part of scavengers. These animals naturally became the pets and play-fellows of the young people, and thus a litter of pigs and children might often be soon rolling lovingly together in the mud. As the desire of protection impelled the common people castleward, the situation of Holyrood Palace, at its lower extremity, made the Canongate a street of nobleman's houses, before the accession of James IV. to the Crown of England.

Even after that event, indeed, although several of the Scottish nobility repaired to the English court, yet the majority, who were both proud and poor, found themselves unable to sustain the expenses of a London life, and very prudently abode by their Edinburgh domiciles. This state of things continued until the Union, when the removal of the Parliament certainly gave a blow to the prosperity of Edinburgh, which, for a time, was severely felt. The insurrections in 1715 and 1745 succeeded, by which the town was still further thrown back; but, after the final overthrow of the stewart cause, Edinburgh, as if it had been delivered from its evil genius, suddenly commenced a career of prosperity nearly unexampled in the progress of modern capitols.

From the cheapness of education, both at schools and colleges, a Scottish gentleman was able, at a small expense, to send all his sons to the university; but, as the eldest only inherited the patrimonial estate, the rest commonly went abroad, and prospered so well, that the good luck of Scotsmen in foreign countries had become proverbial. Thus, even so early as the period of the thirty years war in Germany, Gustavus Adolphus had four lieutenant generals, twenty colonels, and inferior officers without number, in his army, who were all natives of Scotland. Towards the end of that period, when Scotland was beginning to be smitten with a new commercial ambition, it became a practice in some parts of the country, and especially in Fifeshire and Perthshire, for the younger sons of noble families to be instructed in some mechanical art, for the encouragement of trade and manufactures. This was a change which would have been objected to even by the aristocratic Fletcher of Saltoun, who complained, that the younger sons of ancient Scottish families devoted themselves too exclusively to the career of a soldier of fortune.

In the article of diet the Scots were pretty nearly assimilated to their neighbors of England, with the exception of their retention of certain dishes, which had been national from an early period.—The chief of these were a singed or scorched sheep's head boiled, a haggis, oatmeal porridge, cakes of the same material and kailbrose. Tea had been imported into Scotland in 1681, and in 1750 it was in common use among the middle classes of Edinburgh.

At all times a large portion of the Scottish population had consisted of mendicants and other lawless characters. About the date of the Union, according to Fletcher, there were 200,000 persons in Scotland who begged their bread from door to door, while there had never at any time been less than 100,000. He tells us that they generally went in bands; that whatever they were unable to obtain by entreaty: they took by force and violence; and that they lived among themselves in a state of lawless and unnatural intercourse. Many of these pariahs, however, were not Scots, but gypsies. The genuine Scottish gaberlunzie and blue gownsmen of the 28th century was a person of a very different sort, being at once the newsmonger, love-broker and letter-carrier of his little district, and sometimes also its chief wit and politician. He was then a useful personage in his day and generation, and instead of being humbled under his office, he rather regarded himself as a benefactor of society who had a good right to be fed. While the progress of civilization therefore crushed and exterminated the gypsie race, as it does in case of other savages, it passed lightly over the privileged beggar of the village—so that many an Edie Ochiltree is still to met with in the rural districts of the North.

FASHIONS FOR JUNE. [From the London and Paris Ladies' Magazine of Fashion.] Foulards are very fashionable this season, and seem quite to replace the mousselines de laine; they are chines, &c; the taffetas de Chine is also a most useful material, and is made in stripes and various patterns, and shades of every color; watered silks are also very fashionable. Muslins and organdy are ornamented with inlets and embroidery entablier or echelle. Redingotes of muslin are also much ornamented by inlets. With these dresses the sleeves are of moderate fullness with deep wristbands; the make of sleeves depends on the material; there are three styles principally used; if of silk or thick material they are tight; the top variously ornamented for muslin or light material; the demi gigots and the Amadis are used. The redingote form of body and the tight half-high corsage are very fashionable for morning wear; in evening dress the corsage grandmere, corsage a la Niobe and a la Vierge. Flounces, tucks, biais, fringe, ruches, gimp trimming, also vary with the matrial.

For walking dresses, scarfs of taffetas graces of light colors have three folds on the shoulders, and back confined by bands of gimp. Muslin scarfs are with embroideries a jours, or with inlets. Black lace scarfs are fashionable, as also those of filet.

Fichus and cannezous are very much worn; some are with short sleeves, and form a pretty finish to silk dress. Summer mantelets of pink or blue levantine glace with white and lined taffetas, are trimmed all round with pink and white gimp, and fringes of the same color. Mantelets of embroidered muslin are lined with pink and trimmed with lace, and those of lilac poult de soie are lined with white, and embroidered in white silk, with cordelieres of white and lilac.

In bonnets all the lighter materials are now in requisition, crapes, tulles, lace, organdy, tissue de soie, &c. &c.; paille, pink, blue, and white are the favorite colors, and feathers in various styles, with flowers, are the favorite trimmings. The capote form is still very general, but the frouts are not quite so round as they have hitherto been worn; they partake more of an oval form.

HISTORY OF A DEVIL.

We were once "possessed of a devil!" and if there is not interest in a story about a devil, then the devil's in it. We had a devil—("The devil you had!" says some wag of a reader.) Don't interrupt us, nor imagine you have pounced upon a chap of frivolity, for we are about to give you a true and authentic story of a devil, and peradventure the smile with which you are pleased to regard this commencement may speedily be refreshed by an April-like visitation of sorrow's drops.

When the dreadful epidemic, whose visitations are but too frequent in this region, was once raging at its most fearful height, the ruthless destroyer entered a small dwelling next door to our then residence. The father was first borne away within the sable draperied hearse; next went the wife's sister; two days after, we attended, ourself, the funeral of a beautiful girl of about eight years of age, a sweet-faced child, with a remarkably luxuriant flow of flaxen ringlets. By the present of an odd toy or a little confection now and then, we had won the gentle creature's regard, for our fancy was greatly attracted by her, and one morning we had been awakened by a tickling of the nose caused by a newly plucked rose which had fallen upon our pillow, and which we discovered had been thrown in our open window by this beautiful child. After this little incident our regard for the fair and innocent creature assumed a character of real and warm interest. We followed her to the grave-yard, and saw her walled up in an oven of brick. An old man stood there beside us; his hat had fallen from his clasped hands, and lay upon the grass at his feet; the breeze was playing with his long silver hair, and tear after tear rolled down his furrowed cheeks from eyes that were fastened upon the tomb. He was the child's grandfather; and of all the family he was then the only one with strength left to walk to the cemetery. The mother was then at home, dying! and the next day she and the old man, himself, were both interred! In a week the family was gone, all save one poor boy who escaped the sickness and lived to start out in the world a desolate and destitute orphan!

Well, we took this little fellow into our domicile and furnished him with a home. Every thing belonging to his parents had been taken by the landlord for rent, and the helpless boy was, in only the space of a few days, robbed of father, mother, friends, kindred and home. He was a strong boy, with some intelligence, and we placed him in the office for occupation. His first errand was to the post-office, and he was directed to find the newspaper box and ascertain whether or not there was any thing in it. Our little orphan protege came back punctually, and informed us that he had found the box as directed, and that it was full of papers.

"And didn't you bring them?" was our interrogatory.

"No sir."

"What did you do?"

"I locked them up again."

"Suppose you go and bring them."

"Yes sir."

And off he went and brought them. Here he developed a character for strict and literal correctness, a trait in old and young always worthy and commendable.

On another occasion we despatched him with an important business note to a commercial firm, at the same time placing in his hand, for himself, a handsome slice of wedding cake that had fallen into our possession on account of some recent connubial contract. Off walked the young gentleman, and gravely delivered the note and cake at the house to which we sent him. The note ran thus:

Gents.—An extraordinary disclosure, connected materially with the interests of your house, has been made to us, and we send you this notice, that if you wish you may communicate with us before publication is made of the affair.

Yours, &c.

This portentious note was most unaccountably accompanied by a present of wedding cake, and the curious perplexity of the merchants may be readily imagined.

Some inquiries relative to the boy were at length made by a stray relative in a distant city, and we of course consented to yield him up, since which time we heard nothing of him, until a day or two since, when a youngster, fast sprouting into sturdy youth, came into the office and asked us jocularly if we remembered the devil! The little devil is now a fine, promising young fellow, and we hope he will take no offence at our having made use of him in the absence of a mail by thus filling half a column with the History of a Devil.—N. O. Pic.

INVALUABLE

CONSUMPTION AND BLEEDING OF THE LUNGS CURED. Mr. Wm. Sheppard, residing in Beaver county, Pa. near the state line, relates as follows: "In the month of May last my wife was taken with Bleeding from the Lungs, coughing, night sweats, hectic fever, &c. She had taken a violent cold; having previously given symptoms of the approach of Consumption, I felt much alarmed and made immediate application to a physician. Under his treatment she became worse, instead of better, until the first of June, when I heard from an intelligent man of DR. SWAYNE'S SYRUP OF WILD CHERRY, and from his earnestness in recommending it I was induced to try one bottle. The effect exceeded my utmost expectations—she felt immediate relief. I then mounted my horse and rode to the office, No. 41 St. Clair street, Pittsburg, where it is kept for sale, and procured six bottles more, which I am happy to say has effected a perfect cure. Please publish this certificate, with my name in full, that others may know where to find the greatest blessing on earth.

100 DOLLARS REWARD.

DR. STORM'S SPECIFIC COMPOUND, For the cure of Gonorrhœa, Gleets, Strictures, Diabets or difficulty in making water, and all other unnatural discharges from the uretha of either sex.

In no case has this medicine been known to fail, to effect a permanent cure, and too, in the shortest possible time. Should this medicine fail to effect a cure where it has been taken according to directions, return the empty vial and get back the money. Why then spend both time and money with such quack nostrums as cannot be depended upon; when, for $1, you can purchase a pleasant, sure, and speedy cure, composed solely of vegetable substance? One hundred dollars will be paid to any one who will produce a medicine to equal this compound, or who will prove that it contains any mineral substance whatever.

N. B. This Medicine can be had of JAMES P. WILLIAMSON, corner of High and Green street, (O. T.) of T. J. PITT, Market Space, Fell's Point, and by J. W. W. GORDON, cor. of Fruit & Howard-sts. TO THE PUBLIC.—The price of HATS again lowered. TOWSON is now selling in Eutaw street, one door north of Lexington street, his superior Hats at the following low prices—fine short Nap Mole Skin Hats at $2.50, fine Brush Hats $2.50; Fur Hats from $1.50 upwards. It may be asked how such Hats can be sold (if as represented) at such very low prices; I answer in the first place, I manufacture very extensively, and am able to purchase materials by the quantity much lower than if I bought by the small; and secondly, I sell for cash, and do not have to charge those who pay a high price, to make up for those who do not pay, as the natural result of the credit system. I think my Hats the best as now offered ever sold in this market for the price. Persons will please call and look at my hats before purchasing elsewhere. Remember TOWSON, one door from Lexington street.

MONDAY MORNING, JUNE 21, 1841.

DIRECT TAXES. It has been the invariable policy of the government of the United States to avoid levying direct taxes, unless when found indispensable, as in time of war. It has always been deemed more expedient to raise revenue for the support of government by the imposition of duties upon foreign merchandize. In this opinion the most ultra anti-tariffites have concurred; and the policy is now too fully recognized and too firmly established, to be changed upon the suggestion of any man, however influential. It is so obviously the interest of the country not to substitute direct taxation for foreign duties, that we hardly presumed any person could be found disposed to make the suggestion—but we find in the Philadelphia Ledger, (of which the Organ of this city is a branch,) the following article, from which it will be seen that the proprietors of the two papers (Ledger and Organ,) are in favor of an exclusively metallic currency—of a reduction of duties to five or ten per cent.; and of direct taxation, to make up the deficiency which must necessarily arise in the treasury. Either of the three measures would prove highly injurious to all classes of the community—but the three combined would totally annihilate the prosperity of the country. Farmers, manufacturers, mechanics, laborers, all would be involved in common ruin; and yet these measures are seriously recommended for the adoption of an American congress. We fancy that the people of Maryland, and particularly of Baltimore, will find that their taxes are already sufficiently burthensome, without having the additional direct tax, as proposed by the proprietors of the Organ—and especially as the taxes would have to be paid in specie: nor do we believe that the mechanics of Baltimore would desire to have British manufactures admitted almost free of duty, to take the place of their own labor. It is a new system of political economy to impoverish our own citizens for the benefit of the subjects of a foreign power—but this would be the practical operation of the proposed reform, if adopted.

"We have long since believed," says the Philadelphia Public Ledger, "that with a dear currency, gold and silver, we needed no protecting duties to place our manufactures on impregnable foundations. In such case, a tariff for revenue, presenting an uniform scale of low duties, and thus removing all temptation to fraud, would be sufficient. If five or ten per cent. were imposed upon every article imported, and the deficiency of revenue, if any, were imposed by direct taxation, the most equitable mode of taxation, we might save millions in collecting the revenue, and totally abolish fraud."

THE APPRENTICES LIBRARY. This institution, as advertised, was opened on Friday evening last for the distribution of books. Although the evening was unpleasant, still the number of youths assembled was large. All seemed delighted at the prospect of having so good an opportunity proffered them for the acquisition of knowledge.

The number of volumes in the library at present is about six hundred. This, it is admitted, is an excellent beginning, but by steady exertions, we doubt not but the amount may, in a very short time be swelled ten fold. To those gentlemen who have been instrumental in advancing the good work thus far are due many thanks and much praise for their untiring perseverance. A large number of the books already upon the shelves have been donations from persons feeling a deep interest in the prosperity of the institution.

We would remark here that there are thousands of individuals in our city, having works of interest in their libraries, which they may never desire to peruse a second time, to whom if application were made, would no doubt with great willingness and pleasure present to the association in question. Every man of proper feeling must have the welfare of the rising generation at heart. If so then no man would refuse the presentation of that tending to the object desired. We have some spare volumes ourselves, which the apprentices can have by calling for them.

THE JUNIOR GUARDS. A correspondent who writes over the signature of C., has sent us a communication in relation to the above fine military corps, in which he passes upon it the most merited compliments. The communication informs us that the Juniors have invited the Annapolis Grays to join with them in celebrating the coming anniversary of our independence. The celebration is to take place on the fifth of July, at Mount Clair.

The Junior Guards are proverbial for their patriotism and military enterprise. They have "taken time by the forelock," and determined, however backward and careless others may be in preparing for the celebration of a nation's birthday of independence, they shall not forget a duty so important. With their long-tried and true friends from the time-honored city, we may bespeak for the Juniors and other invited guests a most happy and glorious anniversary. A more delightful and suitable spot than Mount Clare could not have been chosen. Patriotism is in its history and romance upon its green hills.

☞Joseph R. Chandler, Esq., of Philadelphia, has been appointed by Governor Seward, a commissioner of deeds for the State of New York, in place of W. G. Clark, deceased.

LICENTIOUSNESS. Under this head the Organ of Saturday last reiterates its sweeping charge heretofore made that ladies "passing as virtuous in the world's eye, and so considered in respectable society," visit assignation houses for licentious purposes. Until the guilty (if there be any,) are selected and exposed, the imputation rests upon every virtuous female in the city of Baltimore. As the proprietors of the Organ exhibit great familiarity with this subject; seem to be well acquainted with the location of the various houses of assignation, which they assert exist, and at which ladies "passing as virtuous" visit—and, as they complain that these houses exist through "the lax administration of the law," we would respectfully suggest to the grand jury (now in session) to summon the said proprietors before them, that their budget of information may be opened in a legal way, and that they may have full opportunity of detailing all that they may have either seen, heard or participated in. Let them point out the ladies "passing as virtuous, and so considered in respectable society" who frequent these houses of assignation—that the matrons and maidens of our city, may not en masse, be held up to the world as licentious and corrupt. If they will not, or cannot do this—if they have dared to brand the females of Baltimore with infamy on the information of low informers or vile pimps; they should be held to a dear account by an insulted community.

Is it possible that husbands have been pressing to their hearts profligate and abandoned wives, and fathers and mothers hanging in doating fondness over contaminated daughters, whom they believed to be pure and chaste—and that no one should have had the penetration to discover the deception, until these men from Philadelphia happened to drop amongst us? Are our judges corrupt that they permit crimes to go unpunished through the "lax administration of the law?" It would seem as though the people of Baltimore had been living in blindness until the advent of these enlighteners of public vision, and purifiers of public morals.

But, whilst these wonderful reformers would visit with fire and brimstone what they term "palaces of iniquity," they appear to sympathize with the inmates of minor dens of infamy. This may originate in coageniality of feeling. Now we do not believe that guilt is magnified or diminished in proportion to the size of the house in which it is committed—and we cannot, therefore, perceive why a man's wrath should be solely directed against the tenant of a large mansion, unless he has been kicked out of it, which might be an apology. We think that even-handed justice should deal with all alike; and we dare say, that neither judges nor jury will be disposed to admit the discrimination attempted in the Organ.

We are as much in favor of moral reformation as others; and are willing that our own morality shall be subjected to the test which we would apply to that of others—but we do not think that the cause of morality or of religion is advanced by assailing the reputations of the female portion of the community. Baltimore is celebrated for the beauty of its fair daughters; and we would not have those daughters published to the world as tainted and corrupt. The charge is false—infamously false—and we believe that it is published with no other view than to draw attention to an indecent and abandoned paper.

We repeat that these men should be summoned before the grand jury—that they may have the opportunity of proving what they assert; or stand convicted themselves of having vilely slandered the females of the Monumental city.

We have received several communications on the subject of the Organ publication, which we omit for the present, preferring that the accusers shall have the chance to amend "the lax administration of the law."

BANK OF NEW YORK. The Tattler of the 19th instant states that there was a run upon this institution brought about thus: "A person applied at the counter for two $1000 bills in exchange for other city bank notes. The teller refused this reasonable request, and two hours afterwards the same individual presented $23,700 in the bank's own bills for specie, which was paid after some trouble." It was supposed that several hundred thousand dollars in specie would be called for before the panic would subside, thus putting the bank to very great inconvenience, merely from the unaccommodating disposition of the teller.

ESCAPE. The notorious villain, Seal, alias Thompson, accomplice of the celebrated Williamson who committed the extensive robbery in Boston, after having been apprehended, has succeeded in making his escape. Officer Clapp, of Boston, obtained consent of Lord Suydenham, for his removal from the British Provinces to Boston. When on the way to the latter place, in charge of Clapp, he escaped. We are rather inclined to the opinion that the self-same Clapp, about whom there already has been some hard talk, retained something handsome in lieu of his prisoner.

GLAZED DISHES. The family of Mrs. Walton, of Salem, N. J., and a daughter of Francis Cooper, of Philadelphia, have been all of them more or less ill for several days past, in consequence of partaking of a pie which had been baked in a glazed earthen ware dish, and in which, during the process of baking, a portion of the glazing matter must have been incorporated, as it was found entirely off the inside of the vessel.

TRADE OF THE MUSKINGUM RIVER. The trade of this region is rapidly increasing. We learn by the Ohio Republican (of Zanesville,) that a steamboat runs daily between Zanesville and Dresden (on the Canal,) towing Canal boats; and that during the month of May alone, sixteen thousand five hundred barrels of flour were shipped from Zanesville up the Canal. Large quantities of other articles were also shipped to and from that place.

REBELLION IN ARKANSAS. The following information we get from the New York Sun of Saturday. "One of the grossest and most atrocious violations of the law, and defiance to the constituted authorities that we have ever heard of, recently occurred in Philips county, Ark. The regular May term of the circuit court being about to be held in that county, much property being advertised to be sold, and executions to be levied, a petition signed by two hundred names was addressed to Judge Baker, praying him not to hold the court. That functionary, in the honorable discharge of his duty, proceeded to Helena, and was on his way to the court, when the Hall of Justice was forcibly taken possession of by twenty armed men, who barricaded the door, refused admission to any person, and threatened the sheriff with death in case he attempted resistance. The sheriff made a requisition upon the Colonel of the county for fifty men to enable him to suppress the rebellion. After this he resigned, and the Coroner followed his example, so that there being no officer to enforce the laws, and the power to appoint a sheriff pro tem. devolving on one who himself was among the insurgents, the holding of the court was wholly prevented, and Judge Baker returned to Columbia.

The rebels had possession of the court house at our last advices; and no attempt has been made to dislodge them. This is absolute high treason to the state of Arkansas; and should be punished in the most signal and severe manner."

FROM FLORIDA. We understand, says the National Intelligencer, that information under date of the 7th inst. has been received at the War Department, from Col. Worth, commanding the army in Florida, that he is about resuming active operations against one or more of the chiefs who have recently proved faithless to their promises of speedy emigration. The Colonel appears to have entered upon his arduous command with commendable zeal and activity. It is stated that much sickness prevails among the troops, far more destructive of life than the scalping-knife or the tomahawk of these faithless and crafty negotiators.

FROM MATANZAS. A letter from Matanzas to the New York Express, says that the new Captain General promises to be very popular—that while firm, he is judicious and courteous—and adds:

"The new Governor has also set his face against the slave trade from the coast; and this curse to the Island, I have no doubt, will be abolished. That it is a curse, many of the most influential of the planters now begin to understand, and see it in its true light. By-the-by, our own Governor of Matanzas, in the plenitude of his wisdom, (and he is a pretty clever fellow,) has marked down a lot of forty merchants, planters, gentlemen, etc., to whom he supposed it would be agreeable to 'fork over' $50 each for the great balls in honor of Gen. Valdez."

MURDER. On the 16th ultimo, in the town of Koschusko, a murder was committed by a man named Buck Walker on the person of a man named John Rawlston. A quarrel took place, when Walker out with his bowie knife and rushed upon his antagonist, splitting with one blow the skull, and with another passing his knife through the heart of his victim, who was all the time retreating. Rawlston fell down dead; and Walker, after a fruitless effort to escape, was taken, tried, convicted, and sent to Vicksburg jail for safe keeping.

BANK ROBBERIES IN LONDON. The London Morning Herald of the 3d inst. says:—"It may be noticed by the way, on occasion of these American bank robberies, that rumours have been current in the City of London within these few days past, that frauds have been discovered in more than one respectable private banking establishment, and that clerks have disappeared in consequence. Rash speculation in teas or stocks are variously assigned as the cause.

PASSENGERS OF THE SAMSON. We learn from the Halifax that six passengers of the Samson and five of the crew arrived at Halifax on the 7th in the schooner Ocean, with dry goods and iron from her; the schooner Wasp, with twenty-one passengers, also arrived at Halifax on the 9th; the schooner Eagle, from the same place, arrived on the 4th with four passengers.

THE CROPS. The Chilicothe Gazette states that between the cold and rainy and then hot and dry weather, the corn crops in that section have a tough time of it. In Fayette one half of the wheat crop has been destroyed by cold and subsequent heat and drought, and in Ross county great injury to the wheat has accrued from the same causes, as well as from the Hessian fly.

KEOKUK NOT KILLED. The Burlington (Iowa) Patriot says that this chief is alive, and was at his village last week. He took a white man's spree a few weeks since, on the Mississippi, and the report of his death may have grown out of that circumstance.

HORRIBLE. The St. Louis Gazette of the 10th says that a large quantity of arsenic was found in the reservoir at the city water works, this morning. It is frightful to think that we have among us any beings in human form capable of such an act.

The Alexandria Gazette says, we regret to learn that during the thunder storms which occurred last Saturday and Monday, several persons, near Warrenton, in Fauquier county, Va., were struck down and killed by lightning, and several others severely injured.

The Susquehanna Advocate states that between ninety and one hundred boats arrived in the basin of the Tide Water Canal at Havre-de-Grace for the week ending on Tuesday morning last.

LOOK OUT FOR THEM. On Wednesday last, a large number of $2 bills of the People's Bank, at Patterson, altered to tens, were passed at Newark.

WASHINGTON, June 19, 1841.

The Senate was not in session to-day, having adjourned to Monday next. The motion for printing the report of the Secretary of the Treasury is still the only motion pending. Mr. Calhoun has the floor.

Last night at a very late hour, the House passed the bill appropriating $25,000 for the relief of the widow of the late President Harrison. There was much talking, and a great many constitutional objections urged. It has been suggested that a subscription be opened, so that if the people are of opinion the sum ought to have been granted, they can shew it.

This morning the House met at twelve, when the Speaker announced that petitions were the order of the day.

The petition presented some time ago by Mr. Kennedy, from your city, asking the remission of duty on foreign raw tobacco, was taken up and laid on the table.

Mr. Sollers presented a petition of citizens of Prince George's county, Maryland, praying for the recharter of the Banks in this District, which petition was referred to the Committee on the District.

Mr. S. said the inhabitants of Prince George's county had a market for their tobacco at Alexandria, but since the District had been so persecuted all their business had ceased.

Mr. Underwood presented a memorial from the Grand Jury of this city, asking an appropriation for the support of lunatics in the District, which was also referred.

Mr. Underwood also presented a petition from certain citizens of Georgetown, praying the reconstruction of the chain bridge, which was also referred to the Committee on the District.

Mr. Adams presented a great number of abolition petitions, but the question of reception on all of them was laid on the table.

He also presented a petition from two individuals of your city, asking the House to expel him. The question of reception being raised also, on this petition, there was an end of it.

A great number of other petitions were presented, after which the House adjourned.

NEWS ABOUT TOWN.

NARROW ESCAPE. Yesterday morning, four young lads went out in a boat on the Spring Gardens for the purpose of fishing. When near the opposite margin an unexpected squall came up and overturned the boat, throwing all four out into the water. Three of the party fortunately proved to be good swimmers, and after some time succeeded in gaining the boat, which they righted and got into. One boy, named Wm. Latimer, who had the day previous come in from the country, in the neighborhood of Elkton, being unable to swim, as soon as he fell into the water sunk down. As soon as it was ascertained by the three who had saved themselves, that their companion was missing, one of them, a lad named Whittemore plunged into the water and swam about for some time in search of his lost companion. Finally, and as if by accident, he witnessed a short distance from him something rise to the top. He immediately swam to it and found it to be the body of young Latimer, which he grasped with one hand and bore triumphantly to the boat. Life was almost extinct, but by their own management they succeeded in restoring animation. In the course of an hour the boy was well as usual, and able to join his companions in their fishing sports. Too much praise cannot be awarded young Whittemore for his noble and praiseworthy exertions to save a drowning fellow being. If the boy whose life he has been the instrument of saving, has a grateful heart he cannot but remember with kindness his rescuer upon this occasion, until his eye is closed forever in death's lasting eclipse. We would remark that boys so young had better forego fishing excursions for the more instructive pleasures of a Sabbath school. We would not deprive boys of their enjoyment but are of opinion that week days are the most suitable for boat riding and fishing.

TOO CONTEMPTIBLE. A lady residing near the Methodist Meeting House in Wilk street, on Fell's Point, a few days since, placed on the front window sill a flower pot containing a Cactus, upon one leaf of which five beautiful buds were just opening their petals to the kisses of the gentle zephyrs which played around them. The splendor of its appearance attracted the attention and admiration of many passers by during the afternoon. At night it was taken in, when to the lasting shame of some one of those who had seen and admired it, the whole leaf containing the flowers had been abstracted from the pot, and carried off. It was a most foul trick, and should we light upon the author of it, we will give the name to the world, as a mark for the slow moving finger of scorn to point at.

RESISTING THE POLICE. Wm. Hanna, charged with resisting Amos Duvall, one of the city police, while in the discharge of the duties of his office, was on Saturday taken before William Stewart, Esq., and required to find security, upon giving which he was released.

CHARGE OF RIOT. Francis Fennell, charged with rioting in Wilk-st., was, on Friday night taken to the eastern district watch house—upon examination in the morning he was released by Wm. B. Jones, Esq.

BOUND OVER. Thomas Gorsuch, charged with threatening the life of Sarah Hill, was on Saturday arrested and taken before Justice Jones, by whom he was released upon giving security to keep the peace.

MORE DRUNKENNESS. Richard Buckley, John Thompson, and Elliott, were found strolling the streets, in different parts of the city, drunk, and taken to the watch houses.

COMMITTAL. Conrad Laur, charged with disturbing the peace by threatening his family, was, on Saturday, committed to jail by Squire Jones.

The Semi Annual examination of the Students of this Institution, took place on the 8th ult., in presence of the Trustees, and a number of literary gentlemen.

The Trustees have again the pleasure to express their approbation of the general management of the School under its talented principal, and that they take this occasion to say, that the Institution deserves a full share of public patronage. The discipline of the School is strict, yet enforced by mild measures.—Every attention is paid to the morals, improvements and comfort of the pupils. The health in Bel-Air in which the Academy is situated, is unsurpassed by that of any other location in the State, and the moral deportment of the inhabitants is all that can be desired by the most fastidious.

The duties of the School were resumed on Monday the 3d of May last. The scholastic year is divided into two sessions of five months and one week each.

MEDICAL AID.

THE SUCCESS that has attended the treatment of many thousand cases of Venereal Complaints for twenty-five years past, induces the subscriber to inform the public that he may be seen daily, and consulted on all cases of the kind, recent and chronic, and on diseases of the urinary organs generally—such as Gonorrhœa, Gravel, Gleets, Strictures, &c. His treatment is speedy, safe, and certain—the medicines are so mild that the most delicate may take them without restrictions in diet or occupation. Many persons, who have tried all the lauded quack nostrums of the day, are frequently calling on the subscriber to have the injuries they have sustained by their use relieved. In recent cases a thorough cure will be guaranteed for three dollars. Gonorrhœa Medicines will be furnished at one and two dollars a bottle, according to size, a large one generally cures in a few days. PILLS may be had at a dollar per box. The Vegetable Anti-mercurial CORDIAL is one dollar and fifty cents per bottle—this Medicine is the greatest purifier of the blood in the world. It renews and regenerates old and shattered constitutions, and, it may be said, is literally working wonders. Apply at

FAIR HAVEN. This elegant establishment will be open for the reception of visiters on and after Monday next, the 21st June. The proprietor having made considerable additions and improvements to the establishment, and having provided the same with everything necessary for the comfort and convenience of visiters, feels the utmost confidence in recommending it as a very desirable summer retreat. Fair Haven is situated on the Western Shore of the Chesapeake Bay, about 20 miles below the city of Annapolis; is remarkable healthy—the scenery beautiful and pleasant. (Strangers have said that the scenery alone was a sufficient inducement to visit the place.) The proprietor, ever anxious to accommodate the public, has determined to make such a reduction from his former rates, as will correspond with the present pressure of the times.

The Steamboat Patuxent will leave Baltimore every TUESDAY MORNING, at 6 o'clock, for Fair Haven, and return from thence in the evening. She will also leave Baltimore every THURSDAY MORNING, at 6 o'clock, and will land passengers at Fair Haven on her route to the Patuxent; and will return thence on SUNDAY, touching at Fair Haven. Persons availing themselves of the conveyance to visit Fair Haven only, will not be subject to any charge returning.

CASH FOR NEGROES.

THE HIGHEST PRICES will at all times be given for NEGROES of both sexes, that are slaves for life, and good titles. My office is in PRATT STREET, No. 85, between Sharp and Howard streets, where myself or my Agent, (Mr. J. M. WILSON,) can be seen at all times. All persons, having Negroes to sell, would do well to see me before they dispose of them, as I am always buying and forwarding to the New Orleans market. I will also receive and keep Negroes at twenty-five cents each, per day, and forward them to any Southern port, at the request of the owner. My establishment is large, comfortable and airy, and all above ground; and kept in complete order, with a large yard for exercise; and is the strongest and most splendid building of the kind in the United States. And as the character of my house and yard is so completely established, for strength, comfort and cleanliness, and it being a place where I keep all my own, I will not be accountable, for the future, for any escapes of any kind from my establishment.

THE POTOMAC PAVILLION,
PINEY POINT.

THE SUBSCRIBER respectfully informs his friends and the Public that he has resumed the management of this popular Bathing Place, and that it is now open for the reception of company.

Piney Point, on which the Pavilion is situated, is a clear open cape, (though wooded in the rear on the north and east,) jutting into the Potomac near its mouth, where the river is eight or ten miles wide, in full view of the Chesapeak bay. The bathing is very fine, the water being nearly as salt as that of the ocean, and the air is pure. It possesses the advantage of the greatest abundance of the largest oysters, of soft and hard crabs, and all the varieties of excellent fish with which the waters of the Chesapeake abound.

There are a spacious Ball Room, Billiard Room, Bowling Alley, Quoit Yards, &c., the whole fronting the river to the south, within a hundred yards of the clean white beach. There are provided, also, two beautiful and commodious yachts, under the charge of an experienced and skilful seaman. There are bathing houses for those who prefer them to the open surf; also a substantial wharf for the steamboats to come up to, instead of landing and taking off passengers in the small boats, as heretofore; which, moreover, enables visitors to bring carriages and horses, if they choose.

Besides the salt water luxuries above named, every thing will be supplied for the table which the markets of the District, Baltimore, and Norfolk can afford, to which the steamboat lines furnish regular access; and the house will be amply provided with the best wines and other liquors.

The establishment has been well, thou plainly, furnished throughout, including new mattresses and bed furniture. The establishment is sufficiently large to accommodate 200 visiters.

The steamers which ply between the District and Baltimore and Norfolk furnish to the inhabitants of those cities regular opportunities for visiting and departing from the Pavillion.

The subscriber has procured the aid of efficient and attentive assistants for the Bar and other departments of the establishment.

It is determined that moderate charges shall constitute one of the advantages of the establishment; to this shall be added the most zealous efforts to please, and the subscriber trusts that these efforts, united to the experience acquired by him as keeper for several years of a public house, will enable him to give satisfaction to all who may favor him with a visit.
P. J. HEPBURN.

Price of board $1 25 per day, children under twelve years of age and servants half price.
N. B.—Families desirous of spending a considerable portion of the season will be taken on more moderate terms.

CITY COLLECTOR'S OFFICE, June 8th, 1841.

THE CITY COLLECTOR earnestly requests all persons who design to settle their respective accounts during the month, to do so as speedily as possible.
The public will see the necessity of complying with this request when they are informed that nearly all the receipts in this office, are in rail-road orders, the counting of which requires much time and may tend to prevent many who postpone the payment of their taxes to the last few days of the month from availing themselves of the benefit of the law.
All bills paid on or before the first day of July shall be entitled to a discount of 5 per cent.

BALTIMORE CITY COURT.

SATURDAY, JUNE 19, 1841.

Present—Judges Brice, Nisbet and Worthington.

State vs. Charles Russell, charged with assaulting and beating Wm. Myers, and William Myers charged with assaulting Charles Russell. The parties here were both colored; and the assault complained of seemed to be as much on one side as the other. Both were sentenced to one day's imprisonment.

State vs. Julia Proud, colored, charged with assaulting Elecina Hutchins. Fined one dollar and costs.

State vs. Ann Eagleston, indicted for assaulting and beating Louisa Jane Wilson. Fined $5 00 and costs.

State vs. Mary Toedle, indicted for an assault upon Bridget Glen. The evidence in this case, went to prove, that if the complainant had kept her hands still, it was more than she had kept her tongue, which some consider when used by a woman, the most effective of the two. The court fined the traverser 25 cents and costs.

State vs. D. E. Myers. In this case the traverser, a police officer, was charged with an assault upon Thomas Chartres, an elderly man, and the evidence for the prosecution went to shew that Myers had entered the house of complainant, and forced him therefrom, dragging him several yards upon his back along the street, on his way to the Police office. On the part of the defendant it was shewn, in evidence, that some of the neighbors had complained of the house of Chartres as very noisy; and that at the time when the officer undertook to arrest him a considerable noise was going on in the house, leading him to believe that Chartres and his wife were fighting. Mrs. C. however, in her testimony denied this, and exonerated her husband from the charge of ever having laid his hand upon her, save in the way of kindness. The decision of the court was postponed until Monday.

State vs. John Linton, charged with assaulting and beating two colored men. Upon the hearing of the evidence, the court fined the traverser in the one case $10 and costs, and in the other $5 and costs.

State, vs. Thomas Walker, alias Thomas Scott, and George Wilson, alias —— Dugan.—Indicted for felony in stealing bank bills and promissory notes, to the value of about sixty-five thousand dollars, the property of Messrs. Marriott & Hardesty, were next placed in the bar. The plea of not guilty was put in by both parties; and their counsel stated to the court his determination to ask for a removal of one certainly, probably of both cases. He further stated that he would be prepared to argue the question of removal, in the early part of the coming week.

BALTIMORE COUNTY COURT.

SATURDAY, JUNE 19, 1841.

Keavins, vs. Baltimore and Philadelphia Rail Road.—In this case the jury, after having remained out from the time the court adjourned until this morning at about 11 o'clock, they returned into court and informed their honors that it was impossible for them to agree. They were then discharged. It is understood that they were about equally divided.

☞ The Frederick Herald notices the arrest of a man upon whom was found a large amount of counterfeit or insolvent bank notes; but on examination, he proved to be a poor insane man, whose passion it has been for years to gather all worthless notes, which he hoards with all the care of a miser. This man is the only one that has been arrested, and he has been discharged.

☞ A prisoner in the city jail of Brooklyn, when at work blasting a rock during a thunder storm was struck by lightning, the fluid having been attracted by the steel which he held in his hand at the time. His hand was injured, which was the only damage he sustained.

☞ The property, formerly owned by Colonel Perkins, of Boston, and by him given to the Asylum for the Blind, was sold at auction a day or two ago, for $45,800.

COSTLY. The St. Peter's church at Rome cost $60,000,000.

The mail brought by the Columbia contained fully 10,000 letters.

SEIZURE. The Dutch Galliott Ansell has been seized, at Boston, for the violation of the revenue laws.

DAVIES' FAMILY PILLS.

[From Captain PARRISH, who commenced to use them when diseased in August, 1839.]

PHILADELPHIA, June 2, 1840.

☞ To DR. DAVIES: Dear Sir—I have had experience in the virtue of your Pills, sufficient to recommend them as a superior cathartic and excellent carminative, and also as a family medicine that every one should be in possession of. There is no doubt that if persons and families generally were acquainted with their efficacy, they might save many a dollar now paid for doctor's bills. Yours respectfully,

E. PARRISH.

HARPER'S FERRY, August 11, 1840.

DR. WM. DAVIES: Dear Sir—I am happy to inform you and the public, that I have been cured of that dreadful disease the Rheumatism, by taking your Family Pills. I had been laboring under that disease for more than a year, during which time I tried the skill of our best physicians without effect; at length I was induced to try your medicine—I found relief after taking half a box, I continued to take them until I had taken five boxes; my age is 71 years, and I consider that none but the old and rheumatic persons know how grateful I feel to the medicine that has restored me to health. Yours, respectfully, JOHN DYE.

We, the undersigned, are agents at Harper's Ferry for the sale of Dr. Davies' Family Pills, know our neighbour, Mr. Dye, sold him the pills of which he speaks so highly, and believe his statement to be substantially true. Respectfully,

MOFFAT'S LIFE PILLS

AND VEGETABLE BITTERS.

THE perfectly safe, unerring and successful treatment of almost every species of disease by the use of MOFFAT'S LIFE MEDICINES, is no longer a matter of doubt, as a reference to the experience of many thousand patients will satisfactorily prove. During the present month alone, nearly one hundred cases have come to the knowledge of Mr. Moffat, where the patient has, to all appearance, effected a permanent cure by the exclusive and judicious use of the Life Medicines—some eight or ten of these had been considered beyond all hope by their medical attendants.—Such happy results are a source of great pleasure to Mr. M. and inspire him with new confidence to recommend the use of his medicines to his fellow citizens.

The Life Medicines are a purely VEGETABLE preparation. They are mild and pleasant in their operation, and at the same time thorough—acting rapidly upon the secretions of the system—carrying off all acrimonious humors, and assimilating with and purifying the blood. For this reason, in aggravated cases of dyspepsia, the Life Medicines will give relief in a shorter space of time than any other prescription; in Fever-and-ague, Inflammation, Fevers of every description, Sick headache, heartburn, dizziness in the head, pains in the chest, flatulency, impaired appetite, in every disease arising from an impurity of the blood, or a disordered state of the stomach, the use of these medicines has always proved to be beyond doubt greatly superior to any other mode of treatment.

All that Mr. Moffat asks of his patients is to be particular in taking them strictly according to the directions. It is not by a newspaper notice, or by any thing that he himself may say in their favor, that he hopes to gain credit, it is alone by the results of a fair trial. Is the reader an invalid, and does he wish to know whether the life medicines will suit his own case? If so let him call or send to Mr. Moffat's agent in this place, and procure a copy of the Medical Manual, designed as a domestic guide to health, published gratuitously. He will here find enumerated very many extraordinary cases of cure; and perhaps some exactly similar to his own. Moffat's medical office in New York, 375 Broadway, and for sale by the Agents.

WEBB'S PATENT BURNERS,

AND CAMPHINE OIL.

FOR SALE AT No. 109 E. BALTIMORE STREET, between South and Calvert streets, where Burners of every description can be obtained. Those who are sceptical as to its safety or economy, would, I trust be perfectly satisfied by examining the opinion of Professor Locke, of Ohio, on "WEBB'S CAMPHINE," or by referring to the Journals of the Franklin and American Institutes, of Philadelphia and New York. All those desirous of obtaining a clean, brilliant, and economical light, will find it really to their advantage by calling on the subscriber. The public may be assured of one fact, that we require no meters to ascertain the amount of Camphine consumed, as they register correctly and in plain English.

☞ ASTRAL LAMPS ALTERED.

N. B. We have appointed JOSHUA ATKINSON Agent, No. 22 Market street, P. F., where all orders will meet with immediate attention.

P. AUGUSTUS BAILEY, Agent

For the Proprietors.

The following letter to the Agent, exhibits the superiority of the Camphine over Gas or Oil light, in brilliancy and cheapness:

New York, March 23, 1840.

DEAR SIR—I received yours of the 19th instant, and proceed, as you request, to inform you that WEBB'S PATENT LAMP, in my opinion, is much superior to any Lamp now in use—the Camphine produces better light than Gas or Oil. I have burned Oil for five years, Gas for eleven, and Webb's Camphine for 20 months. I have a better light in my bar-room with five of Webb's burners than I had in the same room with eleven gas lights. In fact, I light my whole house at less expense with the Camphine than it cost me to light my bar-room alone with gas. I recommend it as being the cheapest and best light now in use.

Yours respectfully, THOMAS RILEY,

"NO CURE NO PAY."

DR. HUNTER'S RED DROP. This long established and highly valuable medicine is now no novelty. It has been before the public for a long time, and by its merits alone, has it risen to a degree of estimation not enjoyed by any other medicine, for the certain cure of the Syphilitic disease. Prompt and efficinal in action, yet harmless to the constitution, is its well established character, having never failed to give entire satisfaction in all the many thousand cases, where it has been used as directed.—These absolute and undeniable facts speak trumpet-tongued to the afflicted, and are the basis of a well founded hope of the philanthropist, that this unequalled medicine may circulate far and wide for the benefit of the human race.

This medicine gives the prodigal a chance to repent. Thousands have been saved and radically cured, after suffering under the hands of impostors, by this medicine, and who with grateful hearts are ready to attest to its value, and have allowed themselves to be referred to.

Persons residing at any distance, can have medicine sent to them, packed secure from observation.

It was out of pure motives of philanthropy, that this medicine was first made public; the price always to remain $1 per BOTTLE, to be within the reach of the most unfortunate.

☞ Letters addressed, (post paid) describing the case, mode of living, &c. will be promptly attended to. Direct No. 17 Harrison street.

N. B. All sold elsewhere under the name of Hunter is a base fraud. Call and read certificates. m1-tf

SUMMER ARRANGEMENT.

GREAT SOUTHERN

UNITED STATES' MAIL LINE,

DAILY TO THE SOUTH.

☞ Bear in mind, that Passengers who go by the Chesapeake Bay and Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road, have 40 miles of Rail Road travelling through the DISMAL SWAMP at midnight, over one of the worst Rail Roads in America, and then are often compelled to lay over 17 hours at Weldon, one of the most unhealthy places in the whole Southern country.

TRAVELLERS FOR THE SOUTH, are informed that, by taking the Cars at Baltimore for Washington at 9 A. M., they proceed, without one moment's delay, via Washington, Fredericksburg, Richmond, Petersburg, Weldon, and Wilmington, N. C. to CHARLESTON, S. C., reaching Charleston the second morning after leaving Baltimore, and often one day in advance of any other Line—the Companies on the route being bound by the Postmaster General to make the following quick Schedule:

Leave Philadelphia	12 P.M.	reach Baltimore	8 A.M.
" Baltimore	9 A.M.	" Washington	11 A.M.
" Washington	1½ A.M.	" Fredk'sburg	6 P.M.
" Fred'ksburg	6½ P.M.	" Richmond	11 P.M.
" Richmond	11½ P.M.	" Petersburg	1 A.M.
" Petersburg	1½ A.M.	" Weldon	6½ A.M.
" Weldon	7 A.M.	" Charleston	on the next morning.

Passengers by this Line not only reach Charleston ONE DAY SOONER than by the Bay boats but they avoid being compelled to remain all night at Weldon, on the Roanoke, one of the most unhealthy places in the whole southern country, where, by the Bay Line, they are often delayed twenty-four hours.

Passengers for Richmond and Petersburg will find this Line far the most expeditious, arriving at Richmond to lodge, (as will be seen from the above Schedule,) on the evening of the day on which they leave Baltimore, being from 16 to 18 hours in advance of those taking the Bay Steam Boats.

☞ This is much the nearest, quickest, and cheapest route to the interior of Virginia, North and South Carolina—at Petersburg, Va. commences the route by way of Raleigh, N. C.—145 miles of Rail Road from Petersburg to that city. Stage Lines branch off from Raleigh Rail Road to the old Piedmont Line, to Milton Danville, &c., and to Knoxville, (Tenn.)

☞ Passengers for the Raleigh and Gaston Rail Road pay through to Petersburg, Va.

Fare to Richmond,	$10.00
Fare to Petersburg,	10.50
Fare to Weldon,	12.50

UNITED STATES MAIL LINE,

DAILY TO THE SOUTH, Sunday's excepted.

Via the Chesapeake Bay and Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road,

THE BALTIMORE STEAM-PACKET CO. announce to the public that in accordance with the New Mail Arrangement, the Boats composing their line, viz: ALABAMA, Captain Sutton; GEORGIA, Captain Coffey; and GWYNNS, Captain Holmes, will, on and after WEDNESDAY, the 26th of May, leave the lower end of Spear's wharf daily, (Sunday's excepted,) at nine o'clock, A.M. for Norfolk and Portsmouth, Va.

Passengers for Charleston will find the cars of the Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road Company, on the wharf, on their arrival at Portsmouth, ready to convey them to Weldon, N. C., where they will always arrive in time to take the cars for Wilmington, from which point to Charleston is by the Steamboat, which leaves Wilmington immediately after the Passengers are delivered from the cars.

Passengers for Richmond, Petersburg, or intermediate points on James River, by leaving Baltimore on Monday, Wednesday, or Friday, will sleep on board the Bay Boat and be transferred to the James River Boat next morning.

The Steamboat Fox leaves the Black Water station on the Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road, every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, on the arrival of the cars from Portsmouth, for Edenton and Plymouth, N. C., and returns every Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday, delivering her passengers to the cars as they pass down from Weldon, enabling them to arrive in Baltimore next day, (Sundays excepted.)

RETURNING, one of the above Boats will leave Norfolk every night (Saturday being excepted) at 10 o'clock, and cross over to Portsmouth where she will wait the arrival of the Cars from Weldon, and depart for Baltimore as soon as the passengers and baggage are on board, arriving here in about 14 hours after departing from Portsmouth.

Should the Boat get an early start from Portsmouth, Passengers for Philadelphia and New York will have the opportunity of being placed on board the Philadelphia Steamboat in the Patapsco River, and will arrive in Philadelphia the same night by 11 o'clock, after having travelled 200 miles in 26 hours, without as much fatigue as would be incurred in walking from the Hotel to the wharf.

☞ No freight will be forwarded on the day it is left, unless it is alongside, prior to 9 o'clock, A.M.

REFLECTION,

On the unfeeling and immoral conduct of —— at the Roman Catholic Burying Ground on Sunday, June 6th, 1841.

Oh! how canst thou romp o'er the tombs of the dead,
While friends, perhaps kindred, lie there,
How canst thou sport on that cold solemn bed,
The spot for reflection and prayer.

Why mock at the mourner who fervently weeps
While kneeling with grief on the sod;
Whose prayers for the kindred that silently slept
Arose to the realms of God.

Oh! where are the feelings so due to thy name,
That glow in each generous breast,
Where are the feelings that sympathy claim,
When sorrow and grief have oppress'd!

Has revelry drawn from the every fear,
And hast thou no feelings of dread!
That call from thy bosom a suppliant tear
Or prayer, for the sacred dead,

Remember, we soon may be call'd to the tomb,
From all the allurements of life,
The bud may be nip't in its earliest bloom,
And fall by Time's mystical knife.

How vain are the pleasures we eagerly seek,
E'en banish religion for mirth,
And yet, ere to-morrow, the young blooming cheek,
May rest on a pillow of earth.

The feelings of sympathy honour the same,
The bosom where in they may rest,
To see but a spark of that virtuous flame,
That burns in humanity's breast. W. L. G.

WILFULNESS; OR, THE WIFE'S TALE.

BY MRS. EMMA C. EMBURY.

"The thorns which I have reaped, are of the tree
I planted—they have torn me, and I bleed."—Byron.

Letter from Mrs. Ormeston to her friend, enclosing the manuscript.

"You, alone, my dear friend, have judged me correctly: you, alone, have been willing to believe that I might be influenced by proper motives, in pursuing a course of conduct which, to the world, has seemed eccentric and censurable: you, alone, have defended me from the heavy charges of parsimony, unkindness to my family, and a want of affection towards those nearest and dearest to me. When I retired to this humble village, people wondered that I should quit the gay world; when I commenced a system of rigid economy, they called it meanness, because I was supposed to be in possession of a large estate; when my husband sought his amusements elsewhere than in his own home, I was accused of having made that home an unhappy one; and, to crown the whole, when I devoted all the energies of my nature to the education of my children—when I strove to keep them from the contact of falsehood and vice by an anxious and severe watchfulness over their young hearts, the good-natured world censured my rigid code of morals, and hinted at my cold-heartedness. You, alone, were my champion, although even you could not account for all my conduct; and therefore it is, that I now set myself to the task of combining the lights and shadows of my past life into one complete picture. I would have you to reserve it for the eye of affection only. I care little for the opinion of those who have so long misjudged me, but I would fain be fully understood, and, shall I add, appreciated by those whom I love. My sorrows have been many, but they were no unmerited punishment. Wilfulness has met its reward.

"Few persons ever entered upon the gay scenes of life under happier auspices than myself. The only daughter of a rich and respected merchant, highly educated, refined in my tastes, taught to believe that my person was far from being unattractive, and surrounded with every luxury that affection could devise, or wealth procure, I certainly possessed every advantage that could promise a brilliant career. Among the earliest of my acquaintance, was the handsome and fashionable Henry Ormeston. His fine person and prepossessing manners, his noble talents and cultivated mind, made him the object of admiration to all who came within the sphere of his fascinations. He soon distinguished me by the most marked attentions, and I was not insensible to the triumph of conquering such a heart; while the delicate homage which he paid to me, was the most subtle of all flattery to a refined and sensitive nature. I soon learned to consider him as first among his compeers, and my vivid imagination exalted him into a hero of goodness and genius. His tact in discovering character, enabled him to read mine with perfect ease, and he was not slow in availing himself of such knowledge, for, ere I was aware of the nature of my own feelings, I learned to love him with the most passionate devotion. Ignorant and inexperienced in the customs of the world, I saw no obstacles in the way of my happiness, and when he preferred his suit, I referred him to my father, with a full belief that our wishes needed but to be known, in order to receive parental sanction. I was soon undeceived. My father refused his consent to our union, and forbade me to hold any further intercourse with Mr. Ormeston.

"My whole soul rebelled against this harsh decree. I knew my lover was not rich, and I could imagine no other cause for my father's rejection of his suit. I therefore looked upon it as an act of gross injustice, and for this first instance of opposition to my will, I dared to accuse my good, kind father of tyranny. I shall never forget his grave and sad reproof.

"'It is not Mr. Ormeston's poverty, my daughter,' said he, 'to which I object, for you will have wealth enough to enrich any one whom your heart may prefer, but I think him deficient in stability of character. He has no strength of principle, and in the day of temptation he will be found weak. This was the prominent trait in his father, and the son resembles him too much in person and manners, to allow a hope that he differs in other respects.'

"What did you know of his father?" I asked.

"'He was a man whom everybody liked, and nobody esteemed,' answered my father, 'an excellent boon-companion, one of those persons who are always invited to dinner-parties, but never chosen to fulfil a trust. It is for your own sake, my child, that I disapprove of young Ormeston, and remember that I have given you warning in time.'

"Perhaps this prohibition tended to increase my interest in the subject of it. I had been so much indulged, that I could not brook the least restraint, and I determined to judge for myself of the character suited. But when a woman loves, as I believe there is little opportunity for the character. The very affection with which she regards both, gives a degree of amiableness to his manners and manners which often conceals the real nature. Even if we detect, we behold them in a softened light. The contemplation of human nature in such circumstances, is like beholding a landscape through a Claude Lorraine glass, a couleur de rose, is diffused over every thing.

"Ormeston was tenderly attached to me, but he was not one to sacrifice his inclinations to the real welfare of another. He continued to visit me until my father, aroused to anger by his pertinacity, forbade him to enter the house. We then met in secret, and corresponded clandestinely, until, at length, carried away by the romance of my feelings, I made him a solemn promise never to give my hand to another. I mean not to dwell upon all the painful details of my life at that time. It is but too common a tale. Infatuated by my blind passion, I forgot my duty to the father who had made me his idol, and while I cherished the affection which his prohibition had made criminal, I took no pains to conceal the ravages which disappointment was making with my cheerfulness and my health. In one thing only I refused to follow my lover's suggestions; I could not be persuaded to desert my parent in his old age, and by a clandestine marriage, to bring his grey hairs with sorrow to the grave. But all his entreaties that I would resolutely conquer my foolish fancy, were unheeded. The more I was opposed, the more obstinately did I indulge my wayward humor; I tried to believe myself a martyr to domestic persecution, and imagined I was enacting the part of a heroine, when, to others, I only seemed a disobedient child.

"'Marry him, my child,' said he; 'since you will have it so, I forbid you no longer to become his wife, but ask me not to be present at the sacrifice. My house shall be open to receive you, but I will not, by my presence, sanction the ceremony which makes you a victim.'

"Will you believe, my friend, that these words, wrung from out my father's anguished heart, by fears for his daughter's life, were received by me as a sufficient warrant for my marriage? My romantic passion blinded me to every thing, and Ormeston, eager to avail himself of this advantage, urged a speedy union, lest my father should retract his unwilling promise. I was married—but never shall I forget the anguish of that day. My mother had long since slept in the silent tomb, but I had kind and dear relatives, and a father whom I tenderly loved, yet none of these friends of my childhood were around me when I stood at the altar to pledge my solemn vows. I listened to the awful question which demands that all impediments shall be made known, and my own heart rose up in testimony against me, for I was even then acting in disobedience to the command which bids a child to honor its parent. I received the congratulations of gay friends and acquaintances, but the well known voices which could alone awake the echoes of my heart—the voices of tenderness and affection mingled not with the mirthful tones of the giddy crowd, and then, when it was too late, I felt that perhaps I had purchased at too dear a rate the gratification of my own wayward will.

"Immediately after the ceremony, we left town, and during our absence, I received a letter from my father, stating, that the one half of his large double house had been refitted and newly furnished for my reception, and, that he expected that I should take up my abode there immediately upon my return. But he mentioned not the name of my husband, and in the first impulse of pride and anger, I exclaimed 'Never will I live under his roof as a daughter unless he receives my husband as a son. To my great surprise, however, Henry did not seem to share my emotion on this subject. He soothed my irritated feelings—reasoned with me concerning my father's very natural dislike to the man who had robbed him of his daughter's affection—predicted a total change in my father's notions when he should know him better, and counselled me to accept the old gentleman's liberal offer, as he styled it. I cannot describe to you the pain which this moderation inflicted upon me. Had he indignantly rejected a proposition which seemed to make him a mere dependant upon his wife—had he refused to enter my father's door, unless upon a proper footing, I should have loved him better than ever. But to my high-toned feelings, there was something of degradation in accepting bounties so grudgingly bestowed; and a suspicion, bitter as death—a doubt of my husband's nobleness of sentiment for a moment awoke within my bosom. I answered my father's letter affectionately, and begged him to receive my husband even as a child to his old age. His reply now lies before me.

"'My child,' he wrote, 'I cannot do what you ask; Henry Ormeston in marrying you, has taken from me a daughter, but he cannot give me a son. No man of delicate honor would have wedded a rich heiress under the circumstances which attended his union with you. Had he been engaged in any business which could promise a future maintenance, or had he any profession, and my sole objection had been his poverty, some excuse might be found for him in the ardor of youthful feeling. But he well knew, that, if your father did not continue to provide for you, subsequent to your marriage, he had neither the means nor industry to do it. He knew that I disapproved of his character and his condition, and he became your husband with a perfect understanding that he was either reducing you to poverty, or placing himself in a state of dependence. I do not chose to see my daughter want, and therefore the latter alternative must be adopted. My opinion of him is unchanged, and therefore I cannot welcome him with cordiality: he has entered my family against my will—he has taken advantage of a rich old man's love for his child, to secure himself a home; and he enters that home only because your happiness requires it. I mean not to quarrel with him; I believe he loves you, and I trust he will continue to cherish you as I have done. Time will show whether I have been right or wrong in my estimate of his character. If I have been wrong, I shall be happier in expiating my error than I can be in indulging it, but, at present, I must be allowed to follow the bent of my own will.'

"What did I not suffer while reading this cruel letter, so full of tenderness to me, so cutting in its scorn of my husband. But the pang was far greater with which I watched Henry while he read it. Flinging it down on the table with a careless laugh, he exclaimed, 'I see the old gentleman is a lineal descendant of "hard-kopping Pete"—a real copper headed Dutchman.'

"What shall we do, Henry," was my first question.

"'Do, Marian? why, accept his offer to be sure; we must return to his house, and wait for the time he talks about to conquer his prejudices.'

"But how can I bear to see you treated with neglect, Henry?"

"'Oh, we'll arrange all that; you may be sure that we shall not come to an open quarrel, and, as I am prepared for his coldness, it will not wound me.'

"How wretched did I feel that night! how soon had the illusion vanished from my eyes! how soon had I learned that my father was wise in his estimation of Henry's character. A feeling almost like contempt arose in my proud heart against him whom I had just sworn to honor, and I prayed most fervently to be preserved from the anguish of ceasing to respect my husband.

"With the shame, if not the penitence of a prodigal, I returned to my father's house, and found that every thing had been arranged for my accommodation. The apartments designed for me, occupied half of the large mansion, and were furnished in a style of elegance better suited to my father's means than my merit. I could not but hope that his prejudice against my husband would be softened, for I fancied that the fascinations against which I was not proof, could not be powerful enough to avert a parent's displeasure. But my father had no intention of placing me in a position to suffer from conflicting duties. He informed me that his housekeeper had orders to obey me as mistress of the establishment, but that he had reserved to himself the exclusive right to his own apartments; that his meals would be served to him there at his usual hours, and that whenever I chose to preside at his table, I should be welcome, provided I came alone. He also placed at my disposal a handsome carriage and several horses, requesting me only to remember that his own equipage and servants were never to be used by any but himself, unless, indeed, I should be inclined to accompany him in his daily rides. In short, I found a line drawn between us, across which neither was hereafter to pass. Every thing was so arranged, that, while I could command all the comforts of a luxurious household, for my husband, as well as myself, yet the privileges of a child—the right of free access to a parent's presence, was only accorded to me, on condition that he was excluded. You will think my father wrong in this strange whim. It may be that he was; his conduct was certainly injudicious, since it offered a strong temptation to meanness in the object of his prejudice, without affording him any opportunity of overcoming the original feeling of dislike.

"The affection of my husband, his brilliancy in society, and the pride I felt in the admiration which he excited, reconciled me, in some measure, to the peculiarities of my situation. Determining to neglect no duty towards my father, I devised a plan by which I could divide my time between both those beloved relatives. By rising early, I could preside at my father's breakfast table, and still be in time to take my seat with my husband at his later meal. Dinner was generally served to my father while I was engaged in receiving or paying visits, but I made it a point never to be absent from his tea-table. Always kind and affectionate, he seemed to appreciate my attentions, but on no account would he bestow any notice upon Mr. Ormeston. When they passed each other in the spacious hall, a silent bow was exchanged between them, for my father's old fashioned politeness would not allow him to omit an act of mere civility, yet not a word was ever uttered by either. And thus they lived in entire disunion but for the connecting link of my affection.

"It is impossible to describe what I suffered during this time. Loving my father with sincerity, and regarding my husband with the deepest tenderness even after I had learned to doubt the purity of his morals, and the nobleness of his character, I was kept in a state of continual agitation, lest some open rupture should be the result of this coldness. Had Henry proved to be all my fancy had painted him, I should have been less disquieted; because then I should have had undoubting faith in the effects of time on my father's stern temper. But, alas! I had learned that there were spots upon the sun of my existence—I had discovered the worm at the foot of the stately tree which overshadowed me, and I no longer trusted that a better knowledge of Mr. Ormeston's character would disarm my parent's resentment. I will not tell you the petty incidents which taught me how entirely I had been blinded to the defects of my husband's disposition. It was not that I sought them out—God knows how willingly I would have deceived myself into the belief that they did not exist, but they forced themselves upon me through the medium of trifles which I could not thrust aside. I had naturally a proud and uncompromising sense of the dignity of human nature—integrity was a part of my being—a high-toned sense of honor had been my characteristic in childhood, and had I lived in the days of the old-world Paladins, I could not have been more fastidious in my notions of delicacy and firmness of principle. This refined sentiment of honor, this innate consciousness, which is to honesty what its perfume is to the rose—the very soul of its existence—my husband did not possess. He was honest and honorable according to the easy definition of the world, but he lacked that proud integrity which could resist the temptation of its own interests. I discovered this early in my married life, and his constant drains upon the purse which my father always kept well supplied, tended to confirm my doubts of his refined sense of honor. Had such bounties been bestowed upon me by one who scorned me, I would have begged my bread from door to door, ere I would have deigned to accept them. But Mr. Ormeston was content to pass through life in the least troublesome manner; and he accordingly occupied the stately mansion, drove the pampered horses, ordered the well paid servants, and drank the fine old wine of a man who despised him too much to exchange a word with him.

BALTIMORE CITY COURT.

MONDAY, JUNE 21, 1841.

Present—Judges Brice, Nisbet and Worthington.

State vs. Wm. H. Sheppard, colored, indicted for having received three bank notes of the denomination of ten dollars and certain pieces of silver, to the amount of five dollars, knowing it to be stolen. It appeared in evidence that the money was taken from Mr. O'Farrell, by a boy living with him, who gave part of it to this boy, upon whom it was found. The prosecuting attorney stated to the jury that by a late act of assembly all colored children under the age of fifteen, if convicted of crime, should be bound out in the country, where they would be removed from the chance of repeating the offence. The jury found the prisoner guilty.

State vs. Thomas Bond, indicted for an assault upon Isaac Hartzburg, with intent to kill. Before the court. The evidence for the state proved the traverser to have been guilty of an assault simply. Fined $10 and costs.

State vs. James Brian, colored, indicted for an assault upon George Mitchell, a small white boy. It appeared in evidence on the part of the state, that some one had struck Brian with a stick, while he was standing in the Market house, which blow caused him to drop some cents—that the boy was desired by some one to pick up the cents for him, in the act of which the traverser seized him and threw him with violence upon the bricks, stamping upon him also. It was further shewn that the traverser was somewhat deranged, but harmless, unless aggravated by the boys, which was too often the case, when he would become furious, and throw stones at them. Sentenced to thirty days imprisonment and ordered to give security to the amount of five hundred dollars.

State vs. D. E. Myers. In this case, in which Mr. Myers, a police officer, stands charged with assaulting Thomas Chartres, and which was laid over on Saturday until to-day, witnesses were produced on the part of defendant, to shew that previous to Mr. Myers' entering the house, some noise had been heard, and Chartres had been overheard making threats against his wife—that after M. entered the house the noise ceased—but on his coming out the disturbance was, in a few minutes, renewed; and Myers then went up the steps of the house, at the door of which Chartres then was, and brought him away—also, that such disturbance as had been heard was common in the house of Chartres. Under this evidence the case appeared in a much more favorable light for the officer than on Saturday; and their honors considered that the motives of the officer in entering the house, were good, but that he had made a mistake and exceeded his authority. Fined $20 and costs.

State vs. Thomas Chartres, charged with an assault upon D. E. Myers, a police officer. This was an action growing out of the other. Chartres having struck the officer on the hand with a hammer, while he was taking him off. The court declared him not guilty.

State vs. William U. Steuart, charged with assisting in rescuing John Gelbach from the hands of two officers, who had a civil process against him. The court instructed the jury that where any influence, moral or physical, had been brought to bear to aid in such an escape, it was sufficient to justify a verdict of guilty. The jury, however, under the evidence, returned a verdict of not guilty.

BOUND OVER. Jacob White, black, charged with threatening the life of Rebecca Forty; was taken before Squire Jones, and released on security to keep the peace.

INVALUABLE

CONSUMPTION AND BLEEDING OF THE LUNGS CURED. Mr. Wm. Sheppard, residing in Beaver county, Pa. near the state line, relates as follows: "In the month of May last my wife was taken with Bleeding from the Lungs, coughing, night sweats, hectic fever, &c. She had taken a violent cold; having previously given symptoms of the approach of Consumption, I felt much alarmed and made immediate application to a physician. Under his treatment she became worse, instead of better, until the first of June, when I heard from an intelligent man of DR. SWAYNE'S SYRUP OF WILD CHERRY, and from his earnestness in recommending it I was induced to try one bottle. The effect exceeded my utmost expectations—she felt immediate relief. I then mounted my horse and rode to the office, No. 41 St. Clair street, Pittsburg, where it is kept for sale, and procured six bottles more, which I am happy to say has effected a perfect cure. Please publish this certificate, with my name in full, that others may know where to find the greatest blessing on earth.

TO THE PUBLIC.—The price of HATS again lowered. TOWSON is now selling in Eutaw street, one door north of Lexington street, his superior Hats at the following low prices—fine short Nap Mole Skin Hats at $2.50, fine Brush Hats $2.50; Fur Hats from $1.50 upwards. It may be asked how such Hats can be sold (if as represented) at such very low prices; I answer in the first place, I manufacture very extensively, and am able to purchase materials by the quantity much lower than if I bought by the small; and secondly, I sell for cash, and do not have to charge those who pay a high price, to make up for those who do not pay, as the natural result of the credit system. I think my Hats the best as now offered ever sold in this market for the price. Persons will please call and look at my hats before purchasing elsewhere. Remember TOWSON, one door from Lexington street.

BALTIMORE CLIPPER.

TUESDAY MORNING, JUNE 22, 1841.

NATIONAL BANK. The following is a brief outline of a National Bank, as offered to be submitted to the consideration of the House of Representatives, by Mr. Barnard, of New York. We object to this project, first, that the capital is too small—2dly, that it admits individual stockholders—and 3dly, that it would soon fall under the controul of the brokers of New York. We wish to see that influence cut up root and branch—that the prices of stocks may no longer be considered the thermometer by which the prosperity of this country is to be tested. If we are to have a National Bank, let it be truly national in its character, benefitting the whole people and not a few capitalists or brokers. This can be done by admitting the general government and the States alone to hold the stock.

The following is Mr. Barnard's proposition: "Amount of capital $25,000,000; the United States to own one-fifth thereof, to be paid for in a five per cent. stock; one other fifth thereof to be sold in open market, not below par, for specie only; the Bank and Central Branch to be located in the city of New York; the Bank to be governed by a Board of Control, consisting of seven members, of whom five to be elected by the stockholders, other than the United States, and two by the Secretary of the Treasury; the comptrollers to receive salaries, to be paid by the Bank, and not to be borrowers from the Bank, either as principal or surety; the Bank, at its branches, to be a bank of discount, deposite, and circulation; the remaining $15,000,000 of the capital to be held by the Bank, to be sold in market not below par at the branches for specie only; the circulating notes of the Bank are to be made payable at the Central Branch; loans to be limited to 90 days, and not renewable; no loans to be made to the United States in amount exceeding $2,000,000; dividends to be limited to 7 per cent. per annum; the Bank to be obliged to 'receive at par, in payments, the circulating notes of all sound specie-paying banks,' and send such notes home to the banks respectively; the public money to be deposited wherever the Bank has branches, and the notes of the Bank to be received, until otherwise ordered by Congress, in payments to the United States; suspension of specie payments to work a forfeiture of charter; duration of the charter to be thirty years, &c."

CONGRESS. The House of Representatives has at last, it is to be hoped, got into smooth water, and we trust that the remainder of the voyage will be tranquil and expeditious.

The House now meets at 10 in the morning; and as the heads of members at this early hour will be clear and cool, we may reasonably expect that they will proceed with the public business, without again getting into a snarl. If members could only see "themselves as others see them," they would give their lungs a holyday. The rule for meeting at 10 o'clock, is only for the present week; but we hope to see it continued throughout the session—for there is great difficulty in keeping a quorum and in preserving order, after dinner. Business men will be always at their posts and prompt to despatch whatever they are engaged in; but there are too many others who have no such disposition, and who not only do nothing themselves, but prevent others from acting.

We hope that the public press and the people will have no further cause to censure the House of Representatives during it present session.

MONUMENT TO GEN'L HARRISON. At a meeting of citizens of Pennsylvania, now in Washington city, held on Saturday last, it was resolved that contributions, not to exceed $5 from any individual, be solicited throughout Pennsylvania; the funds thus collected to be appropriated to the erection of a monument to General Harrison, at North Bend, or to the use of his bereaved family, as may hereafter be determined.

Had we a vote in the disposition of the funds, it should be given in favor of applying the money to the uses of the family, as it would thus confer substantial benefit.

It is proposed to publish in separate volumes the names of male and female contributors, copies of which to be placed in various public institutions, for inspection and preservation.

There has been some mention of a collection to be made in Baltimore, for the purpose of erecting a monument to the late President; but we are uninformed as to the likelihood of success.

APPOINTMENTS. The Patriot of last evening states on authority of a letter from Washington, that the Hon. John Sergeant, a member of congress from Philadelphia, is to have the mission to London:

That the Hon. Daniel Jenifer, a member of the last Congress from Maryland, is to have the mission to Austria, and

That Col. C. S. Todd, of Kentucky, is to go to the Court of Spain, at Madrid.

Judge Huntington, of Indiana, goes into the General Land Office at Washington, in the place of Mr. Whitcomb, the present incumbent.

P. R. Fendall, Esq., District Attorney for the District of Columbia, in place of Mr. Key.

CALAMITOUS FIRE. A very destructive fire took place in Elmira, N. York on the 15th inst. which destroyed thirty-two houses principally business establishments. The fire occurred in the heart of the village, and the property destroyed is immense.

GIVE US THE EVIDENCE. Public attention begins to be aroused to the enormity of the charge which has been made against the females of Baltimore; and there is a general demand that the proprietors of the paper in which this charge has been published, shall have the opportunity to give in their evidence. We yesterday called upon the grand jury to summon them, so that they may specify times, places and persons, and we say that this course is due to the respectable portion of the females of our city—for, although the charge of visiting assignation houses includes all, yet, we presume, that some may be found who are virtuous even in the eyes of the Organ proprietors. We know not whether the grand jury have acted on our suggestion—if not, we again direct their attention to the fact, that the proprietors of the Organ have tendered their testimony that assignation houses exist, and that they are visited by "ladies who pass as virtuous in respectable society," and we ask that they may be made to testify, as well to what they know from actual inspection of these places, as to what they may have acquired by more indirect means.

A few years since a report was made in New York, which represented the females of that city as being more corrupt than even the Organ proprietors would make those of Baltimore; and we well remember the excitement which it caused. It was denounced as an infamous slander—and, indeed, if it were not highly exaggerated, New York would be the last place in creation where a respectable female ought to visit or reside. The report was published, and the excitement against its author was universal. In Baltimore a similar charge is made, day after day, and week after week, and the public have not only submitted in silence to the slander of their wives and daughters, but bestow the most liberal patronage upon their traducers. Be it so, if female innocence and purity be of so little consequence. We have no special interest in the matter. We know nothing of such houses, nor of their inmates—but we disbelieve that they are visited by females who move in respectable society; and shall not change our opinion until the truth of the charge shall have been proved.

INVESTIGATION. The commissioners appointed to investigate the concerns of the New York Custom House, appear resolved to give affairs a thorough overhauling. It seems that they have made discoveries of frauds to a large amount and of an extraordinary character. We hope that they will ferret out every abuse, and that those who are criminal may be subjected to the penalty of the violated laws, whatever may be their standing in society. It would probably be a saving to the public, if the Custom Houses and other public offices, were subjected to annual inspection.

New York Custom House—Singular Developments. A letter from Messrs. Jeromus Johnson, A. B. Vanderpoel and A. B. Mead, late principal appraisers in the New York Custom House, to the investigating committee, reveals the remarkable fact that, during the former administration of that office, the business of appraising was taken out of their hands for the purpose of affixing higher valuation to goods than they (the proper officers in the case) would have affixed. So that, instead of fraud by the merchants, fraud and oppression had been systematically exercised towards the merchants by the superior officers of the customs, in connivance with foreign influence. The words of the letter are:

"That there were frauds by smuggling committed during the last term of Swartwout's incumbency, there cannot be a doubt; but these were brought about by collusion of officers of the customs with certain importers, and whether by under valuation or otherwise, the undersigned, not having seen the goods, are unable to say."

TEMPERANCE LECTURES. We understand that Mr. J. Clary, agent of the Maryland Temperance Society, is engaged in delivering a course of lectures on temperance in this city, with the design of more earnestly engaging the ladies to give their aid to the cause. It is certain that the ladies exert a powerful influence over society, and that if they are resolute in discountenancing intemperance, they will greatly contribute towards the extirpation of this pernicious vice.—Independent of the benefit to be derived from their individual influence, they may, by forming themselves into societies, and distributing temperance tracts, render their assistance still more serviceable to the cause of temperance.

We are informed that sermons, preparatory to the course of lectures, were delivered on Sunday last, to large and deeply attentive audiences, at Wilk street church in the morning—Eutaw church in the afternoon—and at Wesley Chapel at night.

The lectures for the week will be delivered as follows: (the first was delivered yesterday afternoon, at 4½ o'clock, at the Rev. Mr. Healey's church:)

Eutaw-st. Church,	Tuesday at 10 o'clock,	a. m.
Rev. Mr. Hanner's,	Tuesday at 4½ o'clock,	p. m.

William-st. Church,	Thursday	do.
Wilk-st. Church,	Friday	do.
Whitecoat Chapel,	Friday night.

☞A petition to expel the Hon. J. Q. Adams from the house of representatives, was presented by that gentleman on Saturday last. The petition came from Baltimore, and purported to be signed by John Huston Fairbairn and others. Mr. Fairbairn has published a card, in which he disavows having signed said petition.

"GO, PREACH THE GOSPEL." On Sunday last there was preaching in Monument Square, Marsh Market, and various other public places, by Protestant clergymen, in compliance with a resolution recently adopted. These meetings are said to have been numerously attended, and were, we hope, productive of spiritual benefit.

From the Charleston Patriot.

THE ATROCIOUS PIRACY. Ship Charles (of Bath) abandoned at Sea and not captured, as was supposed, by pirates in the Gulf. Capt. Gorham, late master of ship Charles, and his crew, passengers in the schr. Ann, from Attakapas, arrived at Charleston, on Friday. Capt. G. reports that they sailed from New Orleans 1st of June, with a cargo of timber and staves and 10 passengers for Bordeaux. Night of the 3d of June, judging himself to be about fifty miles from the Bar, the ship sprung a leak, continued to pump her during the night without cessation. At 2 o'clock A. M. the passengers and crew became very much alarmed, there being at that time 2½ feet water in the hold, with the pumps going all the time. A consultation was then held with the crew and passengers, which resulted in a determination to return with the ship to New Orleans, the wind at this time was quite light, at about North, the Balize bearing N. by W., the crew being quite exhausted with continued pumping of the ship, and fearing she would fill with us before we could reach a port.

The passengers demanded to be put on board of the French ship Louis 14th, then but a short distance from us, and bound to Havre. A boat was immediately despatched from the Charles to the Louis 14th, to ascertain whether the Captain would receive them on board—he consented to do so, and tendered also the loan of his boats to assist in embarking them. After all the passengers were sent on board the Louis 14th, we found so much water in the ship, it was the unanimous opinion to abandon her, which was done at 9 o'clock on the morning of the 4th June. Finding the boats of the Charles insufficient to sustain the whole of us, with the view of making a port, proceeded on board the Louis 14th. After getting on board, Capt. G. then desired the Captain of the Louis 14th, to haul up in hopes of speaking some vessel bound into New Orleans or some other port in the Gulf, which he did for two hours, he then concluded to bear away for Havana, but on the morning of the 10th fell in with schr. Ann, from Attakapas, for Portsmouth, N. H. but the Ann being struck by lightning off Hatteras, bore up for Charleston, leaking badly.

A number of the passengers have signed a certificate stating that the captain did not abandon the vessel until he found it impossible to save her.

NEWS ABOUT TOWN.

ILLEGAL DETENTION OF GOODS. A case was tried before Squire Walter, in which Gustavus W. Grigg was plaintiff, and Mrs. Ann Perrine and David Ball were the defendants. The suit was brought to recover forty dollars alleged to be the value of a trunk, containing certain clothes belonging to plaintiff and wife, to the value of the amount of damages claimed.

From all we could gather from the evidence, it appeared on the part of the plaintiff that he had been a boarder in the house of Mrs. Perrine, which place he had subsequently left for another "local habitation," that when he left Mrs. P's he owed her a balance of eleven dollars for board; that Mrs. Perrine not willing to trust him, had retained his trunk and had subsequently refused to give it up, although the brother of the plaintiff had, at first, offered his own note for the account, and subsequently offered to get a responsible endorser upon the note; that the refusal of Mrs. P. to deliver up the trunk upon those terms had placed plaintiff and wife at a great inconvenience, especially the latter, as there were some silk dresses in it which she had received to make, and for which she was, of course, responsible. It was also attempted to be shewn in evidence that David Ball was a partner in the boarding house kept by Mrs. Perrine, and that it was at his instigation and instance that she held forcible possession of the goods, the value of which was now sought to be recovered.

For the defence evidence was adduced to prove that Mr. Ball had no interest in the house—that he was a mere boarder, and on the same footing as other boarders, but, that being Mrs. Perrine's son-in-law, she was in the habit of consulting him upon most things—that the note was refused at his suggestion, as he did not deem it properly drawn—that he had offered at one time to pay a portion of Grigg's debt to his mother-in-law, provided the other boarders would pay an equal proportion, which, however, they declined, (being satisfied to pay their own bills) and that whatever might be the case in reference to the improper detention of the trunk, it was a matter resting with Mrs. Perrine alone, and with which Ball had nothing to do.

Subsequently Mr. Smith, a bailiff, was called upon the part of the plaintiff, who stated that he with Grigg, had called upon Ball, in reference to the trunk, the bailiff being armed with a writ of replevin, when Ball at first refused to accompany them, but afterwards concluded to go—that on the way he asked the officer if a writ of replevin could be served if the goods were not seen, and whether a search could be instituted; and upon the officer's replying that it it could, if once he got into the house, Ball, upon reaching the residence of his mother-in-law, went into the house, and shortly after looked out of the upper window, and told them they could not get in, upon finding which, the door being fast, the bailiff departed.

The case was held under advisement until this afternoon, when the Justice will give his decision.

The prosecution was conducted by Jos. Breck, Esq. For the defence one of the constables of the city, Mr. Campbell, appeared in the character of attorney and counsellor. By the way law suits, we opine, will be more plenty hereafter, as the knowledge of law is becoming so cheap that the city constables, not satisfied with being limbs of the law, are turning lawyers—this being the second case of the kind which has commanded our notice lately.

DESTRUCTION OF PROPERTY. Jacob Bradley, white man, was taken to the western district watch house on Sunday night, by a number of citizens, charged by Thomas Dunlay with a wanton destruction of property to the amount of $150. Committed by Wm. Stewart, Esq.

GIVING SECURITY. Henry Phillpot, alias Phillips, charged with assaulting Stephen Knight, (both parties being attached to the theatrical corps) appeared yesterday before Squire McDonald, and gave security for his appearance at court on Saturday.

DRUNKENNESS. Thos. Addeit and Geo. Hammond were, on Saturday night, taken to the eastern district watch house, being found drunk in the streets, and there kept until morning by which time, it is to be hoped they were sober enough to feel their degradation and shame.—They ought, at least, to be thankful to the watchmen for providing them with lodgings for the night, and so also ought John Perkins to be, who, being found in the streets of the western part of the city intoxicated, was kindly accommodated with lodgings in the watch house in that district until morning.

RIOTING. David Hammersly and Edward Cooley, white men, were on Saturday night taken to the middle district watch house, charged with rioting. Committed by Squire King. The same Justice also committed Pat. Donnelly, Asbury Tracy, Geo. Hewlett, with Geo. M'Laughlin, who were arrested on Saturday night and taken to the middle district watch house, charged with rioting. McLaughlin alone was not committed.

WASHINGTON, June 21, 1841.

In the House of Representatives this morning, a motion was made that Mr. Levi, the delegate from Florida, be sworn, and that he take his seat.

Mr. Morgan, of New York, objected, and handed in a protest signed by citizens of Florida, which asserted that Mr. Levi is an alien, and consequently disqualified for holding a seat.

The Speaker called for the credentials of Mr. Levi, which appearing satisfactory, the oath was administered. This does not bar any action on the protest hereafter; but as in law, possession i nine points out of ten, Mr. Levi has the best o the bargain.

Mr. Fillmore, Chairman of the Committee on ways and means, asked the House, for the sake of despatch, to take up and refer to that committee the Senate bill providing for a repeal of the Independent Treasury law.

Mr. Fessenden thought that there was no necessity for a reference to the committee on ways and means. He hoped the House would refer it to a committee of the whole.

Mr. Pickens hoped not. The standing committees had been appointed to prevent hasty legislation, and he trusted so important a bill as the present would be referred to the committee on ways and means.

After some debate of no interest, the bill was referred to the committee on ways and means, and ordered to be printed.

The Speaker then commenced the call for petitions.

Mr. Adams, who came into the House with a band box under his arm, then opened the same, and presented the contents seriatim. Most of them were abolition petitions, and were not received.

Among them was a petition relating to temperance, which not coming within the range of subjects referred to in the President's message, could not be received. At this Mr. A. became very sarcastic, and intimated that the House might well reject petitions on temperance.

After Mr. A. had concluded, the resolution of Mr. Barnard, offered on a former day, asking the reference of a plan of his for a National Bank, was taken up. After some conversation, the plan was referred to the Select Committee on the Currency.

Resolutions were then adopted, calling for information relating to the African slave trade, and other matters.

The bill providing for the expenses of the present session was taken up, and passed in a few minutes.

Mr. Fillmore, from the Committee on Ways and Means, reported the following bill:

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the following sums be, and the same are hereby, appropriated to be paid out of any unappropriated money in the Treasury, viz:

For the pay and mileage of the members of the Senate for the present session, sixty-eight thousand five hundred and forty-one dollars and sixty cents.

For printing, stationary, and all other contingent expenses of the Senate for the present session, twenty-six thousand one hundred and eighty-nine dollars.

For the pay and mileage of the members of the House of Representatives, and Chaplain for the present session of Congress, two hundred and fifty-six thousand six hundred dollars.

For the printing, stationary, and all other contingent expenses of the House of Representatives for the present session, thirty thousand eight hundred and thirty-six dollars.

For the supply of stationary for the second session of the twenty-seventh Congress, fifteen thousand dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary; Provided, always, That no part of the sums appropriated for the contingent expenses of either House of Congress shall be applied to any other than the ordinary expenditures of the Senate and House of Representatives, nor as extra allowance to any clerk, messenger, or other attendant of the said two houses, or either of them.

The bill for incorporating the Mechanics' Relief Society at Alexandria, was also passed, and then the House adjourned.

The plan of the Secretary for a Fiscal Agent has at length been reported from the Select Committee. There are many amendments of an important character, but I have not succeeded in getting a sight of it.

After the disposal of some unimportant business, the bill to authorize the Banks of this District to issue small notes was taken up.

PICTORIAL ILLUSTRATIONS of the BIBLE, and Views in the Holy Land.—This valuable and popular work, which has gone through nine editions since November last, is published by Robert Sears, of New York, and compiled from the "London Pictorial Bible," a work in the highest repute, and which sells in this country for from $10 to $15. It contains 600 pages, embracing 200 engravings, most of them by the old masters, representing the historical events mentioned in the Old and New Testaments, with full and interesting letterpress descriptions, devoted to an explanation of the objects mentioned in the Sacred Text, and is sold for the low price of $2. It is entirely free from all sectarianism, and is recommended in the highest terms by clergymen of all denominations. It is interesting to people of every age, but especially so to the young, for whom it is peculiarly adapted to create and purify a taste for the study of the Bible, and is therefore emphatically a Family Book.

Wanted immediately several active and respectable Agents to procure subscribers for the above work in this city and vicinity on liberal commissions. Apply at the American and Virginia Temperance Hall, Baltimore street, for L. FIELD, General Agent.

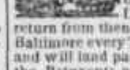
FAIR HAVEN. This elegant establishment will be open for the reception of visiters on and after Monday next, the 21st June. The proprietor having made considerable additions and improvements to the establishment, and having provided the same with everything necessary for the comfort and convenience of visiters, feels the utmost confidence in recommending it as a very desirable summer retreat. Fair Haven is situated on the Western Shore of the Chesapeake Bay, about 20 miles below the city of Annapolis; is remarkable healthy—the scenery beautiful and pleasant. (Strangers have said that the scenery alone was a sufficient inducement to visit the place.) The proprietor, ever anxious to accommodate the public, has determined to make such a reduction from his former rates, as will correspond with the present pressure of the times.



The Steamboat Patuxent will leave Baltimore every TUESDAY MORNING, at 6 o'clock, for Fair Haven, and return from thence in the evening. She will also leave Baltimore every THURSDAY MORNING, at 6 o'clock, and will land passengers at Fair Haven on her route to the Patuxent; and will return thence on SUNDAY, touching at Fair Haven. Persons availing themselves of the conveyance to visit Fair Haven only, will not be subject to any charge returning.

CASH FOR NEGROES.

THE HIGHEST PRICES will at all times be given for NEGROES of both sexes, that are slaves for life, and good titles. My office is in PRATT STREET, No. 85, between Sharp and Howard streets, where myself or my Agent, (Mr. J. M. WILSON,) can be seen at all times. All persons, having Negroes to sell, would do well to see me before they dispose of them, as I am always buying and forwarding to the New Orleans market. I will also receive and keep Negroes at twenty-five cents each, per day, and forward them to any Southern port, at the request of the owner. My establishment is large, comfortable and airy, and all above ground; and kept in complete order, with a large yard for exercise; and is the strongest and most splendid building of the kind in the United States. And as the character of my house and yard is so completely established, for strength, comfort and cleanliness, and it being a place where I keep all my own, I will not be accountable, for the future, for any escapes of any kind from my establishment.

WANTED. Two Experienced STOC

For the Baltimore Clipper.

TO "EMIGRANTS."

In my brief answer to your quere respecting the sailing of a vessel for Cape Palmas, I proposed giving you some further details with regard to the colony—I placed you there free of expense, on your own lot of good land, in the immediate vicinity of other settlers, with six months provisions in advance. Now, if you have capital to the amount of 100 dollars contract at once to have your house built: if not, the Colonial Agent will build it for you and you may pay him in labour when your circumstances will enable you to render it and not before. You will therefore, at once, commence tilling the soil in order to have provisions when your six months shall have expired. You will first go into your neighbour's lot and procure a quantity of sweet potato vines, and plant some quarter of an acre or so, which will constantly after three months afford more than a large family can consume. They produce at least three times the amount per square rod that they do in Maryland, and more than 3 times the size. I have seen one raised at Cape Palmas that weighed 13½ pounds. They average by the barrel as I have bought them for the use of my vessel at least 1 pound each. Next plant about 40 plantain trees on the border of your lot, which will after four months, supply your family with bread stuffs vastly superior to the corn used in this country, and capable of being cooked and prepared in many different ways. Next plant at the commencement of each month a few rows of Indian corn—and for six months in the year you may have your table supplied with roasting ears. Into your garden you will introduce the ockra or gumbo, the tomato, the egg plant, kail, beets, cucumbers, melons, squashes, pumpkins, peas, beans, &c.; the Lima-bean grows to much greater perfection than in America, requires but once planting, blossoms and bears at least eight months in a year: each successive year the same stock or vine sending forth new shoots like the grape. You will plant some dozen pawpaw trees, which will constantly the whole year bear a fruit equal in size, richness and flavour to the choicest cantelope or muskmelon; and that too without any farther culture than once planting. You will also plant a few dozen banana trees, each stock of which every four months will produce a cluster of fruit weighing from twenty-five to fifty pounds, samples of which although of an inferior size and quality from the West Indies, you often see in our fruit shops.

You will plant the borders of your garden with pine apples, as they are much better so cultivated, than when gathered from the woods where they grow spontaneously and in abundance. A few sweet orange trees about the house form a good shade, besides being very fragrant when in blossom and affording a fruit with which you are well acquainted.

The lot ought to be ditched to protect you from your neighbors' cattle or planted with a hedge of lime or palm trees; the former being the most beautiful, especially when bearing fruit, but the palms are most useful, as their nuts afford very palatable and wholesome food, and the oil expressed therefrom is used in cooking, being altogether preferred by the Colonists to lard. It is also burned in lamps for lighting dwellings. The tops of the palms afford a good substitute for cabbage, and a very pleasant wine is extracted from the trunk. A few cocoa nut trees would also be desirable and could easily be obtained. The principal grain used in the colony is rice, and can be raised there with much less labor than in America. It can be bought at all seasons of the year from the natives at from fifty cents to one dollar per bushel.

As to animal food (of which, by the way, from the great amount of rich vegetables and fruits you have in that climate, you require very little) a few words will suffice. It will be necessary at first to build you a snug little outhouse for your fowls and ducks, and also a pen or yard for the protection of any sheep, goats or neat cattle which you may be able to obtain. Fowls are much more easily propagated there than in this country, as they produce eggs at all seasons of the year. The muscovy duck thrives well and grows to an enormous size, not unfrequently weighing ten pounds. Goats, sheep and neat cattle require no housing but a shed at any season of the year, and but little feeding as they subsist chiefly on grass. The latter are of a small breed, but sleek and well formed, and labor well in the yoke. The harbor and rivers abound in fish of great variety and excellent quality, which are taken by the Colonists in nets and seines. Game is also abundant, a great variety of river fowls, guinea hens, pheasants and pigeons. The forest affords much large game, the principal kinds of which are wild hogs, bush cats, monkeys and many varieties of the deer, as the antelope, gazelle and musk deer.

I have thus briefly noticed only what will conduce to your physical comfort in Maryland in Liberia, and what is enjoyed by a large proportion of the emigrants now established there, and what tools attainable by the poorest colored man in this community, even if encumbered by a large family. I will take occasion hereafter to speake of other advantages attendant on emigrating thither, more worthy of consideration.

Yours,

J. HALL.

Colonization Rooms, Baltimore, June 21st.

For the Baltimore Clipper.

MESSRS. EDITORS: Convinced myself of the many benefits to be derived by my colored brethren in accepting the philanthropic offer of the Maryland State Colonization Society to voluntary Emigration; nevertheless, knowing that ignorance and a peculiar feeling of some to be contented with their present lot, regardless of the consequences that must result from blindly expecting too much from the forbearance (which, if too long abused, will not be Mercy, but Justice,) heretofore extended to us, induced the communication of the 15th, signed "Emigrants." The communication in your paper of the 17th inst., dated 15th, Colonization Rooms, has afforded such information as may be necessary—yet it seems to me only necessary to say, that a spirit of humility and thankfulness becomes us who are thus to be benefitted by the Colonization Society; and I take this opportunity to desire that your designs may be successful, and that the first and each succeeding vessel for Liberia may be crowded with EMIGRANTS.

DAVIES' FAMILY PILLS.

(From Captain PARRISH, who commenced to use them when diseased in August, 1839.)

PHILADELPHIA, June 2, 1840.

☞To DR. DAVIES: DEAR SIR—I have had experience in the virtue of your Pills, sufficient to recommend them as a superior cathartic and excellent carminative, and also as a family medicine that every one should be in possession of. There is no doubt that if persons and families generally were acquainted with their efficacy, they might save many a dollar now paid for doctor's bills. Yours respectfully,

E. PARRISH.

HARPER'S FERRY, August 11, 1840.

DR. WM. DAVIES: Dear Sir—I am happy to inform you and the public, that I have been cured of that dreadful disease the Rheumatism, by taking your Family Pills. I had been laboring under that disease for more than a year, during which time I tried the skill of our best physicians without effect; at length I was induced to try your medicine—I found relief after taking half a box, I continued to take them until I had taken five boxes; my age is 71 years, and I consider that none but the old and rheumatic persons know how grateful I feel to the medicine that has restored me to health. Yours, respectfully, JOHN DYE.

We, the undersigned, are agents at Harper's Ferry for the sale of Dr. Davies' Family Pills, know our neighbour, Mr. Dye, said him the pills of which he speaks so highly, and believe his statement to be substantially true. Respectfully,

W. & S. B. ANDERSON.

☞They will carry off the bile from the stomach. Sold by G. Savage, General Agent for Washington; J. Thomas, and Mrs. Banks Georgetown; W. C. Cole, Hatter, and J. Brunner, Frederick; S. Church, Alexandria; J. Densuth, York; No. 54 Fayette street; and by T. MOORE, No. 74 Market street, General Agent for Baltimore. Price 25 cents per box, five for $1, or $2 per dozen. m22

NOTICE.

BALTIMORE & OHIO RAIL ROAD.

THE CHANGE in the hour of arrival of the Mail Train from Philadelphia, renders it necessary that a corresponding change should be made in the departure of the Morning Cars for the west:

Notice is therefore hereby given, That on and after WEDNESDAY, 26th instant, the Passenger Train for Ellicott's Mills, Frederick, and Harper's Ferry will be despatched from the Depot in Pratt street, at half past 9 instead of 7 o'clock, A. M., the present hour of departure—of which travellers will take notice.

☞The Extra Train for Frederick will continue to leave at 3½ o'clock every evening, with which, as well as with the Morning Train, passengers from Washington can still connect at the Relay House. By order,

m24-tf B. CHASE, Agent.

MOFFAT'S LIFE PILLS
AND VEGETABLE BITTERS.

THE perfectly safe, unerring and successful treatment of almost every species of disease by the use of MOFFAT'S LIFE MEDICINES, is no longer a matter of doubt, as a reference to the experience of many thousand patients will satisfactorily prove. During the present month alone, nearly one hundred cases have come to the knowledge of Mr. Moffat, where the patient has, to all appearance, effected a permanent cure by the exclusive and judicious use of the Life Medicines—some eight or ten of these had been considered beyond all hope by their medical attendants.—Such happy results are a source of great pleasure to Mr. M. and inspire him with new confidence to recommend the use of his medicines to his fellow citizens.

The Life Medicines are a purely VEGETABLE preparation. They are mild and pleasant in their operation, and at the same time thorough—acting rapidly upon the secretions of the system—carrying off all serimonious humors, and assimilating with and purifying the blood. For this reason, in aggravated cases of dyspepsia, the Life Medicines will give relief in a shorter space of time than any other prescription; in Fever-and-ague, Inflammation, Fevers of every description, Sick headache, heartburn, dizziness in the head, pains in the chest, flatulency, impaired appetite, in every disease arising from an impurity of the blood, or a disordered state of the stomach, the use of these medicines has always proved to be beyond doubt greatly superior to any other mode of treatment.

All that Mr. Moffat asks of his patients is to be particular in taking them strictly according to the directions. It is not by a newspaper notice, or by any thing that he himself may say in their favor, that he hopes to gain credit, it is alone by the results of a fair trial. Is the reader an invalid, and does he wish to know whether the life medicines will suit his own case? If so let him call or send to Mr. Moffat's agent in this place, and procure a copy of the Medical Manual, designed as a domestic guide to health, published gratuitously. He will here find enumerated very many extraordinary cases of cure; and perhaps some exactly similar to his own. Moffat's medical office in New York, 375 Broadway, and for sale by the Agents. JAS. WEBB'S PATENT BURNERS,
AND CAMPHINE OIL.

FOR SALE AT No. 109 E. BALTIMORE STREET, between South and Calvert streets, where Burners of every description can be obtained. Those who are sceptical as to its safety or economy, would, I trust be perfectly satisfied by examining the opinion of Professor LOCK, of Ohio, on "WEBB'S CAMPHINE," or by referring to the Journals of the Franklin and American Institutes, of Philadelphia and New York. All those desirous of obtaining a clean, brilliant, and economical light, will find it a ready to their advantage by calling on the subscriber. The public may be assured of one fact, that we require no meters to ascertain the amount of Camphine consumed, as they register correctly and in plain English.

P. AUGUSTUS BAILEY, Agent

For the Proprietors.

The following letter to the Agent, exhibits the superiority of the Camphine over Gas or Oil light, in brilliancy and cheapness:

New York, March 23, 1840.

DEAR SIR—I received yours of the 19th instant, and proceed, as you request, to inform you that WEBB'S PATENT LAMP, in my opinion, is much superior to any Lamp now in use—the Camphine produces better light than Gas or Oil. I have burned Oil for five years, Gas for eleven, and Webb's Camphine for 20 months. I have a better light in my bar-room with five of Webb's burners than I had in the same room with eleven gas lights. In fact, I light my whole house at less expense with the Camphine than it cost me to light my bar-room alone with gas. I recommend it as being the cheapest and best light now in use.

Yours respectfully, THOMAS RILEY,

Fifth Ward Hotel.

"NO CURE NO PAY."

DR. HUNTER'S RED DROP. This long established and highly valuable medicine is now no novelty. It has been before the public for a long time, and by its merits alone, has it risen to a degree of estimation not enjoyed by any other medicine, for the certain cure of the Syphilitic disease. Prompt and effectual in action, yet harmless to the constitution, is its well established character, having never failed to give entire satisfaction in all the many thousand cases, where it has been used as directed.—These absolute and undeniable facts speak trumpet-tongued to the afflicted, and are the basis of a well founded hope of the philanthropist, that this unequalled medicine may circulate far and wide for the benefit of the human race.

This medicine gives the prodigal a chance to repent. Thousands have been saved and radically cured, after suffering under the hands of impostors, by this medicine, and who with grateful hearts are ready to attest to its value, and have allowed themselves to be referred to.

Persons residing at any distance, can have medicine sent to them, packed secure from observation.

It was out of pure motives of philanthropy, that this medicine was first made public; the price always to remain $1 per Bottle, to be within the reach of the most unfortunate.

☞Letters addressed, (post paid) describing the case, mode of living, &c. will be promptly attended to. Direct No. 17 Harrison street.

SUMMER ARRANGEMENT.

GREAT SOUTHERN

UNITED STATES' MAIL LINE,

DAILY TO THE SOUTH.

☞Bear in mind, that Passengers who go by the Chesapeake Bay and Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road, have 40 miles of Rail Road travelling through the DISMAL SWAMP at midnight, over one of the worst Rail Roads in America, and then are often compelled to lay over 17 hours at Weldon, one of the most unhealthy places in the whole Southern country.

TRAVELLERS FOR THE SOUTH, are informed that, by taking the Cars at Baltimore for Washington at 9 A. M., they proceed, without one moment's delay, via Washington, Fredericksburg, Richmond, Petersburg, Weldon, and Wilmington, N. C. to CHARLESTON, S. C., reaching Charleston the second morning after leaving Baltimore, and often one day in advance of any other Line—the Companies on the route being bound by the Postmaster General to make the following quick Schedule:

Leave Philadelphia	12 P.M.	reach Baltimore	6 A.M.
" Baltimore	9 A.M.	" Washington	11 A.M.
" Washington	11½ A.M.	" Fredk'sburg	6 P.M.
" Fred'ksburg	6½ P.M.	" Richmond	11 P.M.
" Richmond	11½ P.M.	" Petersburg	1 A.M.
" Petersburg	1½ A.M.	" Weldon	6½ A.M.
" Weldon	7 A.M.	" Charleston	on the next morning.

Passengers by this Line not only reach Charleston ONE DAY SOONER than by the Bay boats but they avoid being compelled to remain all night at Weldon, on the Roanoke, one of the most unhealthy places in the whole southern country, where, by the Bay Line, they are often delayed twenty-four hours.

Passengers for Richmond and Petersburg will find this Line far the most expeditious, arriving at Richmond to lodge, (as will be seen from the above Schedule,) on the evening of the day on which they leave Baltimore, being from 16 to 18 hours in advance of those taking the Bay Steam Boats.

☞This is much the nearest, quickest, and cheapest route to the interior of Virginia, North and South Carolina—at Petersburg, Va. commences the route by way of Raleigh, N. C.—145 miles of Rail Road from Petersburg to that city. Stage Lines branch off from Raleigh Rail Road to the old Piedmont Line, to Milton Danville, &c., and to Knoxville, (Tenn.)

☞Passengers for the Raleigh and Gaston Rail Road pay through to Petersburg, Va.

Fare to Richmond,	$10.00
Fare to Petersburg,	10.50
Fare to Weldon,	12.50

UNITED STATES MAIL LINE,

DAILY TO THE SOUTH, Sunday's excepted.

Via the Chesapeake Bay and Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road,

THE BALTIMORE STEAM-PACKET CO. announce to the public that in accordance with the New Mail Arrangement, the Boats composing their line, viz: ALABAMA, Captain Sutton; GEORGIA, Captain Colley; and JEWESS, Captain Holmes, will, on and after WEDNESDAY, the 26th of May, leave the lower end of Spear's wharf daily, (Sunday's excepted,) at nine o'clock, A. M. for Norfolk and Portsmouth, Va.

Passengers for Charleston will find the cars of the Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road Company, on the wharf, on their arrival at Portsmouth, ready to convey them to Weldon, N. C., where they will always arrive in time to take the cars for Wilmington, from which point to Charleston is by the Steamboat, which leaves Wilmington immediately after the Passengers are delivered from the cars.

Passengers for Richmond, Petersburg, or intermediate points on James River, by leaving Baltimore on Monday, Wednesday, or Friday, will sleep on board the Bay Boat and be transferred to the James River Boat next morning.

The Steamboat Pox leaves the Black Water station on the Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road, every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, on the arrival of the cars from Portsmouth, for Edenton and Plymouth N. C., and returns every Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday, delivering her passengers to the cars as they pass down from Weldon, enabling them to arrive in Baltimore next day, (Sundays excepted.)

RETURNING, one of the above Boats will leave Norfolk every night (Saturday being excepted) at 10 o'clock, and cross over to Portsmouth where she will wait the arrival of the Cars from Weldon, and depart for Baltimore as soon as the passengers and baggage are on board, arriving here in about 14 hours after departing from Portsmouth.

Should the Boat get an early start from Portsmouth, Passengers for Philadelphia and New York will have the opportunity of being placed on board the Philadelphia Steamboat in the Patapsco River, and will arrive in Philadelphia the same night by 11 o'clock, after having travelled 300 miles in 20 hours, without so much fatigue as would be incurred in walking from the Hotel to the wharf.

☞No freight will be forwarded on the day it is left, unless it is alongside, prior to 8 o'clock, A. M.

PROPOSED BANK OF THE U. STATES.

The following is the report of the Select Committee of the Senate on the Currency, &c., of which Mr. Clay, of Kentucky, is Chairman, as read by him in the Senate on Monday:

The committee to which was referred so much of the President's Message as relates to a uniform currency, and a suitable fiscal agent capable of adding increased facilities in the collection, and disbursement, and security of the public revenue, have had the same under consideration, and beg leave to report:

That, after, the most attentive and anxious consideration of the state of the currency, and the finances of the Government, in all their interesting and important bearings, the committee have arrived at the same conclusion with the Secretary of the Treasury, that a sound and just policy requires the establishment of a Bank of the United States with as little delay as practicable.

The committee have neither time nor inclination to enter into a discussion of the question of the power of Congress, under the Constitution of the United States, to establish a National Bank. After all that has been said and written on that question during the long period of half a century, nothing remains to be added that would be likely to shed much new light upon it. It ought, in the opinion of the committee, to be regarded as a settled question—settled by the approbation and judgment of the People, by the authority of the Legislature, by the sanction of the Executive Department of the Government, and by the solemn adjudication of the Judiciary. If it be not regarded as a decided question, when, in the collisions and conflicts among men, arising out of diversity of opinion and judgment, is a controverted matter to be considered as terminated and quieted?

Nor do the committee deem it necessary to discuss the question of the expediency of establishing such an institution as a Bank of the United States. On this there is even less contrariety of opinion than on the former question. On both, it is the deliberate conviction of the committee that a vast majority of the People of the United States concur; and that they are now looking, with anxious solicitude, to the deliberations of Congress, under the confident hope that a Bank of the United States will be established at the present extraordinary session of Congress.

Passing by, therefore, those two questions as being unnecessary to be further argued, and assuming, what the committee verily believe, that a National Bank is indispensably necessary, they will proceed, at once, to the particular form, powers, and faculties with which it may be expedient to invest such an institution. And here the committee have no hesitation in saying that, confiding in the experience of forty years, during which the nation has enjoyed the benefit of a National Bank, and during the greater part of which it has realized every reasonable hope and expectation in the operations of such an institution, they came to the conclusion that it would be wisest to dismiss all experiments, and to cling to experience and assume the last charter granted by Congress as the basis of a new bank, engrafting upon it such restrictions, guaranties, amendments, and conditions, as have been found necessary by actual experience.

The Secretary of the Treasury came to a similar conclusion; and in his report, and the draught of a bill which accompanies it, he has taken as his model the charter granted by Congress in 1816. On that he has suggested a great many valuable improvements, most of which the committee have incorporated in the draught of a bill which they now report to the Senate. On this draught they wish to offer to the Senate some brief explanations and observations.

The committee have adopted Washington city, proposed by the Secretary of the Treasury, as the place of location of the principal Bank. They believe the place of its location a subordinate question, but there are many advantages from the proximity of the Bank to the Government. The distribution of the capital of the Bank among the several commercial cities, in proportion to their respective wants and magnitude, is what they naturally desire, and what will doubtless be done. But to guard against the exercise of any undue government or official influence, or the imputation of any unworthy transactions, the committee have thought it expedient to deprive the parent Bank of all power to make any discounts or loans whatever, except loans to government, authorised by express law. In order to ensure the command of the best financial abilities of the country, the bill provides that the directors of the parent board, which is to consist of nine members, shall be paid for their services by the corporation, and all compensation to the directors, in the usual form of Bank accommodations, is utterly prohibited.

Thus, the directors of the Bank at Washington will become a board of control, superintending the branches, supplying them with a currency, and banking exclusively through the agency of their offices of discount and deposite.

The capital of the Bank, proposed by the Secretary, is retained; but a power is reserved to Congress to augment it by the addition of twenty millions, making the aggregate amount ultimately fifty millions of dollars, if that should be found to be necessary.

To guard against undue expansion of the currency by the operations of the Bank, various restrictions and securities are introduced.

1. The dividends are limited to seven per cent. per annum; and, after accumulating a reserved fund of two millions of dollars, to cover losses and contingencies, the excess beyond that seven per cent. is to be paid into the public Treasury. And whatever excess remains at the end of the charter, beyond the reimbursement to the stockholders of the capital stock, is also to be paid into the Treasury. If the dividends fall below seven per cent. during any year of the charter, the deficiency is to made good out of the surpluses previously paid into the Treasury. The effect of this provision is, to make a permanent and invariable seven per cent. bank stock, assuming that the administration of the Bank is conducted with integrity and ability.

2. The debts due to the Bank are required not to exceed the amount of the capital stock actually paid in, and 75 per cent. thereon, which is a greater restriction than usual.

The total amount of debts which the Bank is authorised to contract over and above the deposites is not to exceed twenty-five millions of dollars, which is also a greater restriction than was placed upon the late Bank of the United States.

3. The publicity which is required of the general condition of the Bank, and the full and complete exposure to committees of Congress, and to the Secretary of the Treasury, which is amply secured, of all the books and transactions of the Bank, including private accounts.

4. The prohibition of the renewal of any loan; thus putting an end to all mere accommodation paper, as far as practicable, and confining the Bank to fair business transactions.

And 5. The Bank is prohibited from making any further discounts or loans whenever its notes in circulation exceed three times the amount of specie in its vaults.

To protect the community and the stockholders against mismanagement of the Bank, several provisions have been inserted which it is hoped may be effectual.

1. No paid officer of the Bank is to receive loans or accommodations in any form whatever.

2. Securities are provided against abusive use of proxies, such as that no officer of the Bank can be a proxy; no proxy can give more than three hundred votes; no proxy to be good which is of longer standing than ninety days, &c.

3. A prohibition against the corporation's transacting any other than legitimate business; excluding all dealings in stocks, and all commercial operations.

4. A requisition that a majority of the whole number of the board of directors shall be necessary to transact the business of the corporation.

5. Ample power to make the most thorough examination into the condition and proceedings of the Bank, down to the account of individuals, by totally removing from the Secretary of the Treasury and committees of Congress the veil of secrecy.

And 6. By denouncing and punishing as felony the crime of embezzlement of the funds of the Bank, when perpetrated by any of its officers, agents or servants.

Concurring entirely in the sentiment expressed by the Secretary of the Treasury that many wise and patriotic statesmen, whose opinions are entitled to consideration and respect, have questioned the power of Congress to establish a National Bank; and that it is desirable as far as possible, to obviate objections and reconcile opinions, the committee have attentively and earnestly examined the provision, incorporated in the draught of the bill of the Secretary, in regard to the branching power of the Bank, and they would have been happy if they could have reconciled it to their sense of duty to adopt it. But, after the fullest consideration, they have been unable to arrive at that result.

It was not without some hesitation that the committee agreed to the location of the bank in the District of Columbia. This they did because they believed that the utility of the Bank did not so much depend upon the place of its location as upon the capital, faculties, and powers which should be given to it. But to isolate it in this District, without giving it any other branching power than such as it might derive from the consent of particular States, would be to create an enormous District bank, devoid of effective national character. Such a bank would be a bank only of the District of Columbia, and its offices of discount and deposite would be nothing more than banks of the States which might allow them to be planted within their respective limits. For all national purposes Congress might as well recharter one of the existing District banks, enlarge its capital, and give it authority to establish offices of discount and deposite in any State that would permit it to be done.

The committee believe that the capital of a bank so constituted would never be taken; and that, if taken, the institution would be wholly unable to accomplish the great and salutary purposes for which it is desired and should be designed.

But the question of establishing a bank thus to be restricted and circumscribed involves higher and graver considerations than those of mere expediency. The General Government has or has not the power to establish a National Bank. If it has the power, it derives from it the existing grants in the Constitution of the United States. The committee believe it has the power, and ought to exercise it. But after a contest during the last ten or twelve years in respect to the constitutional power of Congress, which has been marked by so much animation and bitterness, a forbearance to exercise the power would be a virtual surrender of the power. If a bank were to be created, whose operations within the limits of the States were dependant not upon the will of Congress, but upon the will of each State, separately announced, the creation of such a bank would add another to the list of disastrous experiments, and would be tantamount to a relinquishment of the national power, and it could never be resumed.

The power of the Federal Government is only to be found in the grants of the Constitution. If they are inadequate to the fulfilment of the great purposes of its establishment, they can only be increased in the mode of amendment which the instrument itself has prescribed. They cannot be augmented by the grants or consent of any State or States short of the number of two-thirds, whose concurrence is necessary to give validity to an amendment. A derivation of power to the General Government from the consent of particular States would be unsound in principle, and the committee apprehend dangerous in practice. Admit such consent to be a legitimate source of power, the Government would not operate equally in all the States, and the Constitution, losing its uniform character, would exhibit an irregular and incongruous action.

Entertaining these deliberate views, the committee are decidedly of opinion that no bill for the establishment of a bank in the District of Columbia will be effectual which does not contain a clear recognition of the constitutional power of Congress to establish branches wherever, in the United States, the public wants, in its judgment, require them. They cannot consent that a bank, emanating from the will of the nation, and imperatively demanded by the necessities of the Government and of the nation, shall be wholly dependant for its useful operation upon the will of each and every State, distinctly expressed.

Accordingly, in the draught of a bill now reported, the right is asserted to exercise the branching power of the bank independent of the assent of the States. The committee dare not allow themselves to believe that the bill is free from all defects, but they do hope that these, in a spirit of liberality, will be corrected by the superior wisdom of the Senate and of the House, and that the present session will be signalized by the establishment of a national institution, which has become a desideratum to the general prosperity.

The advantages which will flow from such an institution, in both our domestic and foreign relations, are manifest and incontestable.

It will give the People a sound currency of uniform value throughout the Union, which is just as necessary to the successful operation of all branches of business as pure air or water is to the preservation of human life or health.

It will revive and extend commercial intercourse, which, for the want of a common medium, has been almost suspended between different parts of the Union.

It will reduce domestic exchange from the enormous premiums and discounts now frequently paid to the moderate standard growing out of the mere cost and insurance on the risk of transporting specie from one to another part of the Union.

It will, consequently, save hundreds of thousands of dollars now annually lost in transactions of exchange.

It will essentially benefit the manufacturing interest by enabling it to realize sales and the proceeds of sales.

It will powerfully contribute to the resumption of specie payments by the banks, whose existing delinquency is the greatest source of all prevailing pecuniary and financial embarrassments.

It will greatly tend to prevent and correct the excesses and abuses of the local banks.

It will furnish a medium common to all parts of the Union for the payment of debts and dues to the Government; thus rendering duties and taxes uniform in fact as well as in name.

It is indispensable to the convenient and successful financial operations of the Government in all the departments of collection, safe-keeping, and disbursements of the public revenue.

Such are some of the domestic benefits which the committee fully believe will be secured by a National Bank. Those which appertain to our foreign relations are also worthy of serious consideration.

If it be true that money is power, its concentration under the direction of one will, sole or collective, must augment the power. A nation, without such a concentration of power, maintaining extensive commercial intercourse with another nation possessing it, must conduct that intercourse on a condition of inequality and disadvantage. National Banks, in other countries, beget the necessity, therefore, of a National Bank in this country, in like manner as National Governments in foreign nations must be met by a National Government in ours.

Accordingly, we have seen the influence exerted by the Bank of England upon American interests, when those interests were exposed to the action of that Bank, and were left without the protection of a Bank of the United States. The committee do not wish to be understood as intending to express any approbation of the commercial operations in which the Pennsylvania Bank, assuming the name of the Bank of the United States, engaged, when that state of things arose.

But they do mean to say that the interests and dignity of the United States demand that they should not be exposed, beyond the necessary and legitimate influence of monetary and commercial operations, to the action of a foreign banking institution. They believe that, without a competent Bank of the United States, foreign National Banks may and probably will exercise an undue and possibly pernicious influence upon our interests.

In this view of the case, the question is, whether it is better that we should be left liable to be materially affected by a foreign institution, in which we have no interest, over which we can exert no control, which is administered solely in reference to foreign interests, or we shall have an American Bank, the creature of our will, subject to American authority, and animated by American interests, feelings, and sympathies?

The committee could not entertain a doubt in such an alternative. And, in reference to the foreign aspect of the Bank, the committee thought it expedient to allow it to deal in foreign bills of exchange, which are the barometer of the state of our foreign trade.

In conclusion, the committee think it proper to say that they have given due consideration to the various memorials referred to them, and to the instructions moved by a Senator from Mississippi.

They subjoin that wherever, in this report, the committee is mentioned, a majority of the committee is to be understood.

All which is respectfully submitted.

NAVIGATION OF THE RED SEA. The British East India Company have now five steam ships employed in conveying passengers and the overland mail between Suez and Bombay. These average about seven hundred tons, and are propelled by engines of between two and three hundred horse power. In addition to these five mail steamers actually plying on the Red Sea, there are four others nearly completed for the same service. Each of these steamers carries from two to four guns, chiefly 32 pounders. The nine vessels cost upwards of two millions of dollars.

INVALUABLE

CONSUMPTION AND BLEEDING OF THE LUNGS CURED. Mr. Wm. Sheppard, residing in Beaver county, Pa. near the state line, relates as follows: "In the month of May last my wife was taken with Bleeding from the Lungs, coughing, night sweats, hectic fever, &c. She had taken a violent cold; having previously given symptoms of the approach of Consumption, I felt much alarmed and made immediate application to a physician. Under his treatment she became worse, instead of better, until the first of June, when I heard from an intelligent man of DR. SWAYNE'S SYRUP OF WILD CHERRY, and from his earnestness in recommending it I was induced to try one bottle. The effect exceeded my utmost expectations—she felt immediate relief. I then mounted my horse and rode to the office, No. 41 St. Clair street, Pittsburg, where it is kept for sale, and procured six bottles more, which I am happy to say has effected a perfect cure. Please publish this certificate, with my name in full, that others may know where to find the greatest blessing on earth.

TO THE PUBLIC.—The price of HATS again lowered. TOWSON is now selling in Exeter street, one door north of Lexington street, his superior Hats at the following low prices—fine short Nap Mole Skin Hats at $2.50, fine Brush Hats $2.50; Fur Hats from $1.50 upwards. It may be asked how such Hats can be sold (if as represented) at such very low prices; I answer in the first place, I manufacture very extensively, and am able to purchase materials by the quantity much lower than if I bought by the small; and secondly, I sell for cash, and do not have to charge those who pay a high price, to make up for those who do not pay, as the natural result of the credit system. I think my Hats the best as now offered ever sold in this market for the price. Persons will please call and look at my hats before purchasing elsewhere. BALTIMORE CLIPPER.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, JUNE 23, 1841

☞ The concluding part of the very interesting tale, commenced in yesterday's paper, has been postponed until to-morrow, in order to make room for the highly important report of the committee to whom was referred Mr. Ewing's plan for a Fiscal Agent.

THE FISCAL AGENT. By the report made to the Senate by Mr. Clay, which we publish this morning, it will be seen that the committee of the Senate has somewhat changed the features of the Fiscal Agent, as recommended by the Secretary of the Treasury. With a few alterations and restrictions, the proposed Bank of the United States will be the same as the last. We regret that it has been thought necessary to throw the stock into market to be purchased by individuals, inasmuch as it may become an object of speculation and be subject to continual fluctuations in value. In the first instance there will probably be a rush for the stock, in order to get the control of the bank—provided individuals be not deterred from subscribing by the limitation of the dividend to seven per cent. and the further provision, that the surplus exceeding two millions, shall go to the credit of the Treasury.

We do not attach much weight to the arguments used in the report, that, because European powers have established National Banks we should do the same. We are not to become the servile followers of the policy of European governments; on the contrary our systems should be purely American, having no dependence on those of other countries.

We hope that the contemplated Bank of the United States may prove equal in its beneficial effects to the anticipations of its friends; but we have our fears as to the result. We all remember the manner in which a few individuals contrived to run up the stock in the last bank, and the bankruptcies, frauds and ruin that ensued; and we have reason to dread like experiments. But we must see the bill before we can speak with sufficient knowledge of the subject.

NEW YORK HERALD. The editor of this paper, after mentioning that the last foreign news was received from England by his express, considerably in advance of the mails, states that some papers failed to give credit to the Herald for the news; among these he names the "Public Ledger," of Philadelphia; and then unjustifiably adds: "We presume Monroe's Patriot and the Clipper acted like the Ledger—the essence of meanness." The Patriot may answer for itself; but we reply, that we not only gave the proper credit at the head of the foreign news, but also in an editorial article—and we will thank the Herald to disconnect us from the discreditable association with the Public Ledger.

Whilst on this subject of giving credit, we will add, that the New York Sun and other papers sometimes do us the honor to clip articles from our paper, without putting Clip. at top or bottom. Indeed, were it not for the difference of print, we might sometimes almost suppose that we received in exchange a second edition of the Clipper, so copious are the extracts from our paper. Of this we do not complain, as we are happy to be useful to our editorial brethren. A good thing can be twice said without injury.

"AT THE DOOR." We are informed that the proprietors of the Organ have been summoned to appear before the grand jury. They will no doubt divulge "secrets worth knowing," and we may, therefore, look out for a tremendous explosion among the frail sisterhood. We hope that as the grand jury have now the right kind of witnesses before them, they will have a general overhauling of all the doubtful tenements of the town. Let us have a thorough purification of our city, under the direction of these sagacious scenters of assignation houses. "Tremble thou wretch who art guilty of undivulged crimes;" for we tell thee, that justice is on thy track; and, if thou escapest detection, then will we cease to have faith in the saying "set a rogue to catch a rogue."

GAS. Preparations are making to light the city of Cincinnati with gas. The goodly citizens had better adopt camphine. They will find it much cheaper. It is also beyond the control of monopolists. The material is bought by the quart, gallon or barrel, at so much and no more. It is not measured by a metre which can be made to run up a bill just according to the amount of steam put on—a thing, as it were, obedient to the dictates of its master, and willing to increase its velocity in a ratio with the corruptability of his elastic conscience. We vote for camphine, having lost our faith in the kind of rhyme usually spun out by the meters of this city.

SHAMEFUL OUTRAGE. We learn that on Monday afternoon, about the time of the dismissal of the scholars attached to the Public School in Aisquith-st. near Pitt, a mob of rude boys assailed and abused the scholars, and even attacked the school-house with stones and other missiles.—Such an outrage should not be suffered to go unpunished, and if the names of any of these offenders against the laws are known to any one witnessing the transaction, they should be made public, so that the guilty parties may be brought to justice.

IMPOSSIBLE. We dislike to hear a young man use this word, when applied to any thing within the compass of human exertion; as it denotes a despondency which is the sure forerunner of failure. A man to succeed must persevere, and consider nothing impossible to himself which has been achieved by another. How many men, with the impediment in speech of Demosthenes, would have abandoned the profession of oratory in despair, deeming it impossible that they could succeed. But he banished the word from his vocabularly, and triumphed over all obstacles.—Others in our own generation, have had to encounter greater difficulties than those even of Demosthenes, and yet have become shining lights. Franklin, might well have been intimidated, and admitted the impossibility of his ever arriving at the distinguished station which he subsequently occupied—but he had a bouyant spirit and a steady mind; and "perseverance" was his motto.—A late distinguished member of congress from Virginia, was once a poor shoemaker; but he had ambition and industry, which enabled him to educate himself, and become one of the great and useful men of the county. Had he once admitted that it was impossible for him to rise, he would have lived and died as a maker or mender of shoes. Numerous other similar examples might be quoted; but they are before our eyes. Who are now among the leading men of the country? Some of those who commenced life in poverty and destitution—without education, and without dependence, save upon the mercy of God and their own energies. Did they despair, or admit it to be impossible for them to reach to eminence? No, their aim was noble; their zeal and industry unremitting, and their perseverance steady—and success was the result. If we look among our most opulent and respectable merchants, we shall find that they owe their wealth and standing to the same cause. Many of them were poor in early life, and, had they then said "it is impossible for me to become wealthy," they would never have made the effort, and consequently would have remained stationary. And yet we hear young men occasionally say, "oh, it is impossible that I shall ever be able to do so and so." What folly. The man who aims at the pinnacle and reaches only half way, has greatly outstripped him who is content to remain at the bottom. It is not to be expected that every young practitioner of law will attain to the distinction of a Pinkney, but he should never admit it to be impossible, or he may relax his labors and sink beneath his just level. By aspiring to equal the greatest, he will adopt the necessary means to facilitate his object, and thereby surpass those who have no such ambition. In all stations of life, the natural tendency of the mind is to look upward—every one has something in prospective which he desires to attain—and if this ambition be properly encouraged, it will be productive of great private and public good—for, he who aspires to be great, will be most likely to consider it also necessary to be good. We are now speaking of civil greatness. In mercantile concerns honesty and uprightness are necessary to permanent success; therefore, the young beginner, if he wish to attain the wealth and consideration of an old standard in business, will not be apt to commence his career in fraud; for then, indeed, might he believe it impossible for him to succeed.

In short, in whatever pursuit we may engage we should strive for eminence. No one can know the full extent of his capacity until it is fully developed; and he who would prefer that his mind shall be restrained in its energies, to hazarding success in a laudable undertaking, does injustice to himself and to society. Every man is bound to afford a good example to others; but this object is defeated by the indolent and the careless—by men who will not engage in a praiseworthy career, from fear that it will be impossible to bring it to a happy termination. We repeat then, that young men should never admit it to be impossible for them to do what has been done by others. Need we extend this advice to the ladies? We doubt whether they require it—for they possess a firmness of purpose and an energy of character, which is sure to give them the victory in whatever they undertake. We only ask of them that they will instil into their husbands and beaux like determination and perseverance—and the word impossible would soon become obsolete.

HORRIBLE. From a letter dated Tallahasse, June 9th, to a gentleman in this city, we make the following extract: "About four weeks since, as I was passing from Santa Petre, a village 60 miles from Tallahasse, where I reside, I saw an old acquaintance of mine from Alabama, by the name of Livingston, most horribly mutilated by the Indians. His eyes were plucked out, his ears, nose, and both hands cut off. He was really the most awful looking object I ever beheld. Those who live in your country may talk of the war ending, but if they were here their opinions would change. There are no signs of such a thing—it may last, from present appearances, for twenty years. The billious and congestive fevers have raged to a considerable extent in this place. Many persons have died. Our streets, as you may be aware, have been the theatres of some deep, dark and bloody tragedies, morals are indeed out of tune. One thing, however, we need not starve, as we have plenty of fish, game of every description, and vegetables in abundance. Those everlasting fevers, I fear, will long continue to cast a mildew over human happiness in this region."

COPIOUS RAIN. Yesterday was an excellent day for farmers, as it rained steadily and moderately for nearly the whole day. A short time since the drought threatened destruction to the crops, particularly of corn; but the late refreshing showers have, we presume, been extremely beneficial to farmers.

WASHINGTON, June 22, 1841.

In the House this morning, the call upon the States for petitions was resumed.

Mr. Adams presented another bushel on various subjects.

The next business in order was a resolution offered by Mr. Randolph on yesterday to print 10,000 extra copies of the Treasurer's Report on the finances. After some debate of a conversational character, the resolution was adopted.

A resolution offered yesterday, calling for information from the Treasury Department as to the amount of expenditures since the 4th March last, was also taken up and agreed to.

Mr. Briggs adverted to the great abuses which had been suffered to exist in relation to the publication of charts. In many instances ten times more had been paid than the execution of the charts would have cost had they been put out to the lowest bidder.

Mr. Cushing, while on this subject, alluded to the enormous expense at which Congress had been in the continuation of the coast survey by Hassler. He said it had already cost a million of dollars, without any practical advantage to the country. He wanted an investigation into the subject.

Mr. Wise and others said the advantage to be derived from Hassler's surveys would be immense, and they hoped it would be allowed to go on.

The debate was terminated by the aid of the previous question, and the whole subject referred to the committee on naval affairs.

A motion was then made by Mr. Pope to reconsider the vote by which on yesterday the bill for the repeal of the Sub-Treasury had been referred to the committee on ways and means.

After a long and violent political debate, in which many hard words were spoken, the vote was reconsidered, and the bill referred to the select committee on the currency, of which Mr. Sergeant is chairman.

A message was received from the President, enclosing copies of correspondence between him and the committee from Cincinnati, appointed to attend to the removal of the remains of the late President Harrison to North Bend.

The correspondence, after being read, was referred to a select committee and ordered to be printed.

In the Senate after the preliminary business of the morning hour, the debate on the bill to re-charter the District Banks and to allow the issue of small notes was resumed.

After the rejection of several proposed amendments, the bill was read a third time and passed.

I understand, however, that the vote will be reconsidered to-morrow.

BARNUM'S HOTEL. Some time since we had occasion to notice the improvements being made in this "long-tried" and popular Hotel. More recently, however, the whole building, inside and out, from top to bottom, has undergone an entire, a thorough renovation. It has not only become a palace of accommodation, but a decided ornament to that portion of the city in which it is located. It is our delight to notice improvements; and to pass by those so visible in the establishment here alluded to, would be doing injustice to our disposition, and almost intimate a slight upon the deserved enterprize of our friend Barnum.—The whole exterior of the hotel has been painted a beautiful pale yellow, the passages on the first floor, running at right angles, together with the reading room and bar-room, have been paved with marble. The parlors and sitting rooms have been handsomely painted and covered with the richest carpets. The present neatness of the chambers indicates that a cautious eye has been had to the comfort of those who shall in future occupy them. Indeed, every thing throughout the entire building presents a new aspect. A change has been made in the attendants upon the table and servants generally. They appear to be active, obliging and polite—a consideration, by the way, of great importance in a public house. None need wish to enjoy a more sumptuous repast than did we yesterday at the luxuriantly spread, festive board of Mr. Barnum. Our evidence was tangible, and therefore indisputable. It came home with that kind of convincing proof which is all potent to a keen appetite. As to the wines they could not be offensive even to the most fastidious advocate of temperance.

A want of space at present forbids us doing justice to our subject. Be it known, however, that the original, or, if you please, old Mr. Barnum, after having retired to the country for some time, returned not long since and took charge of affairs himself. In obedience to his acknowledged enterprize and known accommodating spirit, the repairs and improvements here spoken of, were projected and carried out. It may now be asserted, without fear of contradiction, that a better regulated house in every particular than Barnum's City Hotel is not to be found in the United States. This is saying a good deal, but while it is a feather in the cap of the proprietor, it is one in the cap stone of our monumental city.

DESERTER TAKEN. George Kelso, a deserter from the United States' service, was taken to the Middle District Watch House on Monday night by a bailiff, for safe keeping until morning.

The ACTON Theatre at Norfolk has been opened under the management of Mr. Abbott, of Charleston, S. C.

NAVAL. The U. S. sloop of war Fairfield, Commander Tattnall, from New York, anchored in Hampton Roads on the 15th inst.

An earthquake shock was very distinctly felt at St. Louis on the night of the 12th inst. So says the Gazette.

NEWS ABOUT TOWN.

MAGISTRATE'S TRIAL. Abraham Buckwalter vs. Western Mechanics' Savings Institution of Baltimore.—Before Wm. A. Schaeffer, Esq., Justice of the Peace.—(Held under consideration to 21st June, 1841.) This warrant was brought upon a certificate of deposite of the sum of $2, issued by the defendants, and originally payable in current bank notes. After this issue upon it had been redeemed by the Institution, it was stamped upon the face thereof, Redeemable in "Balto. & Ohio Rail Road Notes," and re-issued in this form, and so came into the possession of the plaintiff in the course of his business.

It was admitted that upon the presentation of this certificate at the counter of the Institution payment was promptly tendered in one of the $2 issues of the Rail-road Co., but was refused by the plaintiff upon the ground that such issues were "Stock Orders," and not Rail-road Notes, and this position was maintained by the counsel for the plaintiff. While on the other side it was contended that the payment in the form in which it had been tendered was within the contemplation of the parties, inasmuch as there were no two dollar issues of the Rail-road Co., nor issues of any lower denomination in any other form, and because such issues were in common parlance universally known in the city of Baltimore as "Rail-road Notes." That the contract being a special one, the defendant upon the evidence was entitled to judgment. It was further contended by the counsel for defendant, that the act of the General Assembly of the last session, legalizing the above-mentioned issue of the Rail-road Co., and conferring upon the banks the power of receiving and circulating them, was intended to furnish a circulating medium of bank notes under the sum of five dollars, and that a tender of payment in such issues fulfilled all the obligations of the defendant arising from the original form of the certificate—and in the last place, while the contract was a special one, to pay in a particular medium, yet if the plaintiff should succeed, it would only be by destroying the special contract of the parties, and substituting a general contract for the payment of money which could only be discharged in gold or silver—and that such a result would be manifestly against the law of the case, as it would be clearly against justice and equity.

After having given the arguments in this case that consideration which they required, the magistrate fully concurred with the counsel for the defendant, in the views he advanced in his argument, and was of the opinion that the plaintiff was not entitled to recover.

The plaintiff was accordingly non-suited, and directed to pay the costs.

Alexas B. Wolf, Esq. for plaintiff; David Stewart, Esq. for defendant.

CORRECTION. We stated yesterday, in a report of a case tried before squire Walter, that Mr. George R. Campbell, "one of the city constables," had acted "as attorney and counsellor" for the defendant. Part of this statement, we have since learned, is incorrect—Mr. Campbell having, some time since, abandoned that vocation, or, rather, the vocation having abandoned him. We were not aware of this fact at the time the report alluded to was penned; and we now take the earliest opportunity of making the amende honorable to whichever party feels most aggrieved by the association—the constables or Mr. C.—Therefore, "know all men by these presents," that the aforesaid George R. Campbell is not a city constable, nor a constable of any sort. In regard to the other declaration, representing him as acting as an attorney in the case, we could make no mistake. We were present, and witnessed the exhibition of his professional tact and eloquence; and, as he has already been admitted to practice before a magistrate's court, his name may yet, for aught we know, be added to the brilliant galaxy of young aspirants after fame, who may be daily found in our courts of justice, upon the acknowledged principle that "Tall oaks from little acorns grow."

Seriously, we doubt whether it is legal for any individual, not a lawyer, who may arrogate to himself the ability to conduct a case, to be permitted to practice in a magistrate's court, examining and cross questioning witnesses, &c. in a case where he is not directly a party concerned. We understand that some inquiry is about to be set on foot in reference to this matter, and, as soon as we receive notice of the decision of proper authority upon this subject, we shall publish it for the benefit of our readers.

ATTEMPTED ASSAULT. On Monday night, during the performance at the Front street Theatre, a person presented himself at the door leading to the boxes and endeavored to pass with a check. Admission was refused him upon the ground that the checks were not transferrable, when he became very violent in his demeanor, using abusive language, and endeavoring to push in by the doorkeeper. He was, however, foiled in this by one of the officers on duty at the Theatre, when he attacked the officer, and made several cuts at him with a knife with which he was armed, but did not inflict any injury upon him. The noise drew a number of persons to the spot, when the assailant speedily disappeared.

ACCIDENT. Mr. Joseph Stubbs, a house-carpenter, while engaged in building a three story house in Barre-st., fell from the attic story to the first floor. He received some severe bruises in the fall, but was able to get up and walk to his residence.

BAD BOYS. John Browning and John McGuigan, white-boys, were arrested and taken to the western district watch-house, charged with disturbing the peace. Had they been at home, where they should have been, we should have been spared the necessity of publishing their names to the world.

LOTTERY INFORMATION.

☞ Two Lotteries are advertised to be drawn TO-DAY. The first is a New Jersey State Lottery, for the encouragement of the mechanics of the North.—This is a 66 No. and a 10 drawn ballot affair—scheme—price of tickets three dollars and seventy-five cents—selling price $5.

The second is a so called Maryland Consolidated, for the printers of Jersey city, (where the tickets are printed) &c., having 75 numbers and 12 drawn ballots. Scheme price of tickets three dollars and sixty cents—selling price $5.

Now, notwithstanding that our own market is thus pre-occupied at the rate of two lotteries per day, nearly the whole of which are for the benefit of citizens of distant places, the course of the State Armory and Town Hall is stillonward. Flushed with the certainty that their Schemes have the decided preference of all others, in the estimation of Baltimoreans, the commissioners are determined, in defiance of all opposition, to persevere, until Baltimore shall be put into the possession of a Town Hall worthy of herself. In pursuance of this determination, another Lottery will be drawn on Thursday, having 75 numbers and 12 drawn ballots.—Scheme price of tickets, $1; selling price $5; lowest prize $6. je23 1t

FAMILY ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS.

THESE VALUABLE PILLS are very gentle in their operations, causing neither pain nor griping, nor any nauseous sickness. They exceedingly comfort and strengthen the stomach and bowels, and clear the sight, senses, hearing, and memory, of aged persons, by carrying off phlegm, watery matter, putrid, gross, and thick humours from the Stomach, Bowels, and Blood which makes them so celebrated for removing Coughs, Rheumatism, Pains from the Body and Limbs, Gravel, Piles, Sick Stomach, Disordered Bowels, and Worms.

Mrs. C. Burton, near Locust street, was diseased for seven years with a lump in the left side, lumps all over her skin, pains around the small of her back running into the stomach, which prevented her (to use her own words,) from eating one particle of meat; the first dose removed the lump, and two boxes set her at liberty.

Sold by G. Savage, General Agent for Washington; J. Thomas, and Mrs. Banks Georgetown; W. G. Cole, Hatter, and J. Brunner, Frederick; S. Church, Alexandria; J. Demuth, York; J. Turpin, No. 24 Fayette-st.; and by T. MOORE, No. 74 Market street, General Agent for Baltimore. Price 25 cents per box, five for $1, or $2 per dozen. je23

THE VERY BEST
FAMILY NEWSPAPER
IN THE UNITED STATES.
COMMENCEMENT OF A NEW VOLUME,
ON SATURDAY, JUNE 26th.

THE OCEAN
AND BALTIMORE WEEKLY CLIPPER
PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY MORNING,
By BULL & TUTTLE,
AT ONLY $1.50 PER ANNUM,

IS one of the CHEAPEST and BEST FAMILY NEWSPAPERS now published. It contains nothing but select READING matter—advertisements being altogether excluded. It is made up from the columns of the DAILY CLIPPER, comprising all the current NEWS of the week, TALES, POETRY, &c. &c. embracing a greater variety of interesting reading than can be found in any other newspaper publication of the same dimensions, in the United States. The paper is carefully mailed EVERY SATURDAY MORNING, and sent to subscribers in every part of the Union. Subscriptions $1.50 per annum—$1.00 for six months, always payable in advance. In no case will the paper be sent for a longer period than paid for.

The proprietors could fill a column with the most flattering notices of this publication, from different parts of the country—they merely give the following to show the general opinion:

The Philadelphia Spirit of the Times says—"Its arrangement is calculated to please the eye of taste, and when we say that its matter is the articles of the Clipper, we have said enough in the way of eulogy. We are only surprised that such a paper can be afforded at $1.50 per annum."

The Hanover Herald says—"To any one desirous of subscribing for an excellent weekly paper in Baltimore, we would recommend the above. It is published at $1.50 per annum, if paid in advance, and goes ahead of any other publication in the city."

The St. Louis Gazette says—"It is one of the handsomest and best filled sheets which we receive, and we recommend the Ocean to the patronage of those who wish to subscribe for a Baltimore paper."

The Richmond Compiler says—"It is a very handsome and cheap paper, and contains a great variety of interesting matter. We have seen nothing in its way got up with more neatness."

The Juniata Aurora says—"It corresponds well with its title, for it does contain oceans of news."

The Susquehanna Advocate says—"It is an elegant sheet, containing a vast deal of interesting and valuable intelligence, and promises to be prolific in racy originals as the daily ever proved to be."

The New York Atlas says—"The only fault we find with it is its cheapness. Such a mass of choice and valuable reading for $1.50 a year, is rather more than 'dog cheap!'"

The St. Louis Pennant says—"The Ocean is a neat and tasteful weekly paper, which vies with any, in point of piquancy and interest, now published any where."

The St. Louis Argus says—"It is printed in elegant style, and as to the matter, it is enough to say that it is equal to the Clipper."

The Columbia Spy says—"It is really a good thing, and has 'oceans of news,' &c. and will amply repay the price of subscription."

The above notices will suffice—the proprietors offer the paper to the public upon its own merits. It has been published but twelve months, and every number has brought an increase of subscribers.

BULL & TUTTLE,

FAIR HAVEN. This elegant establishment will be open for the reception of visiters on and after Monday next, the 21st June. The proprietor having made considerable additions and improvements to the establishment, and having provided the same with everything necessary for the comfort and convenience of visiters, feels the utmost confidence in recommending it as a very desirable summer retreat. Fair Haven is situated on the Western Shore of the Chesapeake Bay, about 29 miles below the city of Annapolis; is remarkable healthy—the scenery beautiful and pleasant. (Strangers have said that the scenery alone was a sufficient inducement to visit the place.) The proprietor, ever anxious to accommodate the public, has determined to make such a reduction from his former rates, as will correspond with the present pressure of the times.

The Steamboat Patuxent will leave Baltimore every TUESDAY MORNING, at 6 o'clock, for Fair Haven, and return from thence in the evening. She will also leave Baltimore every THURSDAY MORNING, at 6 o'clock, and will land passengers at Fair Haven on her route to the Patuxent; and will return thence on SUNDAY, touching at Fair Haven. Persons availing themselves of the conveyance to visit Fair Haven only, will not be subject to any charge returning.

PICTORIAL ILLUSTRATIONS of the BIBLE, and Views in the Holy Land.—This most valuable and popular work, which has gone through nine editions since November last, is published by Mr Robert Sears, of New York, and compiled from the "London Pictorial Bible," a work in the highest repute, and which sells in this country for from $18 to $25. It contains 400 pages, embracing 200 engravings, most of them by the old masters, representing sacred historical events mentioned in the Old and New Testaments, with full and interesting letterpress descriptions, devoted to an explanation of the objects mentioned in the Sacred Text, and is sold for the low price of $2. It is entirely free from all sectarianism, and is recommended in the highest terms by clergymen and papers of all denominations. It is interesting to people of every age, but especially so to the young, in whom it is peculiarly adapted to create and promote a taste for the study of the Bible, and is therefore emphatically a Family Book.

Wanted immediately several active and thoroguing Agents to procure subscribers for the above work in this city and vicinity on liberal commission. Enquire at the American and Virginia Temperance Hotel Pratt street, for L. FIELD, General Agent. je22-3t*

BALTIMORE CITY COURT.

TUESDAY, JUNE 22, 1841.

Present—Judges Brice, Nisbet and Worthington.

State vs. John Childers, indicted for stealing two bonnets and six bottles of Sarsaparilla. The goods were, on the 21st May, purchased and placed on board a vessel bound to Princess Anne, and that they were missed in the morning. The testimony of the watchman who arrested the traverser proved that the goods were found in his possession, and the evidence of the lieutenant of the watch went to establish the fact, that the traverser could give no proper account, when examined, of how he came by the goods. The articles stolen belonged to three different persons, and there were consequently three indictments. The case was given to the Jury without argument, and, in a few minutes, they returned a verdict of guilty.

State vs. Eliza Christopher, indicted for stealing certain dry goods, the property of Messrs. Hoffman & Wetherall—and also for stealing a quantity of dry goods, the property of John Hines, was placed in the bar. She was tried on the latter charge first, and after a statement by the State's attorney of what he expected to prove, the first witness was called on the part of the State. In the course of his examination Mr. Smith stated that he was the agent of Mr. Hines, but, before the testimony closed, it appeared that he was actually the owner of the store, and could not be considered as agent. The consequence was that the indictment was found to be erroneous, as it charged the goods stolen to have been the property of Hines. The prosecutor, under this state of things, stopped the examination, and handing the indictment to the Jury, directed them that they should return a verdict of not guilty, which they accordingly did. As the case will have to be tried over, under a new indictment, we forbear from giving the evidence of Mr. Smith as far as it went.

State vs. William Hanna. Indicted for assisting in rescuing a prisoner from the hands of an officer. From the statement of the officer (Mr. Duvall) it appeared that he had an individual in charge who resisted him, and that Hanna interfered, with a view, as the officer supposed, of rescuing the prisoner. From information afterwards received he was satisfied that Hanna had interfered to prevent his being injured by the other, and had no desire to prosecute this case against him. Not Guilty

State vs. Bridget and John Brasin, charged with assaulting Mrs. Ellen Lambdie. The complainant deposed that, without provocation, the defendants had assaulted her, the woman with a cowhide, and the man with his fist—that the man, after knocking her down, drew a knife upon her. The evidence throughout, however, not exactly sustaining this statement, Bridget was acquitted, and John fined $1 and costs.

State vs. William Williams. Indicted for stealing certain lemons, the property of Edward Brown and Wm. Justis. The evidence for the State went to prove the theft, and the Jury found him Guilty.

State vs. John Galloway. Indicted for a riot. In this case the prosecuting Attorney confessed that there was no evidence to convict him, and that the State acknowledged he was Not Guilty.

State vs. Sarah Burke. Indicted for keeping a bawdy house, in South Howard-st. The traverser plead guilty—the Court held over the sentence for the present.

Elizabeth Merritt and Mary Miller, both indicted for keeping bawdy houses, plead guilty, and submitted to the judgment of the Court. Each fined $10 and costs.

Elizabeth Dotens plead not guilty. The evidence on the part of the State proved the charge, but that the house was small and no riots ever occurred about it. Finhd $10 and costs.

LAST MOMENTS OF MEN OF GENIUS. Rousseau, when dying, ordered his attendants to place him before the window that he might once more behold his garden, and bid adieu to nature. Rosommon uttered, at the moment he expired, two lines of his own version of Diesira. Haller died feeling his pulse, and when he felt it almost gone, turning to his brother-physician, said "My friend, the artery ceases to beat," and died. Petrarch was found dead in his library, leaning on a book. Bede died in the act of dictating. Herder closed his career writing an ode on the Dicty, his pen on the last line. Tasso's dying request of Cardinal Cynthia was indicative of the gloom which haunted him through life. He had one favor he said, to request of him, which was, that he would collect his works and commit them to the flames, especially his "Jerusalem delivered." Leibnitz was found dead in his chamber with a book in his hand. Clarendon's pen dropped from his fingers when he was seized with the palsy, which terminated his life. Wychberyly, when dying, had his young wife brought to his bedside and having taken her hand, in a very solemn manner said he had but one request to make of her, and that was, that she would never marry an old man again. Heats, a little before he died, when his friend asked how he did, replied in a low voice, "better, my friend, I feel the daisies growing over me."

[COMMUNICATION.]

To the President and Directors of the Baltimore and Ohio Rail Road Company:

This enterprize, when completed, must prove highly advantageous to our city—but until then the stockholders will have received but little remuneration for their outlays. Under those circumstances, would the gentlemen to whom this is addressed not not only find it to their interest, but a mark of courtesy to our citizens, to allow them to go to the city of Washington on the 5th July (fourth coming on Sunday,) at a reduced price and return the same evening. Thousands would avail themselves of the opportunity. The same hint may apply to the Susquehannah and Annapolis Rail Road Companies.

BROTHERS in Life, and in Death not separated. Ransom Cole, aged 24 years, and John Cole, aged 20 years, were drowned at Plainfield, N. H. (Meriden Parish) on the evening of June 6th.—They were brothers, and sons of Mr. Parker Cole. The disaster took place in Smith & Barker's mill pond, into which they went to bathe. John sank, and Ransom went to his assistance and was drawn under by John, and both were dead before assistance could be had.

A SPANISH LOVER. The daughter of a Spanish Grandee, in Spain, having been smitten with a humble corporal of the Royal Guards, used her influence with her father to procure for him the rank of a commissioned officer. The modest youth, however, being made acquainted with what was intended for him, replied, "That he felt greatly flattered, but being determined to marry a young servant girl to whom he was much attached, he declined all and every honor intended him."

MEDICAL AID.

THE SUCCESS that has attended the treatment of many thousand cases of Venereal Complaints for twenty-five years past, induces the subscriber to inform the public that he may be seen daily, and consulted on all cases of the kind, recent and chronic, and on diseases of the urinary organs generally—such as Gonorrhœa, Gravel, Gleets, Stictures, &c. His treatment is speedy, safe, and certain—the medicines are so mild that the most delicate may take them without restrictions in diet or occupation. Many persons, who have tried all the lauded quack nostrums of the day, are frequently calling on the subscriber to have the injuries they have sustained by their use relieved. In recent cases a thorough cure will be guaranteed for three dollars. Gonorrhœa Medicines will be furnished at one and two dollars a bottle, according to size; a large one generally cures in a few days. PILLS may be had at a dollar per box. The Vegetable Anti-mercurial CORDIAL is one dollar and fifty cents per bottle—this Medicine is the greatest purifier of the blood in the world. It renews and regenerates old and shattered constitutions, and, it may be said, is literally working wonders. Apply at

CASH FOR NEGROES.

THE subscriber being permanently located in this city, is at all times wanting to purchase likely young negroes of both sexes, for which cash and the most liberal prices will be paid. Persons having such to dispose of will find it to their interest to call on me before they sell, as they may rest assured, by doing so they shall obtain their VALUE for them. The subscriber's establishment is located on Barford Avenue, in one of the highest and most healthy parts of the city, having a free circulation of air, and a yard for exercise through the day—must necessarily be more healthy than in the centre of the city, especially in hot weather. Servants will be received for safe keeping, and every attention paid to their comfort and cleanliness, at the low rate of 25 cents per day. Application to be made to me at my office in Calvert-st. Near Market-st., one door below Mr. Bloomer's hat store, or at my residence, or to my brother at Whitman's Eagle Hotel, Pratt-st, immediately opposite the Baltimore and Ohio Rail road Depot. JAMES F. FURVIS.

CASH FOR NEGROES.

THE HIGHEST PRICES will at all times be given for NEGROES of both sexes, that are slaves for life, and good titles. My office is in PRATT STREET, No. 85, between Sharp and Howard streets, where myself or my Agent, (Mr. J. M. WILSON,) can be seen at all times. All persons, having Negroes to sell, would do well to see me before they dispose of them, as I am always buying and forwarding to the New Orleans market. I will also receive and keep Negroes at twenty-five cents each, per day, and forward them to any Southern port, at the request of the owner. My establishment is large, comfortable and airy, and all above ground; and kept in complete order, with a large yard for exercise; and is the strongest and most splendid building of the kind in the United States. And as the character of my house and yard is so completely established, for strength, comfort and cleanliness, and it being a place where I keep all my own, I will not be accountable, for the future, for any escapes of any kind from my establishment.

MOFFAT'S LIFE PILLS
AND VEGETABLE BITTERS.

THE perfectly safe, unerring and successful treatment of almost every species of disease by the use of MOFFAT'S LIFE MEDICINES, is no longer a matter of doubt, as a reference to the experience of many thousand patients will satisfactorily prove. During the present month alone, nearly one hundred cases have come to the knowledge of Mr. Moffat, where the patient has, to all appearance, effected a permanent cure by the exclusive and judicious use of the Life Medicines—some eight or ten of these had been considered beyond all hope by their medical attendants.—Such happy results are a source of great pleasure to Mr. M. and inspire him with new confidence to recommend the use of his medicines to his fellow citizens.

The Life Medicines are a purely VEGETABLE preparation. They are mild and pleasant in their operation, and at the same time thorough—acting rapidly upon the secretions of the system—carrying off all acrimonious humors, and assimilating with and purifying the blood. For this reason, in aggravated cases of dyspepsia, the Life Medicines will give relief in a shorter space of time than any other prescription; in Fever-and-ague, Inflammation, Fevers of every description, Sick headache, heartburn dizziness in the head, pains in the chest, flatulency, impaired appetite, in every disease arising from an impurity of the blood, or a disordered state of the stomach, the use of these medicines has always proved to be beyond doubt greatly superior to any other mode of treatment.

All that Mr. Moffat asks of his patients is to be particular in taking them strictly according to the directions. It is not by a newspaper notice, or by any thing that he himself may say in their favor, that he hopes to gain credit, it is alone by the results of a fair trial. Is the reader an invalid, and does he wish to know whether the life medicines will suit his own case? If so let him call or send to Mr. Moffat's agent in this place, and procure a copy of the Medical Manual, designed as a domestic guide to health, published gratuitously. He will here find enumerated very many extraordinary cases of cure; and perhaps some exactly similar to his own. Moffat's medical office in New York, 375 Broadway, and for sale by the Agents. JAS. WEBB'S PATENT BURNERS,
AND CAMPHINE OIL.

FOR SALE AT No. 109 E. BALTIMORE STREET, between South and Calvert streets, where Burners of every description can be obtained. Those who are sceptical as to its safety or economy, would, I trust be perfectly satisfied by examining the opinion of Professor Locke, of Ohio, on "WEBB'S CAMPHINE," or by referring to the Journals of the Franklin and American Institutes, of Philadelphia and New York. All those desirous of obtaining a clean, brilliant, and economical light, will find it exactly to their advantage by calling on the subscriber. The public may be assured of one fact, that we require no meters to ascertain the amount of Camphine consumed, as they register correctly and in plain English.

P. AUGUSTUS BAILEY, Agent
For the Proprietors.

The following letter to the Agent, exhibits the superiority of the Camphine over Gas or Oil light, in brilliancy and cheapness:

New York, March 23, 1840.

DEAR SIR—I received yours of the 19th instant, and proceed, as you request, to inform you that WEBB'S PATENT LAMP, in my opinion, is much superior to any Lamp now in use—the Camphine produces better light than Gas or Oil. I have burned Oil for five years, Gas for eleven, and Webb's Camphine for 20 months. I have a better light in my bar-room with five of Webb's burners than I had in the same room with eleven gas lights. In fact, I light my whole house at less expense with the Camphine than it cost me to light my bar-room alone with gas. I recommend it as being the cheapest and best light now in use.

Yours respectfully, THOMAS RILEY,
mh16-tf Fifth Ward Hotel.

No. 17 HARRISON ST.
"NO CURE NO PAY."

DR. HUNTER'S RED DROP. This long established and highly valuable medicine is now no novelty. It has been before the public for a long time, and by its merits alone, has it risen to a degree of estimation not enjoyed by any other medicine, for the certain cure of the Syphilitic disease. Prompt and effectual in action, yet harmless to the constitution, is its well established character, having never failed to give entire satisfaction in all the many thousand cases, where it has been used as directed.—These absolute and undeniable facts speak trumpet-tongued to the afflicted, and are the basis of a well founded hope of the philanthropist, that this unequalled medicine may circulate far and wide for the benefit of the human race.

This medicine gives the prodigal a chance to repent. Thousands have been saved and radically cured, after suffering under the hands of impostors, by this medicine, and who with grateful hearts are ready to attest to its value, and have allowed themselves to be referred to.

Persons residing at any distance, can have medicine sent to them, packed secure from observation.

It was out of pure motives of philanthropy, that this medicine was first made public; the price always to remain $1 per Bottle, to be within the reach of the most unfortunate.

☞-Letters addressed, (post paid) describing the case, mode of living, &c. will be promptly attended to. Direct No. 17 Harrison street.

UNRIVALLED SPEED!
SUMMER ARRANGEMENT.
GREAT SOUTHERN
UNITED STATES' MAIL LINE,
DAILY TO THE SOUTH.

☞-Bear in mind, that Passengers who go by the Chesapeake Bay and Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road, have 40 miles of Rail Road travelling through the DISMAL SWAMP at midnight, over one of the worst Rail Roads in America, and then are often compelled to lay over 17 hours at Weldon, one of the most unhealthy places in the whole Southern country.

TRAVELLERS FOR THE SOUTH, are informed that, by taking the Cars at Baltimore for Washington at 9 A. M., they proceed, without one moment's delay, via Washington, Fredericksburg, Richmond, Petersburg, Weldon, and Wilmington, N. C. to CHARLESTON, S. C., reaching Charleston the second morning after leaving Baltimore, and often one day in advance of any other Line—the Companies on the route being bound by the Postmaster General to make the following quick Schedule:

Leave Philadelphia	12 P.M.	reach Baltimore	8 A.M.
" Baltimore	9 A.M.	" Washington	11 A.M.
" Washington	11½ A.M.	" Fredk'sburg	6 P.M.
" Fred'ksburg	6½ P.M.	" Richmond	11 P.M.
" Richmond	11½ P.M.	" Petersburg	1 A.M.
" Petersburg	1½ A.M.	" Weldon	6½ A.M.
" Weldon	7 A.M.	" Charleston	on the next morning.

Passengers by this Line not only reach Charleston ONE DAY SOONER than by the Bay boats but they avoid being compelled to remain all night at Weldon, on the Roanoke, one of the most unhealthy places in the whole southern country, where, by the Bay Line, they are often delayed twenty-four hours.

Passengers for Richmond and Petersburg will find this Line far the most expeditious, arriving at Richmond to lodge, (as will be seen from the above Schedule,) on the evening of the day on which they leave Baltimore, being from 16 to 18 hours in advance of those taking the Bay Steam Boats.

☞-This is much the nearest, quickest, and cheapest route to the interior of Virginia, North and South Carolina—at Petersburg, Va. commences the route by way of Raleigh, N. C.—145 miles of Rail Road from Petersburg to that city. Stage Lines branch off from Raleigh Rail Road to the old Piedmont Line, to Milton Danville, &c., and to Knoxville, (Tenn.)

☞-Passengers for the Raleigh and Gaston Rail Road pay through to Petersburg, Va.

Fare to Richmond,	$10.00
Fare to Petersburg,	10.50
Fare to Weldon,	12.50

UNITED STATES MAIL LINE,
DAILY TO THE SOUTH, Sunday's excepted.
Via the Chesapeake Bay and Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road,

THE BALTIMORE STEAM-PACKET CO. announce to the public that in accordance with the New Mail Arrangement, the Boats composing their line, viz: ALABAMA, Captain Sutton; GEORGIA, Captain Coffey; and JEWESS, Captain Holmes, will, on and after WEDNESDAY, the 26th of May, leave the lower end of Spear's wharf daily, (Sunday's excepted,) at nine o'clock, A. M. for Norfolk and Portsmouth, Va.

Passengers for Charleston will find the cars of the Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road Company, on the wharf, on their arrival at Portsmouth, ready to convey them to Weldon, N. C., where they will always arrive in time to take the cars for Wilmington, from which point to Charleston is by the Steamboat, which leaves Wilmington immediately after the Passengers are delivered from the cars.

Passengers for Richmond, Petersburg, or intermediate points on James River, by leaving Baltimore on Monday, Wednesday, or Friday, will sleep on board the Bay Boat and be transferred to the James River Boat next morning.

The Steamboat Fox leaves the Black Water station on the Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road, every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, on the arrival of the cars from Portsmouth, for Edenton and Plymouth, N. C., and returns every Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday, delivering her passengers to the cars as they pass down from Weldon, enabling them to arrive in Baltimore next day, (Sundays excepted.)

RETURNING, one of the above Boats will leave Norfolk every night (Saturday being excepted) at 10 o'clock, and cross over to Portsmouth where she will wait the arrival of the Cars from Weldon, and depart for Baltimore as soon as the passengers and baggage are on board, arriving here in about 14 hours after departing from Portsmouth.

Should the Boat get an early start from Portsmouth, Passengers for Philadelphia and New York will have the opportunity of being placed on board the Philadelphia Steamboat in the Patapsco River, and will arrive in Philadelphia the same night by 11 o'clock, after having travelled 300 miles in 20 hours, without as much fatigue as would be incurred in walking from the Hotel to the wharf.

☞-No freight will be forwarded on the day it is left, unless it is alongside, prior to 8 o'clock, A. M.

THE SLEEPING INFANT.

BY J. W. LUDSDELL, M. D., GEORGETOWN, D. C.

I saw a lovely mother stand,
Bent o'er her sleeping child;
She clasp'd his little tender hand,
And kiss'd him while he smil'd.

Sleep on, she said, my darling, sleep,
Kind angels watch thy bed;
Around thee they their vigils keep,
And hover o'er thy head.

Although the storm is raging wild,
Although the tempest roars;
Nought shall disturb my sleeping child,
Nor hinder his repose.

She raised her feeble voice in prayer,
(I heard her heave a sigh,)
For her dear son reposing there,
To Him who rules on high.

Almighty Father, God of Love,
O deign to look and smile,
From thy eternal throne above,
Upon my sleeping child.

She clasp'd him to her heaving breast,
She dropp'd the silent tear;
Upon his lips she once more press'd
A mother's kiss most dear.

Again she laid him on his bed,
She left him there alone;
Sleep on, sleep on, my child, she said,
Sleep on, my darling son.

WILFULNESS; OR, THE WIFE'S TALE.

BY MRS. EMMA C. EMBURY.

(Concluded from Monday last.)

"Five years have passed away in this manner, during which time I became the mother of three children. The eldest of these was a boy, named after my father, and to him he seemed to transfer the fullness of that affection which, since my marriage, I had never been able, entirely, to regain. I rejoiced at this growing fondness for my son, and hoped that the sweet boy might be a bond of union between us all, especially as my father did not hesitate to avow his intention of making him his heir. This determination, however, was not very satisfactory to Mr. Ormeston, who had hoped that I should finally come into possession of the estate; but, with his usual careless good humor, he began to calculate the chances of benefit from this arrangement. Will you believe me when I tell you that, among other chances, he actually took into consideration the possibility of the death of his child—his first born son—which would, of course, under such a will, ensure him the property. Until that moment I had trusted much to his good feeling and affectionate temper, but when I heard him hint at the remote possibility of deriving benefit from such a calamity, I almost hated him. Yet I tried—oh, how anxiously I tried to forget it. I wanted, if possible, to retain my love and esteem for him to whom I was bound by indissoluble ties, and I sought to shut my eyes to his faults. The world looked on us as possessing every requisite for happiness.—They blamed my father's severe temper, and considered his implacable resentment as the only cloud in our sunny sky; but they little knew that I had a far more serious cause for sorrow in the unstable principles of my husband. Fond of gaiety and dissipation of all kinds, he indulged his love for pleasure without restraint. The wine cup, the turf and the gambling table, all demanded a share of his time and money, and both were liberally bestowed. Yet was he ever kind and gentle to me; not a harsh word ever escaped his lips, and to all my remonstrances against the pernicious habits in which he indulged, he always replied with perfect good humor. Was I wrong in suspecting, (as I sometimes did,) that he would have been less tender, had the purse been in his hand, as well filled as it was in mine? Heaven only knows whether I wronged him, but when distrust creeps into the bower of wedded love, it leaves its poisonous taste over every flower in life.

"My father was taken ill, and, after lingering several weeks he died. On his death-bed he admitted Henry to his presence, and as he bade him farewell, he added, 'I have summoned you, Mr. Ormeston, in order that you might not accuse me of carrying my resentment beyond the grave. Had you been less content with your condition as a dependant, I might have liked you better; had you refused to live under my roof upon the conditions which I prescribed, I should have known that I had wronged you in my first estimate of your character; but your conduct has shown me that you were quite satisfied with my terms, and, of course, I do not regret my past conduct.' I listened to these words with bitter tears, for I felt that if Henry had but obeyed the impulses of my indignant spirit, at the outset of our married life, he never would have been compelled to occupy so equivocal a station.

"When my father's will was opened, it was found that he had bequeathed to me an annuity of four thousand dollars during my life—to my two youngest children two thousand dollars, per annum, while the bulk of the fortune, after deducting a few legacies to some old friends, was bestowed upon my eldest son, upon condition that as soon as he attained his seventh year, he should be sent to a boarding school in England, and there allowed to remain until he had finished a collegiate course of education. In case of his death before he attained his majority, the estate was to remain in trust until my youngest child should be of age, when it was to be equally divided among them. I well understood the meaning of this will. It was designed to separate the heir of this fine estate from the evil example of his father, and, in the plenitude of his contempt for Mr. Ormeston, my father had thought that a disruption of the dearest ties of nature was preferable to exposing the boy to such influence. Thus I was called to make a second sacrifice—the result of the first, and as I had given up my father for the sake of my lover, so I was now to resign my child to the care of strangers, in order to ensure his future welfare.

"Of course an immediate change in our mode of life was necessary. We had been in the habit of spending at least, ten thousand a year, and my annuity, which was all we now had, certainly would not support such extravagance. This gave me little pain, for I had ceased to value the appliances of wealth, since I had learned that they could not bring me happiness, but it galled the pride of my husband to the very quick. He could not endure the thought of living in a less ostentatious manner; he was not willing to resign the luxury of a carriage, and the pomp of a retinue of servants. But he was spared the mortification for the present. Our child had almost attained the age specified in the will for his removal to England, and as I was desirous of placing him in safe hands, we determined to accompany him, and to pass a few years in Europe. We accordingly left America about six months after my father's death, and of the detail of the next two years of my life, my dearest friends are ignorant.

"Our first care on our arrival in England, was to find a proper school for Charles. My heart bled at the thought of leaving him, but I knew that I should not obey the spirit of my father's will unless I separated him entirely from us. Having been unusually fortunate in our choice, we departed for Paris, in compliance with the wish of Mr. Ormeston, who seemed exceedingly desirous of enjoying the winter season in that gayest of cities. For my own part, I was perfectly indifferent as to my place of abode, so long as I could hear weekly from Charles, and as my other children were with me, I anticipated comfort if not happiness. But I soon found that I committed a sad mistake when I trusted one of his unstable character amid the labyrinths of Parisian vice. The freedom of French manners, the sceptical tone of philosophy then in vogue, and the prevalence of the fatal habit of gaming, to which Mr. Ormeston was already addicted, were too well suited to his temper and habits. He needed little persuasion to induce him to launch forth upon the treacherous sea of vicious pleasure, and all my suspicions of his laxity of morals were more than confirmed. But ill suited as we were, we never had those disputes and bickerings which often render the married state one of perpetual torment. Always kind and polite, Mr. Ormeston was considered a model of conjugal tenderness, and, as far as affectionate words and manners could make him so, he deserved all praise; but he lacked that disinterested love which makes the happiness of its object its first care. He was warmly attached to me; indeed his natural disposition led him to look with kindness upon every one who did not absolutely offend him, but still, selfishness was the foundation of all his actions. Had I ceased to be his daily companion, and to minister to his daily comfort, all love for me would soon have faded from his mind, like a dream, for his temper was too indolent to feel any emotion very vividly. Yet his winning manners, his unruffled good humor, his kind-heartedness, made me love him tenderly, in despite of his unsteadiness of character. I would have given worlds to have been able to look up to him with respect as well as affection, but alas! I could not be blind to his want of sincerity, his truckling spirit, and his habitual vices; I could not deceive myself into the belief that he was a fit model for the imitation of our children.

"But I was destined to drink to the very dregs, the cup which my own wilfulness had drugged. After a residence of nearly two years, we left Paris, but the precipitancy with which we quitted it, led me to suspect that something was wrong. I afterwards learned that some disgraceful transaction which occurred in one of those dens of vice, a gambling house, had compelled Mr. Ormeston to seek safety in a rapid departure for his native land. We returned to New York, and took lodgings at one of the fashionable hotels, while my husband was immediately surrounded by the companions of his former follies. His ostentatious style of living, together with his habits of play, soon involved him in debt, and I was now subject to the mortification of seeing him dunned again and again, by every tradesman whom he employed. My father had early instilled into my mind a great horror of incurring debt; he looked upon it in its true light, as a species of dishonesty; 'it was supporting one's self,' he said, 'by levying contributions on others; it was making a show with the price of other people's industry.' Feeling thus sensitive on the subject, you may judge how I suffered from Mr. Ormeston's careless habit in this respect. He denied himself no luxury however costly, no pleasure however expensive, and, when importuned for payment by those who had trusted him, he put them off with fair promises, kind words, or some pleasing little attention, which converted his refusal to satisfy their demands, into a compliment.

"The last blow to my happiness at last came. I have lengthened out my story, even as a criminal prolongs the time afforded him to prepare for death, to defer as long as possible the narration of that final disgrace, the remembrance of which is fraught with mingled bitterness. I cannot enter into a minute detail of the affair; let it suffice to tell you, that a note of twenty thousand dollars, drawn by Mr. Ormeston, and bearing, as endorser, the name of one of the executors of my father's will, a man of known wealth and respectability, was discounted at a certain bank in New York, and appropriated by my husband to the payment of a gambling debt. At the expiration of three months, when the note became due, a small sum was paid on account, and a new note for the balance was left in the bank; but before the time of payment came round a second time, the whole affair was discovered. The name of the endorser was a forgery! Do you ask who was the forger? It was he, who had ever been found too weak to resist temptation—even my unhappy husband!

"Let me do him the justice, however, to state that he certainly did not intend to rob either Mr. —— or the bank. Driven to extremity by immense losses at play, he was induced to this method of raising the money, which he designed to pay by installments, as the note came due; trusting that the gentleman whose name he had used, would know nothing of the transaction, and that, in the course of a year, the whole debt would be gradually cleared off. But some investigations which took place in the bank, led to the unravelment of the whole scheme, and he now stood in the light of a criminal, for, in the judgment of all who heard the disgraceful tale, he was guilty of that which ought to condemn him to a prison.—Respect to the memory of my father, however, and a regard to my feelings, saved him from open shame. Mr. —— agreed to assume the responsibility of the note, and take it out of the bank, upon condition of perfect secrecy being observed respecting the whole affair, while I repaid his kindness, as far as I could, by mortgaging my annuity to him, as a security for his future indemnification. This was the only mode that could be devised for the settlement of the debt, since the terms of the will rendered it impossible to alienate any part of my father's vast fortune from my eldest son. Mr. Ormeston, glad to escape disgrace on any terms, consented to retire into the country, and Mr. —— agreed to pay us, out of my annuity, a thousand dollars per annum, the remainder being retained as a payment on account, of the large sum due him from my husband.

"Such were the conditions upon which we purchased the privilege of hiding our disgrace from the eyes of the world, and gladly did I quit a scene of so much disappointment and sorrow. But life had now lost its brightness for me. From the hour that I learned his guilt, there was no longer the charm of affection to blind me to the unstable principles of the man whom I had chosen to be the companion of my whole existence. There was something so unutterably degrading to me, in the thought of fraud—it was so mean and despicable a crime—that my proud heart revolted at the very thought. It was not only the want of morality—it was the grovelling nature of the act, which excited my contempt, and I could no longer love him whom I had learned to despise. I pitied him from my very soul, I sought to minister to his comfort in every way possible, but I no longer regarded him with the yearning tenderness of a loving heart. He avoided my presence—he seemed to shrink from my look—not because he feared reproach, for, God is my witness that no word of bitterness ever passed my lips on the subject; but because he could not brook the eye of one whose unspotted integrity was a daily reproof unto him. I strove to make him content with his altered condition, by sharing it unmurmuringly, though I had been nursed in the lap of indulgence from infancy; but he could not overcome the painful sense of inferiority, which made him quail before me, and we gradually became more and more estranged. Strange position for two persons so closely connected! Without an unkind word having been exchanged between us—without an angry tone, or a reproachful look to extinguish love, it slowly faded from the hearts of both, like the vague image of a dream. He felt my very life to be a reproach to him. The precepts which I imparted to my children—the maxims of virtue and honor which, as a mother, I was bound to teach and to practice, were like so many stings and arrows to his wounded conscience. My presence was painful to him, for he could not forget that I had looked into the depths of his degraded nature. His habits of 'good fellowship,' his pleasant manners, his graphic skill in story-telling, his comic songs, made him a great favorite in the little community where we now resided, while the calm tone of subdued sorrow, the reserve, born of betrayed affection, gave to my demeanor a gravity which was mistaken for coldness of heart. Some keen-sighted gossips had observed that, when in my presence, Mr. Ormeston's careless and cheerful manner was exchanged for a restlessness and apparent restraint. He told no merry tales, he entered into no boyish frolics when the sad eye of his wife was upon him, and this was attributed to my unkindness, my severity of temper which clouded his sunny character. Alas! it was his own consciousness that hushed the song upon his lips, and checked the tide of mirth when I was by his side. I, alone, knew of his disgrace.

"With regard to my children, I will not deny that I may have committed some errors of judgment, but how little can strangers know of the springs which govern our actions. I was severe in my ideas of discipline, and rigid in my sense of duty, and it was with the inflexibility of a judge that I watched over the gradual development of passion and error in the hearts of my children. Why did I do this? Because they were of his blood—because I feared that his children, while they inherited his beauty and his talents, might also be the heirs of his unstable character. Let the tender affection of those dear, and, God be thanked! those virtuous children, prove to you, that, whatever the world might call it, my severity was not unkindness.

"Thus have I explained to you the cause of my apparent parsimony, and the groundlessness of the other charges which have been brought against me, by those who cannot look beneath the surface of life. A few years sufficed to pay the debt due to the kind Mr.——; but others, many others, still remained to be satisfied, and I determined to continue the same course of life, until every farthing was punctually settled. I endeavored to surround my husband with such objects as might excite the fine powers of his mind, and induce him to substitute intellectual pleasures for the grosser enjoyment of the senses. Books in which he once delighted, painting in which he was not unskilled, music in which he was a proficient, were all brought around him in our humble and quiet home. But the poison of a vitiated taste had prevailed over his noble intellect and all mental pursuits had lost their charm. To ponder on the dangerous pages of Rousseau, or the vain sophisms of Voltaire, was the greatest task he could bring himself to undertake, while his skill as an artist and musician was wasted in political caricatures and political songs. Gradually he sunk lower in the scale of being. He had begun life by placing his happiness lower than himself—he had commenced by degrading instead of elevating the dignity of his nature, and he now learned how much easier it is to decend than to regain the upward ascent. You know his subsequent fate: you know that the handsome and intellectual Henry Ormeston—the gifted, the amiable, the good-hearted—he who was once the object of admiration to women, and of imitation to men— sunk into the mere haunter of a village tavern.

"Have I told you enough of my trials? Would you hear how he gradually lost all sense of shame and self-respect? how he found in the depths of vice a deeper still? and how he finally died, with that most awful of all the weapons of death—the drunkard's curse?

"Time has shed its healing balm over many sorrows since then, but the lapse of years cannot bring to me forgetfulness. My children are now grown to adolescence—wealth and honor and goodness are theirs, and their love I find my only earthly consolation. But I cannot forget the cruel yet merited sufferings of my youth. I say merited because they would never have fallen upon me had I not 'despised the counsel of my father.' I followed the blind impulses of my own will; and like all who sow the wind, I reaped the whirlwind."

ST. GEORGE, THE CELEBRATED DUELLIST. He died in a state of poverty in 1709, at the age of fifty-four. He was justly considered the first swordsman and the best shot of his time. One of his feats was throwing up two crown-pieces in the air and hitting them both with his pistols. He was an excellent musician, amiable and polished in his manners, and of a most agreeable conversation; his humanity and charitable disposition were universally acknowledged; and although engaged in many duels, he had generally been the insulted party, and was never known to avail himself of his reputation to insult any one less skilled in the science of destruction. He was often known, however, to give a salutary lesson to quarrelsome and troublesome young men; and an instance is recorded of his meeting at Dunkirk, in the company of several ladies, a young officer of Hussars, who, not knowing him, was boasting of his skill as a swordsman, and asserting that no fencer in France was a match for him. "Did you ever meet the famous St. George?" asked one of the ladies. "St. George! many a time; he could not stand a moment before me!" answered the Huzzar, twirling his mustachois. "That is strange," observed St. George, "and I should much like to have a trial of skill with you, young man. Possibly the ladies could procure us foils, and an assaut de armes might entertain them." The young officer assented to the proposal with a smile of contempt; foils belonging to the brother of the lady of the house were produced, and without hesitation the Huzzar was preparing to shame his aged antagonist, who, politely addressing the ladies, asked them to name the buttons he should touch on his adversary's dolima. The delighted women glad to see a coxcomb corrected, named the number of the buttons; which St. George touched one after the other, and then whipped the foil out of the inexperienced hand of the boaster, who, infuriated by rage and shame, wanted immediate satisfaction; when St. George quietly observed, "Young man your time is not yet come; you may still live to serve your country; but recollect you have met St. George, for I am that very person, who could not at any time prove a match for you."

THE TRUE GROUND. The subject of abolition petitions will probably not be again disturbed during the present session, but will certainly be revived at the commencement of the next, when we may expect a renewed excitement, unless southern members place themselves upon the true ground, which is, in our humble opinion, to receive the petitions. Our course would be, to admit the right of petition on any subject, where the petition is couched in proper language. We say that we would receive abolition petitions; because, in the first place, the right of petition is held as sacred—and in the second, because the refusal to receive such petitions is the aliment which sustains abolitionism. We would appoint a committee of northern members exclusively, to whom these petitions should be referred for report. We have no doubt that such a report would be made as would prove satisfactory to the south. We would give the house and the country to distinctly understand, that the south stood for her rights, and would maintain them at all hazards—and that, the moment congress proceeded to touch the subject of domestic slavery in the states, that instant we should consider the Union as dissolved. In such a condition of things, every southern member should forthwith leave the house and go home. We are merely supposing a case which we do not think can ever occur, unless southern members continue to deny the right of petition. The abolitionists of the north compose but an insignificant portion of the population—but a much larger and more respectable portion denies the right of congress to prohibit the receipt of petitions; and it is of some importance that the south should set itself right with this class of citizens.

We believe that, if the course here indicated were adopted at the commencement of the next session of congress, the abolition fever would subside in twelve months, and that the public mind would cease to be agitated by this exciting subject. Let it be tried, and if the result be not favorable, the south can easily resume the ground formerly occupied.

We do not suppose that it affords any gratification to northern members to present abolition memorials to congress—on the contrary, we presume that they would rejoice to be relieved from the disagreeable duty. If, therefore, the petitions were received and referred, they would soon let their constituents know the utter uselessness of continuing to forward such papers, and the practice would cease; and thus there would be an amicable termination of the whole matter—for no man will continue to labor when he knows that he will have to spend his strength in vain.

RUMOR OF YELLOW FEVER.—Contradiction. A rumor was prevalent yesterday, that two ships had arrived at the Lazaretto, filled with German emigrants, among whom the yellow fever was prevailing to a great extent; that several persons had died since the arrival of the vessel at the Lazaretto; and that some of the passengers had been permitted to come up the city.

Having made inquiry from the proper source, we learn that rumor, in this case, as in most others, has misrepresented the facts, which are these:—A ship, the "Clementine," from Bremen, arrived at the quarantine ground on Tuesday, with a large number of passengers on board, among whom the typhoid fever had made its appearance during the passage, and raged with considerable violence. Several deaths occurred as the vessel came up the Bay. On her arrival here, the health officer, finding the disease on board, expressed his opinion that the disease, if confined among the passengers, on board of the ship, would change its character, and become contagious. In order to prevent this as far as possible, we understand that the consignee sent down a brig to which the sick, now fifty odd in number, were to be removed, that a fair opportunity might be afforded of having the ship well cleansed and ventilated, and the baggage of the passengers properly cleansed; and that an application has been forwarded to the proper authority at Washington to obtain the use of the Lazaretto house for the accommodation of those now sick, who are to remain in the brig until such permission is received. In the meantime none of the passengers arriving in the "Clementine" have been allowed to come up to the city, nor will they be permitted to do so, until a thorough purification of the vessel and baggage have taken place. As regards the other vessels, one from Bremen and the other from Liverpool, there is no sickness, we understand, on board of either.

PUBLIC LANDS. The Hon. William Cost Johnson has introduced a bill for the distribution of the proceeds of the sales of public lands among the several states. This is a measure which we ardently desire to see passed at the present session; and we have no doubt that it will be promptly acted upon by Congress. We want the land question to be permaneatly settled, and we think that the distribution bill will be the most equitable mode.

CORRECTION. We yesterday stated, upon what we considered the very best authority, that Nicholas Snyder, Esq., Marshal of Maryland, had resigned his situation. We learn to-day that this is incorrect.

WASHINGTON, June 23, 1841.

In the House this morning, several petitions were presented on the subject of slavery, but they were not received.

A memorial was presented from certain people of Florida, setting forth that Mr. Levi, the delegate from that territory is not entitled to his seat, being an alien. There being no disposition to debate this subject, the memorial was referred to the committee on elections. As the delegates from territories are never allowed to vote, the presence of Mr Levi will not affect the result of any measure that may be brought up.

The Speaker then called upon the several states for resolutions. A great number were offered, most of which lie over for one day.

A resolution was offered by Mr. Brown, of Tennessee, proposing an amendment of the constitution so as to prohibit any President from serving a second term.

Mr. Floyd, of New York, offered a resolution calling upon the President to state whether any officer of the United States Army has been sent to interfere in the case of McLeod.

Mr. Pickins offered a resolution calling upon the heads of the several Departments to give a list of all the removals made since the 4th of March last, also a list of new clerks appointed.

On motion of Mr. Brewster, a resolution was adopted requiring the Committee on Commerce to inquire into the expediency of so modifying the revenue laws as to allow drawbacks upon goods transported inland in the original boxes, packages, &c. to foreign countries.

On motion of Mr. Goggin, a resolution was agreed to, calling for information relative to the foreign tobacco trade.

Mr Cushing offered a resolution which lies over, calling for information as to the expense of the Coast survey, by Hassler, and the probable time it will take before completed.

After the disposal of some private business, the House at an early hour adjourned, in order to allow the Standing Committees time to expedite the business referred to them.

I was mistaken yesterday in supposing our District Bank bill had finally passed. It had been ordered for engrossment only, which, however, is generally considered as tantamount to a passage. Many others, I find, fell into the same mistake. This morning it was again called up, and after some debate on the various clauses, recommitted to the District Committee, with instructions to report sundry amendments.

The "Fiscal Agent" was then taken up, but without being disposed of, the doors were closed and the Senate went into an executive session.

☞We have been shewn a letter from Doctor William Elder, dated Pittsburg, June 18th, 1841, wrote in haste to Mr. James Dunn, Corresponding Secretary to the Washington Temperance Society, giving an account of the great success of the missionaries sent out by the Washington Total Abstinence Society of Baltimore; and he remarks: "The whole city of Pittsburg is now up in this great temperance reformation going on in our beloved country. In three nights we have added 570 members to the cause, and among them some of the first talent of the country; and the fourth night we have added 190 more members to the total abstinence pledge, and amongst them some 20 or 30 swelled head gentlemen. At this moment my office is thronged with friends in the cause, and the whole city is on fire with the deep interest felt for our citizens. Those gentlemen who signed the total abstinence pledge but two or three nights since, are this moment calling on me and congratulating me in this great reformation, and say they would not go back into their old habits for the world, or for any consideration whatever."

AN INHUMAN MONSTER—Vile Outrage. A Correspondent furnishes the New York Sun with an account of a brutal outrage at Beverly, by a man who, by the force of impudence, birth, and other circumstances, has been able hitherto to sustain a place in reputable society. The fellow has been in the habit of whipping his son in a cruel manner. The son had escaped from his unnatural father, who believed he had sought refuge with his grandmother, to whose apartments he repaired, and demanded an exposure of his place of concealment. The venerable matron replied that she did not know where he was, but hoped he was secure from further cruelty, whereupon the 'gentleman' seized her by the head, knocked her down, and, with a knife in his hand threatened to cut her throat if she did not disclose the place of her grandson's concealment! The wife of the wretch alarmed some neighbors who rushed into the house and perhaps prevented the commission of matricide. A few years ago this same fellow was convicted of beating an orphan boy in such a manner as to destroy almost entirely his reason. A few dollars paid 'the damages,' but his assault upon his mother will not be so easily expiated.

MONEY RECOVERED. It will be remembered that a trunk belonging to Mr. Platt Adams, broker in New York, containing a large amount of money, notes, bonds, &c. was not long since feloniously taken from the Phœnix Bank. An accomplice in the affair has lately been apprehended in New York, who gave information by which all the stolen property was recovered. The rogues with whom he was leagued had gone to Philadelphia, whither they were pursued and the property obtained. The name of the young man arrested is Jas. W. Eloyd.

SHIPWRECK. The Norfolk Beacon states that the schooner Millicent, capt. Cole, of and for New York from Baltimore, with a cargo of flour, Epsom salts, tobacco, &c. was cast away on Cape Charles on Thursday night last. The cargo nearly all saved and the vessel will probably be gotten off, but a good deal injured.

BALTIMORE CITY COURT.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 23, 1841.

Present—Judges Brice, Nisbet and Worthington.

George R. Richardson, Esq., the Attorney for the State, rose and stated to the court that, before he proceeded in the trial of any cases to-day, he wished to make some remarks in reference to a publication which had appeared in some of the newspapers relative to the remission of a fine imposed some time since upon the keeper of a house of ill-fame in this city. He would make these remarks, not because he felt himself bound to do it from any share of responsibility which might rest upon him in the matter, nor did he suppose, for a moment, that the court would feel themselves bound to enter into any explanation of their course in the affair; but he looked upon the remark alluded to as having been made with a view to political effect, and as a reflection upon the highest executive authority of the State; and he, therefore, felt himself bound to proceed with the statement he was about to make.

It was generally known that two terms ago, Mrs. Smithson had been brought before their honors, charged with being the keeper of a bawdy house. The case was submitted to the court, the character of the house established as usual by witnesses, and, in a few minutes, the court announced their decision to be the imposition of a fine of $500. He confess ed that, at the time, the extent of the fine surprised him. Never before, during his practice as a prosecutor, had he known a heavier fine than fifty dollars to be imposed upon the keepers of such houses; and, from the extraordinarily heavy penalty in this particular case, he was induced to enquire into the grounds upon which their honors had acted in coming to their decision. He had learned that it had come to the knowledge of the court that this case was one of more than ordinary aggravation; that it was stated to them, upon responsible authority, that females residing in houses known from their location to be highly respectable, had been traced from Mrs. Smithson's to their own homes, and that this knowledge of facts had influenced the court in their action. This information soon came to the ears of Mrs. Smithson, and her counsel, who insisted, as he had a right to do, upon a full development of facts, alleging that the representation made was not correct. A witness was produced upon the stand, whose veracity was unimpeachable, but before any disclosures were made, it occurred to him (the State's Attorney,) that there was a possibility that a mistake might be made, and, if the names of respectable ladies were given out in public, even by mistake, as being visiters of the house in question, such a publication, whether they were guilty or not, would be damnation to their characters. Looking upon it then, as a case where innocent persons might suffer, he had objected, as prosecutor, to the testimony of the witness being given. He would suppose the case that a chambermaid, living in a house of respectability, might be in the habit of visiting a house of ill-fame, and being traced from it to the house where she was employed, suspicion might fall upon the wrong person, and great injury might result to others occupying the house. The court, concurring in these views, had sustained the objection to the production of the evidence. He not only had taken this course then, but he did not hesitate to say he should always do so, where irretrievable injury to innocent persons might be the result.

Some time after the levying of the fine, an application was made to the Governor to remit a portion of it, which was refused by him unless the Court would recommend it. The individual who applied to the Governor, spoke to him, (the Prosecuting Attorney) about it; and, having before said that he considered the fine exorbitant, the proprietress of the house not having a chance of contradicting the statements made to the court, as they did not come out publicly in the way of evidence; and, conceiving that, if the fine were not remitted, he, as public prosecutor might be doing the woman injustice by not permitting the statements made so to come out in evidence, for the purpose of giving her an opportunity of rebutting it, he had expressed his views upon the subject to the court, and also to Gov. Grason. The court, after repeated consultations, had finally recommended a remission of four-fifths of the fine, ($400) which remission was granted by the Governor. Another reason which, doubtless, operated to procure this remission was, that a statement had been made to the court, as well as to himself, that Mrs. Smithson had been very sick for some time—that five hundred dollars was the extent of all she was worth—and that, if the means were left her, it was her intention to retire from the mode of life in which she had been engaged. Governor Grason was a public man—in some measure a political man—and, the original inquiry in regard to the remission of the fine imposed upon Mrs. S. having emanated from a source which led him to believe that it was intended for party purposes, he had deemed it but an act of justice to say what he had said. The first notice of this affair had appeared in the Patriot of Monday; and another in the Sun of yesterday.

His Honor, Judge Brice, upon the part of the court, stated that they did not feel themselves required to answer to the public press for the course they might take in relation to any matter. It was too often the case that editors of papers published things without a proper knowledge of the facts, and without making sufficient inquiry into them to come at the truth. In reference to the matter at issue, Gov. Grason was entirely free from blame if any blame could be attached. The responsibility, if there was any, rested upon the court—and they did not choose to explain their reasons for their course for the satisfaction of any one, much less the publishers of newspapers, who ought, in making publications, to keep within their proper limits, and, if they did not know those limits, he trusted the Grand Jury would teach them their extent.

[For ourselves we are free to confess that we have nothing to complain of in the remarks made by the State's Attorney, and His Honor, Judge Brice, so far as they applied to a portion of the public press in this city. Feeling that we possess "a conscience void of offence" in those matters and, more especially, in this particular case, we, of course, do not consider any of the strictures applicable to ourselves.]—Clipper.

State vs. James Blakeley, indicted for keeping a faro table. The traverser plead guilty, and submitted the case to the court. A witness was produced in court to show the character of the table who stated that he had seen them play at the table in question, but never for a higher amount than "levy checks." The court fined the traverser fifty dollars and costs, and sentenced him to thirty days' imprisonment.

State vs. George Pupp, indicted for an assault upon J. Keilholtz, plead guilty and was fined five dollars and costs.

State vs. Robert Gifford, charged with an assault with intent to kill, and a simple assault and battery; in being concerned in a fracas at the house of William Pedaze, during which a pistol was fired in at the window, and Wm. F. Smith slightly wounded by several of the shot in the head and neck. It appeared from all the evidence in this case, that the traverser, in company with William U. Stewart, entered the house of Mr. Pedaze, and the traverser, not conducting himself with that propriety which was required, was directed to leave the house, and that upon his refusal to do so, Mr. P. took hold of him to put him out, upon which he stepped back and used some abusive language, when he was pushed out, (by whom, it did not appear,) with such violence as to cause him to fall on the pavement, and that he was followed out by a person, (supposed to be a Mr. Tracy,) who threw him from the pavement into the street, that he walked to the corner, and stood there a few minutes, during which time his companion, Steuart, was also forcibly ejected from the house; that the latter went to the corner, when the traverser, who had whilst standing there pulled a pistol from his pocket, handed the pistol to Steuart, with what intention was not known, but the latter immediately walked to the window and fired the pistol in at it, wounding Smith, as before stated.

The case of Wm. U. Steuart, against whom there was a similar indictment, was laid before their Honors at the same time, and tried upon the same evidence. The court fined both the traversers ten dollars and costs, and sentenced them to thirty days' imprisonment.

The court room was graced to-day by the presence of several of the frail sisterhood of the town, who came forward, and pleading guilty to the charges laid in the indictments against them, of keeping houses of ill-fame, threw themselves upon the mercy of the court. Their Honors dealt with them according to the testimony of the witnesses who were examined upon the stand, relative to the size of the houses occupied by the different traversers. The fines imposed were as follows: Sarah Burke $100 and costs; Ann Thomas $20 and costs; Elizabeth Osborne $100 and costs; Cecelia Gray $50 and costs; Mary Cook $10 and costs; Harriet Rhinemus $20 and costs; Leathy Ann Talbot $10 and costs; and Ann Bartlett $10 and costs.

Benjamin Tibbles, indicted for keeping a bawdy and disorderly house, was acquitted, the evidence on the part of the State not being sufficient to sustain the charge.

SUPERIOR JUSTICE. A burglar attempted to enter Dr. Nelson's house, Newhall street, Birmingham; at ten he was taken; at twelve committed; at four pleaded guilty; half-past five was sentenced to ten years's transportation; at right he was on his way to Warwick in the caravan; and on Saturday he was on the sea bound for Botany Bay.

THE BOSTON MAIL—ANOTHER ENTERPRISE. We have received the Daily Mail, of Boston, on a double sheet, containing a vast amount of interesting matter. The Mail is a sterling paper, and is generally first in important news.

NEWS ABOUT TOWN.

A WORTHLESS DISOBEDIENT SON. A case was yesterday brought before Squire Schaeffer, by Mrs. Hale, informer, against Ann Dempsey, for unlawfully harbouring and detaining her son, Chas. Wesley Hale, a young man not quite of age, an apprentice. It appeared in evidence that Ann Dempsey was a woman of bad character; that she did harbour young Hale, especially at night. He stated that he was married to her, &c. which honorable acknowledgment was shown to be false.

His old mother had the appearance of an honest respectable woman—was deeply affected at the obstinacy and disobedience of her abandoned son. Justice Schaeffer, after imposing a fine of $20 and costs upon the said Ann Dempsey, briefly read the stony-hearted youth a touching and salutary lesson. He was stubborn as a mule. Upon being asked by his House, which he loved best, his mother or the vile prostitute, his answer was, he did not know. Never believe did we believe that the human heart could become so base—so lost to the inborn ties of parental affection.

PLEASURE EXCURSIONS. Take notice all ye who wish to enjoy a delightful trip to Annapolis. Two splendid opportunities are offered this evening, both by the Columbia and Boston. The latter will leave Light street wharf at three o'clock P. M., and the former, Commerce street wharf at two o'clock, P. M. Murray's cotillion band is engaged for the Boston, and Capt. Roundtree's by the Columbia. Those who chose either boat will be accommodated to dancing, as well as the pleasure of witnessing lots of beautiful ladies.—The trip being not only a cheap but delightful one, we have no doubt but both steamers will have their portion of passengers.

MARYLAND CADETS. This enterprising and handsome military corps, under the command of Capt. Newman, contemplate encamping in the neighborhood of our city, on the 5th, 6th and 7th of July ensuing. The ground selected by them for that purpose is adjoining the country seat of Chauncy Brooks, Esq. at the Western terminus of Madison street road, being the same delightful place where they encamped last year.

VIOLATION OF AN ORDINANCE. Thomas Reed, a colored man, was yesterday taken before A. H. Pennington, Esq., and fined two dollars and costs, for driving a hack without a license, in violation of a city ordinance.

THUNDER STORM. A heavy thunder storm, accompanied with the most vivid and beautiful flashes of lightning, passed over our city last night about 9 o'clock. The scene was terrifically grand—sublime beyond description. Old Terra Firma shook to her centre.

MISS V. MONIER, the popular, the accomplished and beautiful, will open the National Theatre at Washington on to-morrow evening. See advertisement. We shall give her our attention in future.

BREAKING THE PEACE. Francis Rose and Charles Thompson, were on Tuesday night arrested while fighting in the street, and taken to the Eastern district watch house.

INTOXICATED. Francis Smith and Wm. Gilbert were taken up, on Tuesday night, and lodged in the Eastern District watch house, having been found drunk in the street.

CHEAP LODGING. Enoch White, being found strolling the street, was kindly accommodated with lodging at the public expense, in the Middle District watch house, on Tuesday night.

EXCURSION—FELL'S POINT LOOK OUT!

☞The Ladies and Gentlemen of Fell's Point will please remember that the same officer commands the steamboat Columbia TO-DAY, that commanded her last Thursday, 17th inst. and the getter up of the trip had "no part or lot" in the boat failing to stop at Kerr's wharf on her return. As a citizen of the Point I shall take the Boston myself, as she is the only boat that stops at Annapolis, and Capt. KERR is too fine a fellow to ever make the pretty girls of Fell's Point "trudge home through a drizzling rain."

TO THE WHIGS OF BALTIMORE.

☞The undersigned, Whig citizens of the First and Second Wards, unwilling to be suspected of participating in the passage of the resolutions, adopted at the joint meeting of those Wards, held at White Hall on Monday evening, the 14th inst., respectfully submit to their Whig brethren of the city, their reasons for thus publicly disavowing all such participation. Passing by the motives of some of the prominent actors, (of which numerous facts would justify the ascription,) they believe that the faithful performance of the various duties with which our officers of the General and State Government are charged, is best secured by leaving them to that succession which the constitution and laws of the country have specially provided for their control, and that any attempt on the part of any power not legally recognized, to interfere therewith, is, when interposed for purposes of dictation, an act of usurpation and despotism unqualified rebuke. They believe that in the discharge of their official duties, the collectors of the customs throughout the country, are amenable to the Secretary of the Treasury alone for their faithful performance, are governed by his instructions, and recognize no other authority, and that, therefore, any attempt to dictate or force appointments on them, by ward meetings or otherwise, is arrogating rights secured by long and well established laws to that high functionary alone. Deprecating that anarchy which must ensue from the officious intermeddling of any unauthorised body, with those matters which the consent of the governed, and their own wise enactments have long since placed in other hands, and consigned to, their peculiar and appropriate sphere, the undersigned, Whigs of the First and Second ward, trust that their Whig brethren of the city will see in this publication no other motive than a desire to escape the imputation of having participated in such measure, and to restrain a spirit threatening, not only the integrity of our party, but the peace and safety of the country.

DAVIES'

FAMILY ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS.

THESE VALUABLE PILLS are very gentle in their operations, causing neither pain nor griping, nor any nauseous sickness. They exceedingly comfort and strengthen the stomach and bowels, and clear the sight, senses, hearing, and memory, of aged persons, by carrying off phlegm, watery matter, putrid, gross, and thick humours from the Stomach, Bowels, and Blood which makes them so celebrated for removing Coughs, Rheumatism, Pains from the Body and Limbs, Gravel, Piles, Sick Stomach, Disordered Bowels, and Worms.

Mrs. C. Burton, near Locust street, was diseased for seven years with a lump in the left side, humps all over her skin, pains around the small of her back running into the stomach, which prevented her (to use her own words,) from eating one particle of meat; the first dose removed the lump, and two boxes set her at liberty.

Sold by G. Savage, General Agent for Washington; J. Thomas, and Mrs. Banks Georgetown; W. G. Cole, Hatter, and J. Brunner, Frederick; S. Church, Alexandria; J. Demuth, York; J. Turpin, No. 24 Fayette-st.; and by T. MOORE, No. 74 Market street, General Agent for Baltimore. Price 25 cents per box, five for $1, or $2 per dozen. je23

PICTORIAL ILLUSTRATIONS of the BIBLE, and Views in the Holy Land.—This most valuable and popular work, which has gone through nine editions since November last, is published by Mr Robert Sears, of New York, and compiled from the "London Pictorial Bible," a work in the highest request, and which sells in this country for from $18 to $25. It contains 400 pages, embracing 200 engravings, most of them by the old masters, representing sacred historical events mentioned in the Old and New Testaments, with full and interesting letterpress descriptions, devoted to an explanation of the objects mentioned in the Sacred Text, and is sold for the low price of $2. It is entirely free from all sectarianism, and is recommended in the highest terms by clergymen and papers of all denominations. It is interesting to people of every age, but especially so to the young, in whom it is peculiarly adapted to create and promote a taste for the study of the Bible, and is therefore emphatically a Family Book.

Wanted immediately several active and thoroughgoing Agents to procure subscribers for the above work in this city and vicinity on liberal commission. Enquire at the American and Virginia Temperance Hotel Pratt street, for L. FIELD, General Agent. e23-3t*

FAIR HAVEN. This elegant establishment will be open for the reception of visiters on and after Monday next, the 21st June. The proprietor having made considerable additions and improvements to the establishment, and having provided the same with everything necessary for the comfort and convenience of visiters, feels the utmost confidence in recommending it as a very desirable summer retreat. Fair Haven is situated on the Western Shore of the Chesapeake Bay, about 20 miles below the city of Annapolis; is remarkable healthy—the scenery beautiful and pleasant. (Strangers have said that the scenery alone was a sufficient inducement to visit the place.) The proprietor, ever anxious to accommodate the public, has determined to make such a reduction from his former rates, as will correspond with the present pressure of the times.

The Steamboat Patuxent will leave Baltimore every TUESDAY MORNING, at 6 o'clock, for Fair Haven, and return from thence in the evening. She will also leave Baltimore every THURSDAY MORNING, at 6 o'clock, and will land passengers at Fair Haven on her route to the Patuxent; and will return thence on SUNDAY, touching at Fair Haven. Persons availing themselves of the conveyance to visit Fair Haven only, will not be subject to any charge returning.

BALTIMORE CLIPPER.

TRIBUTE TO THE MEMORY OF THE LATE REV. GEO. G. COOKMAN.

The following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted at the second Quarterly Meeting Conference of the Wesley Chaple Station for the present year, held on the 7th day of June, 1841:

Whereas it has been ascertained that our beloved brother, GEORGE G. COOKMAN, who so lately labored among us as a minister in holy things, and who, we trust, has here many seals to his ministry, left this country in the steamship President, to pay a filial visit to his native country; that since his departure nothing definite has been heard of him or the ship in which he sailed, and it is highly probable she with all on board has, in the dispensation of Providence, been lost: therefore

1. Resolved, That, as in all probability our beloved brother G. G. COOKMAN has been taken from us by an allwise though inscrutable Providence, we bow with humble submission to His holy will, who giveth and taketh it away, and whose holy name we feel bound to praise and adore, though we at the same time deeply lament that one so useful, so vigorous, so eloquent in the cause of God, should be among us no more to call to "come up to the help of the Lord, to the help of the Lord against the mighty;" and though his body sleeps beneath the surface of the ocean, we trust his spirit is now redeemed, regenerated, and with his Saviour, in whose cause he so zealously labored.

2. Resolved, That we as a body and as individuals, who well knew the worth of our beloved brother and the ardent affection he entertained for his family, do deeply and sincerely sympathize with that family in their affliction and the irreparable loss they have in all probability sustained.

3. Resolved, That we offer our most affectionate condolence to the family and friends of our late beloved pastor, and pray fervently that the grace of God may be sufficient to sustain them under this deeply afflictive dispensation; that all may work together for their ultimate good, and that a happy meeting may be in reservation for them in the kingdom of eternal bliss.

4. Resolved, That, while memory lasts, we will bear testimony to the faithful manner in which he discharged his duty as a pastor while he labored among us, and to the earnest and eloquent appeals he made to sinners to "flee the wrath to come."

5. Resolved, That, in testimony of our sincerity in what we have above expressed, we earnestly and affectionately invite a co-operation of his brethern and friends elsewhere in making provision for the proper care and nurture of his afflicted family.

6. Resolved, That a copy of the above preamble and resolutions be forwarded to sister Cookman and to his father, and that the same be published in the papers of this city and in the Christian Advocate and Journal of New York.

BALTIMORE MARKET, JUNE 22.

FLOUR.—There is a slight improvement in the price of flour. Howard-st. commands $5.25 for good common brands. The wagon and car price we quote at $5. The stock on hand is small, and the receipts light. We quote best City Mills at $5.62½a$5.75. The last sales made of Susquehanna were at $5.25. Holders, however, are asking more. The transactions are quite limited.

GRAIN.—Sales of Penn'a. wheat, red and mixed, at 120c.—no Md. at market. Sales of Md. white corn at 57a59c., and yellow at 57c.—A sale of Penn. yellow at 56c. Sales of Md. Oats at 39a41c. and Va. at 35a38c.

PROVISIONS.—Transactions in this commodity have been confined to small parcels. We quote prime western assorted Bacon at 5½a6 cents.—Hams 6a8 cents; sides 5 3-4a6 cents; shoulders 4a5 cents. We note some sales of assorted prime quality at 6 cents. The receipts continue abundant, though the demand is limited. We have not been apprized of any transactions in Balt. bacon. We have no alteration to make in barrel meats. Baltimore Mess Beef is held at $12,50; No. 1. at $9, and Prime at $8, nominal. The last sale of Mess Pork was at $ ℔, cash.—The stock of Mess and Prime is heavy with no demand. Some holders of No. 1. Western Lard are less firm and the article is now held at 7½ to 8 cents. Stock moderate.

CATTLE.—The demand for live cattle is rather inactive. We quote at $6a$7,75 per hundred lbs. as to quality, from inferior to prime. Live Hogs are in abundance, and are found to be dull sale at $4 to $4,25 per 100 lbs.

WHISKEY.—We quote Whiskey in hhds. 22 cents; and in bbls. 23½a24 cents. The wagon price for barrels is 20c., exclusive of the barrel.

THE PROGRESS OF HARRISBURG. The Harrisburg Intelligencer says: "We cannot estimate the number of new building being erected in Harrisburg at the present time. In every street there are more or less, and in many of the alleys. The new prison and the Presbyterian church are the most important public edifices. The private improvements are too numerous to be particularized at present, but we shall endeavor soon to make a list of them."

THE NEXT STEAMSHIP TO BOSTON. The Boston Times says:—"The next steamer due at this port from Liverpool is the Britannia, but as the underwriters in Liverpool may wish to place her in dock for a thorough examination, she may not be ready for her regular turn. Should such be the case, the steamship Achilles, now plying between Liverpool and Glasgow, will take her place. She is said to be one of the most splendid steam vessels that has yet been built in England.

SAM PATCH EXCELLED. Sam Patch could only jump down the Falls; but a screamer from Kentucky has laid a bet that he will swim up the Falls of Niagara, and stop on the way sufficiently long to take a chew of tobacco.

ASHORE. The ship Diana from Liverpool, was ashore on Sunday last, near the Boston Light House rocks. She was heavily indened.

CASH FOR NEGROES.

THE subscriber being permanently located in this city, is at all times wanting to purchase likely young negroes of both sexes, for which cash and the most liberal prices will be paid. Persons having such to dispose of will find it to their interest to call on me before they sell, as they may rest assured, by doing so they shall obtain their VALUE for them. The subscriber's establishment is located on Harford Avenue, in one of the highest and most healthy parts of the city, having a free circulation of air, and a yard for exercise through the day—must necessarily be more healthy than in the centre of the city, especially in hot weather. Servants will be received for safe keeping, and every attention paid to their comfort and cleanliness, at the low rate of 25 cents per day.* Application to be made to me at my office in Calvert-st. Near Market. st., one door below Mr. Bloomer's hat store, or at my residence, or to my brother at Whitman's Eagle Hotel, Pratt st., immediately opposite the Baltimore and Ohio Rail road Depot. JAMES F. PURVIS.

☞All communications promptly attended to.

CASH FOR NEGROES.

THE HIGHEST PRICES will at all times be given for NEGROES of both sexes, that are slaves for life, and good titles. My office is in PRATT STREET, No. 85, between Sharp and Howard streets, where myself or my Agent, (Mr. J. M. WILSON,) can be seen at all times. All persons, having Negroes to sell, would do well to see me before they dispose of them, as I am always buying and forwarding to the New Orleans market. I will also receive and keep Negroes at twenty-five cents each, per day, and forward them to any Southern port, at the request of the owner. My establishment is large, comfortable and airy, and all above ground; and kept in complete order, with a large yard for exercise; and is the strongest and most splendid building of the kind in the United States. And as the character of my house and yard is so completely established, for strength, comfort and cleanliness, and it being a place where I keep all my own, I will not be accountable, for the future, for any escapes of any kind from my establishment.

MOFFAT'S LIFE PILLS
AND VEGETABLE BITTERS.

THE perfectly safe, unerring and successful treatment of almost every species of disease by the use of MOFFAT'S LIFE MEDICINES, is no longer a matter of doubt, as a reference to the experience of many thousand patients will satisfactorily prove. During the present month alone, nearly one hundred cases have come to the knowledge of Mr. Moffat, where the patient has, to all appearance, effected a permanent cure by the exclusive and judicious use of the Life Medicines—some eight or ten of these had been considered beyond all hope by their medical attendants.—Such happy results are a source of great pleasure to Mr. M. and inspire him with new confidence to recommend the use of his medicines to his fellow citizens.

The Life Medicines are a purely VEGETABLE preparation. They are mild and pleasant in their operation, and at the same time thorough—acting rapidly upon the secretions of the system—carrying off all acrimonious humors, and assimilating with and purifying the blood. For this reason, in aggravated cases of dyspepsia, the Life Medicines will give relief in a shorter space of time than any other prescription; in Fever-and-ague, Inflamation, Fevers of every description, Sick headache, heartburn, dizziness in the head, pains in the chest, flatulency, impaired appetite, in every disease arising from an impurity of the blood, or a disordered state of the stomach, the use of these medicines has always proved to be beyond doubt greatly superior to any other mode of treatment.

All that Mr. Moffat asks of his patients is to be particular in taking them strictly according to the directions. It is not by a newspaper notice, or by any thing that he himself may say in their favor, that he hopes to gain credit, it is alone by the results of a fair trial. Is the reader an invalid, and does he wish to know whether the life medicines will suit his own case? If so let him call or send to Mr. Moffat's agent in this place, and procure a copy of the Medical Manual, designed as a domestic guide to health, published gratuitously. He will here find enumerated very many extraordinary cases of cure; and perhaps some exactly similar to his own. Moffat's medical office in New York, 375 Broadway, and for sale by the Agents. JAS. WEBB'S PATENT BURNERS,
AND CAMPHINE OIL.

FOR SALE AT No. 109 E. BALTIMORE STREET, between South and Calvert streets, where Burners of every description can be obtained. Those who are sceptical as to its safety or economy, would, I trust be perfectly satisfied by examining the opinion of Professor LOCK, of Ohio, on "WEBB'S CAMPHINE," or by referring to the Journals of the Franklin and American Institutes, of Philadelphia and New York. All these desirous of obtaining a clean, brilliant, and economical light, will find it greatly to their advantage by calling on the subscriber. The public may be assured of one fact, that we require no meters to ascertain the amount of Camphine consumed, as they register correctly and in plain English.

☞ASTRAL LAMPS ALTERED.

F. AUGUSTUS BAILEY, Agent
For the Proprietors.

The following letter to the Agent, exhibits the superiority of the Camphine over Gas or Oil light, in brilliancy and cheapness:

New York, March 23, 1840.

DEAR SIR—I received yours of the 19th instant, and proceed, as you request, to inform you that WEBB'S PATENT LAMP, in my opinion, is much superior to any Lamp now in use—the Camphine produces better light than Gas or Oil. I have burned Oil for five years, Gas for eleven, and Webb's Camphine for 20 months. I have a better light in my bar-room with five of Webb's burners than I had in the same room with eleven gas lights. In fact, I light my whole house at less expense with the Camphine than it cost me to light my bar-room alone with gas. I recommend it as being the cheapest and best light now in use.

Yours respectfully, THOMAS RILEY,
mh10-tf Fifth Ward Hotel.

No. 17 HARRISON ST.
"NO CURE NO PAY."

DR. HUNTER'S RED DROP. This long established and highly valuable medicine is now no novelty. It has been before the public for a long time, and by its merits alone, has it risen to a degree of estimation not enjoyed by any other medicine, for the certain cure of the Syphilitic disease. Prompt and effectual in action, yet harmless to the constitution, is its well established character, having never failed to give entire satisfaction in all the many thousand cases, where it has been used as directed.—These absolute and undeniable facts speak trumpet-tongued to the afflicted, and are the basis of a well founded hope of the philanthropist, that this unequalled medicine may circulate far and wide for the benefit of the human race.

This medicine gives the prodigal a chance to repent. Thousands have been saved and radically cured, after suffering under the hands of impostors, by this medicine, and who with grateful hearts are ready to attest to its value, and have allowed themselves to be referred to.

Persons residing at any distance, can have medicine sent to them, packed secure from observation.

It was out of pure motives of philanthropy, that this medicine was first made public; the price always to remain $1 per Bottle, to be within the reach of the most unfortunate.

☞Letters addressed, (post paid) describing the case, mode of living, &c. will be promptly attended to. Direct No. 17 Harrison street.

" Weldon	7 A.M.	" Charleston	on the next morning.

Passengers by this Line not only reach Charleston ONE DAY SOONER than by the Bay boats but they avoid being compelled to remain all night at Weldon, on the Roanoke, one of the most unhealthy places in the whole southern country, where, by the Bay Line, they are often delayed twenty-four hours.

Passengers for Richmond and Petersburg will find this Line far the most expeditious, arriving at Richmond to lodge, (as will be seen from the above Schedule,) on the evening of the day on which they leave Baltimore, being from 16 to 18 hours in advance of those taking the Bay Steam Boats.

☞This is much the nearest, quickest, and cheapest route to the interior of Virginia, North and South Carolina—at Petersburg, Va. commences the route by way of Raleigh, N. C.—145 miles of Rail Road from Petersburg to that city. Stage Lines branch off from Raleigh Rail Road to the old Piedmont Line, to Milton Danville, &c., and to Knoxville, (Tenn.)

☞Passengers for the Raleigh and Gaston Rail Road pay through to Petersburg, Va.

Fare to Richmond,	$10.00
Fare to Petersburg,	10.50
Fare to Weldon,	12.50

UNITED STATES MAIL LINE,
DAILY TO THE SOUTH, Sunday's excepted.
Via the Chesapeake Bay and Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road,

THE BALTIMORE STEAM-PACKET CO. announce to the public that in accordance with the New Mail Arrangement, the Boats composing their line, viz: ALABAMA, Captain Sutton; GEORGIA, Captain Coffey; and JEWESS, Captain Holmes, will, on and after WEDNESDAY, the 26th of May, leave the lower end of Spear's wharf daily, (Sunday's excepted,) at nine o'clock, A.M. for Norfolk and Portsmouth, Va.

Passengers for Charleston will find the cars of the Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road Company, on the wharf, on their arrival at Portsmouth, ready to convey them to Weldon, N. C., where they will always arrive in time to take the cars for Wilmington, from which point to Charleston is by the Steamboat, which leaves Wilmington immediately after the Passengers are delivered from the cars.

Passengers for Richmond, Petersburg, or intermediate points on James River, by leaving Baltimore on Monday, Wednesday, or Friday, will sleep on board the Bay Boat and be transferred to the James River Boat next morning.

The Steamboat Fox leaves the Black Water stage on the Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road, every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, on the arrival of the cars from Portsmouth, for Edenton and Plymouth, N. C., and returns every Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday, delivering her passengers to the cars as they pass down from Weldon, enabling them to arrive in Baltimore next day, (Sundays excepted.)

RETURNING, one of the above Boats will leave Norfolk every night (Saturday being excepted) at 9 o'clock, and cross over to Portsmouth where she will wait the arrival of the Cars from Weldon, and depart for Baltimore as soon as the passengers and baggage are on board, arriving here in about 14 hours after departing from Portsmouth.

Should the Boat get an early start from Portsmouth, Passengers for Philadelphia and New York will have the opportunity of being placed on board the Philadelphia Steamboat in the Patapsco River, and will arrive in Philadelphia the same night by 11 o'clock, after having travelled 360 miles in 20 hours, without as much fatigue as would be incurred in walking from the Hotel to the wharf.

☞No freight will be forwarded on the day it is left unless it is alongside, prior to 8 o'clock, A.M.

A RIDDLE,

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN—BUT ESPECIALLY DEDICATED TO THE LADIES.

It's said I am not lawful,
Yet lawyers and judges use me.
It's said I am not pious,
Still most of clergy choose me;
Most men call me a dainty thing,
Forsooth! all ladies dun me,
And young men say I'm plentiful,
Still some girls shun to shun me.

I am young, I am old,
I am timid and bold,
And a friend or a foe
Wherever I go.

From what I've said you will perceive,
All kinds of treatment I receive.
The young and old, the good and bad,
Too often vex and make me mad.
But soon again, when'r I speak,
A smile of pleasure decks the cheek.

I can't but think, there are but few,
Who do not know me well.
Concerning you I know its true,
Therefore my name please tell.

THE TRUSTEE.

By the author of the Tragedy of "The provost of Bruges."—In these volumes we meet with much to amuse, and, we may add, some little to instruct. The author has chosen his time and personages happily, and produced a novel that really is well worth reading. The scene of the story is first laid at Hull, where we are introduced to a crafty & unprincipled merchant, named Richard Waring, who afterwards gets knighted by Henry VIII. during one of his progresses; and his kinsman, Sir Edward Waring, who, having been deeply compromised in some insurrections, is obliged to fly to another land for safety, and leave his two infant daughters under the guardianship of his cousin. Richard Waring is one of the most unprincipled of all unprincipled villains; and, in after years, after contriving by his arts to keep Sir Edward in exile, he endeavors to possess himself of the property of Sir Thomas Overton, whose daughter was the mother of his wards, and to force the elder one to unite herself in marriage with him. By the assistance of Walter Armistead they escaped from [illegible] tyranny, and seek refuge in the house of their grandfather, who is in a dying state, and whom they now for the first time meet:—

The old man was lying, propped up by pillows, in a large and heavy bed of state; the massive folds of whose rich hangings contrasted strongly with the emaciated form, sunken cheeks, thin gray hair and straining bloodshot eyes that glowed with the fire of the fever that parched his veins. As his grand-children faithfully entered the chamber, and silently knelt beside his bed, he stretched out his burning hands, and laying them on the heads of the youthful pair, earnestly and solemnly blessed them. Then, after a few moments, pause, he whispered—"The light—bring the light nearer; let me look at them." The bustling Bridget hastened to obey. "Not that way, fool!" he cried peevishly, "How can I see? There; so, so"—and placing his hands on the shoulders of Katharine he looked earnestly in her face, while his own worked convulsively with suppressed emotion. At last, drawing her nearer to him, he cried, "Katharine, my child!" and at the relenting tenderness of the tone, the affectionate girl flung her arms around his neck, and kissing his cheeks, her hot tears fell fast upon them, sobbed, "Yes, your Katharine's child, your own dear child, too. Let me be so. And my sister—she will love you as I will; and we will both be daughters to you." "Come here," he said, taking Rose's hand; as he proceeded in turn to scrutinize her features. But the next moment he dropped it abruptly, and shaking his head with displeasure, murmured, "No—no—she is a Waring. That is her father's face. I like not that. I will no Warings!" "Oh, Sir, say not so," cried Katharine, "She, too is your daughter's child. You must love me; for we have never been separated and never will be." And throwing her arm round her sister she drew her to herself, and kissed her affectionately.—"Grandfather," she continued, looking with beseeching tenderness in the old man's face, and placing Rose's trembling hand in his, "you must love your two grandchildren alike!" Sir Thomas looked at her with a little surprise, but without displeasure, as he replied, "Silly girl, you do not know what you ask. Would you have me love her at your own expense? Be satisfied child; be satisfied. I loved you for your name, before I saw you; and I have left you all my wealth. The land she must share; I cannot help it, or you should have that too; but all the rest shall be yours—all of it. I will not have my money divided. You shall be rich, Katharine, very rich. Sir Thomas Overton's heiress shall be a match for a noble!" and princely [illegible] delight at the thought of the remembrance. [illegible]ould perpetuate his re-

The simple girls looked wi[illegible] little short of terror on the worldly old sinner, round whose very death-bed the thought of his gold clung with a fascination that still formed his chief delight. Katharine found, too, in what she had before appeared the unaccountable resolution of Sir Richard to secure her hand; and, trembling at the danger to which even prospective wealth had exposed her, she answered—"Let us not talk now, sir, of these things. Long may you live to enjoy them yourself. For us, we neither ask nor desire more than your love and protection for your daughter's orphans. And, oh, sir, I implore you, do not let my fathers features wean you from your daughter's child. They should make you love her more; for most dearly did my father love your daughter." "Pshaw!" exclaimed the old man, peevishly. "Nay, dear grandfather," pursued Katharine, affectionately taking his hand, and determined, if possible, to make the peace of all her family with their dying relative, "you must not let one act of disobedience, so many years ago, and when they were both so young, deprive them of your love forever." "I tell you, girl, I hate Sir Edward Waring!" shrieked the old man, in a frenzy of passion; while his fiery eye flashed with impotent rage. "I hate him: and I will hate one whose features recall him to my mind! Bless Heaven you are not like your father! Did he not try to rob me of Walton Manor? Did he not cost me two hundred pounds in law? Did he not steal from me my only daughter? Curse him! curse him!" and he screamed with passion, "Did he not ——" then seeing that Bridget had not quitted the chamber, but remained an eager listener to all that passed—"Leave the room, woman!" he cried. And then drawing Katharine close to him, he whispered in her ear, "Did he marry your mother?" Katharine drew herself proudly back, and, fixing her eye steadily upon Sir Thomas, cried—"I did not think to have sought my mother's father's house to hear my mother's honor doubted." "That is no answer, girl. Were they married, I say! They tell me they were not." "Who tells you so?" cried Katharine passionately, "It was Sir Richard Waring." "Sir Richard! and why he!" "Because there exists no other man on earth so base that would dare cast a doubt on my mother's name. Because there exists no other man so vile that would not shrink from defaming the noble daughter to her dying father's ear." "Dying! pish! pish!" cried the old man: "Why should I be dying? People do not die every time they are ill. I have been often ill before and never died, Why should I now? I will not die yet"—and he forced himself upright in his bed—"I will not till my child's character is cleared!"—"Prove to me your mother's marriage, and I will recognise you—will leave you every thing—will make you rich, wealthy beyond your thought. But if you do not I discard you—I cast you off—you shall not touch a penny of my money; but you may starve—you may die!" and exhausted with the violence of his passion, he fell back; and his shrivelled features worked and shook with a convulsion that seemed to threaten his dissolution. With a mixture of horror, disgust, and fear, the sisters stood speechlessly gazing on him.

But the next moment, compassion overcoming every other feeling, they endeavored to soothe and restore him, with as much zeal and tenderness as though he had possessed the strongest claims on their love. "Drink—drink," he murmured, pointing to a cup by the bedside: and as he received it from Katharine's hand, and drained its contents, he looked with kindness and admiration on the gentle girl who bent over him like a ministering angel. "You are a good child," he said; "a very good child; and I am sorry for you; but I cannot help it. My resolution is taken, and is acted on. I made a will last night to that effect and he has taken it with him. Or else—I do not know—perhaps I might—but no matter. Ho! ho! ho!—He would have liked to have been my heir himself if you should fail. He must have thought me a fool. No, no; if not to you, it shall all go to my cousin's son. What is Sir Richard Waring to me, that I should leave him any thing! No, no; I was too sharp for him there: ho! ho!" Katharine, who had been listening breathlessly to these last words, could keep silence no longer. "Sir Thomas—grandfather," she cried, eagerly: "tell me one thing, and tell me candidly.—That Sir Richard Waring has been here, I know; but tell me, have you, at his suggestion, made a will, bequeathing me your property, provided that—that my mother's marriage can be proved?" "And what if I have, child?" cried the old man, surprised at her eagerness. "But have you—have you?" she exclaimed, eagerly. "I have, then: I did so last night." "Then Heaven be praised! for all is now clear," she cried, clasping her hands with fervor.—"What do you mean, child? What is clear?" the sick man exclaimed, endeavoring again to raise himself. "All!—every thing! Sir Thomas, we are all the victims of a most wily villain. I will not now speak of my mother. It does not need. Sir Richard's own acts will plead her cause far better. He shall be my witness against himself!" "But how, child—how?" "He left here carrying that will with him?" "Yes—yes." "He then returned straight home. And what think you was his first act towards me? Me—whom he then knew to be the heiress of your wealth, upon that one condition—but not otherwise—remember, he knew that otherwise I should possess nothing." "Well, well—what did he, child?" cried the old man, straining eagerly forward. "He demanded my hand! He—for himself—Sir Richard Waring did!" "Impossible!" "Nay, so determined was he that he left me not a choice. He swore that I should be his wife on the morrow. And when I fled for assistance to my only—that is, almost my only friend, the kind old Father Lawrence—Sir Richard had him seized upon some charge of heresy, made for the occasion; he had him carried a prisoner from the house—and then, when I was left without one single friend, or adviser, or protector near me, he brought a newly drawn out marriage contract, and bade me sign it. I flung it in the fire! and it was from my bed chamber where he then imprisoned me, that I escaped to fly to you. Now, sir, judge—judge if Sir Richard Waring does ther's marriage if he cannot prove my mo- in his hands the a[illegible] He can, for my father left he fled from England"—evidence of it, when

She could add no more; for the appearance of the dying man had now grown so fearful as to absorb all her attention. He sat upright, his eyeballs starting from his head, his throat quickly gasping for its scanty breath, and his hands clenched with a firmness that almost drove the nails through the parched and cracking skin. Katharine knelt terrified by his side. "Sir—grandfather—dear grandfather—forgive me—I did wrong to tell you this—you are too weak to bear it. Grandfather! speak to me—look at me." "Curse him!" shrieked the old man. Then, clasping his hands together, and looking upward, he added, "May every curse of heaven and hell blast ——." "Hush, hush!" cried Katharine, in agony throwing herself upon the bed and stopping his lips.—"Oh, do not curse!" "We are not yet too late," he cried, looking wildly round. "Bridget! Bridget!" and the obedient housekeeper entered with a promptitude that might have made her suspected of having waited at no greater distance than the keyhole—"Paper—a pen! Quick! quick!" The writing materials were placed upon the bed, and he eagerly seized the pen; but his hand shook as if palsied, and he strove in vain to guide it; loose wandering scratches alone traced its course. "I cannot write," he cried, flinging the pen, with a passionate exclamation, on the bed. "Take it, child: you write what I bid you, and I will sign it. But be quick, for my sight is going. I think I am dying—quick, I say." "Oh, sir, think not of such trifles, then! We ask for nothing. Pray—pray, dear grandfather, and we will pray with you!" "Write, I say!" he screamed, beating the bed with his skinny hands—"write! I can pray afterwards."—Katharine tremblingly took the pen, and, fearing the effect of further opposition, mechanically obeyed. "To Katherine, daughter of Sir Edward Waring, and of Katharine, my only child ——" "And to Rose, her sister," whispered the generous girl. "No!" cried the old man impatiously; "to Katharine only. It shall not be lessened by division. To her I bequeath all my monies, goods, and chattels, of every description, for her sole use and benefit. And I hereby revoke all other wills before made by me. "Now, the date," he added, "and now, give me the paper and the pen." He took them mechanically in his hands, but his senses seemed wandering, his arms remained extended, and his eye fixed. "How dark it is," he murmured, and the pen and the paper dropped from his powerless grasp. His lips grew white—a convulsive shudder shook his frame, and, with one deep sigh, he slowly sunk back upon his bed. Bridget screamed for assistance, and the sisters buried their faces, and shrank instinctively from what they felt to be death. But it was past—nothing more remained—they had seen all. The lips were white and still, and the eyes half closed; the purposed prayer was unsaid; the important paper lay unsigned. The lips that dictated it were mute forever, though the ink itself was not yet dry!

LATEST FROM THE PACIFIC.

PANAMA, 16th May, 1841. The revolution of New Granada will soon be at an end, as all the provinces have declared themselves against the Central Government, and are demanding reforms and federations. Several bloody battles have been fought in the valley of Cauca, where the federal forces have been victorious under General Obando.

The two provinces of Panama and Veragua, seeing the destruction of the republic, have declared their independence, and formed a sovereign State, under the name of Estado del Istmo, and will very probably remain so.

The Convention now sitting is framing a Constitution, and has already made several very liberal laws, giving facilities to commerce, free transit of all goods, foreign correspondence, &c. &c.—and immigration will certainly not be forgotten.

The hopes of seeing something done towards the great work of communication between the two seas, have vanished.

A law is now debating, empowering the Executive of the new Government to give and grant to any respectable Company a new privilege, with every encouragement, and on the most liberal terms that can be wished, provided, that proper guaranties shall be given to fulfil the engagement.

The great advantages of a ship Canal, or even a boat canal across the Isthmus, are too well known to require demonstration; and it is to be hoped that some enterprising men will come forward and avail themselves of this new chance of fortune and fame.

The steam packets of Chili are likely to do well. They had stopped running for a short time on account of the bad quality of the coals sent out. We have regular sailing packets to Lima, Paita and Guayaquil, and hope soon to see the steamers down this way.

The American schooner Julian, from New York, arrived here, and took in the owner, Mr. Jones, and passengers, and proceeded on her voyage to California.

May 15.—A vessel just arrived from Guayaquil, brings the intelligence that Vivanco's advance guard near Arequipa had been defeated by Gen. Gamarra's troops.—Journal of Commerce.

SUICIDE AT NEW BRIGHTON.—On Sunday last a stranger of respectable appearance arrived at New Brighton in the steamboat from New York, and repaired to the New Brighton House, where he gave his name as James Stevenson, and took dinner. About 12 o'clock on Monday he was found lying in a field near the house, with his throat cut from ear to ear—the wound having evidently been inflicted with a razor which he still held in his hand when found. He lived nearly three hours after being found. It is said that on Sunday he offered a man $20 and his watch to shoot him. On his person were found a watch and about $50 in money. He wore grey pantaloons and a claret colored vest.

A ROGUE ARRESTED.—The New York Courier states that a man has been arrested at Buffalo, on whom was found several forged certificates of deposite, purporting to have been issued by banks in Ohio. One was for $640, and another for $700, on the bank of Dayton, and made payable to various persons.

The prisoner is known by the name of Bellamy, Atkins, and Foster, and has kept a disreputable place near the canal.

On the 21 inst. there were 824 prisoners in Sing-Sing.

100 DOLLARS REWARD.

DR. STORM'S SPECIFIC COMPOUND,
For the cure of Gonorrhœa, Gleets, Strictures, Diabets or difficulty in making water, and all other unnatural discharges from the urethra of either sex.

In no case has this medicine been known to fail, to effect a permanent cure, and too, in the shortest possible time. Should this medicine fail to effect a cure where it has been taken according to directions, return the empty vial and get back the money. Why then spend both time and money with such quack nostrums as cannot be depended upon; when, for $1, you can purchase a pleasant, sure, and speedy cure, composed solely of vegetable substance? One hundred dollars will be paid to any one who will produce a medicine to equal this compound, or who will prove that it contains any mineral substance whatever.

N. B. This Medicine can be had of JAMES P. WILLIAMSON, corner of High and Green street, (O. T.) of T. J. PITT, Market Space, Fell's Point, and by J. W. W. GORDON, cor. of Pratt & Howard-sts. Also of L. S. THOMAS, corner of Bruen and Forest streets—with full directions accompanying each bottle at $1 per bottle.

TO THE PUBLIC.—The price of HATS again lowered. TOWSON is now selling in Eutaw street, one door north of Lexington street, his superior Hats at the following low prices—fine short Nap Mole Skin Hats at $2.50, fine Brush Hats $2.50; Fur Hats from $1.50 upwards. It may be asked how such Hats can be sold (if as represented) at such very low prices; I answer in the first place, I manufacture very extensively, and am able to purchase materials by the quantity much lower than if I bought by the small; and secondly, I sell for cash, and do not have to charge those who pay a high price, to make up for those who do not pay, as the natural result of the credit system. I think my Hats the best as now offered ever sold in this market for the price. Persons will please call and look at my hats before purchasing elsewhere. Remember TOWSON, one door from Lexington street.

FRIDAY MORNING, JUNE 25, 1841.

THE FISCAL AGENT. Doubts are entertained whether the president will sign the bill reported by Mr. Clay, to establish a Bank of the United States, should it pass both houses of congress. It is supposed that the president has constitutional scruples as to the right of congress to establish branches in the states without their previous consent. Our own impression is, that, should the bill be passed by congress, it will not be vetoed. We think that if any question can be considered as definitively settled, it is that of the constitutionality of a National Bank. It has been judicially decided, and the decision has been acquiesced in by congress and people—and it is too late to revive the discussion. If the constitutionality of a bank be still a matter for dispute, when can a question be considered as finally determined? Where doubts exist, there is a tribunal expressly provided by the constitution to take cognisance of the question; and, from the decisions of this tribunal there is no appeal. The Supreme Court has pronounced in favor of the constitutional power of congress to create a national bank with branches, and this decision is the law of the land. Now, if the question can be again raised, it will have to be referred to the same tribunal, where the same decision will be given—and thus the dispute may be forever kept alive. The president may, it is true, veto the bill upon any ground he may think proper; but we doubt whether he will do it upon constitutional grounds.

We are disposed to believe, that the president will interpose no obstacle to the passage of a bank bill, should the senate and house of representatives deem such an institution necessary to the interests of the country.

CANDID. The election for President and Vice President of Texas, is approaching. For the first office, General Samuel Houston and David G. Burnett, Esq. are the candidates. On the subject of the election, the Galvestonian, a weekly newspaper, makes the following candid declaration, which we commend to the consideration of those editors in the United States who act upon the same principle, without having the candor to make the avowal. "We will use the privilege of a citizen and vote as we please, while we will support that man for office who pays for the use of our columns. We have no idea of letting our patriotism ruin us and our business. We have neither time, money, stock nor labor to throw away for any one, and we do not intend to be guilty of such folly if we can help it."

BANK OF THE UNITED STATES. The Penn. Inquirer says: "The present officers of this Institution give formal notice that an application will be made to the next legislature, for certain amendments and alterations in their charter, by changing the name and style of the corporation and body politic, and of the location thereof, and by reducing the amount of its capital, and for such other alterations and amendments, as may be deemed advisable, all of which will be set forth in their memorial. That the name and style of the said corporation shall be "the State Bank of Pennsylvania," to be located in the city of Philadelphia, and that its capital shall be reduced to a sum not exceeding fourteen millions of dollars."

A NEW MEDICAL THEORY. A Mr. Cronin of London, has lately published a work on the "Diseases of the Nervous System," in which he takes a view of consumption, different from the generality of medical practitioners. He contends that it arises from a diseased heart, and treats the primary state as disease of this important organ, which, he says, in almost every instance, will be found seriously affected, and the cause of that languor and lassitude that invariably precedes confirmed phthisis. He also says that out of every hundred cases of sudden death, from ninety-six to ninety-eight arise from diseased heart.—His views on the diseases of the heart are attracting great attention among the medical practitioners in Great Britain.

THE STORM. On Wednesday evening, during the thunder storm, the dwelling of H. Boggs, Esq., corner of Hanover and Conway streets, was struck by lightning; being provided with a conductor, the property escaped that injury which might otherwise have resulted. The inmates, though considerably stunned, received no serious injury.

We learn that a tree, about three miles out on the Hookstown road, under which were a cow and calf, was likewise struck by the fluid, shattered to atoms, and the two animals instantly killed.

SPARE US. We ask political editors to spare us and the people the trouble of reading their essays in this hot weather. It is too bad to endeavor to excite the blood with the thermometer at blood-heat, and we therefore hope that politicians will unbuckle their armour and lay aside their weapons, and let the people breathe freely thro' July and August. The political school like other schools should have its vacation months; and from the 1st of July to the first of September will not be too long a holiday.

The Boston Journal suggests that "the brig Malek Adhel be purchased by the General Government and kept on the Chesapeake bay, for the use of Apprentices in the Navy." The notion, although a yankee one, is not so bad. Perhaps the hint may be improved upon.

EXCUSES FOR MISCONDUCT. There is scarcely an individual who has been guilty of an immoral or criminal action, that is not ready with an excuse for its commission. One urges distress of mind, another offers the plea of necessity, in extenuation of the offence. How often does the intemperate man state, as an apology for his vicious course, that he was originally induced to resort to intoxication to bury his cares in oblivion. Perhaps he has encountered difficulties in his business, or been ruined by the frauds or injustice of pretended friends. He has not the moral courage to sustain himself under the trial, but abandons himself to despair—and then, as if one evil were not sufficient, he resorts to another and a greater, that of intemperance—and he thinks to quiet his own conscience, and avert the censures of the world, by endeavoring to excuse his criminality on the plea of misfortune. It is a poor and contemptible apology. If there be any period in the life of man when fortitude is more emphatically necessary than at another, it is when the mind is laboring under temporary depression.—Religion, morality, duty, call for the exertion of all our energies at such a time—and it is rank cowardice to shrink from the responsibility of our station; and to bury our woes, our hopes and our happiness, together with the welfare of those dependant upon upon us, in the intoxicating bowl. If a man will bear up against adversity for a time, there is an elasticity in the mind, a recuperative power in human nature, that will restore him to his wonted composure, and present the coming prospect in brightened colors. How shameful, then, to prostrate these powers by intemperance. But, it is too often the case, that such men, only use misfortune as a pretext.—They are glad of any plea for their humiliation; and the death of a relation, or the want of success in an undertaking, sends them where their inclination leads them, to intemperance.

There is another class of people, who are offenders in a different way, but are also ready at all times with apologies for their crimes. We allude to those who urge the plea of necessity.—With them the maxim is a favorite, that "there is no law for necessity;" but they unfortunately construe the word necessity to mean whatever may suit their own purposes. For instance—a bank officer may have indulged in extravagance and speculation, until he has become so far embarrassed as to be conscious that he must fail.—He thinks that it is absolutely necessary to keep up his credit that he may retain his situation. But how is this to be done? He has a pressing necessity for means, and he resolves to borrow them privately of the bank. Does he steal them? he would blow out the brains of any man who would dare make the accusation. Oh! no—he only borrows the property of the people without their consent, because his necessities require that he should use it. Well, the same necessity continues to exist, and the demands under it increase. At last there comes exposure, and the plea of necessity is gravely urged in bar of judgment. In this manner forgery and other crimes are sometimes attempted to be extenuated; and the good-natured world often admits the excuse, with the reflection that the offender meant no harm, and would certainly have acted uprightly as soon as he ceased to be pressed by necessity.

If the drunkard and the swindler were both made to feel that their pleas of justification were inadmissible, and that there would be no commiseration for their condition, it is possible that they would relinquish the reliance which appears to afford them consolation—and that they would both encounter misfortunes with more fortitude and resignation. It is, at least, the duty and interest of society, not to permit either to shelter himself from condemnation, under the pretext of drowning sorrow, or of acting under the impulse of necessity.

ANOTHER "MYSTERY." The Rochester Democrat is informed, by passengers from Buffalo on the canal, that as the packet boat passed Field's tavern, about midway on the Tonawanda creek, a large collection of people was observed, who had come from all directions to listen to a singular phenomenon at that place. Every day between the hours of 4 and 7 P. M. is distinctly heard in the canal, (or creek, which is here used for the canal,) groans, as of a person in deep distress.—A physician of Lockport was one of a party who had chartered the boat and paid a visit to the spot. He assured the Democrat's informant that the sounds were there, and the cause remained a mystery. Conjectures were as various as the intelligence or superstition of those who witnessed it would naturally suggest.

IMPORTANT FROM PERU. We learn by a private letter, says the Pennsylvania Inquirer, received from Lima, that about the first of April, an important battle was fought between the Government forces and the Revolutionary party.—The action took place near Arequippa, and at first the latter party, under the supreme command of Vivanco, was victorious, but the government troops under Gamarra finally triumphed, and Vivanco may be considered down, perhaps never to rise again to power.

We also learn that D. Juan Garcia del Rio, minister from Ecuador, has been refused a landing by the government of Peru.

FROM FLORIDA. By the steamer Cincinnati, Captain Smith, the editors of the Savannah Georgian, have received the following information:

"Col. Worth arrived at Fort King on the 7th, made a dash with about 200 mounted men at Hullock Tustenuggee's camp—found it in the Panesuffkee Hammock, houses all standing, Indians gone. The Colonel arrived at Pilatka on the 15th inst. on his way to St. Augustine, accompanied by Medical director, Dr. Harney, Major Capers, Disbursing Indian Agent, Captain Wright, acting Assistant Adjutant General, and Captain Myers, A. Q. M.

WASHINGTON, June 24, 1841.

In the Senate this morning, after the reception of sundry memorials on various subjects, the bill providing for the establishment of a Fiscal Agent, as recently reported from the select committee, was taken up for consideration.

Mr. Clay, as the Chairman of that committee, took the floor, as in duty bound, for the purpose of explaining the objects of the bill, and the reasons which had actuated the committee in making the various amendments to the plan of the Secretary.

Mr. Calhoun said he should like to say a few words in reply, but would ask the Senate to give him a little time for preparation. This request was complied with, and the bill informally passed over until to-morrew.

The bill from the House making an appropriation for the relief of the widow of the late President Harrison, was then taken up.

Messrs. Benton, Calhoun and Southard opposed it with much warmth. They contended there was no precedent.

They were told in reply that there were numerous precedents, for instance, where officers of Congress had died and their widows had been allowed a handsome sum. Also, in the case of the widows of officers receiving half pay.

When this was closed, a motion was pending to recommit the bill with instruction to the committee to report the reasons on which the appropriation was denied.

In the House of Representatives the states were called in their order for petitions, when Mr. Adams presented a great number of abolition papers, which were, as a matter of course, laid under the table.

Mr. Fillmore, from the Committee on Ways and Means, on leave, reported a bill authorizing a loan of $12,000,000, redeemable in ten years, at the rate of 5 per cent. interest.

The bill was read twice, and committed to a Committee of the Whole.

Mr. W. C. Johnson, from the Committee on Public Lands, reported a bill for dividing the proceeds of the sales from public lands among the states, and providing for pre-emption rights. It was read twice and referred.

A resolution offered by Mr. Cushing yesterday, calling for information respecting the expense of Coast Surveys, was taken up, and after some debate agreed to.

A resolution was then taken up, calling upon the President to state whether any military officer of the U. S. was sent to interfere in the trial of McLeod.

Mr. Floyd the mover gave his reasons for offering the resolution, and insinuated in pretty strong terms that a high Military Officer had been sent for the purpose named.

Mr. Ingersoll followed in a two hours' speech in which he attempted to criticise the letter of Mr. Webster to Mr. Fox. He contended that this letter had brought a stain upon the country, which could only be washed out by oceans of blood.

Mr. Cushing commenced a very animated reply, but the hour of 3 P. M. having arrived without taking the question on the resolution, the House adjourned.

Mr. Cushing will resume his remarks in the morning.

ANOTHER MURDER AT ALBANY.—The coroner of Albany on Monday held an examination at Penfield, upon the person of Mary Sisson, who was lying in the agonies of death from the effects of poison, administered by one John Anthony. It appears from the statement of the woman, that she left Syracuse in company with Anthony, and walked to Penfield, when Anthony gave her half an orange, and saying he would never see her again, left her and took to the woods. After eating the orange she was taken with vomiting, and at the time of holding the inquest was about dying. Anthony is still at large.

HORRIBLE. A merchant in Cincinnati received into his store in a thickly populated part of the city 200 casks of powder for storage during the night. A large meeting of respectable citizens was convened in the adjoining house. Some time late at night a clerk who had not been made aware of what was placed in the store, came in, lighted a candle and walked through among the kegs, two of which had been broken open, and the powder was on the floor. Before his fellow clerk could open his lips to caution him, he exclaimed, "what the d—l is this doing here."—Fortunately, however, he passed through safely.

VITATIVENESS. The woman shot through the head by her husband, in Albany, a few weeks since, on board a canal boat, is so far recovered that she has returned to her friends. She will probably recover entirely, and thus save her husband's neck, though he will be punished for the attempt to kill.

KILLED. The St. Louis Gazette of the 14th states that "A Mr. Bettester who has been living near the pond was beaten so badly by three men that he died last night. The men had stolen his skiff and conveyed it to the other side of the pond, he went there for it—a fight ensued and the consequence as above stated.

ANOTHER BOAT LOST. The Oregon struck a snag near Genevieve, a short time since, and sunk immediately. She had a valuable cargo, including 350 hhds. tobacco. It is supposed that the boat and cargo will prove a total loss.

THE RIVER. The Mississippi river at Natchez is rapidly falling, and is now quite low. A good deal of sickness prevails in the swamps and lowlands.

The Presbyterians and Catholics have church buildings in progress at Galveston, on commodious and neat plans, and the Methodists have raised a sufficient fund for the purpose, and will commence their building immediately.

In the same place there are now between 150 and 200 children at school.

The San Augustin Herald says—"We have directed our inquiries to many intelligent persons on the subject of the present cotton crops in the eastern section of this country, and from the lowest estimate we can make from the result of our information, there will not be less than 30,000 bales produced by the counties of the east, without including Harrison or any of the Red River counties."

As a "sign of the times" the Houstonian notices five large wagons in that city on the 9th, loaded with cotton, about ten bales each, being a part of the crop raised last year on the plantation of David Randon, Esq. on the Brazos. Each wagon was drawn by a team of ten or twelve oxen.

A new paper called the Croaker has been started at Galveston, edited by a committee of fishermen, styling themselves the "Centre of Gravity Club." They seem to do business on their own hook, and judging from their lines, it is quite a small-fry concern.

A NEW IDEA. The widows in Baltimore have started a new plan for obtaining husbands—they sue some innocent and modest bachelor for breach of promise, in order to have it known that they are candidates for matrimony. It costs a little money, but what is filthy lucre compared to connubial bliss?—St. Louis Bulletin.

You are entirely misinformed. Our widows here are peculiarly fascinating. They can get married almost at a word—have beaux in abundance and to spare. No more of that slander Mr. Bulletin, if you please.

ACCIDENT. A Mr. Harrison W. Latham, mason, two tenders and an apprentice, were seriously injured by falling from a scaffold when working at a house in Boston, on the 22d inst.

REV. GEORGE SCOTT. We are informed that this distinguished missionary is about to visit this city. Our citizens may therefore expect to be favored with several addresses from him.

☞The Pensacola Gazette commenting upon the late supposed piracies of the Gulf, advances the opinion that the schooner Three Friends, of St. Joseph, suffered from the hands of pirates.

The Steamship "Great Western" was spoken when out 24 hours, in lat. 40, lon. 70.

NEWS ABOUT TOWN.

SPECIAL ATTORNEYS. We refer to this subject again merely to fulfil the promise made to our readers that we would, when we had been made acquainted with the result of the inquiry set on foot, in reference to the legality of the proceedings we had censured, publish that result for their benefit. We learn from a source entitled to full credit, that, by a legislative act of 1831, chap. 268, it is considered a contempt of office for individuals to interfere in any case, not their own, in the light of an attorney; and they are liable to be imprisoned for said contempt, or to be presented to the court without the formality of law. In a man's own case alone has he the right to appear as attorney. It would be well for magistrates, constables, and other individuals concerned, to take notice of the law referred to.

A SERENADE. Some love-sick youth, we presume, engaged an honest son of Erin to serenade the other night in the neighborhood of the Post-office. The way he sang "Oh steer my bark to Erin's Isle," was a touch above any thing conceivable. Neber before did we so fully realize the truth of the couplet, that

"Music hath sounds to soothe the savage breast,
To split a rock and burst a hornets nest."

We approached with listening ear, but soon the last sound of the voice and note of the guitar died upon the calm zephyrs, and Paddy took to his heels like all thunder.

INDEPENDENT BLUES' EXCURSION. The Independent Blues with their splendid band will leave Light street wharf this afternoon at four o'clock, in the steamer Columbus, Captain Parrish, on a pleasure excursion down the Bay. Every preparation, we learn, has been made to render the trip agreeable and pleasant. Those who wish to enjoy fine fun, dancing, &c. should not permit the opportunity to pass. For the accommodation of citizens on the Point, the boat will stop at Kerr's wharf and receive passengers.

APPRENTICES' LIBRARY. This philanthropic work is going forward gloriously. Since our last notice several hundred volumes have been added to the previous respectable number of excellent works found on its shelves. This institution, we predict, is destined to become a powerful instrument in brightening the intellectual and moral path of the rising generation. Now is a suitable time for action. Let no stone be left unturned.

REAL ESTATE. Twenty-five acres of land, situated on the Harford road, five miles from the city, with small improvements, were so'd at public auction by John I. Gross, at $71 per acre. Also, twenty-five acres, without improvements, at $40 per acre.

THE MUSEUM. [illegible]gnt Mr. Winchell, an astonishing personage in his line, takes a benefit at the Museum. We doubt not but the house will be crowded. He delineates characters, and sings songs to perfection.

NOTICE.

☞Received this day, at the N. York Fancy SHOE STORE, No. 120 Baltimore street, a large invoice of Ladies' TIES, which will be sold at the exceedingly low price of 75 cents—and also a large assortment of Ladies' Silk and Linen BOOTS and Slider TIES—all of which are offered at very moderate prices. Ladies would do well to call and examine before making their purchases. je25-1t

BALTIMORE LYCEUM.

☞The exercises at this Institution THIS EVENING, 25th instant, will consist of a Recitation by Mr. SAMUEL WEBB, and a continuation of the debate upon the query: "Is a Representative bound by the instructions of his constituents."

Persons, not regular members of some one of the Literary Associations of Baltimore, can procure tickets of admission at the Bookstores of Messrs. F. Washington Temperance Society of Baltimore.

☞The formation of the above Society is a remarkable epoch in the annals of the American world—it was formed on the right PLAN, and will endure with duration, for GOD always blesses the right means.

Who had the courage to lay violent hands on the Tyrant of Three Hundred Years? I will tell you, my good hearers, it was "The Washington Temperance Society of Baltimore." A friendly society of reformed men, that was aroused at last by the united cries of suffering thousands of their fellow creatures, and unborn millions will yet bless the Washington for the peace, comfort, and happiness it has and will carry into the bosom of countless wretched families.

God speed thy blessed sheppards on,

DAVIES'
FAMILY ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS.

THESE VALUABLE PILLS are very gentle in their operations, causing neither pain nor griping, nor any nauseous sickness. They exceedingly comfort and strengthen the stomach and bowels, and clear the sight, senses, hearing, and memory, of aged persons, by carrying off phlegms, watery matter, putrid, gross, and thick humours from the Stomach, Bowels, and Blood which makes them so celebrated for removing Coughs, Rheumatism, Pains from the Body and Limbs, Gravel, Piles, Sick Stomach, Disordered Bowels, and Worms.

Mrs. C. Burton, near Locust street, was diseased for seven years with a lump in the left side, bumps all over her skin, pains around the small of her back running into the stomach, which prevented her (to use her own words,) from eating one particle of meat; the first dose removed the lump, and two boxes set her at liberty.

Sold by G. Savage, General Agent for Washington; J. Thomas, and Mrs. Banks Georgetown; W. G. Cole, Hatter, and J. Brunner, Frederick; S. Church, Alexandria; J. Demuth, York; J. Turpin, No. 34 Fayette-st.; and by T. MOORE, No. 74 Market street, General Agent for Baltimore. Price 25 cents per box, five for $1, or $2 per dozen. je23

FAIR HAVEN. This elegant establishment will be open for the reception of visiters on and after Monday next, the 21st June. The proprietor having made considerable additions and improvements to the establisment, and having provided the same with everything necessary for the comfort and convenience of visiters, feels the utmost confidence in recommending it as a very desirable summer retreat. Fair Haven is situated on the Western Shore of the Chesapeake Bay, about 20 miles below the city of Annapolis; is remarkable healthy—the scenery beautiful and pleasant. (Strangers have said that the scenery alone was a sufficient inducement to visit the place.) The proprietor, ever anxious to accommodate the public, has determined to make such a reduction from his former rates, as will correspond with the present pressure of the times.

The Steamboat Patuxent will leave Baltimore every TUESDAY MORNING, at 6 o'clock, for Fair Haven, and return from thence in the evening. She will also leave Baltimore every THURSDAY MORNING, at 6 o'clock, and will land passengers at Fair Haven on her route to the Patuxent; and will return thence on SUNDAY, touching at Fair Haven. Persons availing themselves of the conveyance to visit Fair Haven only, will not be subject to any charge returning.

TO THE LADIES.
BARGAINS! BARGAINS!!

MRS. M. A. LANGFORD being determined to close her present stock of Goods without any regard to cost or profit, would most respectfully call the attention of the ladies and the public generally to the following articles in her line of business, which she will sell at prices so that no lady need leave the store without purchasing: Florence BRAID, Peadin BRAID, GIMP, LAWN and SILK BONNETS, great bargains; SILKS; BOMBAZINES; MOUSLIN DE LAINES and SCARFS of all descriptions, long and short. A large assortment of French worked CAPES and COLLARS will be sold for half cost. A particular description of all the articles in her line of business would be superfluous, as any ladies disposed to purchase will no doubt call and see for themselves, as she is disposed to sell any and every article without regard to cost or profit.

CITY COLLECTOR'S OFFICE, June 8th, 1841.

THE CITY COLLECTOR earnestly requests all persons who design to settle their respective accounts during the month, to do so as speedily as possible.

The public will see the necessity of complying with this request when they are informed that nearly all the receipts in this office, are in rail-road orders, the counting of which requires much time and may tend to prevent many who postpone the payment of their taxes to the last few days of the month from availing themselves of the benefit of the law.

All bills paid on or before the first day of July shall be entitled to a discount of 5 per cent.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT.

In this court yesterday, a suit was brought by the United States against James Corner and James I. Corner, as former owners of the brig Eliza Davideon, for the recovery of the penalty attached to the bond given for the return of the registry of said vessel. The vessel, it appears, sailed from this port something like three years since, and has never returned, having been sold during her absence; and having been charged, since the sale, with being engaged in the slave trade. The allegation on the part of the United States, if we err not, was that the registry had been sold with the vessel; and it was to recover the amount of the bond usually given in such cases that this suit was brought. No evidence, however, was produced to sustain the case, and a verdict was rendered at once for the defendants.

In the case of the Helen McLeod, the crew of which vessel, our readers will remember, were tried for mutiny, acquitted, and subsequently libelled the vessel for the wages due them, his honor, judge Heath, delivered the opinion of the court yesterday, that they were entitled to recover their wages.

BALTIMORE CITY COURT.

Present—Judges Brice, Nisbet and Worthington.

THURSDAY, June 24. In the case of Robert Gifford, sentenced yesterday to a fine of ten dollars and thirty days imprisonment, for being concerned in an assault on Wm. F. Smith, firing a pistol, &c., evidence of the highest respectability was to-day laid before the court to shew his good character heretofore; that his association with bad company at the time of the fracas alluded to, was accidental, and that the awkward position in which that association had placed him would, most likely, be the means of making him more circumspect in future. Upon this testimony the court remitted the imprisonment, upon condition of the payment of the fine and costs.

State vs. Alexander Ager, charged with assaulting James Bosley on Tuesday, with an umbrella. Found guilty and fined ten dollars and costs.

State vs. Andrew Freiberger. The prisoner in this case stands indicted for manslaughter, in knocking down Francis Walker, who received in the fall a wound on the head, from the effects of which he died. Nearly all the morning was consumed in the effort to obtain a jury, which was only successful after the regular panel was exhausted, and a number of additional talesmen summoned—there being seventeen, we believe, peremptorily challenged; and nearly two-thirds of that number challenged for cause. A jury was at last empannelled, and the witnesses on the part of the State examined. After the close of the testimony on the part of the State, the court adjourned until to-morrow morning at ten o'clock.

PLAGUE IN EGYPT. The plague continued varying at the rate of from 10 to 26 cases per day, and from 5 to 15 deaths. It is now spreading to the Europeans. In the month of April 174 persons were attacked and brought to the hospital, and 220 others died before medical aid could be administered. The Pacha had put his fleet into quarantine, and was prepared to enforce similar regulations with all his other public establishments. Two of the officers of the gun sloops sent by the Pope to bring the alabaster pillars for his new church are ill of the plague at Rosetta, and their physician has already died of it.—Col. Bridgeman has died of inflamation, after an attack of hemorrhoids, while on duty in the mountains of Syria, and was buried at Beyrout on the 26th ult. Col. Ross had succeeded to the command.

MORE FANATICS.—The Buffalo Commercial states that "a train of wagons filled with Mormons, or some similarly infatuated creatures, passed our office this morning on their way to Nauvoo, or some other newly discovered paradise. They did not take shipping, but intend to travel the whole distance, some 800 miles, in their vehicles."

SHIPWRECK AND LOSS OF LIFE.—The New York Commercial of Thursday says:—"Capt. Whitney, of the Br. ship Symmatery, arrived this morning, reports that on the 16th inst. when in lat, 42 37, long. 53 21, he boarded the wreck of the Br. schooner Belvidere, lumber loaded, all her spars carried away, full of water, and some dead bodies were in the cabin.

DEAD BODIES FOUND.—A letter from Iberville, La. under date of the 7th says:—"Some accident must have happened upon the river above, for since Saturday last, six or eight dead bodies have been seen floating in this vicinity, some of which where picked up and buried. They were dressed like steamboat hands."

LARGE SUBSCRIPTIONS. At a meeting of members of the Church of England, held in London on the 6th of April for the purpose of establishing and perpetuating a fund for the promotion of religion in the British colonies, the subscriptions amounted to the large sum of one hundred and forty thousand dollars. Of this, the Queen Dowager contributed $10,000, and the weight of the subscription was borne by bishops and noblemen.

DROWNED.—A young man named W. P. Freeman, of Glenn's Falls, N. Y., who arrived at New Bedford on Friday last for the purpose of going on a whaling voyage, was drowned, (accidentally it is supposed) in that harbor on Saturday last.

The Buffalo Commercial says:—"Adj't E. D. Townsend, of the 2d Regiment of Artillery, was held to bail for violently flogging a lad, a musician, attached to the band. The Recorder also held the Adjutant in a heavy sum, to answer a civil suit of $3,000 damages for the assault."

☞The Vicksburg Whig says:—"Charles Humbert, of the firm of Vogh & Humbert, proprietors of the Union Hotel in this city, committed suicide by shooting himself through the head with a pistol on the 11th. We have not heard any cause assigned for the rash act."

☞Lucie, who was wounded in the affray with Gen. Smith's party, died at the Balize on Sunday morning, where he was buried.

The Albany papers announce the death of Samuel S. Lush, a distinguished member of the bar of that city.

Tin ore has been discovered in the town of Jackson, Coos county, N. H.

MEDICAL AID.

THE SUCCESS that has attended the treatment of many thousand cases of Venereal Complaints for twenty-five years past, induces the subscriber to inform the public that he may be seen daily, and consulted on all cases of the kind, recent and chronic, and on diseases of the urinary organs generally—such as Gonorrhœa, Gravel, Gleets, Stictures, &c. His treatment is speedy, safe, and certain—the medicines are so mild that the most delicate may take them without restrictions in diet or occupation. Many persons, who have tried all the lauded quack nostrums of the day, are frequently calling on the subscriber to have the injuries they have sustained by their use relieved. In recent cases a thorough cure will be guaranteed for three dollars. Gonorrhœa Medicines will be furnished at one and two dollars a bottle, according to size, a large one generally cures in a few days. PILLS may be had at a dollar per box. The Vegetable Anti-mercurial CORDIAL is one dollar and fifty cents per bottle—this Medicine is the greatest purifier of the blood in the world. It renews and regenerates old and shattered constitutions, and, it may be said, is literally working wonders. Apply at

CASH FOR NEGROES.

THE subscriber being permanently located in this city, is at all times wanting to purchase likely young negroes of both sexes, for which cash and the most liberal prices will be paid. Persons having such to dispose of will find it to their interest to call on me before they sell, as they may rest assured, by doing so they shall obtain their VALUE for them. The subscriber's establishment is located on Bartlard Avenue, in one of the highest and most healthy parts of the city, having a free circulation of air, and a yard for exercise through the day—must necessarily be more healthy than in the centre of the city, especially in hot weather. Servants will be received for safe keeping, and every attention paid to their comfort and cleanliness, at the low rate of 25 cents per day. Application to be made to me at my office in Calvert-st. Near Market. st., one door below Mr. Bloomer's hat store, or at my residence, or to my brother at Whitman's Eagle Hotel, Pratt st., immediately opposite the Baltimore and Ohio Rail road Depot. JAMES F. PURVIS.

CASH FOR NEGROES.

THE HIGHEST PRICES will at all times be given for NEGROES of both sexes, that are slaves for life, and good titles. My office is in PRATT STREET, No. 85, between Sharp and Howard streets, where myself or my Agent, (Mr. J. M. WILSON,) can be seen at all times. All persons, having Negroes to sell, would do well to see me before they dispose of them, as I am always buying and forwarding to the New Orleans market. I will also receive and keep Negroes at twenty-five cents each, per day, and forward them to any Southern port, at the request of the owner. My establishment is large, comfortable and airy, and all above ground; and kept in complete order, with a large yard for exercise; and is the strongest and most splendid building of the kind in the United States. And as the character of my house and yard is so completely established, for strength, comfort and cleanliness, and it being a place where I keep all my own, I will not be accountable, for the future, for any escapes of any kind from my establishment.

MOFFAT'S LIFE PILLS
AND VEGETABLE BITTERS.

THE perfectly safe, unerring and successful treatment of almost every species of disease by the use of MOFFAT'S LIFE MEDICINES, is no longer a matter of doubt, as a reference to the experience of many thousand patients will satisfactorily prove. During the present month alone, nearly one hundred cases have come to the knowledge of Mr. Moffat, where the patient has, to all appearance, effected a permanent cure by the exclusive and judicious use of the Life Medicines—some eight or ten of these had been considered beyond all hope by their medical attendants.—Such happy results are a source of great pleasure to Mr. M. and inspire him with new confidence to recommend the use of his medicines to his fellow-citizens.

The Life Medicines are a purely VEGETABLE preparation. They are mild and pleasant in their operation, and at the same time thorough—acting rapidly upon the secretions of the system—carrying off all acrimonious humors, and assimilating with and purifying the blood. For this reason, in aggravated cases of dyspepsia, the Life Medicines will give relief in a shorter space of time than any other prescription; in Fever-and-ague, Inflammation, Fevers of every description, Sick headache, heartburn, dizziness in the head, pains in the chest, flatulency, impaired appetite, in every disease arising from an impurity of the blood, or a disordered state of the stomach, the use of these medicines has always proved to be beyond doubt greatly superior to any other mode of treatment.

All that Mr. Moffat asks of his patients is to be particular in taking them strictly according to the directions. It is not by a newspaper notice, or by any thing that he himself may say in their favor, that he hopes to gain credit, it is alone by the results of a fair trial. Is the reader an invalid, and does he wish to know whether the life medicines will suit his own case? If so let him call or send to Mr. Moffat's agent in this place, and procure a copy of the Medical Manual, designed as a domestic guide to health, published gratuitously. He will here find enumerated very many extraordinary cases of cure; and perhaps some exactly similar to his own. Moffat's medical office in New York, 155 Broadway, and for sale by the Agents. JAS. For the Proprietors.

The following letter to the Agent, exhibits the superiority of the Camphine over Gas or Oil light, in brilliancy and cheapness:

New York, March 23, 1840.

DEAR SIR—I received yours of the 19th instant, and proceed, as you request, to inform you that WEBB'S PATENT LAMP, in my opinion, is much superior to any Lamp now in use—the Camphine produces better light than Gas or Oil. I have burned Oil for five years, Gas for eleven, and Webb's Camphine for 20 months. I have a better light in my bar-room with five of Webb's burners than I had in the same room with eleven gas lights. In fact, I light my whole house at less expense with the Camphine than it cost me to light my bar-room alone with gas. I recommend it as being the cheapest and best light now in use.

Yours respectfully, THOMAS RILEY,

BALTIMORE LOCK DISPENSARY,

"NO CURE NO PAY."

DR. HUNTER'S RED DROP. This long established and highly valuable medicine is now no novelty. It has been before the public for a long time, and by its merits alone, has it risen to a degree of estimation not enjoyed by any other medicine, for the certain cure of the Syphilitic disease. Prompt and effectual in action, yet harmless to the constitution, is its well established character, having never failed to give entire satisfaction in all the many thousand cases, where it has been used as directed.—These absolute and undeniable facts speak trumpet-tongued to the afflicted, and are the basis of a well founded hope of the philanthropist, that this unequalled medicine may circulate far and wide for the benefit of the human race.

This medicine gives the prodigal a chance to repent. Thousands have been saved and radically cured, after suffering under the hands of impostors, by this medicine, and who with grateful hearts are ready to attest to its value, and have allowed themselves to be referred to.

Persons residing at any distance, can have medicine sent to them, packed secure from observation.

It was out of pure motives of philanthropy, that this medicine was first made public; the price always to remain $1 per Bottle, to be within the reach of the most unfortunate.

☞Letters addressed, (post paid) describing the case, mode of living, &c. will be promptly attended to. Direct No. 17 Harrison street.

SUMMER ARRANGEMENT.
GREAT SOUTHERN
UNITED STATES' MAIL LINE,
DAILY TO THE SOUTH.

☞Bear in mind, that Passengers who go by the Chesapeake Bay and Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road, have 60 miles of Rail Road travelling through the DISMAL SWAMP at midnight, over one of the worst Rail Roads in America, and then are often compelled to lay over 17 hours at Weldon, one of the most unhealthy places in the whole Southern country.

TRAVELLERS FOR THE SOUTH, are informed that, by taking the Cars at Baltimore for Washington at 9 A.M., they proceed, without one moment's delay, via Washington, Fredericksburg, Richmond, Petersburg, Weldon, and Wilmington, N.C. to CHARLESTON, S.C., reaching Charleston the second morning after leaving Baltimore, and often one day in advance of any other Line—the Companies on the route being bound by the Postmaster General to make the following quick Schedule:

Leave Philadelphia	12 P.M.	reach Baltimore	8 A.M.
" Baltimore	9 A.M.	" Washington	11 A.M.
" Washington	11½ A.M.	" Fredk'sburg	6 P.M.
" Fred'ksburg	6½ P.M.	" Richmond	11 P.M.
" Richmond	11½ P.M.	" Petersburg	1 A.M.
" Petersburg	1½ A.M.	" Weldon	6½ A.M.
" Weldon	7 A.M.	" Charleston on the next morning.

Passengers by this Line not only reach Charleston ONE DAY SOONER than by the Bay boats, but they avoid being compelled to remain all night at Weldon, on the Roanoke, one of the most unhealthy places in the whole southern country, where, by the Bay Line, they are often detained twenty-four hours.

Passengers for Richmond and Petersburg will find this Line far the most expeditious, arriving at Richmond to lodge, (as will be seen from the above Schedule,) on the evening of the day on which they leave Baltimore, being from 16 to 18 hours in advance of those taking the Bay Steam Boats.

☞This is much the nearest, quickest, and cheapest route to the interior of Virginia, North and South Carolina—at Petersburg, Va. commences the route by way of Raleigh, N. C.—145 miles of Rail Road from Petersburg to that city. Stage Lines branch off from Raleigh Rail Road to the old Piedmont Line, to Milton Danville, &c., and to Knoxville, (Tenn.)

☞Passengers for the Raleigh and Gaston Rail Road pay through to Petersburg, Va.

UNITED STATES MAIL LINE,
DAILY TO THE SOUTH, Sunday's excepted
Via the Chesapeake Bay and Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road,

THE BALTIMORE STEAM-PACKET CO. announce to the public that in accordance with the New Mail Arrangement, the Boats composing this line, viz: ALABAMA, Captain Sutton; GEORGIA, Captain Coffey; and JEWESS, Captain Holmes, will, on and after WEDNESDAY, the 26th of May, leave the lower end of Spear's wharf daily, (Sunday's excepted,) at nine o'clock, A.M. for Norfolk and Portsmouth, Va.

Passengers for Charleston will find the cars of the Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road Company, on the wharf, on their arrival at Portsmouth, ready to convey them to Weldon, N.C., where they will always arrive in time to take the cars for Wilmington, from which point to Charleston is by the Steamboat, which leaves Wilmington immediately after the Passengers are delivered from the cars.

Passengers for Richmond, Petersburg, or intermediate points on James River, by leaving Baltimore on Monday, Wednesday, or Friday, will sleep on board the Bay Boat and be transferred to the James River Boat next morning.

The Steamboat For leaves the Black Water station on the Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road, every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, on the arrival of the cars from Portsmouth, for Edenton and Plymouth, N. C., and returns every Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday, delivering her passengers to the cars as they pass down from Weldon, enabling them to arrive in Baltimore next day, (Sundays excepted.)

RETURNING, one of the above Boats will leave Norfolk every night (Saturday being excepted) at 10 o'clock, and cross over to Portsmouth where she will wait the arrival of the Cars from Weldon, and depart for Baltimore as soon as the passengers and baggage are on board, arriving here in about 14 hours after departing from Portsmouth.

Should the Boat get an early start from Portsmouth, Passengers for Philadelphia and New York will have the opportunity of being placed on board the Philadelphia Steamboat in the Patapsco River, and will arrive in Philadelphia the same night by 11 o'clock, after having travelled 300 miles in 20 hours, without as much fatigue as would be incurred in walking from the Hotel to the wharf.

☞No freight will be forwarded on the day it is sent, unless it is alongside, prior to 8 o'clock, A.M.

TO "EMIGRANTS."

In my last I gave you a brief sketch of the creature comforts attainable by all honest, industrious men emigrating to Cape Palmas, of the most ordinary capacity. I omitted to notice one point in speaking of the physical condition of the colony of very great importance, viz: the character of the climate. You, no doubt, are sensible that the sufferings of the poor proceed principally from two causes, viz: cold and hunger, and in this country the first is productive by far of the greatest amount. The suffering is not only immediate from the direct action of the cold and damp air, but many violent and incurable diseases are induced thereby, even among that class of laborers generally thought to be good livers. Although, few actually freeze to death in a city like this, or in this country, yet you are well aware that the poor suffer more from want of whole and sufficient warm covering, from tenanting old, open and decayed dwellings and damp cellars, than from all other causes put together. Now, in Liberia you are at once relieved from this greatest source of human misery. There the climate is ever agreeable and uniform. Within the past ten days we have had both warmer and cooler weather in Baltimore than is ever experienced in Liberia. The natives go nearly naked at all seasons, wearing only a thin covering for decency, and fires are never kindled except for culinary purposes. Neither is the weather ever uncomfortably warm, owing to the constant alternatives of land and sea breezes, and a light thin haze which pervades the atmosphere at seasons when the sun is vertical.

In addition, therefore, to the great facilities you have in procuring food, from the richness of the soil, the rapid course of vegetation in that country, and the great variety and superior character of its vegetable products, you are insured not only against actual suffering from cold but relieved from the necessity of providing against it, which in this country requires at least half of the hard earnings of the poor, and consequently your circumstances so far as appertains to your personal comfort and physical wants are decidedly better than they ever can be in America.

Still, were there no other considerations or reasons for inducing the man of color to leave the United States and emigrate to a foreign land than the mere improvement of his physical condition, or the more easy gratification of his bodily wants and desires, I should not now be engaged in addressing you. The site of that beautiful settlement at Cape Palmas would still have remained a wilderness and jungle, and an association like the Colonization Society would never have existed. The principal, in fact the only design of the original founders of the colonization scheme, was to place the man of color in a situation where he could enjoy all the blessings and advantages of a free government. And the simple question at once arises, are these blessings and advantages to be realised in Maryland in Liberia? I will proceed to answer:

In the first place, the Maryland State Colonization Society projected the plan of founding a colony, and was the actual cause of its existence. They were of course empowered, and of necessity bound, to adopt some principles of government for the same. In this measure one object alone could be supposed to influence or dictate their course, viz: the permanent good and happiness of the governed, the citizens of the colony. Accordingly, a constitution was granted, giving to the citizens of Maryland in Liberia every right and privilege enjoyed by the white citizens of the territories of the United States. All laws or statutes in force in the colony are but extracts and copies of those which govern the most civilized nations in the world, so condensed and simplified as to be easily understood by the most ignorant and unlettered man.

The administration of the Government is at this time entirely in the hands of colored people. No white agent of the society now having any connection with the colony whatever, and all whites residing in the Colony owe the same allegiance to the government as unnaturalized foreigners resident in the United States do to its government. The Governor is well educated, and as styled by the Captain of the U. S. Frigate Cyane, "a gentleman." Since his residence in Liberia, his reputation has not only extended to all English settlements along the coast, but he is well known both in America and Europe as a man of education and talents. The other important offices of the Colony, as physician, secretary and storekeeper, are filled by gentlemen of good character, and of sufficient learning to enable them to perform their duties with credit to themselves and advantage to the colony.

The people of the Colony elect annually from among themselves, such officers as lieutenant-governor, high-sheriff, register of deeds and wills, justices of the peace, constables, selectmen, highway surveyors, &c. Every adult male citizen is entitled to the privilege of voting, and after a residence in the Colony of two years is eligible to any office. All males of proper age are required to perform military duty as in the United States. The chief military officer, with the title of major, is appointed by the Governor. All other officers are chosen by the members of their respective companies. There are three schools constantly in operation, intended especially for the benefit of the children of the Colony, and their attendance is required by law. And it is a fact, that they are more uniformly acquainted with the rudiments of English education than are the children of any town of the size of Harper in this State. There are two churches in which colored clergymen officiate, viz: Methodist and Baptist. Some few, however, attend the Episcopalian and Presbyterian churches, under the ministration of the white missionaries of these denominations.

Thus in becoming citizens of Maryland in Liberia, you are at once ushered into a new state of existence. You not only enjoy all the blessings of a free government, but constitute a part of that government. You are at once one of the sovereigns of the land, you are one on whom the permanence, the very existence of the government depends. If you have talents and capacity, you are soon called upon to exercise them in fulfilling the duties of some public station; and then for the first time you will not only feel the importance but the responsibility attendant on a state of freedom; then only can you feel the true dignity of man; then only are the highest feelings of your nature called into action. Your intelligence and energy may be fully exercised for the accomplishment of ends and purposes affecting your individual self—but 'tis only where the whole powers of the mind are called into action for the benefit of your fellow men, and are essential to their good, that you can truly judge of the actual importance to society of one individual member.—Then a new feeling is implanted in your breast, a new passion cherished and enjoyed, and this is Patriotism. Of other matters I will speak in a future number. Yours,

J. HALL.

Colonization Rooms, Baltimore, June 25.

BILL

To appropriate the proceeds of the sales of the public lands, and to grant pre-emption rights.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That from and after the thirty-first day of December, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and forty-one, there be allowed and paid to each of the States of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Alabama, Missouri, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas, and Michigan, over and above what each of the said States is entitled to by the terms of the compacts entered into between them and the United States, upon their admission into the Union, the sum of ten per centum upon the nett proceeds of the sales of the public lands, which, subsequent to the day aforesaid, shall have been or may be made within the limits of each of said States respectively; which said sum of ten per centum shall be applied to some object or objects of internal improvement within the said States, under the direction of their respective Legislatures: Provided, That the sum so allowed to the said States, respectively, shall be in no wise affected or diminished on account of any sums which have been heretofore, or shall be hereafter, applied to the construction or continuance of the Cumberland road, but that the disbursements for the said road shall remain, as heretofore, chargeable on the two per centum fund provided for by compacts with several of the said States.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted, That after deducting the said ten per centum, and what, by the compacts aforesaid, has heretofore been allowed to the States aforesaid, the residue of the nett proceeds—which nett proceeds shall be ascertained by deducting from the gross proceeds all the expenditures of the year for the following objects: salaries and expenses on account of the General Land Office; expenses for surveying public lands; salaries and expenses in the surveyor general's offices; salaries, commissions, and allowances to the registers and receivers, the five per centum to new States;—of all the public lands of the United States, wherever situated, which shall have been or may be sold subsequent to the said thirty-first day of December, shall be divided among the twenty-six states of the Union and the District of Columbia, according to their respective federal representative population, as ascertained by the last census to be applied by the Legislatures of the said States to education, internal improvements, the reimbursement of debt created for internal improvements, or such other purposes as the said Legislatures may direct: Provided, that the distributive share to which the District of Columbia shall be entitled, shall be applied to free schools, or education in some other form, as Congress may direct: And provided, also, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to the prejudice of future applications for a reduction of the price of the public lands, or to the prejudice of applications for a transfer of the public lands, on reasonable terms, to the States within which they lie or to make such future disposition of the public lands, or any part thereof, as it may deem expedient.

Sec. 3. And be it further enacted, That the several sums of money received in the treasury as the nett proceeds of the sales of the public lands shall be paid at the treasury half yearly, on the first day of January and July, in each year, during the operation of this act, to such person or persons as the respective legislatures of the said States shall authorise and direct to receive the same.

Sec. 4. And be it further enacted, That this act shall continue and be in force until otherwise provided by law, unless the United State shall become involved in war with any foreign power, in which event, from the commencement of hostilities, this act shall be suspended during the continuance of such war: Provided, nevertheless, That if, prior to the expiration of this act, any new State or States shall be admitted into the Union, there be assigned to such new State or States, the proportion of the proceeds accruing after their admission into the Union to which such State or States may be entitled, upon the principles of this act, together with what such State or States may be entitled to by virtue of compacts to be made on their admission into the Union.

Sec. 5. And be it further enacted, That there shall be annually appropriated for completing the surveys of said lands, a sum not less than ——— dollars; and the minimum price at which the public lands are now sold at private sale shall not be increased; and in case the same shall be increased by law, within the period aforesaid, so much of this act as provides that the nett proceeds of the sales of the public lands shall be distributed among the several States, shall, from and after the increase of the minimum price thereof, cease and become utterly null, and of no effect, any thing in this act to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sec. 6. And be it further enacted, That the Secretary of the Treasury may continue any land district in which is situated the seat of government of any one of the States, and may continue the land office in such district, notwithstanding the quantity of land unsold in such district may not amount to one hundred thousand acres, when, in his opinion, such continuance may be required by public convenience, or in order to close the land system in such State at a convenient point, under the provisions of the act on that subject, approved twelfth June, one thousand eight hundred and forty.

Sec 7. And be it further enacted, That there shall be granted to each State specified in the first section of this act, (which has not heretofore received of the United States five hundred thousand acres for purposes of internal improvement) a quantity of land which shall, together with the amount such State has already received as aforesaid, make four hundred thousand acres, to be selected within the limits of such State in such as the legislature thereof shall direct; and located in parcels, conformably to sectional divisions and subdivisions, of not less than three hundred and twenty acres in any one location, on any public land subject to entry at private sale; which said locations may be made at any time within five years after the lands of the United States, in said States respectively, shall have been surveyed, and offered at public sale, according to existing laws.

Sec. 8. And be it further enacted, That the lands herein granted to the States above named shall not be disposed of at a price less than one dollar and twenty-five cents per acre, until otherwise authorized by a law of the United States: and the nett proceeds of the sales of said lands shall be faithfully applied to objects of internal improvement within the States aforesaid, respectively, namely: Roads, bridges, canals, and improvement of water-courses, and draining swamps: and such roads, canals, bridges, and water-courses, when made or improved, shall be free for the transportation of the United States mail, and munitions of war, and for the passage of their troops, without the payment of any toll whatever.

Sec. 9. And be it further enacted, That from and after the passage of this act, every person being the head of a family, or widow, or single man over the age of 21 years, who, since the 1st day of June, A. D. eighteen hundred and forty, has made or shall hereafter make a settlement in person on the public lands to which the Indian title has been at the time of such settlement extinguished, and which has been, or, shall have been, surveyed prior thereto, and who shall inhabit and improve the same, and who has or shall erect a dwelling thereon, shall be, and is hereby, authorized to enter with the Register of the Land Office for the district in which such land may lie, by legal sub-divisions, any number of acres not exceeding one hundred and sixty, or a quarter section of land, upon paying to the United States the minimum price of such land, subject, however, to the following limitations and exceptions: No person who has heretofore had the benefit of a right of pre-emption under any other law of Congress, shall have such privilege under this act; nor shall any person be entitled to more than one pre-emptive right by virtue of the same; no person who is the proprietor of three hundred and twenty acres of land in any state or Territory of the United States, and no person who shall quit or abandon his residence on his own land to reside on the public land in the same State or Territory, shall acquire any right of pre-emption under this act; no lands included in any reservation, by any treaty, law, or proclamation of the President of the United States, or reserved for salines, or for other purposes; no lands reserved for the support of schools, nor the lands lately acquired by treaty with the Miami tribe of Indians in the State of Indiana, or which may be acquired of the Wayandot tribe of Indians in the State of Ohio, or other Indian reservation to which the title may be extinguished by the United States at any time during the operation of the act; no sections of land reserved to the United States alternate to other sections granted to any of the States for the construction of any canal, railroad, or other public improvement; no sections or fractions of sections included within the limits of any incorporated town; no portions of the public lands which have been selected as the site for a city or town; no parcel or lot of land actually settled and occupied for the purposes of trade and not agriculture, and no lands on which are situated any known salines or mines, shall be liable to entry under and by virtue of the provisions of this act.

Sec 10. And be it further enacted, That when two or more persons shall have settled on the same quarter section of land, the right of pre-emption shall be in him or her who made the first settlement, provided such persons shall conform to the other provisions of this act; and all questions as to the right of pre-emption arising between different settlers shall be settled by the Register and Receiver of the district within which the land is situated, subject to an appeal to and a revision by the Secretary of the Treasury of the United States.

Sec. 11. And be it further enacted, That prior to any entries being made under and by virtue of the provisions of this act, proof of the settlement and improvement thereby required, shall be made to the satisfaction of the Register and Receiver of the land District in which such lands may lie, agreeably to such rules as shall be prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury, who shall each be entitled to receive fifty cents from each applicant for his services to be rendered as aforesaid, and all assignments and transfers of the right hereby secured, prior to the issuing of the patent, shall be null and void.

Sec. 12. And be it further enacted, That before any person claiming the benefit of this act shall be allowed to enter such lands, he or she shall make oath before the Receiver or Register of the land district in which the land is situated, (who are hereby authorized to administer the same,) that he or she has never had the benefit of any right of pre-emption under this or any other act of Congress; that he or she is not the owner of three hundred and twenty acres of land in any State or Territory of the United States, nor hath he or she abandoned or quit his or her residence in the State or Territory in which such land may be situated with a view to settle upon the same, nor hath he or she settled upon and improved said land to sell the same on speculation, but in good faith to appropriate it to his or her own exclusive use or benefit; and that he or she has not, directly or indirectly, made any agreement or contract, in any way or manner, with any person or persons whatsoever, by which the title which he or she might acquire from the Government of the United States, should enure in whole or in part, to the benefit of any person except himself or herself; and if any person taking such oath shall swear falsely in the premises, he or she shall be subject to all the pains and penalties of perjury, and shall forfeit the money which he or she may have paid for said land, and all right and title to the same; and any grant or conveyance which he or she may have made, except in the hands of bona fide purchasers, for a valuable consideration, shall be null and void. And it shall be the duty of the officer administering such oath to file a certificate thereof in the public land office of such district, and to transmit a duplicate copy to the General Land Office, either of which shall be good and sufficient evidence that such oath was administered according to law.

Sec. 13. And be it further enacted, That this act shall not delay the sale of any of the public lands of the United States beyond the time which has been or may be appointed by the proclamation of the President; nor shall the provisions of this act be available to any person or persons who shall fail to make the proof and payment, and file the affidavit required, before the day appointed for the commencement of the sales as aforesaid.

Sec. 14. And be it further enacted, That whenever any person has settled or shall settle and improve a tract of land subject at the time of settlement to private entry, and shall intend to purchase the same under the provisions of this act, such person shall, in the first case, within three months after the passage of the same, and in the last within thirty days next after the date of such settlement, file with the Register of the proper district a written statement describing the land settled upon, and declaring the intention of such person to claim the same under the provisions of this act; and shall, where such settlement is already made, within twelve months after the passage of this act, and where it shall hereafter be made, within the same period after the date of such settlement, make the proof, affidavit, and payment herein required; and if he or she shall fail to file such written statement as aforesaid, or shall fail to make such affidavit, proof, and payment, within the twelve months aforesaid, the tract of land so settled and improved shall be subject to the entry of any other purchaser.

THE WHOLE CITY INVITED.

THE POTOMAC PAVILLION,

PINEY POINT.

THE SUBSCRIBER respectfully informs his friends and the Public that he has resumed the management of this popular Bathing Place, and that it is now open for the reception of company.

Piney Point, on which the Pavilion is situated, is a clear open cape, (though wooded in the rear on the north and east,) jutting into the Potomac near its mouth, where the river is eight or ten miles wide, in full view of the Chesapeak bay. The bathing is very fine, the water being nearly as salt as that of the ocean, and the air is pure. It possesses the advantage of the greatest abundance of the largest oysters, of soft and hard crabs, and all the varieties of excellent fish with which the waters of the Chesapeake abound.

There are a spacious Ball Room, Billiard Room, Bowling Alley, Quoit Yards, &c., the whole fronting the river to the south, within a hundred yards of the clean white beach. There are provided, also, two beautiful and commodious yachts, under the charge of an experienced and skilful seaman. There are bathing houses for those who prefer them to the open surf; also a substantial wharf for the steamboats to come up to, instead of landing and taking off passengers in the small boats, as heretofore; which, moreover, enables visiters to bring carriages and horses, if they choose.

Besides the salt water luxuries above named, every thing will be supplied for the table which the markets of the District, Baltimore, and Norfolk can afford, to which the steamboat lines furnish regular access; and the house will be amply provided with the best wines and other liquors.

The establishment has been well, though plainly, furnished throughout, including new mattresses and bed furniture. The establishment is sufficiently large to accommodate 200 visiters.

The steamers which ply between the District and Baltimore and Norfolk furnish to the inhabitants of these cities regular opportunities for visiting and departing from the Pavillion.

The subscriber has procured the aid of efficient and attentive assistants for the Bar and other departments of the establishment.

It is determined that moderate charges shall constitute one of the advantages of the establishment; to this shall be added the most zealous efforts to please, and the subscriber trusts that these efforts, united to the experience acquired by him as keeper for several years of a public house, will enable him to give satisfaction to all who may favor him with a visit.

P. J. HEPBURN.

Price of board $1 25 per day, children under twelve years of age and servants half price.

N. B.—Families desirous of spending a considerable portion of the season will be taken on more moderate terms.

TO THE PUBLIC.—The price of HATS again lowered. TOWSON is now selling in Eutaw street, one door north of Lexington street, his superior Hats at the following low prices—fine short Nap Mole Skin Hats at $2.50, fine Brush Hats $2.50; Fur Hats from $1.50 upwards. It may be asked how such Hats can be sold (if as represented) at such very low prices; I answer in the first place, I manufacture very extensively, and am able to purchase materials by the quantity much lower than if I bought by the small; and secondly, I sell for cash, and do not have to charge those who pay a high price, to make up for those who do not pay, as the natural result of the credit system. I think my Hats the best as now offered ever sold in this market for the price. Persons will please call and look at my hats before purchasing elsewhere. Remember TOWSON, one door from Lexington street.

BALTIMORE CLIPPER.

SATURDAY MORNING, JUNE 26, 1841.

DEATH OF MAJOR GEN ALEXANDER MACOMB. Official information reached this city last night, announcing the death of Major Gen. Alexander Macomb, commander in chief of the United States Army. He died in Washington City yesterday afternoon, at half past 2 o'clock, of apoplexy. The Military of Baltimore are invited to attend his funeral on Monday morning next, at 10 o'clock.

THE OCEAN for this week, containing all the choice matter of the daily, latest intelligence from every quarter, tales, poetry, editorials, &c. can be had at the counter this morning, or any time during next week, done up in wrappers, or otherwise. Price 6¼ cts. per single copy; $1.50 in advance per annum.

THE PUBLIC LANDS. By the attention of our Washington Correspondent, we are enabled to lay before our readers this morning, the bill reported by the Hon. Wm. Cost Johnson, of Maryland, "to appropriate the proceeds of the sales of the public lands, and to grant pre-emption rights." It will be found on our first page.

☞ The communication of "Philos," dated Washington city, relative to the Patent Safety Steam Valve of Mr. Raub, is an excellently written article and to the point precisely; but as it is entirely of an individual nature we must decline its publication unless Mr. R. will reciprocate in the shape of a V.

EMIGRANTS. We are informed, that within about a week past upwards of seven hundred emigrants from Germany have arrived at the port of Baltimore. Those on board a vessel which arrived a few days since, were in a dreadful situation. The healthy, the sick, the dying and the dead were intermingled; and great distress was consequently experienced. On arriving at the quarantine ground every effort was made for the relief of the sick by the port physician, but, having no hospital into which he could place them, we believe that they were removed to another vessel.

We understand that, whilst the late Isaac McKim, Esq. was a member of the house of representatives he procured the passage of a bill through the house, appropriating the sum of $20,000 to erect a hospital at the Lazaretto, but it never reached the senate. At a subsequent session a similar bill passed the senate, but was not acted on in the house—and thus, between the two stools, the bill fell to the ground. It is of great importance that a hospital should be built—it is called for by expediency and humanity. At present, a sick seaman or passenger, however imminent may be his danger, has to be transported some four or five miles by land, before he can be placed in a hospital; and we are told that it sometimes occurs, that they die on the road.

We are sure that the representatives from this district have only to be made acquainted with the necessity for a hospital, to bring the measure before congress; and we cannot question the willingness of the senate and house to make the requisite appropriation.

We should like to have a statement o facts from the port physician, in relation to the necessity of a hospital, and to the condition of the emigrants who recently arrived. We have no doubt that such a statement would have more influence in procuring a remedy for the existing evil, than any suggestion which we can make.

OFFICE-SEEKERS. We learn that the warm weather has not diminished the number of office-hunters at the seat of government. They still press upon the heels of each other; and, what is worse, they almost pull the buttons from the coats of members to obtain their influence. As to the secretaries, they have to lock themselves up and place sentinels at the door, to prevent being crushed to death in the crowd. Now this matter admits of an easy remedy, if the secretaries will but apply it. Let them cause it to be distinctly understood that they will appoint no applicant whilst he remains in Washington, (unless that city be his regular residence,) and the office-seekers will take flight like birds of passage.—There is a littleness and a meanness in teasing the officers of government for appointments, which no man who desires to be respected should be guilty of—and where such fawning is practised it will seldom be found accompanied by honesty—for an honest man will scorn to play the sycophant. Out upon the cringing tribe. They ought all to be put to hard labor, and compelled to earn an honest support.

FIRE AT ST. LOUIS. From a postcript in the St. Louis Bulletin of the 16th inst. we learn that a fire broke out in the steam planing mill, owned by Mr. Powell, which was entirely consumed. Several buildings adjoining were also destroyed, together with a large quantity of lumber. The fire was raging and progressing rapidly at the time the paper went to press. The damages were heavy but not ascertained.

AN OPPORTUNITY. The Somerset Herald, a weekly paper, is offered for sale. The publisher says it has an excellent circulation and a good advertising patronage. The same paper states that the crops in that region are backward, and the prospects of an abundant harvest not very fair.

WASHINGTON, June 25, 1841.

In the House, as soon as the journal was read, Mr. John Quincy Adams, from the Committee of one from each State, to which was referred the Message of the President of the United States, communicating a correspondence between himself and a committee on behalf of the people of Cincinnati, appointed for the purpose of removing the remains of the late President, William Henry Harrison, from the city of Washington to North Bend, for interment, reported the following resolutions:

Resolved, That on Saturday next, the remains of William Henry Harrison, late President of the United States, be removed, under the superintendance of a Committee of both Houses of Congress, from the Congressional Burial Ground, and accompanied by such Committee and the Delegation from Ohio to the line of the District of Columbia.

Resolved, That when the two Houses adjourn, they adjourn to Monday next.

The resolutions were agreed to, and sent to the Senate, which body also concurred in them.

Petitions were then called from the several States.

A petition was presented from Fauquier county, Va., praying for the recharter of the District Banks. It was referred to the Committee on the District.

The resolution offered by Mr. Floyd, calling for information as to whether any military officer was sent to interfere in the case of McLeod, was then taken up.

Mr. Cushing having the floor, resumed and concluded his remarks from yesterday, in reply to Mr. Ingersoll's strictures on the letter of Mr. Webster. Mr. Wise followed on the same side. When the morning hour had expired, the orders of the day were called, and the resolution laid aside.

On motion of Mr. W. C. Johnson, the House then went into Committee of the Whole, and took up the bill for appropriating the proceeds of the Public Lands, and granting Pre-emption rights.

Mr. Johnson took the floor, and at great length explained the objects and bearing of the bill.—Without taking the question, the Committee rose.

The resolution in relation to McLeod was again taken up, and after some debate, an unsuccessful motion was made by Mr. Wise, to lay it on the table.

In the Senate, the bill for the relief of the widow of the late President passed, with an amendment providing that any money which may have been received since his death by his legal representatives, shall be deducted from the $25,000.—This amendment was concurred in by the House, so that by to-morrow the bill will have become a law.

Both Houses adjourned over to Monday next.

LECTURE ON THE BEAUTIES OF HISTORY—Delivered before the Monumental Lyceum of Baltimore, June 5th, 1841, by Wm. F. Giles, Esq.—This lecture is published at the request of the lyceum. The lecturer selected an admirable subject for comment. History presents so many beauties; such a vast variety of interesting incidents, national and individual; that the lecturer could be at no loss for the want of materials from which to select. He has made a judicious choice of characters to exhibit the beauties of history in their most attractive form, his object being to present the bright side of the picture alone; and his remarks on the importance of historical reading are well-timed and just. It is the most instructive of all studies, and the lecturer very properly urges the propriety of devoting greater attention to the subject.

The lecturer had necessarily to limit his examples and to restrict his comments, to bring them within the compass of a lecture; but it is an ample field, from which he could cull abundant flowers to adorn himself on future occasions.

☞ At the burning of Messrs. Mulford & Alter's wholesale grocery establishment in Philadelphia on Thursday morning last, several of the firemen were very seriously injured by the falling of a part of the building. One young man named George L. Eisenberg was killed upon the spot. A large stone fell and crushed his head to atoms. He was highly esteemed by all who knew him. The other most hurt was Francis Thomas. Both were members of the Phœnix Hose Co. A Mr. Hall was another of the injured. The amount of goods destroyed was about $30,000, upon which was $20,000 insurance. It is supposed beyond doubt to have been the work of an incendiary.

MITCHELL. The New York Express says:—Amongst the bills found are two against Charles F. Mitchell, late honorable, for forgery in the third degree; one bill for a similar offence having been found at the former term of the court—making three distinct indictments for forgery against him. There is one other complaint still pending against this fallen dignitary, which will probably be laid before the next grand jury."

EARLY CORN. The Grand Gulf Advertiser of the 4th inst. says, 'it is hardly possible to believe, yet it is nevertheless a positive fact, that we sat down to the dinner table yesterday, and feasted heartily upon new corn, (roasting ears) of this present year's growth.'

CANADA. The provincial parliament of Canada, has two bills before it which are deemed of considerable importance to the United States—the one for imposing protective duties on foreign produce; and the other for the abolition of imprisonment for debt.

KILLED. A beautiful boy, 6 years old, son of Mr. John Moody, of Richmond, Va. was instantly killed on the 22d inst. by the kick of a horse. His skull was literally crushed.

SIMMONS THE MURDERER CONVICTED. This wretch, who it will be remembered, killed a man named Charles Reed, of Boston, about the 23d of last April, by stabbing him in the abdomen with a bowie knife, has had his trial and been convicted of manslaughter. The jury were a considerable time in coming to an agreement, but finally upon the 23d inst. they came into the court with a righteous verdict of guilty. Thereupon Chief Justice Shaw sentenced the prisoner to five days' solitary confinement and ten years' hard labor in the State's prison. The facts of the case as reported in the Times are so glaring, that we are only astonished he was not found guilty of murder and sentenced to be hung almost without "benefit of clergy."

NEWS ABOUT TOWN.

ROBBERY—ARREST ON SUSPICION. Yesterday a young man about 17 or 18 years of age, a midshipman in the United States navy, who stated his name to be G. D. Brown, appeared before justice Pennington, and stated that, on that morning about twelve or one o'clock, he had been robbed of a gold watch, of the value of 220 dollars, and six ten dollar notes of a Wheeling bank. He further stated that he had been, at that time, in company with two individuals, of the names of Cook and Dennis, whom he had reason to suspect of taking his property; and, upon his affidavit to that effect, a warrant was issued by the magistrate—the parties were taken in the course of the afternoon, and brought before the justice. It appeared from the statement of the complainant, that he arrived in this city on Thursday about nine o'clock, A. M.; that at supper time he met with the parties under arrest, an acquaintance sprung up insensibly between them—after supper they proposed a walk, to which he acceded; they went to the spring in Charles st; after leaving there, they proceeded in an easterly direction along the wharves for some distance, stopping in the meanwhile, at one or two liquor establishments, at each one of these they persuaded him to drink—at first he declined, but finally was induced to comply with their wishes. At the last house where they stopped, a long distance from where they started, there was fiddling and dancing, and the place was graced with the presence of a number of ladies.

They left the house as speedily as the complainant could induce them to do so; and started, as they said, for the rail road depot, opposite to which, at a boarding house in South Charles-st., the complainant had stopped on his arrival, and where he first met with them. After wandering about for some time the prisoners professed to be lost; finally they reached a spot covered with grass, but, it being wet with dew, did not stop there. They, however, soon reached a place where an old fence lay on the pavement; and here the complainant, being very much fatigued, from the fact that, for two nights' travelling, he had not slept, agreed to sit down.

In a few minutes he fell asleep—when he awoke, he got up and walked a few steps, half asleep, when he met a watchman, who asked him some question, which roused him, whereupon he returned to his companions and roused them, when Dennis, on waking, declared that he had been robbed of his watch and money—this first reminded him of his own—he felt and found both gone, his watch guard having been cut—the money was wrapped in a piece of paper—upon searching, he found the paper on the pavement, but not the money. There was no one with him, but the prisoners, and he knew he had both the money and the watch after leaving the last house.

The prisoners, being called upon by the magistrate, gave their names as Enoch Cook and William Dennis—the latter stated that he had only been in the city four days, and belonged to New Orleans—the other said he had been here about ten days, and was from Philadelphia—both admitted that they were with the complainant on the night stated; but, strange to say, Dennis professed to have lost a silver lever watch and some money, and Cook to have lost twenty-five dollars in money. In default of security, both were committed to await their trial before Baltimore City Court. Their trunks were taken to the magistrate's and searched, as well as the parties themselves, but nothing was found, in either case, bearing upon this particular transaction.

SALE OF REAL ESTATE. We learn that a lot of ground on the west side of Centre Market Space, nearly midway between Baltimore and Second streets, twenty-five feet front, running back sixty-five feet, and which is improved by a two story store and dwelling, was disposed of, at public sale, on Thursday afternoon, by H. W. Bool, for the sum of $6,500. At the same time a lot of ground adjoining the one above described, having a front of twenty-three feet and running to the depth of sixty-five feet, improved by a two story frame building, was sold for $5000.

TAKING THE WRONG STEPS. Thomas Reese was found, on Thursday night, lying drunk upon the steps of a house in Market street, Fell's Point, and conveyed to the Eastern District watch house. Had he taken the right steps to escape exposure he would have remained sober.

INQUEST. An inquest was held yesterday morning by Wm. T. Rice, coroner, over the body of a white man, found floating in the water, near the New Dock, supposed to be the mate of the brig Ida, of Boston, and missing from that vessel since Monday night last. Verdict of the jury, death from drowning.

DROWNED. A coroner's inquest was, yesterday morning, held by Wm. T. Rice, Esq., over the body of an individual, name unknown, which was found in the river off the shipyard of Goodwin & Co. Verdict of the Jury, death by drowning.

[Reported for the Baltimore Clipper.]

BALTIMORE CITY COURT.

Present—Judges Brice, Nisbet and Worthington.

FRIDAY, JUNE 26, 1841. State vs. Andrew Freeburger. The testimony in this case, on the part of the State, closed this morning, one other witness having been examined upon the opening of the court. The leading features of the evidence on the part of the State went to prove that, on the night of the 5th of June, the prisoner and several other persons were on the corner of Light and Lombard streets; that the prisoner had some difference with an individual named Winfield Wilson, which resulted in an understanding that they should meet at eight o'clock the next morning, and fight it out; upon which understanding they shook hands and parted; that after the departure of Wilson, the prisoner remained standing on the corner, disputing with some others, when Francis J. Walker, (the person killed) came up and said he could whip them both, or any one in the crowd; that the prisoner replied "don't say that again, Frank;" to which the deceased returned for answer, "I do say so," and repeated the assertion, when both parties stepped out, and prepared for the fight; that Walker struck at Freeburger, (the prisoner) who returned the blow, upon which Walker staggered back; Freeburger repeated the blow; Walker staggered still further back—his heels caught in the curb, which, at that spot, is higher than the pavement, and he fell backward across the curb, striking his head against the flag, and fracturing his skull.

The testimony of the physicians (Drs. Hintze and Miller) who were called to see the deceased, after the wound was received, and one of whom (Dr. Hintze) made the post mortem examinatio of the body, shewed the wound to have been so severe as to cause a separation of the suture on the head, and a fracture, of four inches in length, of the temporal bone. The concussion had produced an effusion of blood upon the brain, and even partially destroyed the substance of the brain. It was out of the question, they thought, when first called in, that the man could live; and his death, in a few hours afterwards, proved the correctness of this opinion. Such a wound, they were of opinion, might have been produced by the accidental falling of a man in the same way in which the deceased fell, provided he fell with sufficient force. Both were of opinion that the wound so received caused the death of Walker.

There was no testimony, however, on the part of the State to shew, that of the blows which passed between prisoner and deceased, either took effect, if we except the fact that there was an additional wound found on the mouth of the deceased, bearing the appearance of having been made with some blunt instrument, or with the fist. One witness (Groves) testified, indeed, that he heard a blow struck, and looking round the corner, saw deceased in the act of falling—saw prisoner strike him a second blow on the face, when he fell across the curb, as above described, and received the wound which caused his death—and that he was satisfied, in his own mind that the first blow was also struck by the prisoner, although he did not see it. This testimony conflicted with that of other witnesses for the State, who attributed the striking of the first blow to the deceased

Upon the part of the prisoner, one witness only was called, and that one was George W. King, Esq. the magistrate before whom the prisoner was examined on the night of the affray, who testified that Groves had, on that examination, stated that the deceased struck at prisoner first—that prisoner caught the blow with one hand, and returned it with the other, when the deceased staggered and fell, as before stated.

Here the testimony closed; and the case was ably argued before the Jury, by the counsel on either side, upon the law and the facts. After the close of these arguments the Court instructed the Jury that the law of the State, upon the subject of manslaughter was to this effect: that if two individuals, in the heat of passion, engage in mortal combat, and in the course of that combat, or from the result of it, death ensue to either party, the party causing his death is guilty of manslaughter—this was the law; in regard to the facts, they were for the Jury alone to consider. If, however, they had a rational doubt of the guilt of the prisoner they ought to acquit him.

The Jury retired, and, after an absence of about twenty minutes, returned with a verdict of not guilty.

In the case of Mary C. Patterson, convicted by a Jury, some days since, of keeping a house of ill-fame, the Court imposed a fine of fifty dollars and costs.

DANGER OF PREMATURE INTERMENT. The wife of a man employed at the Lyceum, at Manheim, in France, having, as it was believed, expired, and her death been duly certified by a surgeon, was ordered to be buried; but, at the moment of screwing down the coffin, she opened her eyes and smiled. She had remained in a weak state, but the last Paris papers state that she was gradually getting better,

AMERICAN THEATRE—FRONT-ST.
MR. WALTON'S BENEFIT.

THOS. J. WALTON, in announcing his BENEFIT at this establishment for THURSDAY, 1st July, 1841, most respectfully and earnestly solicits the support and patronage of his friends and the public generally, sincerely hoping that the exertions he has made at various times, through a period of some years, to conduce to the amusement of Baltimoreans, may be deemed worthy of their consideration in this (perhaps his last) appeal to their kindness. On this occasion will be presented, for the first time in this city, a beautiful version of the drama of

IVANHOE; OR, THE MAID OF INDAH.

Which has been prepared with great care and labor, and will be produced under the immediate superintendance of Mr. JOSEPH FOSTER, in a style of splendor never yet surpassed in any theatre. In the course of the piece, will be given a very vivid picture of the GRAND TOURNAMENT at Ashby-de-la-Zouch, so beautifully and graphically described by Sir Walter Scott, a great variety of entertainments—particulars of which will be given in future advertisements. je21-3t

COLD SPRING HOTEL.

THIS DELIGHTFUL PLACE, situated 3 miles out of Baltimore, on the York Turnpike, the pleasantest road and finest scenery leading from the city. The house is large and airy, finished and furnished in the best manner to accommodate Boarders and Select Parties. The Garden affords the most choice Fruits, Flowers, and Vegetables. Below the garden is a Cottage, the Cold Spring, Fish Pond and Ice Pond, with its gravelled walks and green shades, which makes the scenery the most picturesque imaginable. To strangers visiting the city, Cold Spring is a most desirable place to while away a day or an hour.

N. B. Lovers of Strawberries and Cream, Raspberries and Cherries, will find them here in their purity. je25-1w* L. L. NEWMAN.

GODEY'S LADY'S BOOK—Office 28 North Gay street near Fayette—And Ladies' American Magazine, Mrs. S. J. Hale and Mrs. Lydia H. Sigourney, editors. Miss E. Leslie a contributor to each number.

The present volume commences with two steel Engravings by A. L. Dick.

Sunday Morning, and the Sale of the Pet Lamb—also, a beautiful colored Fashionable Plate.

This is an outlay for embellishments unprecedented in this or any other country. The great beauty of the pictures will give pleasure to every lover of the beautiful, and it shall always be our aim to procure such subjects for the engraver as will, even without the poetical illustration, tell their own tale. While thus giving attention to that which pleases the eye, we will show that equal attention has been paid to catering for the mind. Mrs. L. H. Sigourney, who has lately returned from Europe, has made such arrangements as will ensure us a supply of articles from the best female writers of England, Mary Russell Mitford, Mrs. S. C. Hall, Maria Edgeworth—(their first contributions to an American periodical)—will each contribute to the Ladies' American Magazine; from the two last we now have articles on hand.

The Hon. Mrs. Norton will also be a contributor. While from abroad we are receiving such assistance as will serve to make an agreeable variety, we must not forget to mention that we are now publishing an article from an eminent writer of our own country—the author of "Losing and Winning," and "Sensibility." This tale we are certain will cause as great a sensation as did the publishing of "Losing and Winning," which was republished in half the papers of our country. Let it not be forgotten that Miss Leslie contributes to the Lady's Book only. ☞ No other magazine has articles from her pen.—☜ She commences in this number another of those graphic sketches that give so much pleasure to our readers—"Leonilla Lynmore." While paying a proper tribute to the great talents of the English ladies—ladies previously mentioned—be it remembered that we have our own Hale, Sigourney, Leslie, Parsons, Embury, Hentz, and a host of others, to mention which we have neither time nor space.

TERMS—Only three dollars a year, or 25 cents per number—payable on delivery. Office of the Lady's Book at WM. N. HARRISON'S Literary Rooms, No. 28 N. Gay street, near Fayette-st.

N. B Due Notice will be given of the arrival of the July Number. je26-1t

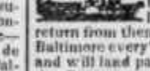
FAIR HAVEN. This elegant establishment will be open for the reception of visiters on and after Monday next, the 21st June. The proprietor having made considerable additions and improvements to the establishment, and having provided the same with everything necessary for the comfort and convenience of visiters, feels the utmost confidence in recommending it as a very desirable summer retreat. Fair Haven is situated on the Western Shore of the Chesapeake Bay, about 30 miles below the city of Annapolis; is remarkable healthy—the scenery beautiful and pleasant. (Strangers have said that the scenery alone was a sufficient inducement to visit the place.) The proprietor, ever anxious to accommodate the public, has determined to make such a reduction from his former rates, as will correspond with the present pressure of the times.



The Steamboat Patuxent will leave Baltimore every TUESDAY MORNING, at 6 o'clock, for Fair Haven, and return from thence in the evening. She will also leave Baltimore every THURSDAY MORNING, at 6 o'clock, and will land passengers at Fair Haven on her route to the Patuxent; and will return thence on SUNDAY, touching at Fair Haven. Persons availing themselves of the conveyance to visit Fair Haven only, will not be subject to any charge returning.

DAVIES'
FAMILY ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS.

THESE VALUABLE PILLS are very gentle in their operations, causing neither pain nor griping, nor any nauseous sickness. They exceedingly comfort and strengthen the stomach and bowels, and clear the sight, senses, hearing, and memory, of aged persons, by carrying off phlegms, watery matter, putrid, gross, and thick humours from the Stomach, Bowels, and Blood which makes them so celebrated for removing Coughs, Rheumatism, Pains from the Body and Limbs, Gravel, Piles, Sick Stomach, Disorders in Bowels, and Worms.

Mrs. C. Burton, near Locust street, was diseased for seven years with a lump in the left side, humps all over her skin, pains around the small of her back, running into the stomach, which prevented her (to use her own words,) from eating one particle of meat; the first dose removed the lump, and two boxes set her at liberty.

Sold by G. Savage, General Agent for Washington; J. Thomas, and Mrs. Banks Georgetown; W. G. Cole, Hatter, and J. Brunner, Frederick; S. Church, Alexandria; J. Demuth, York; J. Turpin, No. 34 Fayette-st.; and by T. MOORE, No. 74 Market street, General Agent for Baltimore. Price 25 cents per box, five for $1, or $2 per dozen. je26

COTTON FOUND AT SEA. The barque John Odlin, Captain Hanover, on her late passage from Mobile to Philadelphia, on the 8th June, in latitude 25 03, longitude 86 41, picked up five bales of compressed Cotton, apparently but a short time in the water, of the following marks, as near as could be deciphered:—GEB. LER. KRL. KEL. KER.

It is stated that in 1790, the wheat grown in Great Britain was only 14,000 bushels; in 1830, the crop was estimated at 100,000,000 bushels. This is nearly 40 millions more than all the wheat grown in the United States at the last census.

The New York American thinks that a court of inquiry should be called in relation to the return of the Mediterranean squadron. The affair as thus far explained, does not reflect any honour on the American Navy.

The Albany Common Council have invited Ex-President Van Buren to participate with the citizens of that city, in celebrating the approaching anniversary.

MEDICAL AID.

THE SUCCESS that has attended the treatment of many thousand cases of Venereal Complaints for twenty-five years past, induces the subscriber to inform the public that he may be seen daily, and consulted on all cases of the kind, recent and chronic, and on diseases of the urinary organs generally—such as Gonorrhœa, Gravel, Gleets, Strictures, &c. His treatment is speedy, safe, and certain—the medicines are so mild that the most delicate may take them without restrictions in diet or occupation. Many persons, who have tried all the lauded quack nostrums of the day, are frequently calling on the subscriber to have the injuries they have sustained by their use relieved. In recent cases a thorough cure will be guaranteed for three dollars. Gonorrhœa Medicines will be furnished at one and two dollars a bottle, according to size, a large one generally cures in a few days. PILLS may be had at a dollar per box. The Vegetable Anti-mercurial CORDIAL is one dollar and fifty cents per bottle—this Medicine is the greatest purifier of the blood in the world. It renews and regenerates old and shattered constitutions, and, it may be said, is literally working wonders. Apply at

CASH FOR NEGROES.

THE subscriber being permanently located in this city, is at all times wanting to purchase likely young negroes of both sexes, for which cash and the most liberal prices will be paid. Persons having such to dispose of will find it to their interest to call on me before they sell, as they may rest assured, by doing so they shall obtain their VALUE for them. The subscriber's establishment is located on Barford Avenue, in one of the highest and most healthy parts of the city, having a free circulation of air, and a yard for exercise through the day—must necessarily be more healthy than in the centre of the city, especially in hot weather. Servants will be received for safe keeping, and every attention paid to their comfort and cleanliness, at the low rate of 25 cents per day. Application to be made to me at my office in Calvert-st. Near Market. st., one door below Mr. Bloomer's hat store, or at my residence, or to my brother at Whitman's Eagle Hotel, Pratt-st., immediately opposite the Baltimore and Ohio Rail road Depot. CASH FOR NEGROES.

THE HIGHEST PRICES will at all times be given for NEGROES of both sexes, that are slaves for life, and good titles. My office is in PRATT STREET, No. 85, between Sharp and Howard streets, where myself or my Agent, (Mr. J. M. WILSON,) can be seen at all times. All persons, having Negroes to sell, would do well to see me before they dispose of them, as I am always buying and forwarding to the New Orleans market. I will also receive and keep Negroes at twenty-five cents each, per day, and forward them to any Southern port, at the request of the owner. My establishment is large, comfortable and airy, and all above ground; and kept in complete order, with a large yard for exercise; and is the strongest and most splendid building of the kind in the United States. And as the character of my house and yard is so completely established, for strength, comfort and cleanliness, and it being a place where I keep all my own, I will not be accountable, for the future, for any escapes of any kind from my establishment.

MOFFAT'S LIFE PILLS
AND VEGETABLE BITTERS.

THE perfectly safe, unerring and successful treatment of almost every species of disease by the use of MOFFAT'S LIFE MEDICINES, is no longer a matter of doubt, as a reference to the experience of many thousand patients will satisfactorily prove. During the present month alone, nearly one hundred cases have come to the knowledge of Mr. Moffat, where the patient has, to all appearance, effected a permanent cure by the exclusive and judicious use of the Life Medicines—some eight or ten of these had been considered beyond all hope by their medical attendants.—Such happy results are a source of great pleasure to Mr. M. and inspire him with new confidence to recommend the use of his medicines to his fellow-citizens.

The Life Medicines are a purely VEGETABLE preparation. They are mild and pleasant in their operation, and at the same time thorough—acting rapidly upon the secretions of the system—carrying off all acrimonious humors, and assimilating with and purifying the blood. For this reason, in aggravated cases of dyspepsia, the Life Medicines will give relief in a shorter space of time than any other prescription; in Fever-and-ague, Inflammation, Fevers of every description, Sick headache, heartburn, dizziness in the head, pains in the chest, flatulency, impaired appetite, in every disease arising from an impurity of the blood, or a disordered state of the stomach, the use of these medicines has always proved to be beyond doubt greatly superior to any other mode of treatment.

All that Mr. Moffat asks of his patients is to be particular in taking them strictly according to the directions. It is not by a newspaper notice, or by any thing that he himself may say in their favor, that he hopes to gain credit, it is alone by the results of a fair trial. Is the reader an invalid, and does he wish to know whether the life medicines will suit his own case? If so let him call or send to Mr. Moffat's agent in this place, and procure a copy of the Medical Manual, designed as a domestic guide to health, published gratuitously. He will here find enumerated very many extraordinary cases of cure; and perhaps some exactly similar to his own. Moffat's medical office in New York, 375 Broadway, and for sale by the Agents.

WEBB'S PATENT BURNERS,
AND CAMPHINE OIL.

FOR SALE AT No. 109 E. BALTIMORE STREET, between South and Calvert streets, where Burners of every description can be obtained. Those who are sceptical as to its safety or economy, would, I trust be perfectly satisfied by examining the opinion of Professor LOCK, of Ohio, on "WEBB'S CAMPHINE," or by referring to the Journals of the Franklin and American Institutes, of Philadelphia and New York. All those desirous of obtaining a clean, brilliant, and economical light, will find it greatly to their advantage by calling on the subscriber. The public may be assured of one fact, that we require no meters to ascertain the amount of Camphine consumed, as they register correctly and in plain English.

The following letter to the Agent, exhibits the superiority of the Camphine over Gas or Oil light, in brilliancy and cheapness:

New York, March 23, 1840.

DEAR SIR—I received yours of the 19th instant, and proceed, as you request, to inform you that WEBB'S PATENT LAMP, in my opinion, is much superior to any Lamp now in use—the Camphine produces better light than Gas or Oil. I have burned Oil for five years, Gas for eleven, and Webb's Camphine for 20 months. I have a better light in my bar-room with five of Webb's burners than I had in the same room with eleven gas lights. In fact, I light my whole house at less expense with the Camphine than it cost me to light my bar-room alone with gas. I recommend it as being the cheapest and best light now in use.

Yours respectfully, THOMAS RILEY,

"NO CURE NO PAY."

DR. HUNTER'S RED DROP. This long established and highly valuable medicine is now no novelty. It has been before the public for a long time, and by its merits alone, has it risen to a degree of estimation not enjoyed by any other medicine, for the certain cure of the Syphilitic disease. Prompt and effectual in action, yet harmless to the constitution, is its well established character, having never failed to give entire satisfaction in all the many thousand cases, where it has been used as directed.—These absolute and undeniable facts speak trumpet-tongued to the afflicted, and are the basis of a well founded hope of the philanthropist, that this unequalled medicine may circulate far and wide for the benefit of the human race.

This medicine gives the prodigal a chance to repent. Thousands have been saved and radically cured, after suffering under the hands of impostors, by this medicine, and who with grateful hearts are ready to attest to its value, and have allowed themselves to be referred to.

Persons residing at any distance, can have medicine sent to them, packed secure from observation.

It was out of pure motives of philanthropy, that this medicine was first made public; the price always to remain $1 per Bottle, to be within the reach of the most unfortunate.

☞ Letters addressed, (post paid) describing the case, mode of living, &c. will be promptly attended to. Direct No. 17 Harrison street.

UNITED STATES' MAIL LINE.
DAILY TO THE SOUTH.

☞ Bear in mind, that Passengers who go by the Chesapeake Bay and Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road, have 40 miles of Rail Road travelling through the DISMAL SWAMP at midnight, over one of the worst Rail Roads in America, and then are often compelled to lay over 17 hours at Weldon, one of the most unhealthy places in the whole Southern country.

TRAVELLERS FOR THE SOUTH, are informed that, by taking the Cars at Baltimore for Washington at 9 A.M., they proceed, without one moment's delay, via Washington, Fredericksburg, Richmond, Petersburg, Weldon, and Wilmington, N. C. to CHARLESTON, S. C., reaching Charleston the second morning after leaving Baltimore, and often one day in advance of any other Line—the Companies on the route being bound by the Postmaster General to make the following quick Schedule:

Leave Philadelphia	12 P.M. reach Baltimore	8 A.M.
" Baltimore	9 A.M.	" Washington	11 A.M.
" Washington	1½ A.M.	" Fredk'sburg	6 P.M.
" Fred'ksburg	6½ P.M.	" Richmond	11 P.M.
" Richmond	11½ P.M.	" Petersburg	1 A.M.
" Petersburg	1½ A.M.	" Weldon	6½ A.M.
" Weldon	7 A.M.	" Charleston	on the next morning.

Passengers by this Line not only reach Charleston ONE DAY SOONER than by the Bay boats but they avoid being compelled to remain all night at Weldon, on the Roanoke, one of the most unhealthy places in the whole southern country, where, by the Bay Line, they are often delayed twenty-four hours.

Passengers for Richmond and Petersburg will find this Line far the most expeditious, arriving at Richmond to lodge, (as will be seen from the above Schedule,) on the evening of the day on which they leave Baltimore, being from 16 to 18 hours in advance of those taking the Bay Steam Boats.

☞ This is much the nearest, quickest, and cheapest route to the interior of Virginia, North and South Carolina—at Petersburg, Va. commences the route by way of Raleigh, N. C.—145 miles of Rail Road from Petersburg to that city. Stage Lines branch off from Raleigh Rail Road to the old Piedmont Line, to Milton Danville, &c., and to Knoxville, (Tenn.)

☞ Passengers for the Raleigh and Gaston Rail Road pay through to Petersburg, Va.

UNITED STATES MAIL LINE.
DAILY TO THE SOUTH, Sunday's excepted.
Via the Chesapeake Bay and Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road,

THE BALTIMORE STEAM-PACKET CO. announce to the public that in accordance with the New Mail Arrangement, the Boats composing their line, viz: ALABAMA, Captain Sutton; GEORGIA, Captain Coffey; and JEWESS, Captain Holmes, will, on and after WEDNESDAY, the 26th of May, leave the lower end of Spear's wharf daily, (Sunday's excepted,) at nine o'clock, A.M. for Norfolk and Portsmouth, Va.

Passengers for Charleston will find the cars of the Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road Company, on the wharf, on their arrival at Portsmouth, ready to convey them to Weldon, N. C., where they will always arrive in time to take the cars for Wilmington, from which point to Charleston is by the Steamboat, which leaves Wilmington immediately after the Passengers are delivered from the cars.

Passengers for Richmond, Petersburg, or intermediate points on James River, by leaving Baltimore on Monday, Wednesday, or Friday, will sleep on board the Bay Boat and be transferred to the James River Boat next morning.

The Steamboat Fox leaves the Black Water station on the Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road, every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, on the arrival of the cars from Portsmouth, for Edenton and Plymouth N. C., and returns every Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday, delivering her passengers to the cars as they pass down from Weldon, enabling them to arrive in Baltimore next day, (Sundays excepted.)

RETURNING, one of the above Boats will leave Norfolk every night (Saturday being excepted) at 11 o'clock, and cross over to Portsmouth where she will wait the arrival of the Cars from Weldon, and depart for Baltimore as soon as the passengers and baggage are on board, arriving here in about 14 hours after departing from Portsmouth.

Should the Boat get an early start from Portsmouth, Passengers for Philadelphia and New York will have the opportunity of being placed on board the Philadelphia Steamboat in the Patapsco River, and will arrive in Philadelphia the same night by 11 o'clock, after having travelled 300 miles in 20 hours, without as much fatigue as would be incurred in walking from the Hotel to the wharf.

☞ No freight will be forwarded on the day it is left, unless it is alongside, prior to 8 o'clock, A.M.

THE GAME STOPPED.

A great many methods have been adopted for the purpose of putting an end to the practice of gambling—a practice universally looked upon with horror in most civilized communities.—Gamblers, however, from the French women, who gamble in stocks on 'Change, down to the prudent Yankee who ventures to play "pin on the hat," to a certain extent will flourish every where. Some gamble for fun, some for excitement, some for gain. There are more ways of gambling than one. They who seat themselves at the card table for a few hours' diversion—nay they who make a business of swindling upon a small scale all their fellow-men who do not happen to be "up to snuff," are not the most dangerous gamblers in existence. The wide-spread misery which owes its origin to the stupendous system of bank-gambling has no parrallel in this or any other land. Compared with those who have annihilated the capital of the United States Bank in their gambling operations, minor depredators sink into utter insignificance. There is a deep damnation" in the tear shed by the widow and orphan over their ruined hopes, which can never be equalled by the blustering curses of the poor fool who has suffered himself to be roped in by the small fry of blacklegs. But we have been well nigh betrayed into a homily, when we were only about to tell a brief story, for which we are indebted to a (not beard-less) friend of ours.

A certain town in a neighboring State was troubled by the frequent visits of a very noted character, of the class to which modern refinement, in its zeal to avoid unnecessary offence, has given the name of "sporting gentlemen." His presence seriously annoyed those who justly look upon games of hazard as impious and profane appeals to the Author of all good. Whenever the gambler was in town, therefore, they watched him with ceaseless vigilance, until they were able to detect some overt act. With full and complete proof of guilt they would then wait upon the magistrate, and secure the utmost vengeance of violated law—the infliction of a fine of two hundred dollars. The professional gentleman had several times been mulcted in this round sum in the space of two or three years, but all to no purpose; and till persisted in his evil ways, to the great overwhelming sorrow of those who loved piety and despised all the ways of vice.

One morning Judge Smith, the magistrate of the district, was waited upon by a zealous young Methodist preacher, who had just been placed upon that circuit. Judge Smith was a man of considerable shrewdness, and like ten thousand others, much more disposed to preach against vice than to practice upon the maxims he doled out so cheerfully to others.

"I called upon you, Judge," said the parson, to speak about this reprobate gambler who has infested our village for three or four weeks to the great detriment of the morals of the rising generation, whose tender minds are easily led astray from the paths of virtue."

"What is to be done?" said the magistrate.

"I beleive there is a law for the punishment of gaming. Is there not?"

"Yes, the penalty is a fine of two hundred dollars."

"Cannot this man be arrested and fined?" inquired the preacher.

"You are not aware, perhaps," replied Judge Smith, "that it is necessary to prove that money has been lost or won before the fine can be inflicted."

"Yes, I am," said the preacher, his pale and thoughtful countenance lighting up for a moment with a faint smile of anticipated triumph, "Yes, am, and I have taken care that witnesses shall be provided. Two persons are ready to swear that the gambler won money of a certain well-known judicial functionary, no longer ago than yesterday."

The magistrate did not blush—perhaps because he could'nt, but after looking the minister full in the face for an instant, he burst into a hearty laugh and exclaimed—

"Fairly caught, parson! I give in; but the truth is I am as anxious to drive the fellow from the town as you can be, though we may go to work different ways. It is useless to fine him if our desire is merely to clear him out."

"Will you not enforce the law?"

"Certainly, my dear sir—certainly, but there are many ways of doing it. No one has a stronger desire to maintain the majesty of the law than I have. You see, parson, this law was intended to drive gamblers from the State. Those who so administer it as to come nearest to the accomplishment of that design, prove themselves to be the most sensible."

"I cannot say that I discover the drift or force of your observations," said the parson rather displeased.

"If you will keep perfectly cool, my good friend, I will demonstrate their force to you. Just go with me."

The worthy magistrate put a pistol in each pocket, thrust a well filled pocket-book into his coat, and taking the preacher by the arm, sallied forth. In a few minutes they were at the door of the dwelling occupied by the gamester. A peculiar knock which the Judge appeared perfectly well to understand, procured them instant admittance. The gambler was alone.

"Allow me to introduce you to my friend the Rev. Mr. Jones."

"Happy to see you, gentlemen," said the gambler, with the blandest smiles. "Please be seated."

The preacher mechanically sank into a chair, wondering what was to come next. The Judge very carefully locked the door, and placed the key in his own pocket.

"Now, Tom, said he to the gambler, "although you and I have had many a pleasant game, I am determined that you shall leave town. Our people say you have pestered them long enough; so there is my pocket-book, as large a pile, I know, as you can raise. Open your bank."

The gamester commenced dealing the game of faro, and at it they went with unusual vigor and keenness. For a while the Judge laid his bets with much caution, and the game appeared to work pretty nearly equal, neither party gaining any great advantage. By-and-by the magistrate commenced betting more extensively. The preacher, forgetting his office, his character, and the place, had left his chair, drawn towards the table, and was watching the progress of the game with intense and overbearing anxiety. The crisis was really approaching—fortune seemed to have declared in favor of the Judge—the pile of money before the gamester was rapidly diminishing, while his countenance underwent as many changes as the shifting clouds during a thunder-storm. At last the Judge made one desperate set upon a single spot. The hand of the gambler trembled as he turned the card.

"Devils and furies! you have won! I am broke flat!" exclaimed the gambler.

"God be praised!" fervently ejaculated the preacher.

"Pay your bet," said the magistrate calmly.

"Haven't got money enough," said the gambler. "I'll pay what I have, with the exception of enough to carry me from this infernal place."

The next morning the gamester was missing, and never was seen in that village afterwards.—As the Judge and his companion walked thoughtfully homeward, the former remarked:

"I told you, my reverend friend, there were different modes of executing the laws; some of which, sir, are much more effectual than others. The fine heretofore has done no good; but you may depend upon it, I have fixed the fellow's flint this time!"

A FAILURE. The New York Express says,—"A suspension of a highly respectable house took place yesterday, which has arisen in consequence of the difficulty to negotiate Bills on Europe. It is stated with great confidence that it is a suspension only, and that the house, which has been engaged in cotton, has ample means to meet all liabilities."

[Reported for the Baltimore Clipper.]

BALTIMORE CITY COURT.

Present—Judges Brice, Nisbet and Worthington.

SATURDAY, JUNE 26, 1841. State vs. Thomas Tibballs. This was an indictment charging the traverser with an assault upon Mr. Batchelor, a former police officer, with intent to kill. The attack upon Mr. B., our readers will recollect, was made on the night of one of the last fall elections; and he was so much injured that, for a while, he was scarcely expected to recover.—The traverser was arrested for being, as was alleged, a participator in that attack. The State, however, could not adduce sufficient evidence to establish the truth of the charge, and, the case being tried before the court, their honors acquitted the traverser.

State vs. Mary Graham, charged with cruelty towards a colored girl in her service, in chastising her with undue severity. In this case the witnesses summoned on the part of the State proved the facts; and the traverser was convicted of the charge; the sentence of the court was not given—the traverser being absent from ill-health, but represented by her husband.

During the progress of the trial a scene occurred which, while perchance, it amused some of those present, was well calculated to teach any, who might be disposed to be refractory, that the majesty of the law is not to be trifled with. Mr. John Graham, the husband of the traverser in this case, taking exception at something said by one of the witnesses on the part of the State, interrupted him with some violence. He was reprimanded by the court, and one of the officers directed to keep him quiet. This, however, Mr. G. seemed disposed should not be done, as he immediately commenced abusing some of the other witnesses near him, when the court ordered the officer to place him in the dock, and he was accordingly put there. This served but to render him still more violent. He declared his determination, if not let out at once, to batter down the frame surrounding the dock—so outrageously violent was his behaviour at this period, that the Warden of the Jail, by direction of the court, sent him over to the pleasant retreat, near the falls, over which he holds control, where, doubtless, by this time, his blood is sufficiently cooled to lead him to repent of his misconduct. He has learned a lesson as to the demeanor to be observed in courts of justice which, we venture to say, he will not quickly forget.

The court room was graced again this morning by the presence of several of the fair, but alas! that we must add, too frail sisterhood of our town, who had been severally indicted for keeping houses of ill-fame. Among them, those who acknowledged the justice of the charge, and submitted to the "tender mercies" of the law, were Eliza Randolph, fined $30 and costs; Margaret Tollman, $20 and costs; Ann Calvert, $10 and costs; Jane Robinson, $30 and costs; Laura Turner, $10 and costs. Mary Ann Law plead not guilty; upon hearing the evidence the court pronounced her guilty, and fined her $10 and costs.

Mrs. Smithson, indicted for the same offence, appeared and plead guilty to the charge. Evidence was, however, adduced on the part of the traverser, to shew that her case was not one of those aggravated ones that it had been said to be; that the house she kept was superior in most respects to other houses of the kind, and that she was kept poor by the heavy expense entailed on her in supporting several children, who had been placed at different seminaries to be educated—and that every care was taken by her to preserve her children from the contamination of the life she herself led; in addition to which she was now, and had long been in wretched health. Under these statements the court held over their decision for the present.

Upon the opening of the court this morning, James L. Ridgely, Esq., made an application to their honors to remit the imprisonment to which John Bacon was sentenced some few days since, for an assault on a watchman. Mr. R. stated that the mother of Bacon was in great distress of mind, caused by the situation of her son—that the young man himself, when not under the influence of liquor, was very quiet and well behaved; and that, if the imprisonment were remitted, his parents would endeavor to send him into the country, where he would be less exposed to temptation. The court, upon these representations, remitted the imprisonment.

We learn that true bills of indictment for the wilful murder of Daniel Bosley have been returned by the grand jury against Elijah Peacock and Rosanna Herbert. A great number of witnesses have been summoned on behalf of the State; and the case, as we are informed, involves some unusual and mysterious circumstances.—Wm. P. Preston, Esq., has entered his appearance as counsel for the prisoners.

SAD CATASTROPHE. We learn from the N. H. Courier that on the 11th inst., at the raising of a barn in Oxford, N. H., when one of the broad-sides was up at the angle of about 45 degrees, the foot of one of the principal posts split out the thin side of the mortice hole, which let the whole slip forward, and let it down with tremendous force, killing Captain Joseph Ellsworth instantly, a worthy and much esteemed man, aged 29 years; breading a leg of Mr. Ephraim Marston in two places, injuring severely Mr. Wm. F. Lane, and slighly several other men.

FREDERICK COUNTY BANK. This institution, says the Herald, is drawing closer and closer the lines of circumvallation. Nearly the whole of its legitimate issues are now in, either on deposite or register. Those who have yet any of them in possession had better bring them in pretty soon, or they may find them included among those from which "the odor" of suspicion is found to emanate.

If the stolen funds be not recovered pretty soon, we think that the Bank will block the game upon the thieves.

DIGGING UP OLD COIN. A farmer in Maine, when excavating the top of a ledge, found a quantity of uncurrent silver coin. The Transcript states that "many of these coins are a curiosity, being of all possible shapes and forms. It would seem they were cut down to an exact weight.—They all have upon them a coinage, but most of them very uncouth and without date, and clearly show, the great improvements made since the days of our fathers in the coinage of money."

A NUT FOR BOTANISTS. It is related in a late foreign paper that a German botanist, who some time ago accompanied the English Colony to the Swan River, discovered there a plant, the flowers of which, warmed by the rays of the sun, gave out at intervals a smoke similar to that exhaled by persons who smoke tobacco. The learned traveller was at first very much alarmed when he saw the smoking flower, and thought he had fallen into an ambuscade of savages.

TERRIBLE STORM. A very terrible and destructive storm was experienced in Lynchburg, Va. and the vicinity on Monday night last. Several mills and houses situated upon streams were entirely swept off. The canal sustained damage to the amount of ten or fifteen thousand dollars. The destruction of property was immense. No lives were lost however.

INFLUX OF FOREIGNERS. The number of immigrants who have arrived during the present season from foreign ports exceeds 21,000. A late Quebec paper states the arrivals in Canada at over 15,000. Total 39,000. It is expected that during the months of July and August at least 40,000 more will arrive at New York and Quebec.

INDIAN HOSTILITIES. A letter dated Pilatka, June 18th, informs us of further hostilities with the Indians. An attack was made upon a teamster, eight miles from Fort Macomb. Several persons were in his wagon, one of whom was killed. The letter states that the war has been renewed.

CASES OF INSOLVENCY. Only three hundred and forty-six persons applied for the benefit of the insolvent law in Philadelphia last month. This is at the rate of four thousand one hundred and fifty-two per annum—and two hundred and ninety thousand six hundred and forty for the allotted age of man, 70 years.

LADIES' FASHION AT THE SOUTH. The editor of the Lafayette (Geo.) Chronicle gives the following as a part of the ladies' fashion for June: "Neck and shoulders naked. Hair to be brushed on the cheeks, after the style of a man's whiskers. Bustle like a garden roller. Bonnet like a coal scuttle. Rouge for the face—two pounds."

A DREADFUL CATASTROPHE. A London paper informs us that 75 persons, mostly Greeks, while Crossing the Marizza, at Adrianople, on a temporary wooden bridge, on the 21st March, fell into the river, and 72 of them were drowned.

MURDER. A man named Randall killed another named Montgomery, in Lancaster Co., Pa., on the 19th inst. They quarrelled about some wood.

LAMENTABLE. An insane man named John Bullard, of Hartford, Conn., jumped from the second story window of a house, and died almost instantly.

RETIRING. Mr. Jones, manager of the Tremont Theatre, Boston, retires from the charge of that establishment the present week.

☞Illinois bonds, according to the latest accounts, were selling in New York at 36 cents on the dollar.

LAUGHING FINEABLE. A young fellow, it is stated, was fined $3.75 for laughing at the mishap of a damsel, who accidentally fell as she was tripping to church. Her father, having failed to elicit under what statute laughter was fineable, paid the costs. The magistrate probably thought he deserved punishment for the impudence and want of sympathy which the act displayed.—N. Y. Sun.

AN ELOPEMENT. The Bay State Democrat says there has been no little stir among the Roxbury quid nuncs, caused by the elopement with a servant and cidevant divinity student, of a young lady connected with the management of a public house in that city.

THE CROPS IN NEW YORK. The editor of the Rochester Democrat, who has lately travelled through the western towns of Monroe county, and the northern and eastern towns of Genesee county, states that the growing crops in that section have been much injured by long continued drought. In some of the towns he estimates the probable yield of wheat at 50 per cent. less than the usual one.

FIRE IN SYRACUSE, N. Y.—A fire occurred at Syracuse, N. Y., last week, which destroyed three buildings, a quanity of hay and grain, and four or five horses.

THE POTOMAC PAVILLION,

PINEY POINT.

THE SUBSCRIBER respectfully informs his friends and the Public that he has resumed the management of this popular Bathing Place, and that it is now open for the reception of company.

Piney Point, on which the Pavilion is situated, is a clear open cape, (though wooded in the rear on the north and east,) jutting into the Potomac near its mouth, where the river is eight or ten miles wide, in full view of the Chesapeak bay. The bathing is very fine, the water being nearly as salt as that of the ocean, and the air is pure. It possesses the advantage of the greatest abundance of the largest oysters, of soft and hard crabs, and all the varieties of excellent fish with which the waters of the Chesapeake abound.

There are a spacious Ball Room, Billiard Room, Bowling Alley, Quoit Yards, &c., the whole fronting the river to the south, within a hundred yards of the clean white beach. There are provided, also, two beautiful and commodious yachts, under the charge of an experienced and skilful seaman. There are bathing houses for those who prefer them to the open sea; also a substantial wharf for the steamboats to come up to, instead of landing and taking off passengers in the small boats, as heretofore; which, moreover, enables visitors to bring carriages and horses, if they choose.

Besides the salt water luxuries above named, every thing will be supplied for the table which the markets of the District, Baltimore, and Norfolk can afford, to which the steamboat lines furnish regular access; and the house will be amply provided with the best wines and other liquors.

The establishment has been well, then plainly, furnished throughout, including new mattresses and bed furniture. The establishment is sufficiently large to accommodate 200 visitors.

The steamers which ply between the District and Baltimore and Norfolk furnish to the inhabitants of those cities regular opportunities for visiting and departing from the Pavillion.

The subscriber has procured the aid of efficient and attentive assistants for the Bar and other departments of the establishment.

It is determined that moderate charges shall constitute one of the advantages of the establishment; to this shall be added the most zealous efforts to please, and the subscriber trusts that these efforts, united to the experience acquired by him as keeper for several years of a public house, will enable him to give satisfaction to all who may favor him with a visit.

P. J. HERBURN.

Price of board $1 25 per day, children under twelve years of age and servants half price.

N.B.—Families desirous of spending a considerable portion of the season will be taken on more moderate terms.

DR. STORM'S SPECIFIC COMPOUND,

For the cure of Gonorrhœa, Gleets, Strictures, Diabetes or difficulty in making water, and all other unnatural discharges from the urethra of either sex.

In no case has this medicine been known to fail, to effect a permanent cure, and too, in the shortest possible time. Should this medicine fail to effect a case where it has been taken according to directions, return the empty vial and get back the money. Why then spend both time and money with such quack nostrums as cannot be depended upon; when, for $1, you can purchase a pleasant, sure, and speedy cure, composed solely of vegetable substance? One hundred dollars will be paid to any one who will produce a medicine to equal this compound, or who will prove that it contains any mineral substance whatever.

N. B. This Medicine can be had of JAMES P. WILLIAMSON, corner of High and Green street, (O. T.) of T. J. PITT, Market Space, Fell's Point, and of J. W. W. GORDON, cor. of Pratt & Howard-sts. TO THE PUBLIC.—The price of HATS again lowered. TOWSON is now selling in Eutaw street, one door north of Lexington street, his superior Hats at the following low prices—fine short Nap Mole Skin Hats at $2.50, fine Brush Hats $2.50; Fur Hats from $1.50 upwards. It may be asked how such Hats can be sold (if as represented) at such very low prices; I answer in the first place, I manufacture very extensively, and am able to purchase materials by the quantity much lower than if I bought by the small; and secondly, I sell for cash, and do not have to charge those who pay a high price, to make up for those who do not pay, as the natural result of the credit system. I think my Hats the best as now offered ever sold in this market for the price. Persons will please call and look at my hats before purchasing elsewhere. Remember TOWSON, one door from Lexington street.

PUBLIC LANDS. The bill introduced by the Hon. William Cost Johnson, of Maryland, for the distribution of the proceeds of the sales of the public lands among the several states, was called up on Friday last, when Mr. Johnson addressed the House in an able, satisfactory and convincing speech in favor of the measure. Had we room it would afford us pleasure to publish his address; for we think, that, after a careful examination of his facts and arguments, every man in Maryland open to conviction, would concur in the propriety of the measure recommended. Indeed, it appears to us most extraordinary that argument should be necessary with any citizen of Maryland, to shew the justice and expediency of the proposed distribution. The State is deeply involved in debt, and the people are subjected to heavy taxes.—The faith of the State is pledged for the debt, and it must be redeemed, or we be dishonored, to which we presume no one would consent. It cannot be denied that the public lands are common property, and that Maryland has her equitable interests in them. Shall we then permit these lands to be given to the states in which they lie at a nominal valuation, or have them sold as heretofore, receiving our distributive share of the proceeds? If we desire to have the present taxes continued, and perhaps increased, we will adopt the advice of those who oppose the distribution bill: but, if we would lessen our burthens and be finally relieved from them, we will not forego our just claim upon the public lands, and let them go to enrich the citizens of the new states. To abandon our right would, indeed, be the extreme of liberality. It would be double-refined folly, for which we should deserve to sweat and labor the balance of our lives.

We care not what politicians on either side may say on this subject. We do not look at it as politicians, but consider it as a matter of interest. The assessors are now engaged in their duties, and this fall the tax gatherers will pay their unwelcome visits. Who is there that would not rejoice if the amount to be paid could be reduced a fourth or a third? Not an individual. And yet when it is proposed to effect this, and probably a greater reduction, some men are so mad as to call upon the people to reject the offer, and to continue the present rate of taxes. We beg that the people will disconnect this subject from politics, and look at it with an eye to the justice, propriety and advantage of the measure alone. It is worthy of serious and deliberate consideration.

LECTURES OF DR. AIKIN ON CHEMISTRY. We publish, with great pleasure, the following proceedings of the ladies and gentlemen who attended the recent course of lectures on Chemistry, delivered by Professor Aikin. The science of Chemistry is a delightful and useful study; but as few persons have the leisure and the apparatus necessary to make themselves familiar with the subject, it is satisfactory to know that the lectures of professor Aikin, accompanied by experimental illustrations, afford all the information that is necessary for practical purposes. We are pleased to see that the ladies are turning their attention to this science; as they will find the time devoted to these lectures not only pleasantly but usefully employed.

At a meeting of the ladies and gentlemen composing and attending Prof. AIKIN's summer course of Lectures on Chemistry, the following Resolutions were adopted, unanimously:

Resolved, That the class sincerely tender their warmest thanks to Prof. AIKIN, for the interesting and satisfactory Lectures delivered by him, and for the beautiful experiments performed during his summer course.

Resolved, That we are truly gratified to learn that Prof. AIKIN proposes giving a similar course the ensuing summer of '42; and we would furthermore most earnestly recommend to such as have not, or could avail themselves of the present course, to become members of his class, at the very commencement, and acquire a knowledge of one of the most beautiful and useful of the sciences, fully evinced as it has been by our very able and beloved Lecturer, in the use of the most complete and elegant Philosophical apparatus in the United States.

Resolved, That an attested copy of these Resolutions be presented to Prof. AIKIN, and also to the daily papers of the city, with the compliments of the ladies.

JAMES CAMPBELL, Chairman.
H. FROTT, Secretary.

DREADFUL RESULT OF INTEMPERANCE. A most shocking scene, caused by intemperance, took place in Rochester on the 22d inst. It seems that a man named John Rawley, had been on a drunken frolick for about ten days; finally, he returned home bringing with him some arsenic. The Post states that while his wife was out of the room preparing breakfast, he went to a pail of water, where his wife found him drinking when she returned. She soon observed some white substance in the water; but thinking it was merely some magnesia, she drank some of the water, as did two of the children. She sickened immediately, but was soon relieved; and the children (one of eight, and the other about three years old) are in a fair way of recovery. This is another warning to those who are abandoned to the habits of intemperance.

REMAINS OF GEN. HARRISON. On Saturday afternoon, between three and four o'clock, the mortal remains of the late President were brought into this city from Washington, in charge of the committee appointed to convey them to North Bend. From the depot they were transmitted to Barnum's Hotel, in a car guarded by eight U. S. Marines, and followed in solemn procession by the committee and a few of our venerable citizens, costumed in black, wearing appropriate badges of mourning. The body was placed in a basement room of the Hotel, fronting on Fayette street. This was deemed most prudent by the committee, as they wished to keep it in the coolest place possible. It may be proper to remark that the arrangements from the depot to the Hotel were entirely under the supervision of Mr. Barnum himself, it being desirous to avoid show and parade. The body is enclosed first in a leaden coffin, which is placed in a mahogany one and then in one of zinc, hermetically sealed.—This is also enclosed in a coffin of walnut, with chloride of lime filled in between it and the zinc, which is very substantially made, and air-tight. Covering the whole is a rich black silk velvet pall, trimmed with gold fringe and hung with gold tassels. When the body was exposed to the committee at Washington, a short time previous to its removal, it had undergone very little change. The features appeared as at death, except that the face was a little swollen.

On Saturday evening the U. S. Marines were relieved by the Independent Blues, who kept sentry by turns, pacing the pavement fronting where the remains were deposited, until one o'clock, when they were relieved by the Estaw Infantry, who volunteered and kept guard until morning, when the National Guards took their place during the day. The First Light Division of Maryland Volunteers, under command of Brig. Gen. B. C. Howard, are ordered out, and will escort the remains from Barnum's Hotel to the Depot of the Susquehanna Railroad, whence they will be transported to York, Pa., thence to Columbia, thence by way of canal to Pittsburg, and thence down the river to North Bend. Some of our military companies intend going as far as Columbia, in which case no charge will be made by the Railroad Company either going or returning, which privilege has been liberally granted by the president and directors. For this generous act much praise is due them.

DIVISION ORDER. The First Light Division of Maryland Volunteers will parade on this (Monday) morning, to escort the body of Gen. Harrison, late President of the United States, to the cars in which it is to be transported to York. The line will be formed in Baltimore street, facing South, with the right resting on Calvert street, at 7 o'clock, precisely: as the hour of the departure of the cars is fixed, punctuality is indispensable. Other volunteer corps are respectfully invited to unite with the division.

BENJ. C. HOWARD,
Brigadier General, Commander.

EXTENSIVE CIRCULATION OF THE CLIPPER. We had practical evidence on Saturday last of the great benefit which results from the extensive circulation of our paper, and of "newspaper enterprise" when properly directed. Whilst some of our cotemporaries were sound asleep on Friday night, our vigilant eyes were wide awake; and the consequence was, that on Saturday morning we announced the daring robbery of Midshipman G. D. Brown, and the commitment of E. Cook and W. Dennis as the suspected perpetrators of it. As the Clipper is taken every where, and read by every body, soon after its appearance, Mr. Wilson, living near Baltimore street bridge, repaired to the magistrate's office and gave information that two watches, one gold, the other silver, and fifty-one dollars, five ten dollar notes on a Bank in Wheeling, and a one dollar note, had come into his possession under the following circumstances: on Friday morning, as soon as the store was opened, two men entered and asked his mother, who was in the store at the time, for a pair of pumps—they purchased a pair, and offered in payment a ten dollar Wheeling note, which she declined changing. One of them drew from his pocket the two watches and some more notes, and remarked that they wished to leave those articles in her care, as they were strangers in the town, had got on a spree the night before, and were going on another that morning, and were fearful they might lose the property. Their request was peremptorily declined, but they insisted upon leaving the things, saying they would call in the course of the day for them; and finally settled the dispute by walking off and leaving the watches and money on the counter. Upon her son's learning from her what had passed, he communicated the fact to some of his neighbors, who advised him to wait awhile and see if they would return. About two o'clock they did return, asked for the watches and money, stating that they were about to leave town that afternoon, received them and left the store.

Near dusk one of them returned, took a paper out of his pocket, which he said contained the money, stating that they had been disappointed in getting away, and would not leave until the morning, and they would again leave the money with her for safe keeping. This proposition met with a positive refusal from Mrs. Wilson, when the gentleman settled the question by walking suddenly out, leaving the paper on the counter. Upon its being opened, fifty-one dollars, as above described, were found in it, and the two watches, which had not been mentioned or shewn by the person leaving the paper.

We have before stated the manner of the arrest and commitment of the parties suspected of the robbery, but, if we except the affidavit of Mr. Brown, the loser, there was, at that time no evidence against them sufficient to lead to their indictment by the grand jury; and, had the publication not appeared in the Clipper the probability is, that the rogues would have been discharged on Saturday for want of evidence, and Mr. Brown would have lost his watch and money. Thus is seen the great benefit which arises from having the Clipper so generally distributed.

We dislike puffing, otherwise we could blow a blast which would startle our sleeping neighbors, and frighten them into fits. But we are content to "do the State some service," without making a blowing horn of the business. We are glad that midshipman Brown has recovered his property, and that the rogues will be hauled over the coals, through our instrumentality. We can tell the light-fingered gentry that whenever the Clipper gives chase they might as well surrender at discretion for there is no chance of escape.

The facts above stated shew the advantages of advertising in our paper. But enough has been said. People have discretion, and know too well where their interest lies, to need direction.

HONOR TO WHOM HONOR IS DUE. Too much praise cannot be awarded to the diligence and activity of the officers by whom Dennis and Cook, those "nice young men" who robbed Midshipman Brown, were arrested and brought to justice. It will be remembered that the robbery was committed about one or two o'clock on Friday morning; warrants were placed in the hands of the officers late on the afternoon of that day; and in an almost incredibly short space of time, one was arrested by Mr. Charles Brown, assisted by citizen Cook; and the other by Mr. H. Chisholm, assisted by Mr. Hitzleberger, and both were conducted into the presence of A. H. Pennington, Esq. the magistrate, by whom they were committed, after a most thorough and able examination of all the circumstances.

SHOCKING DECAPITATION. The Norwich (Ct.) Courier says that Mr. John Armstrong, while detaching the freight cars from the locomotive on the railroad at that city on Tuesday last, was thrown upon the track and his head was instantly severed from his body by the whole train passing over him. Mr. Palmer, another brakeman, also fell under the train while endeavoring to rescue his friend, and one of his legs was crushed off just below the knee. A coroner's jury, after careful inquiry, absolved the conductors from all blame.

NEWS ABOUT TOWN.

DISGUSTING SCENE. Passing along Gay-st. on Saturday morning, we observed a female of rather respectable appearance, seated on one of the steps in front of the church, who, from her language and manner, appeared to be under the influence of liquor. About ten o'clock the same evening we saw a crowd gathered round some object on the pavement, near Baltimore street bridge. On making our way into the circle we discovered the same wretched woman, partially lying on the step of a door, where, apparently, she had fallen—a basket which, when we first saw her, contained some food, doubtless bestowed by the hand of charity, lay beside her with her bonnet in it, while the miserable being herself had sunk into a state of lethargy from which she could only be roused sufficiently to utter occasional moans. The sight was revolting to humanity. Drunkenness in man is inexcusable—nay, it is deeply debasing; but when a woman abandons herself to the control of this disgusting vice, so monstrous is the pollution that the mind sickens at the bare reflection of the fathomless abyss of degradation into which she has cast herself.

TWO EXTRA SPLENDID NUMBERS.—The Lady's Book and Graham's Magazine. We have been handed by Mr. N. Hickman the Lady's Book and Graham's Magazine, for July. They are decidedly the richest specimens we have seen. It would seem that the proprietors in the production of the present numbers, had been actuated by a commendable ambition, as to who should excel in embellishment. The engravings are of a very chaste and elegant order; two of each, besides a plate of the latest fashions, are to be found in the numbers before us. This is something extra. The contents are more than usually interesting. We commend them to the tasteful reader, and especially to the ladies.

We are also indebted to Mr. Wm. N. Harrison, for a number of each of the above works, which been received since writing the above.

SUDDEN DEATH While an individual, who had shipped on board of the schooner Canova, bound to Key West, was engaged in assisting to haul the vessel out from Spear's wharf, he was seized with spasms of so violent a character, that he expired in a few minutes, although medical aid was procured for him, as soon as he was attacked His name was Joseph Alters, a native of the State of Maine, aged about 30 years. Wm. Rice, Esq., coroner, held an inquest over the body, and a verdict was returned according to the facts as above stated.

THE PHŒNIX AND BUDGET. The July number of this excellent Baltimore monthly is upon our table. We have perused it carefully and with much interest. It is a work of merit, has a number of excellent correspondents, and displays both tact and talent in the editorial department. We are in favor of home productions. The prosperity of the Budget therefore is gratifying.

RAPE. We have been informed that a rape was committed on Saturday afternoon last, about two miles from this city, near the Reisterstown road, on the person of a young and beautiful German girl, who resides on Pennsylvania Avenue. She had been in the habit of bringing in cows from pasture, and it was while on this duty that she was met by the negro. He has not yet been arrested.

RUMOR. It was rumored in this city yesterday, by passengers from N. York, that two men had been arrested in that city, on suspicion of being concerned in the robbery of the Frederick County Bank.

OBTAINING GOODS ON FALSE PRETENCES. Jno. N. Cunningham was on Friday last, taken before Squire Pennington, on a charge of obtaining, upon false pretences, certain goods and household furniture, the property of Mrs. Bridget M. Kearney, his own mother. On the part of the defendant evidence was produced to shew that his mother had sold him the contents of the store, for fifty dollars, to be paid in twelve months, the mother, in the meantime, to board with the son. To prove this agreement a paper was produced purporting to be the copy of an original contract signed by Mrs. Kearney, in which she agreed to sell to her son the effects of her shop, for fifty dollars, giving him a credit of twelve months for the payment of the money, and which, according to the testimony of the witness who testified to this point, was drawn by him, (the witness,) and partially signed by Mrs. Kearney, when he finished the signature, and affixed the mark, under the impression that all the parties were satisfied with the arrangement. Some further evidence was produced on the part of the defendant to shew that Mrs. Kearney had been treated kind by his family, and had nothing to complain of.

Mrs. Kearney, the complainant, stated that she had partially signed the agreement, of which the paper produced in court was a copy, but that it was signed in consequence of threats made by her son. He had caused the original paper to be drawn up, and had come into the room back of the shop, and wanted her to sign it; upon declining, he said she would have to do it, or they would wait on her no longer. He then ordered the furniture to be taken out of that room, and carried up stairs, which was done; and he threatened to lock her up in the room and keep her there, without any one to wait on her, if she would not sign. Under the fear excited by these threats she agreed, and did partially sign, the balance of the name and the mark being completed by the person who drew up the paper. She remained with her son's family about ten days afterwards, when their conduct was so threatening and violent, as to compel her to go up stairs and remain there, (she being the legal occupier of the house, which she had kept for thirteen years,) since that period she had been compelled to sell one of her beds to obtain necessaries, had to cook for herself, and had been subjected to insults continually from her son and his family, whenever she left her room.

Upon a review of the testimony in the case, the Justice committed the traverser, in default of security, to answer the charge before the court.

UPSET OF A SAIL BOAT. We understand that a sail boat, in which five or six gentlemen were taking a pleasure excursion on Saturday afternoon, upset off the Lower Canton House, precipitating all hands into the river. Fortunately they managed to cling to the bottom of the boat until she righted, and gained the shore without further injury from the accident than a thorough wetting.

INCORRIGIBLE. Washington Dennit, whose confinement, for want of security to keep the peace, we noticed some days since; and who was, on Saturday morning, released from prison, was re-committed the same afternoon, and charged of again disturbing the peace of the state and threatening his neighbours.

FIRE. The alarm of fire on Friday night at eleven o'clock, was caused by the burning of a barn, the property of James Carroll, Esq., situated near the bridge over Gwynn's Falls, on the Washington turnpike.

For the Baltimore Clipper

MESSRS. EDITORS: I have seen notices in several papers in regard to an order passed by the directors of the "Green Mount Cemetery," to have it closed on Sundays, save to lot-holders.

My object in addressing you is, for the purpose of coinciding with the authors of several communications, and also to give you the feelings of a great number of ladies on the subject. They love to walk out a short distance from the city on Sunday afternoon, accompanied by a male friend. They love to sit in those "elysian bowers" of Green Mount so congenial to the taste of romantic lovers, or to recite over the deeds of by-gone days, of "noble battles gloriously won," and victories over woman as gloriously achieved—and where's the place so suitable?—None—none in the wide range of your far-extended city. There may the love-sick swain read the memorial of others placed in the same situation, or the broken-hearted widow mourn the loss of a beloved husband, or the ambitious young man may read on those marble tablets the history of many, very many, who, by industry and perseverance, have achieved immortal honors.

Then, since this place is so well suited for the retreat of old and young, the rich and the poor, why not revoke their decree, and open the gates to respectable visiters?

What has made Mount Auburn and other places of the same cast so notorious? It is because they are open to the visits of the inhabitants of their respective places; and thus they receive that high praise and encomium which they so richly merit. Let the press of Baltimore come out and speak its sentiments candidly and boldly, and the object is achieved. VERNON.

[We think that it might be well to admit visiters, other than lot-holders, to the Cemetery on the Sabbath, not precisely for the reasons assigned by our correspondent; but because it would offer an agreeable and healthy walk to the ladies. It would no doubt become a place of great resort, and, perhaps, the managers apprehend that there might be disorder among the concourse. To avoid this there should be rigid rules rigorously enforced; and no man under the influence of liquor should be permitted to enter the premises. The sacred character of the place should forbid all indecorum; and no person of correct feeling or principle would be guilty of misconduct whilst within the limits of the Cemetery. If it could be opened to visiters on Sunday, and be preserved entirely free from disorder, it might be well—but of this the managers must be the best judges, and we presume that they have satisfactory reasons for the course they have adopted. We believe that they have the disposition to gratify the public as far as they can do so consistently with their own ideas of propriety.]

MR. WALTON'S BENEFIT.

THOS. J. WALTON, in announcing his BENEFIT at this establishment for THURSDAY, 1st July, 1841, most respectfully and earnestly solicits the support and patronage of his friends and the public generally, sincerely hoping that the exertions he has made at various times, through a period of some years, to conduce to the amusement of Baltimoreans, may be deemed worthy of their consideration in this (perhaps his last) appeal to their kindness. On this occasion will be presented, for the first time in this city, a beautiful version of the drama of

IVANHOE; OR, THE MAID OF INDAH.

Which has been prepared with great care and labor, and will be produced under the immediate superintendance of Mr. JOSEPH FOSTER, in a style of splendor never yet surpassed in any theatre. In the course of the piece, will be given a very vivid picture of the GRAND TOURNAMENT at Ashby-de-la-Zouch, so beautifully and graphically described by Sir Walter Scott, a great variety of entertainments—particulars of which will be given in future advertisements. je25-3t

DAVIES'
FAMILY ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS.

THESE VALUABLE PILLS are very gentle in their operations, causing neither pain nor griping, nor any nauseous sickness. They exceedingly comfort and strengthen the stomach and bowels, and clear the sight, senses, hearing, and memory, of aged persons, by carrying off phlegms, watery matter, putrid, gross, and thick humours from the Stomach, Bowels, and Blood which makes them so celebrated for removing Coughs, Rheumatism, Pains from the Body and Limbs, Gravel, Piles, Sick Stomach, Disordered Bowels, and Worms.

Mrs. C. Burton, near Locust street, was diseased for seven years with a lump in the left side, bumps all over her skin, pains around the small of her back running into the stomach, which prevented her (to use her own words,) from eating one particle of meat; the first dose removed the lump, and two boxes set her at liberty.

Sold by G. Savage, General Agent for Washington; J. Thomas, and Mrs. Banks Georgetown; W. G. Cole, Hatter, and J. Brunner, Frederick; S. Church, Alexandria; J. Demuth, York; J. Turpin, No. 34 Fayette-st.; and by T. MOORE, No. 74 Market street, General Agent for Baltimore. Price 25 cents per box, five for $1, or $2 per dozen. je20

BALTIMORE CLIPPER.

[Correspondence of the Baltimore Clipper.]

WASHINGTON, June 26, 1841.

In pursuance of previous arrangements, the remains of our late lamented President were removed from their silent resting place to be deposited at his own home, among those whose hearts beat high at the recital of his glory, and whose tears will be the genuine tribute to his goodness.

At ten o'clock, the Joint Committee of both Houses of Congress, the Committee from Cincinnati, the President and Heads of Department, together with numerous other distinguished individuals, moved from the Capitol towards the Congressional Burial Ground. On arriving, the body was taken from the vault, and placed in a suitable vehicle, covered with a pall of black silk velvet edged with gold. The procession then re-formed and arrived at the depot just as the morning train of cars from Baltimore came in. Although a great number of people had collected to take a last sad view of the remains, the greatest order was observed, and a deep sense of solemnity pervaded the numerous assemblage.

The coffin was enclosed in a large polished mahogany case, so as to preserve it from all possible injury in being removed from one vehicle to another in the course of the journey.

In addition to the Committee from Ohio, six sergeants and a sergeant major of the U. S. army left with the body. It is understood that they will accompany it the whole distance.

The funeral of Major General Macomb takes place on Monday. The procession will not be formed until after the arrival of the volunteer companies from your city.

In this city of office-seekers, the tone of public feeling is such, that no sooner does death strike down a victim, than the question is asked "Who is to be the successor?"

The general impression here is, that Gen. Scott will receive the appointment as Commander-in-Chief, although Gen. Gaines has strong claims.

ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE,

WASHINGTON, JUNE 26, 1841.

Agreeably to instructions of War, the following arrangements for the funeral honors of the lamented Major General MACOMB have been made.

ORDER OF THE PROCESSION.

The Troops designated to form the escort will be commanded by Major Gen. JESUP (unless a senior officer should arrive,) and they will assemble in front of the mansion of the late General-in-Chief at 9½ o'clock on Monday, the 28th of June, from which the procession will move precisely at 10½ o'clock.

The usual badges of mourning will be worn on the left arm, and on the hilt of the sword.

The ADJUTANT-GENERAL of the Army is charged with the arrangements of the day, and will be aided by the ASSISTANTS ADJUTANT-GENERAL on duty near the Head Quarters of the Army. By order,

L. THOMAS,
Assistant Adjutant-General.

MURDER IN THE PENITENTIARY—ESCAPE OF CONVICTS. An extra slip from the St. Louis Gazette, dated 17th inst., informs us that a revolt took place among the prisoners in the Penitentiary at Jefferson city, on the previous Monday, which resulted in the murder of the overseer, (Mr. William Bullard,) and the escape of eight of the convicts. The murder was the result of a conspiracy of which the ring-leaders were Berry and Johnson. They decoyed the overseer into a saddler's shop, on pretence that they wanted instructions in some matter—and having induced him to stoop to look under a bench, killed him by a blow from a mallet or hammer. They then made a signal, which was understood by the rest—seized a brace of pistols from Bullard's person and the keys, with which they opened the doors for the escape of themselves and the others.

MEDICAL AID.

THE SUCCESS that has attended the treatment of many thousand cases of Venereal Complaints for twenty-five years past, induces the subscriber to inform the public that he may be consulted, and consulted on all cases of the kind, recent and chronic, and on diseases of the urinary organs generally—such as Gonorrhœa, Gravel, Gleets, Stricures, &c. His treatment is speedy, safe, and certain—the medicines are so mild that the most delicate may take them without restrictions in diet or occupation. Many persons, who have tried all the lauded quack nostrums of the day, are frequently calling on the subscriber to have the injuries they have sustained by their use relieved. In recent cases a thorough cure will be guaranteed for three dollars. Gonorrhœa Medicines will be furnished at one and two dollars a bottle, according to size, a large one generally cures in a few days. PILLS may be had at a dollar per box. The Vegetable Anti-mercurial CORDIAL is one dollar and fifty cents per bottle—this Medicine is the greatest purifier of the blood in the world. It renews and regenerates old and shattered constitutions, and, it may be said, is literally working wonders. Apply at

CASH FOR NEGROES.

THE subscriber being permanently located in this city, is at all times wanting to purchase likely young negroes of both sexes, for which cash and the most liberal prices will be paid. Persons having such to dispose of will find it to their interest to call on me before they sell, as they may rest assured, by doing so they shall obtain their VALUE for them. The subscriber's establishment is located on Harford Avenue, in one of the highest and most healthy parts of the city, having a free circulation of air, and a yard for exercise through the day—must necessarily be more healthy than in the centre of the city, especially in hot weather. Servants will be received for safe keeping, and every attention paid to their comfort and cleanliness, at the low rate of 25 cents per day. Application to be made to me at my office in Calvert-st. Near Market st., one door below Mr. Bloomer's hat store, or at my residence, or to my brother at Whitman's Eagle Hotel, Pratt-st., immediately opposite the Baltimore and Ohio Rail road Depot. JAMES F. PURVIS.

☞All communications promptly attended to.

CASH FOR NEGROES.

THE HIGHEST PRICES will at all times be given for NEGROES of both sexes, that are slaves for life, and good titles. My office is in PRATT STREET, No. 85, between Sharp and Howard streets, where myself or my Agent, (Mr. J. M. WILSON,) can be seen at all times. All persons, having Negroes to sell, would do well to see me before they dispose of them, as I am always buying and forwarding to the New Orleans market. I will also receive and keep Negroes at twenty-five cents each, per day, and forward them to any Southern port, at the request of the owner. My establishment is large, comfortable and airy, and all above ground; and kept in complete order, with a large yard for exercise; and is the strongest and most splendid building of the kind in the United States. And as the character of my house and yard is so completely established, for strength, comfort and cleanliness, and it being a place where I keep all my own, I will not be accountable, for the future, for any escapes of any kind from my establishment.

NOTICE.

BALTIMORE & OHIO RAIL ROAD.

THE CHANGE in the hour of arrival of the Mail Train from Philadelphia, renders it necessary that a corresponding change should be made in the departure of the Morning Cars for the west:

Notice is therefore hereby given, That on and after WEDNESDAY, 26th instant, the Passenger Train for Ellicott's Mills, Frederick, and Harper's Ferry will be despatched from the Depot in Pratt street, at half past 9 instead of 7 o'clock, A. M., the present hour of departure—of which travellers will take notice.

☞The Extra Train for Frederick will continue to leave at 3½ o'clock every evening, with which, as well as with the Morning Train, passengers from Washington can still connect at the Relay House. By order,

MOFFAT'S LIFE PILLS
AND VEGETABLE BITTERS.

THE perfectly safe, unerring and successful treatment of almost every species of disease by the use of MOFFAT'S LIFE MEDICINES, is no longer a matter of doubt, as a reference to the experience of many thousand patients will satisfactorily prove. During the present month alone, nearly one hundred cases have come to the knowledge of Mr. Moffat, where the patient has, to all appearance, effected a permanent cure by the exclusive and judicious use of the Life Medicines—some eight or ten of these had been considered beyond all hope by their medical attendants.—Such happy results are a source of great pleasure to Mr. M. and inspire him with new confidence to recommend the use of his medicines to his fellow citizens.

The Life Medicines are a purely VEGETABLE preparation. They are mild and pleasant in their operation, and at the same time thorough—acting rapidly upon the secretions of the system—carrying off all acrimonious humors, and assimilating with and purifying the blood. For this reason, in aggravated cases of dyspepsia, the Life Medicines will give relief in a shorter space of time than any other prescription; in Fever-and-ague, Inflammation, Fevers of every description, Sick headache, heartburn, dizziness in the head, pains in the chest, flatulency, impaired appetite, in every disease arising from an impurity of the blood, or a disordered state of the stomach, the use of these medicines has always proved to be beyond doubt greatly superior to any other mode of treatment.

All that Mr. Moffat asks of his patients is to be particular in taking them strictly according to the directions. It is not by a newspaper notice, or by any thing that he himself may say in their favor, that he hopes to gain credit, it is alone by the results of a fair trial. Is the reader an invalid, and does he wish to know whether the life medicines will suit his own case? If so let him call or send to Mr. Moffat's agent in this place, and procure a copy of the Medical Manual, designed as a domestic guide to health, published gratuitously. He will here find enumerated very many extraordinary cases of cure; and perhaps some exactly similar to his own. Moffat's medical office is New York, 375 Broadway, and for sale by the Agents. JAS. WEBB'S PATENT BURNERS,
AND CAMPHINE OIL.

FOR SALE AT No. 109 E. BALTIMORE STREET, between South and Calvert streets, where Burners of every description can be obtained. Those who are sceptical as to its safety or economy, would, I trust be perfectly satisfied by examining the opinion of Professor LOCK, of Ohio, on "WEBB'S CAMPHINE," or by referring to the Journals of the Franklin and American Institutes, of Philadelphia and New York. All those desirous of obtaining a clean, brilliant, and economical light, will find it greatly to their advantage by calling on the subscriber. The public may be assured of one fact, that we require no meters to ascertain the amount of Camphine consumed, as they register correctly and in plain English.

For the Proprietors.

The following letter to the Agent, exhibits the superiority of the Camphine over Gas or Oil light, in brilliancy and cheapness:

New York, March 23, 1840.

DEAR SIR—I received yours of the 19th instant, and proceed, as you request, to inform you that WEBB'S PATENT LAMP, in my opinion, is much superior to any Lamp now in use—the Camphine produces better light than Gas or Oil. I have burned Oil for five years, Gas for eleven, and Webb's Camphine for 20 months. I have a better light in my bar-room with five of Webb's burners than I had in the same room with eleven gas lights. In fact, I light my whole house at less expense with the Camphine than it cost me to light my bar-room alone with gas. I recommend it as being the cheapest and best light now in use.

Yours respectfully, THOMAS RILEY,

BALTIMORE LOCK DISPENSARY,

"NO CURE NO PAY."

DR. HUNTER'S RED DROP. This long established and highly valuable medicine is now no novelty. It has been before the public for a long time, and by its merits alone, has it risen to a degree of estimation not enjoyed by any other medicine, for the certain cure of the Syphilitic disease. Prompt and effectual in action, yet harmless to the constitution, is its well established character, having never failed to give entire satisfaction in all the many thousand cases, where it has been used as directed.—These absolute and undeniable facts speak trumpet-tongued to the afflicted, and are the basis of a well founded hope of the philanthropist, that this unequalled medicine may circulate far and wide for the benefit of the human race.

This medicine gives the prodigal a chance to repent. Thousands have been saved and radically cured, after suffering under the hands of impostors, by this medicine, and who with grateful hearts are ready to attest to its value, and have allowed themselves to be referred to.

Persons residing at any distance, can have medicine sent to them, packed secure from observation.

It was out of pure motives of philanthropy, that this medicine was first made public; the price always to remain $1 per Bottle, to be within the reach of the most unfortunate.

☞Letters addressed, (post paid) describing the case, mode of living, &c. will be promptly attended to. Direct No. 17 Harrison street.

UNRIVALLED SPEED!
SUMMER ARRANGEMENT.
GREAT SOUTHERN
UNITED STATES' MAIL LINE,
DAILY TO THE SOUTH.

☞Bear in mind, that Passengers who go by the Chesapeake Bay and Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road, have 40 miles of Rail Road travelling through the DISMAL SWAMP at midnight, over one of the worst Rail Roads in America, and them are often compelled to lay over 17 hours at Weldon, one of the most unhealthy places in the whole Southern country.

TRAVELLERS FOR THE SOUTH, are informed that, by taking the Cars at Baltimore for Washington at 9 A.M., they proceed, without one moment's delay, via Washington, Fredericksburg, Richmond, Petersburg, Weldon, and Wilmington, N. C. to CHARLESTON, S. C., reaching Charleston the second morning after leaving Baltimore, and often one day in advance of any other Line—the Companies on the route being bound by the Postmaster General to make the following quick Schedule:

Leave	Philadelphia	12 P.M.	reach	Baltimore	8 A.M.
"	Baltimore	9 A.M.	"	Washington	11 A.M.
"	Washington	11½ A.M.	"	Fredk'sburg	6 P.M.
"	Fred'ksburg	6½ P.M.	"	Richmond	11 P.M.
"	Richmond	11½ P.M.	"	Petersburg	1 A.M.
"	Petersburg	1½ A.M.	"	Weldon	6½ A.M.
"	Weldon	7 A.M.	"	Charleston	on the next morning.

Passengers by this Line not only reach Charleston ONE DAY SOONER than by the Bay boats but they avoid being compelled to remain all night at Weldon, on the Roanoke, one of the most unhealthy places in the whole southern country, where, by the Bay Line, they are often delayed twenty-four hours.

Passengers for Richmond and Petersburg will find this Line far the most expeditious, arriving at Richmond to lodge, (as will be seen from the above Schedule,) on the evening of the day on which they leave Baltimore, being from 16 to 18 hours in advance of those taking the Bay Steam Boats.

☞This is much the nearest, quickest, and cheapest route to the interior of Virginia, North and South Carolina—at Petersburg, Va. commences the route by way of Raleigh, N. C.—145 miles of Rail Road from Petersburg to that city. Stage Lines branch off from Raleigh Rail Road to the old Piedmont Line, to Milton Danville, &c., and to Knoxville, (Tenn.)

☞Passengers for the Raleigh and Gaston Rail Road pay through to Petersburg, Va.

Fare to Richmond,	$10.00
Fare to Petersburg,	10.50
Fare to Weldon,	12.50

UNITED STATES MAIL LINE,
DAILY TO THE SOUTH, Sunday's excepted.
Via the Chesapeake Bay and Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road,

THE BALTIMORE STEAM-PACKET CO. announce to the public that in accordance with the New Mail Arrangement, the Boats composing their line, viz: ALABAMA, Captain Sutton; GEORGIA, Captain Coffey; and JEWESS, Captain Holmes, will, on and after WEDNESDAY, the 26th of May, leave the lower end of Spear's wharf daily, (Sunday's excepted,) at nine o'clock, A.M. for Norfolk and Portsmouth, Va.

Passengers for Charleston will find the cars of the Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road Company, on the wharf, on their arrival at Portsmouth, ready to convey them to Weldon, N. C., where they will always arrive in time to take the cars for Wilmington, from which point to Charleston is by the Steamboat, which leaves Wilmington immediately after the Passengers are delivered from the cars.

Passengers for Richmond, Petersburg, or intermediate points on James River, by leaving Baltimore on Monday, Wednesday, or Friday, will sleep on board the Bay Boat and be transferred to the James River Boat next morning.

The Steamboat Fox leaves the Black Water station on the Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road, every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, on the arrival of the cars from Portsmouth, for Edenton and Plymouth, N. C., and returns every Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday, delivering her passengers to the cars as they pass down from Weldon, enabling them to arrive in Baltimore next day, (Sundays excepted.)

RETURNING, one of the above Boats will leave Norfolk every night (Saturday being excepted) at 10 o'clock, and cross over to Portsmouth where she will wait the arrival of the Cars from Weldon, and depart for Baltimore as soon as the passengers and baggage are on board, arriving here in about 14 hours after departing from Portsmouth.

Should the Boat get an early start from Portsmouth, Passengers for Philadelphia and New York will have the opportunity of being placed on board the Philadelphia Steamboat in the Patapsco River, and will arrive in Philadelphia the same night by 11 o'clock, after having travelled 390 miles in 20 hours, without as much fatigue as would be incurred in walking from the Hotel to the wharf.

☞No freight will be forwarded on the day it is left, unless it is alongside, prior to 8 o'clock, A.M.

THEY SAY THAT THOU ART BEAUTIFUL.

They say that thou art beautiful,
Thou of the dreamy eyes,
Whose glances float in their spirit blue,
Like light in the shadowy skies—
And thy voice has a softness in its tone,
Too soft, too sweet for this earth to own.

They say that thou art beautiful,
The rose o'er thy cheek steals,
As if it feared to stain the pure
White beauty it reveals—
But its trembling flushes as thoughts arise,
Gush o'er the lily in varied dies.

They say that thou art beautiful,
Yet few have read the tale
Which gave thine eye its subdued beam,
Thy brow its gleamings pale—
And charm'd thy voice to its low rich tone
Of mournful music—fair, sweet lone.

Thou art, indeed, most beautiful,
Tho' in thy heart he's hush'd,
Young Love's first glorious dream of bliss,
That faithless man has crush'd—
And the world's hopes have died in tears,
Dimming the hopes of early happy years.

But thou so sadly beautiful,
Art passing fast away,
Growing more lovely as you fade
In your touching youth's decay,
Than when in halls of light afar
You shone earth's fairest, brightest star;
And we feel 'tis best thou should'st be giv'n,

EMILY.

BIOGRAPHY OF THE LATE MAJOR GENERAL MACOMB.

MAJOR GENERAL ALEXANDER MACOMB was born at Detroit, April 3, 1782. The city of Detroit, at that time was a garrison town, and among the first images that struck his eyes were those of the circumstances of war. These early impressions often fix the character of the man.

His father was a fur merchant, respectably descended and connected. He removed to the city of New York while Alexander was yet an infant. When he was eight years of age, he placed him at school at Newark in New Jersey, under the charge of the Reverend Doctor Ogden, who was a man of mind, belonging to a family distinguished for talents.

In 1798, while Macomb was quite a youth, he was elected into a select company, which was called "The New York Rangers." The name was taken from that Spartan band of rangers selected from the provincials, who, from 1755 to 1763, were the elite of every British commander on Lake George and the borders of Canada. At the time he entered the corps of New York Rangers, Congress had passed a law receiving volunteers for the defence of the country, as invasion by a French army was soon expected. This patriotic band volunteered their services to Government, which were accepted, but he soon left this corps, and obtained a cornetcy at the close of the year 1798, and was commissioned in January, 1799. General North, then adjutant general of the northern army, soon saw the merits of the youthful soldier, and took him into his staff, as deputy adjutant general. Under such a master as the intelligent and accomplished North, Macomb made great progress in his profession, and in the affections of his brother officers of the army. The young officer that Hamilton noticed and North instructed, would not fail to be ambitious of distinction. He visited Montreal in order to observe the discipline and tactics of the veteran corps kept at that important military post, and did not neglect his opportunities.

The thick and dark cloud that hung over the country passed away—a great part of the troops were disbanded, and most of the officers and men returned to private life; a few only were retained; among them was Macomb, who was commissioned as second lieutenant of dragoons, and sent forthwith on the recruiting service, but it was not then necessary to push the business: and as he was stationed at Philadelphia, he had fine opportunities to associate with the best informed men of the city, and found easy access to the Franklin and other extensive libraries, of which advantages he did not fail to improve.

When his body of recruits was formed, he marched with it to the Western frontiers to join Gen. Wilkinson, an officer who had been left in service from the Revolutionary war. In the company of Wilkinson, and of Col. Williams, the engineer, he must have gathered a mass of materials for future use. With him he went into the Cherokee country to aid in making a treaty with that nation. He was on this mission nearly a year, and kept a journal of every thing he saw or heard. This was a good school for one whose duty it might hereafter be to fight these very aborigines, and, in fact, these lessons of the wilderness are not lost on any one of mind and observation. The corps to which he belonged was disbanded, and a corps of engineers formed; to this he was attached as first lieutenant. He was now sent to West Point, where he was, by the code there established, a pupil as well [illegible]. Being examined and declared competent, he was appointed an adjutant of the corps at that post, and discharged his duty with as much spirit and intelligence, that when the next court martial, after his examination, was convened, he was appointed judge advocate.—This court was ordered for the trial of a distinguished officer for disobeying an arbitrary order for cutting off the hair. Peter the Great could not carry such an order into execution, but our Republican country did; and the veteran Colonel Butler was reprimanded for not throwing his white locks to the wind when ordered so to do by his superior. The talents and arguments exhibited by Macomb, as judge advocate on this court martial, brought him into very great notice as a man of exalted intellect as well as a fine soldier. He was now called upon to compile a treatise upon martial law and the practice of courts martial, which, in a future day of leisure, he effected, and his book is now the standard work upon courts martial for the Army of the United States. In 1805 Macomb was promoted to the rank of captain in the corps of engineers, and sent to the sea board to superintend the fortifications which had been ordered by an act of Congress. By this service he became known to the first men in the country, and his merits were duly appreciated from New Hampshire to the Floridas.

In 1808 he was promoted to the rank of major, and acted as superintendent of fortifications until just before the war, when he was advanced to a lieutenant colonelcy. He was again detailed to act as judge advocate on a court martial for the trial of Gen. Wilkinson, who had called the court on Col. Butler. He added to his reputation in this case. Wilkinson was his friend, but Macomb discharged his duty with military exactness.

At the breaking out of the war of 1812, he left the seat of Government, where he had discharged an arduous duty, in assisting to give form and regularity to the army then just raised by order of Congress. All sorts of confusion had prevailed, from the want of a uniform system of military tactics: he was fortunate in his exertions. When there was honorable war, he could not be satisfied to remain, as it were, a cabinet officer, and wear a sword only to advise what should be done, which seemed to be the regulations of the Army in respect to engineers; he therefore solicited a command in the corps of artillery that was to be raised, and was gratified by a commission as colonel of the third regiment, dated July 6, 1812. The regiment was to consist of twenty companies of one hundred and eighteen each. It was, in fact, the command of a division, except in rank. His reputation assisted in raising this body of men, and in November of that year he marched to the frontiers with his command. Macomb and his troops spent the winter at Sackett's Harbor. He contemplated an attack upon Kingston, but was defeated in his plan by the fears of some and the jealousies of others; but he soon distinguished himself at Niagara and Fort George: at the same time Commodore Chauncey was endeavoring to bring the enemy's fleet to battle on Lake Ontario. The next service performed by Col. Macomb was under Gen. Wilkinson, and if the campaign was not successful, Macomb was not chargeable with any portion of the failure.

In January, 1814, he was appointed to the rank of brigadier general; and was appointed to a command on the east side of Lake Champlain. Nothing of importance in the history of Gen. Macomb transpired, although he was constantly on the alert in the discharge of his duties, until the coronal of his fame was won at the defence of Plattsburgh. This defence our limits will not permit us to describe with any minuteness, but suffice it to say, that, in the summer of 1814, Sir George Prevost, Governor General of the Canadas, had received a great augmentation of his regular forces, by detachments from the army which had fought in Spain and Portugal under the Duke of Wellington. These were among the best troops in the world, and he now determined to strike a blow upon our frontiers that should be decisive of the war, and bring our nation to terms at once. His fleet, on Lake Champlain, was considered superior to that of ours, and he was well informed that we had not there any army of consequence. Early in September he pushed on towards Plattsburgh, and met, for several days, with little opposition. His error was delay; but he wished to move safely, and saw nothing to prevent his progress. Previous to the 11th, there had been some smart skirmishing, in which the British found more courage and efficiency than they expected, from troops so hastily called out. Early on the 11th the British gave battle by land and water—fifteen hundred of the regular army, and uncertain bodies of militia, made up Macomb's army. The enemy was fourteen thousand strong. The battle was a decisive victory on the part of the American forces; Macdonough captured the British fleet, and Sir George returned to Canada the next night. The victory was as brilliant as unexpected. Honors were voted Macomb in every part of the country. New York and Vermont were foremost in their tributes of respect. The President promoted him to the rank of major general, dating his commission on the day of his victory. The event had a happy effect on the negotiations then going on at Ghent, and unquestionably paved the way for a treaty of peace.

After the close of the war he commanded at Detroit, his birth-place. He was received at this military post with distinguished honors; many remembered his person, and all had kept his reputation in view as reflecting honor upon the territory in which he was born. He continued at that post attentive to his duty, and devising liberal things for the people of that region, without confining his exertions to any particular portion of territory, until, in 1821, he was called to Washington to take the office of chief of the engineer department. On the receipt of this information, he was addressed by all classes of the people of Detroit in the most exalted language of friendship and regard. On repairing to Washington, he assumed the duties of the bureau he was called to, and discharged them to the satisfaction of the Government and Army. On the death of General Brown, commander-in-chief of the Army, Gen. Macomb was appointed to that station, which he has ever since held, and in which he died.—Abridged from National Portrait Gallery.

"Poets are the hierophants of an unapprehended inspiration; the mirrors of the gigantic shadows which futurity casts upon the present; the words which express what they understand not; the trumpets which sing to battle, and feel not what they inspire; the influence which is moved not but moves. Poets are the unacknowledged legislators of the world."

FORGERY. A young lawyer of Buffalo, respectably connected, and just married, has been arrested for forgery. The cause which led to the crime, was pecuniary embarrassment, brought on by extravagant living.

ON THE DISTANCE OF A FIXED STAR.—M. Bessel, a German astronomer, has made one of the greatest discoveries of modern times, by having ascertained the parallax of the double star 61 Cygni. He found, from repeated observations made from August, 1837 to March, 1840, that the parallax of a Cygni did not exceed thirty-one hundredths of a second, which places the distance of that star from us at nearly 670,000 times that of the sun, or which is nearly sixty-four millions of millions of miles, (or more nearly 63,660,000,000,000 miles.) This immense distance can better be conceived, when we state, that if a cannon ball were to traverse this vast space at the rate of twenty miles a minute, it would occupy more than six millions years in coming from that star to our earth; and if a body could be projected from our earth to 61 Cygni, at 30 miles an hour, (which is about the same rate that the carriages on the rail road travel,) it would occupy at least ninety-six millions of years. Light, which travels more than eleven millions of miles in a minute, would occupy about twelve years in coming from that star to our earth.—British Queen.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY OF PLATINA.—The Port Phillip, (New South Wales) Herald states that Mr. Neville, of the Customs, has discovered a metal, supposed to be platina, in the fissure of a rock about 18 miles distance from Melbourne. It is heavier than iron, being 12 times more weighty than water. Several chemists have been attempting to analyse it but without effect.

THE POTOMAC PAVILLION,
PINEY POINT.

THE SUBSCRIBER respectfully informs his friends and the Public that he has resumed the management of this popular Bathing Place, and that it is now open for the reception of company.

Piney Point, on which the Pavilion is situated, is a clear open cape, (though wooded in the rear on the north and east,) jutting into the Potomac near its mouth, where the river is eight or ten miles wide, in full view of the Chesapeak bay. The bathing is very fine, the water being nearly as salt as that of the ocean, and the air is pure. It possesses the advantage of the greatest abundance of the largest oysters, of soft and hard crabs, and all the varieties of excellent fish with which the waters of the Chesapeake abound.

There are a spacious Ball Room, Billiard Room, Bowling Alley, Quoit Yards, &c., the whole fronting the river to the south, within a hundred yards of the clean white beach. There are provided, also, two beautiful and commodious yachts, under the charge of an experienced and skillful seaman. There are bathing houses for those who prefer them to the open surf; also a substantial wharf for the steamboats to come up to, instead of landing and taking off passengers in the small boats, as heretofore; which, moreover, enables visitors to bring carriages and horses, if they choose.

Besides the salt water luxuries above named, every thing will be supplied for the table which the markets of the District, Baltimore, and Norfolk can afford, to which the steamboat lines furnish regular access; and the house will be amply provided with the best wines and other liquors.

The establishment has been well, thou plainly, furnished throughout, including new mattresses and bed furniture. The establishment is sufficiently large to accommodate 200 visiters.

The steamers which ply between the District and Baltimore and Norfolk furnish to the inhabitants of those cities regular opportunities for visiting and departing from the Pavillion.

The subscriber has procured the aid of efficient and attentive assistants for the Bar and other departments of the establishment.

It is determined that moderate charges shall constitute one of the advantages of the establishment; to this shall be added the most zealous efforts to please, and the subscriber trusts that these efforts, united to the experience acquired by him as keeper for several years of a public house, will enable him to give satisfaction to all who may favor him with a visit.

P. J. HEPBURN.

Price of board $1 25 per day, children under twelve years of age and servants half price.

N.B.—Families desirous of spending a considerable portion of the season will be taken on more moderate terms.

TO THE PUBLIC.—The price of HATS again lowered. TOWSON is now selling in Eutaw street, one door north of Lexington street, his superior Hats at the following low prices—fine short Nap Mole Skin Hats at $2.50, fine Brush Hats $2.50; Fur Hats from $1.50 upwards. It may be asked how such Hats can be sold (if as represented) at such very low prices; I answer in the first place, I manufacture very extensively, and am able to purchase materials by the quantity much lower than if I bought by the small; and secondly, I sell for cash, and do not have to charge those who pay a high price, to make up for those who do not pay, as the natural result of the credit system. I think my Hats the best as now offered ever sold in this market for the price. Persons will please call and look at my hats before purchasing elsewhere. Remember TOWSON, one door from Lexington street.

TUESDAY MORNING, JUNE 29, 1841.

FREDERICK COUNTY BANK. It seems that the president and directors of this institution have received, through the hands of a legal gentleman in New York, the whole of the lost effects of the Bank with the exception of $5,000, the amount of the reward offered for the return of the money without the conviction of the robber. This is an extraordinary affair; and the question will naturally be asked, whether the attorney cannot be compelled to disclose the name of the party from whom he received the money? Whatever may be the law upon this subject, it appears to us that the practice of permitting robbers to escape the hands of justice, and to receive a reward for their dishonesty, by simply placing the stolen articles in the possession of an attorney, would be exceedingly dangerous. We do not mean to cast any imputation upon the legal gentleman engaged in this business—it is possible, that, had he not consented to become the depository of the secret, and the medium of communication with the officers of the Bank, the money might not have been recovered, at least so soon—but, if it be once established that rogues can be protected in this kind of compromise, we apprehend that there will be few detections, and less punishments.

We hope that the facts of the case will satisfy those editors who illiberally intimated that the robbery had been perpetrated by some of the officers or directors of the Bank, that they have done these gentlemen, one and all, great injustice. From our personal knowledge of their characters, we from the first exonerated them from suspicion; and, should the whole truth ever be disclosed, it will be found, that no officer or director had the slightest connexion with the robbery.

The robber made a clean sweep of the effects of the Bank, taking every thing indiscriminately, that he found in the chest. An experienced rogue would have gone more leisurely to work, and have selected only what could be rendered serviceable—and it is a little remarkable that, if he took the pains to make three keys, in his retreat he should have thrown away only one. There are other strange circumstances connected with this robbery, which lead us to infer that the perpetrator is a new hand, and, if detected, will not be found in the state of New York.

N. B. Since the above was in type, we have heard that the name of the lawyer in New York is Wiley, and that the sum retained by him and his clients is upwards of $30,000. If what we have heard be true, Wiley should be instantly arrested and made to name the parties concerned. We cannot believe that any law will justify an attorney in receiving stolen property, and stipulating for compensation for its delivery.

It is said that Wiley, on being questioned as to the robbers, informed Dr. W. B. Tyler (who, with Wm. M. Beall, Esq., went to New York to receive the money,) that he, the Doctor, had seen the principal robber several times during his visit to New York. We believe this to be a deliberate falsehood. We do not believe that the robber ever set foot in New York, and it was probably Wiley's instructions or purpose to misdirect enquiry. We will venture the guess that Wiley was employed not by the robber, but by some police officer, who acted for the thief. It is said that Wiley has heretofore engaged in similar business, and the knowledge of his skill in such diplomacy was no doubt well known to the police department. There has been some villany practised independent of the robbery, which we hope to see developed.

In endeavoring to unravel the mystery connected with this robbery, we should commence our investigations in and around Frederick. We have unhesitatingly acquitted the officers of the Bank of all classes of any participation in, or knowledge of, the robbery—but a careful review of the circumstances we think must lead to the conclusion that not more than one key was manufactured for the purpose. From the published statements, we think that even a bungling rogue could have succeeded in robbing the bank with the greatest ease.

THE DEPARTURE OF GEN. HARRISON'S REMAINS. Yesterday morning, at the hour appointed, the mortal remains of our late venerated President were removed from Barnum's Hotel, where they had been deposited, accompanied by his son and grandson, the Committee from Ohio, the First Light Division of our Soldiery, commanded by Brig. Gen. R. C. Howard, besides a large number of citizens, and placed upon the cars at the Railroad Depot, whence, at half-past eight o'clock, they started for Columbia. The ceremony was solemn and imposing. The cars were appropriately hung in mourning, and every respect evinced for the sacred and immortal memory of the illustrious dead. Several of our military companies and a large number of citizens accompanied the remains as far as Columbia.

Much credit is due the President and Directors of the Railroad for their liberality in transporting gratuitously, not only the remains and Committee, but the soldiery, and all who felt desirous of going to and returning from Columbia.

RAIL ROAD ACCIDENTS. The engine on the Charleston Road ran off the track, on Monday and were detained some time. On the same day they were thrown off the track of the Georgia rail road, when the engineer, Mr. John Smith, and a negro boy belonging to the Company were both killed. The passengers were not injured.

THE MORMONS. The success of Joseph Smith and other impostors who originated the Mormon religion, is surprising. The imposition was so manifest; the whole contrivance so bungling; that it would hardly be supposed possible to make converts of rational beings; and yet the Society has so greatly increased in numbers as to have become dangerous to the neighborhood in which the main body is located. In Illinois, great apprehensions appear to be entertained, that the Mormons will produce civil commotion, as they are armed and led by desperate villains who assume to seize and hold property "by the grace of God." We admire religious toleration; but it may be questioned whether a set of fanatics, under the guidance of unprincipled impostors, who disregard and set at defiance the civil institutions, should be permitted to go unrestrained. Their number is continually increasing by proselytes among the ignorant and the designing; and they may in time become too formidable for the law. Joe Smith, the master spirit of the Society, has been arrested upon the requisition of the Governor of Missouri, and the New York Herald states, that the Mormons are preparing to rescue him. Should this be attempted, the probability is, that there will be bloodshed.

We send missionaries abroad to convert the heathen, and, in many cases, effective service has been rendered. But whilst we are thus employed in spreading the glad tidings of the Gospel in distant regions, we have a dangerous heresy extending itself within our own limits, which is more destructive of true religion than the idolatries of the East. Would it not be well to send instructors also to the Mormons? We should suppose that there would be little difficulty in dispelling the delusion under which most of them labor, and in giving such an exposition of the frauds of Joe Smith and other pretended prophets as would prevent future accessions to their numbers.

The following is a proclamation issued by Smith, from which, it seems, he wishes to rally his whole strength at one or two places.

TO THE SAINTS ABROAD.

The First Presidency of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, anxious to promote the prosperity of the Church, feel it their duty to call upon the Saints who reside out of this county, to make preparations to come in, without delay. This is important, and should be attended to by all who feel an interest in the prosperity of this the corner stone of Zion. Here the temple must be raised, the university be built, and other edifices erected which are necessary for the great work of the last days; and which can only be done by a concentration of energy and enterprise. Let it therefore be understood, that all the stakes, excepting those in this county, and in Lee county, Iowa, are discontinued, and the Saints instructed to settle in this county as soon as circumstances will permit.

JOSEPH SMITH.

NAUVOO, Hancock Co., Ill., May 24, 1841.

NATIONAL THEATRE, WASHINGTON CITY. We learn that this establishment, under the auspices of Miss Virginia Monier, manageress, has opened brilliantly. Miss M. is not only a persevering young lady, admirably adapted to the management of a theatre, but a most excellent actress and a charming pretty little girl. The bill for to-night is unusually attractive, being the Merchant of Venice, in which Mr. Tasistro will sustain the character of Shylock, and Miss Monier that of Portia. After the representation of this, will be presented an interesting piece called the Lady and Devil. We advise the good folks of Washington to turn out. It is certainly to their interest and that of their city to sustain a theatre.

THE WEAVERS. We refer the reader to the advertisement in another column in relation to an attempt to reduce their wages by employers. We are informed that, at the present prices, it is difficult for journeymen weavers to earn more than three dollars per week, a sum which is evidently inadequate to the comfortable support of the smallest family. We think it cruel to attempt a further reduction of wages under present circumstances, as the inevitable consequence must be to reduce numbers of industrious mechanics to great distress, if not actual want, and we hope that the effort will be unsuccessful.

A CORRECTION. Mr. Hawkins, the temperance lecturer, denies that he used at Concord, the language attributed to him by the New Hampshire Patriot, and appeals to the respectable citizens of Concord to bear witness to the truth of the denial. The Patriot stated that Mr. Hawkins described the delegates to the Baltimore Young Men's Whig Convention, as brutal drunkards, &c, We are glad Mr. Hawkins has made the denial.—Such a ridiculous story would have at once destroyed his usefulness as an advocate of temperance.

MR. RUSSELL IN CINCINNATI. We perceive by the Cincinnati papers that this distinguished vocalist was delighting the lovers of music in the Queen city, or the city of pork, with his melting, thrilling minstrelsy. Mr. Russell is a whole team by himself and must flourish where ere he sojourns. We doubt not but the West will appreciate his merits, and encourage them as did we of the Monumental city. We wot of an opposition line which will be in operation shortly. So look out, for the sinstest is preparing for the wars.

THE BANKS AND THE REVENUE LAW. The Harrisburg Reporter states that the whole amount of the emissions authorised by the revenue law was $3,109,000. We have 51 banks in the state, including the Schuylkill and United States; 35 have accepted the law, and have issued $1,048,247 412.

SEVEN DESERTERS DROWNED. The Buffalo Commercial of Wednesday states, that one night last week, nine soldiers attempted to swim across the river a little below the Ferry. Two of them succeeded in breasting the mighty torrent—the remaining seven were drowned, and four of their naked bodies are now floating about in the whirlpool.

WASHINGTON, June 28, 1841.

This morning the remains of Major General Macomb were deposited in the Congressional burying ground. The funeral was attended by an immense crowd of spectators, in addition to the military escort. [The procession was formed agreeably to the order published in yesterday's Clipper.]

The troops designated to form the escort, was commanded by Major General Jessup, and the Adjutant General of the Army was charged with the arrangements of the day.

The Washington Light Infantry and the Mechanical Riflemen of this city were in attendance. They appeared in good order.

It is understood that in the course of the week the body will be removed from the Congressional burial ground to a private vault at Georgetown.

As soon as the House of Representatives met, on motion of Mr. Dawson, it was Resolved, That the House of Representatives, having learned with deep regret the death of Major General Alexander Macomb, the late Commanding General of the U. S. Army, and the distinguished leader in the glorious battle of Plattsburg in the late war.

Resolved, That the House of Representatives, if the Senate concur herein, attend the funeral of Major General Alexander Macomb this day at ten o'clock.

Resolved, That a committee of three members of this House be appointed, on the part of the House, to make arrangements with such committee as may be appointed on the part of the Senate, for the attendance of the Senate and House of Representatives at the funeral of the late Gen. Macomb.

Ordered, That the committee consist of John Miller, of Missouri; W. O. Butler, of Kentucky; Aaron Ward, of New York, on the part of the House.

Both Houses then adjourned.

FIRE. From the New Orleans Bulletin of the 21st we learn that a fire broke out on the night previous, in Canal near the corner of Basin-st., destroying the whole of the front buildings on Canal street.

NEWS ABOUT TOWN.

ATTEMPTED MURDER. John Sherwood was taken to the Western District watch house, on Sunday morning about 1 or 2 o'clock, A. M., charged with having stabbed Alexander Everett in the side with a penknife. He was committed in the morning by Wm. Stewart, Esq. From what we have learned of the circumstances of this case, the act of Sherwood was no less than an attempt to murder.

On Saturday evening Sherwood stopped at the Depot House, kept by Mr. McGill, in Charles street, south of Pratt, stated that he had arrived in the Washington cars, and wished to remain there. He called for a glass of ale, on receiving which he tendered in payment a silver dollar. After supper, he asked the landlord to show him where he could buy a shirt—he was taken to a store close by, and purchased one, requesting the landlord, who accompanied him, to settle for it, as he had not change enough in his pocket. This was done and they returned to the house. He then requested Mr. McGill to go up street a short distance with him—the latter, being about to go to market, walked as far as the corner of Hanover and Pratt streets with him, when Sherwood asked him to go up Hanover street—this was declined and they parted. Soon after the return of Mr. McGill from market, Sherwood also returned to the house. After a few moments he borrowed a pen and ink, went and got some paper and commenced writing a letter—at the same time he borrowed a penknife from one of the boarders, which was not returned. The letter he requested the landlord to have put in the Post Office. It was addressed and directed to "Hon. Silas Wright, member of Congress, Washington, D. C.," promising to forward a draft for some fifty or sixty dollars.

About twelve o'clock, he was shewn to his room by Mr. McGill—he did not detain the light, saying he could do without it. As soon as Mr. McGill left him he locked the door. In the room to which he was shewn, Alex. Everett, a young man engaged in the cabinet making business in that neighborhood, (a boarder) slept on the floor.

About an hour or two after Mr. McGill retired to bed, he was roused from sleep by cries of murder which he soon ascertained to proceed from that room. He gave the alarm and two watchmen and several citizens were speedily in the house. The door was first open, when the parties were discovered on the floor, grappling together, Everett being, at that moment, uppermost. As those who had entered the room approached, Sherwood threw out of his hand a penknife. When they were separated, it was found that Mr. Everett had been considerably injured; his throat was marked by the efforts made by Sherwood to choke him—his fingers were cut in several places in the attempt to ward off the blows made with the penknife. There was a wound in his left side, (judging from the shirt, which we saw) about two inches from the heart, and another cut, which, however had not fully penetrated the shirt, a short distance lower, and nearly over the heart.

From the statement of Mr. Everett, it seems that he was awake when Sherwood locked the door; he sat down on the bed for some time—he did not undress or go to bed—after a while he walked to the window and looked out, then turned towards where Everett was lying, and remarked, "Yes, I will kill him and drag him down stairs," at the same time moving towards E's bed. Alarmed, Everett sprang up, and finding the door locked, grappled with Sherwood, and a contest commenced, in which he received the wounds above mentioned. During the struggle he called loudly for assistance, and succeeded, as we have before seen, in defending his life, until it came, by which time, however, he was very much exhausted; and had it not arrived so opportunely, he would, doubtless, have been murdered.

THAT PILE OF DIRT. For the especial benefit of those of our readers who have not discovered it, by falling over it, we state that at the intersection of Hillen and Exeter Streets, there is a pile of dirt so high that in very level latitudes it might be mistaken for a small mountain. Of the existence of this obstruction, several of our citizens have been made fully aware by pitching headlong over it after night. Among other cases we note that of three ladies, one rather elderly, all of whom fell over it a few evenings since, the eldest lady being somewhat hurt, and that of a gentleman who was pitched over it with so much violence as to injure one hand very severely, besides tearing his clothes. Now we should like to know of the Commissioners of Health, the street cleaners and the police officers of the fifth and sixth wards for what particular purposes, exclusive of the very laudable and meritorious one of breaking the necks or maiming the limbs of our citizens, this pile of dirt has been permitted to remain where it is, during the last three months, at least. One at a time, if you please, gentlemen.

CORRECTION. In our notice yesterday relative to the remains of Gen. Harrison, we stated that the Independent Blues were relieved from guard at one o'clock on Sunday morning. We were misinformed. The Blues were on duty until nine o'clock on Sunday morning when they were relieved by the National Guards. Much credit is due not only to the Blues, but to all the Companies who thus volunteered their services.

Another. We understand from Mr. Brauns, of the firm of Brauns & Focke, that we were in error in stating, a few days since, that the ship which had the sickness on board at the Quarantine, was the "Clementine." The error was perfectly unintentional—the ship was stated by our informant to be the one having on board the largest number of passengers, the name being given at the same time as the "Clementine."—As Mr. B., however, has called on us and stated that we were mistaken in the name—that it was the "Virginia," instead of the before named vessel, we cheerfully make the correction.

OUR STREETS. Now that the season is approaching when sickness and epidemic may be looked for, it becomes our authorities to keep a watchful eye to the cleanliness of our streets. In some parts of the city where we have been lately an unpleasant smell met our olfactories. This, of course, must have proceeded from filth deposited somewhere either on the pavements or in alleys. While on this subject we will merely remark that the dog days are coming. It would therefore be advisable to think—and think seriously upon the poison passenger topic. The inference is easily drawn.

RIOTOUS AND DISORDERLY. Elijah Roberts and Abraham Hughes were arrested on Saturday night, in the eastern district, the former charged with disorderly conduct in Wilk street, the latter with assaulting the officers in Bond street, while having in charge the first named prisoner and conducting him to the watch house. In the morning after an examination by Justice Jones, they were released.

John Johns, colored, was arrested at half past 12, for assaulting and beating and threatening the life of Ann Read, a dark complexioned lady, residing in Fleet street. He was released upon giving security for his appearance at the city court on Saturday.

BREAKING THE PEACE. Charlotte Denny, charged with threatening the life of Jane Reynolds, both ladies of color, was yesterday taken before Squire Gorsuch, who released her upon her giving security.

John McCann, charged with rioting and disturbing the peace in Hanover Market, was, on yesterday morning, committed to jail, by A. H. Pennington, Esq., for want of security.

GEORGIA ILLUSTRATED. We have received from Mr. Hickman, the February number of "Richard's Illustrations of Georgia Scenery." The engravings are beautifully executed, and the work is well worthy of encouragement. Price of each number 50 cents. The volume will comprise 12 numbers, which can be had at $5 in advance.

INSANE ACT. Ann Hill, black, was taken to the Eastern District watch house, on Saturday night, upon a charge of having thrown her child out of the window of her residence in Wilk street, in a fit of insanity. Fortunately the child was caught by another female before it sustained any injury.

ASSAULT. George Forsythe was, on Sunday night, taken to the Middle District watch house, charged with an assault upon Matthew Laursey, by striking him with an iron cane. Committed by G. W. King, esq.

A BLACK PAIR. George Peel and George Robertson, both negroes, were taken to the Eastern District Watch House on Saturday night, the former for disorderly conduct, and the latter for threatening violence to a female. In the morning they were both reprimanded and then discharged.

VAGRANTS. Henry Gardner and Edward Cooley were arrested on Sunday night, for riotous conduct, and committed to the alms house by G. W. King, Esq.

TO THE PUBLIC.

MESSRS. EDITORS. To prevent misrepresentation with regard to an article which appeared in the Sun of Saturday last, in relation to an attempt to reduce the wages of Weavers, by some of the manufacturers, we deem it proper that the public should know who are the persons that have thus acted, particularly at a time when they are getting the same prices for manufactured goods as they have got heretofore, and by which prices they have been making money, whilst the persons who have been working for them have only received a bare subsistence. The individuals who have attempted to force this reduction were WILLIAM OLIVER and JAMES and RICHARD ROBINSON.

It is due to Mr. WILLIAM KNOX and some other manufacturers, to state that they have not called in this attempt to "grind the faces" of industrious mechanics, but continue to pay the former prices. Mr. Knox having stated that there was no just cause for a reduction, the present prices being so low that it would be unjust to alter them for the worse.

Signed on behalf of the Weavers,

THOMAS BRADSHAW, Pres't.

KEEP IT BEFORE THE PEOPLE!

☞ That we challenge the four opposition Butchers, or any others, to point to any period heretofore, when unjust or unnatural prices in the article of Cattle have taken place (unless from accidental scarcity for one or two weeks,) comparative to other products, until men were permanently stationed in this city as salesmen thereof. And we will further ask them, whether such was ever known previous to the time alluded to, as Butchers in this place to be concerned with Drovers in Cattle speculation, or Butchers buying whole Droves and place them in the hands of Drovers for traffic.

THE FORTY TWO INDEPENDENT
FLEDGE STOCKING BUTCHERS.

MR. WALTON'S BENEFIT.

THOS. J. WALTON, in announcing his BENEFIT at this establishment for THURSDAY, 1st July, 1841, most respectfully and earnestly solicits the support and patronage of his friends and the public generally, sincerely hoping that the exertions he has made at various times, through a period of some years, to conduce to the amusement of Baltimoreans, may be deemed worthy of their consideration in this (perhaps his last) appeal to their kindness. On this occasion will be presented, for the first time in this city, a beautiful version of the drama of

IVANHOE; Or, THE MAID OF JUDAH

Which has been prepared with great care and labor, and will be produced under the immediate superintendance of Mr. JOSEPH FOSTER, in a style of splendor never yet surpassed in any theatre. In the course of the piece, will be given a very vivid picture of the GRAND TOURNAMENT at Ashby-de-la-Zouch, so beautifully and graphically described by Sir Walter Scott, a great variety of entertainments—particulars of which will be given in future advertisements. je25-3t

FAIR HAVEN. This elegant establishment will be open for the reception of visiters on and after Monday next, the 21st June. The proprietor having made considerable additions and improvements to the establishment, and having provided the same with everything necessary for the comfort and convenience of visiters, feels the utmost confidence in recommending it as a very desirable summer retreat. Fair Haven is situated on the Western Shore of the Chesapeake Bay, about 20 miles below the city of Annapolis; is remarkable healthy—the scenery beautiful and pleasant. (Strangers have said that the scenery alone was a sufficient inducement to visit the place.) The proprietor, ever anxious to accommodate the public, has determined to make such a reduction from his former rates, as will correspond with the present pressure of the times.

The Steamboat Patuxent will leave Baltimore every TUESDAY MORNING, at 6 o'clock, for Fair Haven, and return from thence in the evening. She will also leave Baltimore every THURSDAY MORNING, at 6 o'clock, and will land passengers at Fair Haven on her route to the Patuxent; and will return thence on SUNDAY, touching at Fair Haven. Persons availing themselves of the conveyance to visit Fair Haven only, will not be subject to any charge returning.

DAVIES'
FAMILY ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS.

THESE VALUABLE PILLS are very gentle in their operation, causing neither pain nor griping, nor any nauseous sickness. They exceedingly comfort and strengthen the stomach and bowels, and clear the sight, senses, hearing, and memory, of aged persons, by carrying off phlegm, watery matter, putrid, gross, and thick humours from the Stomach, Bowels, and Blood which makes them so celebrated for removing Coughs, Rheumatism, Pains from the Body and Limbs, Gravel, Piles, Sick Stomach, Disordered Bowels, and Worms.

Mrs. C. Burton, near Locust street, was diseased for seven years with a lump in the left side, bumps all over her skin, pains around the small of her back running into the stomach, which prevented her (to use her own words,) from eating one particle of meat; the first dose removed the lump, and two boxes set her at liberty.

Sold by G. Savage, General Agent for Washington; J. Thomas, and Mrs. Banks Georgetown; W. G. Cole, Hatter, and J. Brunner, Fredesick; S. Church, Alexandria; J. Demuth, York; J. Turpin, No. 24 Fayette-st.; and by T. MOORE, No. 74 Market street, General Agent for Baltimore. Price 25 cents per box, five for $1, or $2 per dozen. je20

BALTIMORE CITY COURT.

Present—Judges Brice, Nisbet and Worthington.

MONDAY, JUNE 28, 1841. State vs. Elias Christopher, indicted for stealing certain lasts, &c., the property of John G. Smith. The traverser plead not guilty. A jury was empanelled, and the witnesses called on the part of the state and the defence. By the time the examination of the last witnesses for the defence was concluded, the hour of three had arrived, and the court adjourned until ten o'clock to-morrow morning. Of course we refrain from publishing the evidence until the case goes to the jury, before whom it will be argued to-morrow.

DEATH OF DR. ABERCROMBIE. The Rev. Dr. Abercrombie died at his residence in Philadelphia, on Saturday evening. This aged and venerable divine, says the Inquirer, has for a long time been unable to discharge the public duties of his sacred office, and has been of late chiefly confined to the house. In addition to the veneration and respect due to Doctor Abercrombie as a clergyman of piety, learning and great eloquence, he will long be remembered as a faithful and eminently successful teacher of youth.

Dr. Abercrombie was for many years one of the associated pastors of Christ Church, St. James and St. Peters.

ACCIDENT. A serious accident occurred in Morristown, N. J., on Friday, while persons were engaged in taking down an old church with a view of erecting a larger building in its place, for the Methodist Society. The whole structure fell in, and buried beneath its ruins Mr. James Notman, (builder) of Newark, and Lommi Moore, Esq. They were with much difficulty taken from the ruins, the former much injured, the latter (Mr. Moore) has since died. Two or three other persons escaped almost by miracle. Mr. Moore was sixty-five years old, and an officer in the Presbyterian Church.

MARRYING IN AND MARRYING OUT. The St. Louis Argus tells the following. It is characteristic and by no means bad. 'A blunt, worthy farmer had six daughters. A young man of equal frankness, came to him and asked permission to address one of them. The farmer replied, do you wish to marry in or marry out, for I have about as many now as my hearth will hold. I wish to marry out, sir, was the reply. Then take one said the farmer, but mind you, no picking and choosing: take them as they came into the world."

FROM NASSAU. A letter dated June 16, states that "the American ship 'Gardner H. Wright,' Oliver Cotts, master, from Aux Cayes, St. Domingo, bound to New York, arrived here on Saturday last, in distress, having struck a reef at Heneagua. Some of our wrecking vessels which were near having gone to her assistance, she was got off, and proceeded to this port, she however, we believe, will not require to undergo much repair, the injury received by her not being so material as to occasion her unloading."

A WAGON LADEN WITH GOLD. A French paper says, that on the 26th of April, a covered wagon passed through Rennes, laden with four millions in gold, being a consignment from Hayti, for the indemnity to the former planters. It is said that in this sum, which is almost exclusively composed of foreign coin, there is a pretty considerable number of French gold pieces of the reign of Louis XIII. and Louis XIV.

CROPS IN DAUPHIN. The Harrisburg Reporter says, "the hay crop of this neighborhood, if ever the sun shines sufficiently to cure it, will be large. The wheat and rye crops are comparatively light. The oats, corn and potatoe crops promise an abundant yield, and take matters as they are, our farmers are in very good humor with the prospect for the incoming harvest.

A cotton mill near Hamburg, S. C. was struck by lightning. The building sustained considerable injury. The above had a Zinc roof, contrary to a late statement in the papers that metallic roofs are a protection from lightning and do not good conductors.

STEAMBOAT LOST. The N. O. Bulletin of the 21st, states that the steamer Clarksville was snagged and sunk at Walker's Plantation, in the Cumberland river. Boat and cargo a total loss—all on board saved.

INFANTICIDE. A colored woman living near St. Louis, took three of her children, and threw them into a well one after the other. They were all drowned. She afterwards threw herself into the Mississippi river and was drowned.

BOAT UPSET. A boat containing 19 persons was upset on the Delaware river on Saturday afternoon last, when two of the party were drowned. The boat was capsized in consequence of a swell produced by the steamboat.

FRAUD. We learn that a fraud to a great extent was committed on Saturday, upon two New York houses. Rumor says that it was effected by false checks, and to the extent of more than $30,000.

It is stated that the loss sustained by the Bank of England, on discounting acceptances, amounting to forty millions sterling, does not exceed twopence halfpenny per cent.

FATHER MATHEW, it is stated, in a recent progress through Ireland, made 2000 proselytes, while changing horses at Athboy.

CASH FOR NEGROES.

THE subscriber being permanently located in this city, is at all times wanting to purchase likely young negroes of both sexes, for which cash and the most liberal prices will be paid. Persons having such to dispose of will find it to their interest to call on me before they sell, as they may rest assured, by doing so they shall obtain their VALUE for them. The subscriber's establishment is located on Harford Avenue, in one of the highest and most healthy parts of the city, having a free circulation of air, and a yard for exercise through the day—must necessarily be more healthy than in the centre of the city, especially in hot weather. Servants will be received for safe keeping, and every attention paid to their comfort and cleanliness, at the low rate of 25 cents per day. Application to be made to me at my office in Calvert-st. Near Market-st., one door below Mr. Bloomer's hat store, or at my residence, or to my brother at Whitman's Eagle Hotel, Pratt st., immediately opposite the Baltimore and Ohio Rail road Depot. JAMES F. PURVIS.

☞All communications promptly attended to. jel8-1y

CASH FOR NEGROES.

THE HIGHEST PRICES will at all times be given for NEGROES of both sexes, that are slaves for life, and good titles. My office is in PRATT STREET, No. 85, between Sharp and Howard streets, where myself or my Agent, (Mr. J. M. WILSON,) can be seen at all times. All persons, having Negroes to sell, would do well to see me before they dispose of them, as I am always buying and forwarding to the New Orleans market. I will also receive and keep Negroes at twenty-five cents each, per day, and forward them to any Southern port, at the request of the owner. My establishment is large, comfortable and airy, and all above ground; and kept in complete order, with a large yard for exercise; and is the strongest and most splendid building of the kind in the United States. And as the character of my house and yard is so completely established, for strength, comfort and cleanliness, and it being a place where I keep all my own, I will not be accountable, for the future, for any escapes of any kind from my establishment.

NOTICE.

BALTIMORE & OHIO RAIL ROAD.

THE CHANGE in the hour of arrival of the Mail Train from Philadelphia, renders it necessary that a corresponding change should be made in the departure of the Morning Cars for the west:

Notice is therefore hereby given, That on and after WEDNESDAY, 30th instant, the Passenger Train for Ellicott's Mills, Frederick, and Harper's Ferry will be despatched from the Depot in Pratt street, at half past 9 instead of 7 o'clock, A. M., the present hour of departure—of which travellers will take notice.

☞The Extra Train for Frederick will continue to leave at 3½ o'clock every evening, with which, as well as with the Morning Train, passengers from Washington can still connect at the Relay House. By order,

MOFFAT'S LIFE PILLS
AND VEGETABLE BITTERS.

THE perfectly safe, unerring and successful treatment of almost every species of disease by the use of MOFFAT'S LIFE MEDICINES, is no longer a matter of doubt, as a reference to the experience of many thousand patients will satisfactorily prove. During the present month alone, nearly one hundred cures have come to the knowledge of Mr. Moffat, where the patient has, to all appearance, effected a permanent cure by the exclusive and judicious use of the Life Medicines—some eight or ten of these had been considered beyond all hope by their medical attendants—Such happy results are a source of great pleasure to Mr. M. and inspire him with new confidence to recommend the use of his medicines to his fellow citizens.

The Life Medicines are a purely VEGETABLE preparation. They are mild and pleasant in their operation, and at the same time thorough—acting rapidly upon the secretions of the system—carrying off all acrimonious humors, and assimilating with and purifying the blood. For this reason, in aggravated cases of dyspepsia, the Life Medicines will give relief in a shorter space of time than any other prescription; in Fever-and-ague, Inflammation, Fevers of every description, Sick headache, heartburn, dizziness in the head, pains in the chest, flatulency, impaired appetite, in every disease arising from an impurity of the blood, or a disordered state of the stomach, the use of these medicines has always proved to be beyond doubt greatly superior to any other mode of treatment.

All that Mr. Moffat asks of his patients is to be particular in taking them strictly according to the directions. It is not by a newspaper notice, or by any thing that he himself may say in their favor, that he hopes to gain credit, it is alone by the results of a fair trial. Is the reader an invalid, and does he wish to know whether the life medicines will suit his own case? If so let him call or send to Mr. Moffat's agent in this place, and procure a copy of the Medical Manual, designed as a domestic guide to health, published gratuitously. He will here find enumerated very many extraordinary cases of every and perhaps some exactly similar to his own. Moffat's medical office in New York, 375 Broadway, and for sale by the Agents.

WEBB'S PATENT BURNERS,
AND CAMPHINE OIL.

FOR SALE AT No. 109 E. BALTIMORE STREET, between South and Calvert streets, where Burners of every description can be obtained. Those who are sceptical as to the safety or economy, would, I trust be perfectly satisfied by examining the opinion of Professor Locke, of Ohio, on "Wray's Camphine," or by referring to the Journals of the Franklin and American Institutes, of Philadelphia and New York. All those desirous of obtaining a clean, brilliant, and economical light, will find it greatly to their advantage by calling on the subscriber. The public may be assured of one fact, that we require no matters to ascertain the amount of Camphine consumed, as they register correctly and in plain English.

P. AUGUSTUS BAILEY, Agent
For the Proprietors.

The following letter to the Agent, exhibits the superiority of the Camphine over Gas or Oil light, in brilliancy and cheapness:

New York, March 20, 1840.

DEAR SIR—I received yours of the 19th instant, and proceed, as you request, to inform you that WEBB'S PATENT LAMP, in my opinion, is much superior to any Lamp now in use—the Camphine produces better light than Gas or Oil. I have burned Oil for five years, Gas for eleven, and Webb's Camphine for 20 months. I have a better light in my bar-room with five of Webb's burners than I had in the same room with eleven gas lights. In fact, I light my whole house at less expense with the Camphine than it cost me to light my bar-room alone with gas. I recommend it as being the cheapest and best light now in use.

Yours respectfully, THOMAS RILEY,

BALTIMORE LOCK DISPENSARY,
No. 17 HARRISON ST.
"NO CURE NO PAY."

DR. HUNTER'S RED DROP. This long established and highly valuable medicine is now no novelty. It has been before the public for a long time, and by its merits alone, has it risen to a degree of estimation not enjoyed by any other medicine, for the certain cure of the Syphilitic disease. Prompt and effectual in action, yet harmless to the constitution, is its well established character, having never failed to give entire satisfaction in all the many thousand cases, where it has been used as directed.—These absolute and undeniable facts speak trumpet-tongued to the afflicted, and are the basis of a well founded hope of the philanthropist, that this unequalled medicine may circulate far and wide for the benefit of the human race.

This medicine gives the prodigal a chance to repent. Thousands have been saved and radically cured, after suffering under the hands of impostors, by this medicine, and who with grateful hearts are ready to attest to its value, and have allowed themselves to be referred to.

Persons residing at any distance, can have medicine sent to them, packed secure from observation.

It was out of pure motives of philanthropy, that this medicine was first made public; the price always to remain $1 per Bottle, to be within the reach of the most unfortunate.

☞Letters addressed, (post paid) describing the case, mode of living, &c. will be promptly attended to. Direct No. 17 Harrison street.

SUMMER ARRANGEMENT.
GREAT SOUTHERN
UNITED STATES' MAIL LINE,
DAILY TO THE SOUTH.

☞Bear in mind, that Passengers who go by the Chesapeake Bay and Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road, have 40 miles of Rail Road travelling through the DISMAL SWAMP at midnight, over one of the worst Rail Roads in America, and then are often compelled to lay over 12 hours at Weldon, one of the most unhealthy places in the whole Southern country.

TRAVELLERS FOR THE SOUTH, are informed that, by taking the Cars at Baltimore at 9 A.M., they proceed, without one moment's delay, via Washington, Fredericksburg, Richmond, Petersburg, Weldon, and Wilmington, N. C. to CHARLESTON, S. C., reaching Charleston the second morning after leaving Baltimore, and often a day in advance of any other Line—the Companies the route being bound by the Postmaster General to make the following quick Schedule:

Leave Philadelphia	12 P.M.	reach Baltimore	8 A.
" Baltimore	9 A.M.	" Washington	11 A.
" Washington	11½ A.M.	" Fredericksburg	6 P.
" Fred'sburg	6 P.M.	" Richmond	11 P.
" Richmond	11½ P.M.	" Petersburg	1 A.
" Petersburg	1½ A.M.	" Weldon	6½ A.
" Weldon	7 A.M.	" Charleston	one A.

☞24 hours in advance of any other Line.

Passengers by this Line not only reach Charleston ONE DAY SOONER than by the Bay boats, but they avoid being compelled to remain all night at Weldon, on the Roanoke one of the most unhealthy places in the whole southern country, where, by the Bay Line, they are often delayed twenty-four hours.

Passengers for Richmond and Petersburg will find this Line far the most expeditious, arriving at Richmond to lodge, (as will be seen from the above schedule,) on the evening of the day on which they leave Baltimore, being from 16 to 18 hours in advance of those taking the Bay Steam Boats.

☞This is much the nearest, quickest, and cheapest route to the interior of Virginia, North and South Carolina—at Petersburg, Va. commence the route by way of Raleigh, N. C.—145 miles of Rail Road from Petersburg to that city. Stage Lines branch off from the Raleigh Rail Road to the old Piedmont Line, to Milton, Danville, &c., and to Knoxville, (Tenn.)

☞Passengers for the Raleigh and Gaston Rail Road pay through to Petersburg, Va.

Fare to Richmond,	$10.00
Fare to Petersburg,	10.50
Fare to Weldon,	12.50

UNITED STATES MAIL LINE.
DAILY TO THE SOUTH, Sunday's excepted.
Via the Chesapeake Bay and Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road,

THE BALTIMORE STEAM-PACKET Co. announce to the public that in accordance with the New Mail Arrangement, the Boats composing this line, viz: ALABAMA, Captain Sudler, GEORGE, Captain Coffey and JEWESS, Captain Holmes, will on and after WEDNESDAY, the 26th of May, run the lower end of Spear's wharf daily, (Sundays excepted,) at nine o'clock, A. M. for Norfolk and Portsmouth, Va.

Passengers for Charleston will find the cars of the Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road Company, on the wharf, on their arrival at Portsmouth, ready to convey them to Weldon, N. C., where they will always arrive in time to take the cars for Wilmington, from which point to Charleston is by the Steamboat, which leaves Wilmington immediately after the Passengers are delivered from the cars.

Passengers for Richmond, Petersburg, or intermediate points on James River, by leaving Baltimore Monday, Wednesday, or Friday, will sleep on board the Bay Boat and be transferred to the James River Boat next morning.

BALTIMORE CITY COURT.

Present—Judges Brice, Nisbet and Worthington.

TUESDAY, JUNE 29. State vs. Eliza Christopher, indicted for felony, in stealing certain dry goods, the property of John G. Smith. The examination of witnesses in this case, as before stated, commenced yesterday. The first witness called on the part of the State was

John G. Smith, who, upon being sworn, testified that he was a lace and ribbon dealer in Pratt street. He knew Miss Christopher for about 3 or 4 weeks before the goods were stolen. He had known Mrs. Kunsman, (the elder lady accused,) from December, 1840, shortly after he first opened in Baltimore—the latter was in the habit of visiting the store four or five times a week. Miss Christopher came to help Mrs. Kunsman to chose goods—she never was there alone—never more than four or five times in all. In December he had missed four silk shawls—in February, a piece of thread beading—for about three or four weeks before the search warrant was granted, a number of articles had been missed—on the 23d of March, 1841, he missed a piece of blond, which he had that morning purchased of Mr. Ashton in this city about five o'clock he had left the store for the post office—had the blonde in his hand a few minutes before—a short time after his return he missed the blonde, and, upon inquiring of his clerk if he had sold it, he found that he had not. On the morning of that day Mrs. Kunsman was in the store looking at two pieces of thread lace, but did not purchase either—he placed them in the box behind the counter, and did not see them afterwards—he missed them, upon examination, at the time of missing the blonde. Miss Christopher was not with Mrs. Kunsman in the morning. He got a search warrant—had the house of Mrs. K. searched, and found a large number of laces, ribbons, &c. which he had missed at different periods; among them the piece of blonde, which was found in the sideboard, the laces, found in the chimney, the shawls, found in a trunk, up stairs. Upon an examination of the other articles found, he threw out all that he was doubtful about owning.

Cross-examined. He went to Mr. Potee, (the officer,) on the 24th or 25th of March, a day or two after the articles specified were stolen; and, by his advice, he applied to Wm. A. Schaeffer, Esq. the magistrate, for a search warrant. It was granted. He was not at the office at the time, having sent his clerk down for the purpose of having the warrant taken out. When the warrant was obtained, he, Smith, went to the house of Mrs. Kunsman with the officers. He had sent the invoice of the lace lost, and a pattern of it to the magistrate's office. The blonde was not named in the search warrant, but he was certain it was mentioned to Mr. Schaeffer. He had no doubt of the blonde found being his, as he knew the mark—he did not make any mark on it in the magistrate's office. Miss Christopher had not to his knowledge ever been in his store prior to the loss of the shawls. He could swear to the shawls, although the marks were taken off—he had never seen any like them, and did not believe there were any like them in Baltimore—they came from Providence and were purchased by Mr. Hives, from whom he obtained them—the two pieces of lace were, when found, on separate cards, but had been recarded at the magistrate's office—he swore to them because he found the mark on the one card. He was not aware of having sold any off the cards before they were stolen—if so it was a very small quantity. Sometimes when asked, they were in the habit of giving spare cards to customers to wind lace on; such cards, of course, had his mark on. The goods found in the house, and which he identified as his (with the exception of the blonde, the lace and the shawls,) he could not say he was certain of never having sold to any one, but did not believe he had.—He had, since this transaction, sent some few laces to Wever & Cannon to be sold at auction. He had changed his store three times—had formerly rented by the month. He was on no better terms with Mrs. Kunsman than with any other customer. She always appeared familiar with them; and had once remarked that she would be sorry when they were gone. He kept a cheap store—had a good run of custom—was very often very full—had but two assistants—they often sold goods as well as himself. One of these, Mr. Harrison, came from New York with him—the other, Mr. Barge, he had fallen in with at the house where he boarded. There had never been any memorandum kept of what Mrs. Kunsman purchased. He always thought her a good customer, as she paid her bills promptly—he had but one small bill of a dollar or two now against her, made on the evening when the laces and blonde were missed. He had never been to her house; but had invited her to come of an evening to the store and get goods, but she did not. Mrs. Kunsman had once said something to him about buying him out, but he considered though, had she been serious in the offer, he would willingly have done so.

The bundle of goods laid out by the witness as having been, to the best of his belief, sold to Mrs. Kunsman, was now opened. A scarf was produced—he had never claimed that—lace produced—he had sold that, and supposed he had given the card on which it was to Mrs. K. Another piece was produced—he remembered having sold that; but could not tell if any one was present at the time. Some other pieces were selected, all of which he admitted he had sold her. They were all very low priced—some, however, he selected as worth 20 cents per yard—some 25 cents, some 37½. He, the witness, had sworn at the magistrate's that all the goods found were the property of John Hives of New York. He had, however, purchased the tread laces and blonde from Mr. Ashton in this city, and they belonged to himself, although they had been put up at the magistrate's and sworn to by him as Mr. Hive's property. He had also told the grand jury, on his first oath before them that the goods were all the property of John Hives.

Examination in chief. The value of the goods which he claimed as his own, was, at the selling price, about $147—all the goods he had ever sold to Mrs. Kunsman did not amount, he thought to more than $40 or $50.

Cross-examined. Mr. Hives lives in Maiden Lane. Witness had kept store on his own account for about a month in New York—for about three or four weeks he peddled lace about the streets of that city, after which he took a situation in the establishment of Mr. Bush, a lace importer, where he remained about 3 years. In that situation he had visited several places, among the rest the city of Baltimore. Some of the articles stolen were found in both of the chambers of Mrs. K's. house, between the beds.

Mr. Harrison. Is the clerk of Mr. Smith. The blonde was missed on 23rd March. Mrs. Kunsman and Miss Cristopher came in the store—there was no one present but himself and Mr. Barge. He shewed them a good many articles, particularly this blonde. The two ladies came together, and went together. He had no recollection of having seen the thread lace after Mrs. Kunsman left the store in the morning. He knew that Mr. Smith had such articles as those found in the house, and that they were missing, but could not say those now exhibited in the court were the same goods.

Cross-examined. He knew the blonde by its mark which was there now. Mr. Smith first missed the things while they were clearing up the store. When he went to the magistrate's office, he swore as he was directed to do as to the ownership of the goods—the store was taken in the name of Mr. Hives, and he had always thought it to be his—the bills were generally made out in the name of Mr. Hives—it was on that account he swore that the missing goods were Mr. Hives'. This was the direction he alluded to. He knew nothing of the transactions between Mr. Smith and Mr. Hives. The bill, however, for the laces and blonde was made out against Smith. Witness had been a clerk for Mr. Hives. He had known nothing of Smith, previous to having been with him, except that he had sometimes seen him in Mr. Hives' store. Their store (in this city) was often crowded, but they did not often sell a large amount to any one person. So far as his knowledge went, he had never sold a whole piece of lace to any one. Mr. Smith might have done so. He, the witness, was not at the house of Mrs. Kunsman the evening the warrant was taken out.

Mr. Potee. Mr. Smith called on him at a hotel in Pratt street, and mentioned the loss of some goods, and asked how he should proceed to recover them. He was told that he had better first find out the residence of the suspected parties. The next morning he again called and said he had found out the place. Witness then told him he had better [illegible] was done, and the warrant placed in the hands of witness, who, with Mr. Wilcox as assistant, and Mr. Smith, went to identify the goods. They reached Mrs. Kunsman's house and went in.—There was an elderly female there, and, directly after, Mrs. K. herself came down. He told them his business, and directed them to be kept down stairs, the doors to be fastened, and no one allowed to go out or in. They then commenced searching, in the sideboard they found the piece of blonde identified by Mr. Smith as his. They then went up stairs. In the front room they found Miss Christopher, (the traverser.) He was about to search the bed, when Mrs. Kunsman took hold of his arm, and one of the ladies said: "don't overhaul our bed, there is something there not proper for men to see." He searched the bed, and found between it and the mattress some cards of knives and scissors. Their attention was next directed to some boxes and trunks—asked for the keys, which, at first, were refused, but afterwards given up, upon his threats to break the things open. Miss Christopher gave him the keys—there were several on the bunch—in one of the boxes he found a number of ribbons. He then proceeded to open a large trunk—as he did so, Miss C. walked back, sat down on the bed, and exclaimed, "My God, what will become of me!" or words to that effect, and commenced crying. In the trunk he found the shawls and several other things. There were some cards of lace found in the chimney-place, concealed by the fireboard.

Cross-examined. He had never said to Mr. Joel Jones any thing in reference to the reward to be given him, or that he would get nothing unless the parties were convicted. The trunk alluded to had been delivered to Mr. Jones after the examination at the magistrate's. He believed all the ribbons, those contained in the bundle admitted to belong to Mrs. Kunsman, as well as in the bundle claimed by Smith, were found in the box. There was also a box in the trunk, which contained some money; this had been delivered up after the examination.

Mr. Wilcox. The testimony of Mr. Wilcox was pretty much the same as that of the foregoing witness, except that, when Miss Christopher made the exclamation, he replied—"you stand a fair chance for the penitentiary, and will have to go with Mrs. Kunsman to the Justice." He was not certain whether the keys were given to Miss Christopher by Mrs. Kunsman or not. He had asked one of the gentlemen who owned some of the goods found about a recompense, and was told that they could do nothing until the case was tried; but nothing was said as to what would be done then. If Mr. Smith recovered the goods he thought, if he was a gentleman, he would give them something; if he did not, he did not expect any thing—but he did not wish the traverser convicted on that account.

Here the evidence closed on the part of the state, and the witnesses on the part of the defendant were called.

Wm. A. Schaeffer, Esq., was the committing magistrate. Mr. Harrison called on him for the search warrant. He issued it. Mr. H. proved the laces named in the warrant as the property of John Hives, of New York. When the goods were brought to his office, he made out one inventory of them, in which they were stated by Mr. Smith to be the property of Mr. Hives, save and except about twenty or thirty dollars worth. Subsequently, however, a second inventory was made out, at which time a number of things were thrown out by Mr. Smith as being the property of Mrs. Kunsman. The balance, contained in the second inventory, Mr. S. declared to be the property of Mr. Hives. He had no recollection of the loss of the piece of blond having been mentioned to him by Harrison—if it had been he would have put it in the search warrant. Mr. Harrison swore to the two pieces of lace as being the property of Mr. John Hives, of New York. Mr. Smith did swear that every article named in the second inventory (blonde and all) were Mr. Hives' property. Mr. S. had further said that he could not name the particular times at which the things were lost. Witness is a member of the grand jury. Mr. Smith had sworn before them that the goods stolen were the property of John Hives, of New York—sent from the store of Mr. Hives. Smith had, in his office, declined to answer certain questions put to him by the counsel of Mrs. Kunsman, until he insisted upon it—he then answered. He did not specify the time any thing was lost except the two pieces of thread lace.

Cross-examined by the State. Mr. Harrison had exhibited a paper to him with samples of lace on it, at the time the warrant was issued.

In chief—by defence. A certain scarf (produced in court) was identified by Mr. Smith upon the first examination of the goods at his office, as belonging to him, but thrown aside a tthe time of taking the second inventory. Mr. Smith had also identified certain pieces of lace as his, at first, which, upon the second examination, he threw aside as belonging to Mrs. Kunsman.

Joel Jones, Jr. Knew Mrs. Kunsman well. Had married her daughter. For about 3 months subsequent to his marriage he had slept at the house of his mother-in-law. There were two parlors—two rooms up stairs—and one garret in the house. The back room up stairs was occupied by a sister of Mrs. Kunsman, an elderly lady—the garret by Mrs. K. and Miss Christopher—the front room was reserved as a spare room. Mrs. K. had a son away, who, when at home, occupied that room. The furniture, &c. all belonged to Mrs. K. Miss Christopher was raised by Mrs. Kunsman. The trunk carried from the magistrate's office to his father's was Mrs. Kunsman's trunk, not Miss Christopher's. Those ladies had no particular occupation that he was aware of, but he knew that about the time of his marriage, Mrs. Kunsman had considerable money—about $900. She often told him she intended to open a boarding house, but that she could not find a house to suit—she also talked of keeping store, and bought some goods with that view.

Cross-examined. He had only slept at his mother-in-law's occasionally. The bed in the garret was always known as Miss Christopher's. He knew the scarf before exhibited—it belonged to Miss Christopher.

Joel W. Jones, Senr. Knew the parties in this case, since March, 1840—he had always thought them a moral and correct family. It was understood that Mrs. K. had money—he had, at one time, for a particular purpose borrowed $50 from her in gold, which he paid her a short time afterwards. The money was in Eagles and half Eagles. Had identified part of trunk taken from the magistrate's to his office was the one identified by his son as belonging to Mrs. Kunsman. His impression was that he persuaded Mrs. K. that she had better set up a store; and he had seen some goods purchased by her as bargains, with that view.

Joel Jones, Judior, re-called. He had seen lace at Mrs. Kunsman's said to have been purchased of Mr. Smith. It laid about publicly, without any attempt at concealment.

Miss Jones. Had known Miss Christopher for a year or so. She had been at Mr. Smith's store with Miss C. and Mrs. Kunsman; had seen the shawls before. Mrs. K. shewed them to her. Miss Christopher had worn one to the College, and, on one occasion, to the store of Mr. Smith. She had seen the scarf before alluded to in the possession of Miss Christopher before her brother's marriage.

Cross examined. She could not tell the exact pattern of the shawl—it was, she thought, principally green; there might have been some red in it, but not a great deal. (On the three shawls being handed to her she selected one of a green ground with some red in the border, as the shawl.)

Mr. Miller.—Had been about thirteen or fourteen years in the country, during which time he had been engaged in the lace business—knew the habits of lace sellers generally—if they sold lace by the piece they never measured it over again—the number of yards was always put upon the card. The lace could be carded by hand as well as by machine, only it would take longer. Lace could not be identified except by marks on the card. The value of the particular lace exhibited to him was about from one dollar to one dollar and a quarter.

Mr. Inloes.—Had been a lace dealer for 15 years—it was the general habit to sell a whole piece without re-measuring, with the mark of the original cost on the card.

Mr. Kennard—Did not know Miss Christopher—knew Mrs. Kunsman. Had been in the habit of purchasing goods from him—always paid promptly.

Mr. Newell.—Had known both ladies since January, 1840. His wife and he had been on intimate terms with them, and always believed them to be proper behaved women. He had heard Mrs. Kunsman say, that she thought of keeping a boarding house or store.

Mr. Bowers.—Had occupied a counting room on the lower floor of the building where Mr. Smith kept store. He never was in the store but two or three times—then it was much crowded, and many persons were continually passing up and down stairs.

Mr. Smith, (questioned by a Juror).—He identified the two pieces of lace by the mark on the card—was positive that was the lace he had bought.

Wm. A. Schaeffer, Esq. recalled.—Saw Mr. Smith making marks on cards of laces, as he threw them on the pile of goods he claimed.—Believed that he marked all he threw upon that pile. Nothing was said before him, at that time, of Miss Christopher's visit to the store.

Joel W. Jones, recalled.—Was at Squire Schaeffer's a day or two after the arrest. He had an order to receive the goods not claimed. Mr. Potee said that he had had great trouble with those things, and did not think he would get anything unless the parties were convicted.

Mr. Bennet—Aided Mr. Smith one or two afternoons—store was crowded—no memorandums were taken of what was sold—according to his opinion, the business was carelessly conducted.

With the testimony of Mr. Bennet, the examination of the witnesses closed, and the case was opened on behalf of the state by Geo K. Richardson, Esq., who was followed by James E. Stewart, Esq. and S. Teackle Wallis, Esq., for the defence, and the prosecution was closed by a second address to the jury by Mr. Richardson.

It has seldom fallen to our lot to witness more ability and eloquence than were displayed by all the counsel on this occasion. The speech of Mr. Wallis, in closing for the defence was, indeed, a powerful effort; and we could almost fancy, as he concluded, that we saw the book of fate opened before us, and the Recording Angel in the act of tracing a verdict of acquittal, when the vision was broken in upon by the low, but deep and earnest tones of the state's attorney's voice, commencing his final speech; and when he finished his eloquent peroration, it seemed as if that same Angel had "dropped a tear upon the word" he was tracing, "and blotted it out forever."

The case was given to the jury about one o'clock; and, not having agreed previous to the adjournment of the court, they were directed to return a sealed verdict in the morning.

Whatever may be the result their deliberations, neither the state nor the prisoner can complain that they have not had the most ample justice done them by their respective counsel.

State vs. John Wiggins and Robert Curtain. Indicted for stealing two pair of stockings, of the value of twenty-five cents—the property of Thomas R. Scott. Before the court. Mr. Scott was called on the part of the state; and related the circumstances, from which it appeared that Curtain was the person who took the stockings; and Wiggins did not assist in any way, except by being in company with the other, nor did he attempt to escape, when complainant seized Curtain, although, if so disposed, he might.

Representations were made to the court, by Mr. Preston, counsel for the accused, from which it appeared that, about the time this act was committed, Curtain was insane—that he was shortly after sent to the hospital, where he remained for some time—after he came out he was absent, and only lately had been arrested.

The court, under these statements, declared the traversers Not Guilty.

☞ James Hodges, charged with assaulting Jno. P. Fowler, was convicted by the court, and sentenced to pay a fine of $20 and costs.

P. S. We learn that the jury in Miss Christopher's case, agreed about 4 o'clock, P. M.

DAVIES'
FAMILY ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS.

THESE VALUABLE PILLS are very gentle in their operations, causing neither pain nor griping, nor any nauseous sickness. They exceedingly comfort and strengthen the stomach and bowels, and clear the sight, senses, hearing, and memory, of aged persons, by carrying off phlegms, watery matter, putrid, gross, and thick humours from the Stomach, Bowels, and Blood which makes them so celebrated for removing Coughs, Rheumatism, Pains from the Body and Limbs, Gravel, Piles, Sick Stomach, Disordered Bowels, and Worms.

Mrs. C. Burton, near Locust street, was diseased for seven years with a lump in the left side, lumps all over her skin, pains around the small of her back running into the stomach, which prevented her (to use her own words,) from eating one particle of meat; the first dose removed the lump, and two boxes set her at liberty.

Sold by G. Savage, General Agent for Washington; J. Thomas, and Mrs. Banks Georgetown; W. C. Cole, Hatter, and J. Brunner, Frederick; S. Church, Alexandria; J. Dunath, York; J. CENTRAL AMERICA. We have received from the enterprising publishers, Messrs. Harper & Brothers, New York, through the hands of Messrs. Cushing & Brother, of this city, two large volumes, entitled "Incidents of Travel in Central America, Chiapas, and Yucatan—by John L. Stephens. The author was sent by President Van Buren on a special confidential mission to Central America, and, with a due regard to the interests of literature and science, applied all his leisure time to the inspection of monuments of art, and the accumulation of materials by which to trace the lineage and history of the people who inhabited that section of country in an early period of the world. In these efforts the author was indefatigable, visiting distant places, investigating antiquities and seeking historical information from all attainable sources. The result of his labors are given in the volumes before us, and present matters of intense interest. He was accompanied by Mr. Catherwood, an experienced traveller and accomplished draughtsman, who has given precise delineations of architectural remains, hieroglyphics, sculpture, &c. Some of the monuments are of an extraordinary character, being probably designed as portraits on one side, whilst on the back are hieroglyphics, possibly biographical or historical.

The remains of large cities were discovered, overgrown with trees, and denoting a remote antiquity—and the question will naturally arise, by what people were these cities originally constructed. Was that portion of the continent inhabited by an ancient race of people who had been exterminated by their conquerors the Indians? There will be a variety of speculations on this interesting subject; but doubts and difficulties cannot be removed unless a key to the hieroglyphics can be discovered, by which to decypher them.

The author seems doubtful whether to ascribe the works he inspected to a long extinguished race, or to a more modern people; but finally inclines to the latter opinion. We think that circumstances justify this decision, for we find that the Mexicans and Peruvians had accomplished some of the most stupendous works of art; and besides, some of the symbols exhibited among the ruins of Central America closely resemble those in use in Mexico. (Compare Delafield's Antiquities of America with Mr. Stephens' work.) Mr. Delafield, from analogical evidence which he submits, identifies the Mexicans and Peruvians with the lost—but not satisfactorily proved his position we shall not undertake to determine—but we believe that the inhabitants of Central America were identical with those of Mexico and Peru. Our purpose, however, is not to deal in speculation, but to notice the volumes before us.

Mr. Stephens is a lively, easy and familiar writer; his style, perhaps, a little too colloquial for his subject; but this is a fault which is readily overlooked in the interest which is maintained throughout. Independent of the antiquarian researches of the author, his book contains a variety of information in relation to the political and military operations of the various factions by which Central America was distracted, and exciting incidents of a personal character.

We have not had leisure to read the whole work, but, had we the opportunity, could, with great pleasure, peruse it without pausing. We recommend it to the public as a production that will amply repay the time spent in its examination. There is only one portion of it which we could wish to see blotted out. It is that in which the writer compares the parties of Central America to those of the United States. Every thing of a partizan bearing should have been avoided in a work of so important and elevated a character. Should it reach a second edition, (to which it is entitled by its merits,) we trust that the writer will omit the part to which we allude, as being not only unnecessary, but unjust.

In conclusion, we earnestly present the work as well deserving a place in every gentleman's library.

We have also received from Messrs. Cushing & Brother, Harpers' Family Library, No. 124 and 125, containing the Lives of Distinguished Men. The brief biographies contained in these volumes will be found serviceable, particularly to those who have not the means to procure, or leisure to read, more enlarged works; and will serve to refresh the memories of others as to prominent incidents. The Family Library has, however, a character too well established to need commendation.

WAVERLY NOVELS. No. 4, containing Rob Roy, received from Mr. N. Hickman. The whole complete in 25 numbers for $5.

From the same—No. 1 to 4 of Thiers' History of the French Revolution. The 4th number contains a likeness of the celebrated Mirabeau.—This history is said to be written with great impartiality, the writer contenting himself with a plain narrative of facts, without connecting himself with any of the factions which existed in Paris, or distorting or palliating any of the transactions of the times. It is a standard work, and a valuable historical acquisition.

For the Baltimore Clipper.

GENTLEMEN: The communication of the person styling himself "Vernon," which appeared in your paper of this morning, would not be noticed, were I not aware that many take part with him who would wish to advance propositions so marked by folly, indecency and impropriety.

Did not the utility of the rule plainly appear from the fact, that its operation has resulted in the establishment of that quiet and order, which no exertions on the part of the proprietors could secure when admission to other than lot-holders was allowed upon the Sabbath, its advantages would be made manifest by our knowing that it serves to insure the absence from the Cemetery of one who desires to render it a romping-ground for himself and his "lady" acquaintances.

The remarks subjoined to the nonsensical article of "Vernon" afford the proper field for any observations upon this subject. I am neither a lot holder, nor a proprietor, nor yet in any wise connected with the Green Mount association.—But I was, when crowds were permitted to throng the avenues of the Cemetery, an angry observer of the disorders consequent upon their presence. Men found their way there whose lawless behaviour disgraced the place into which their respectable appearance entitled them to come. Women, in the garb of ladies, gathered within its walls, whose actions and conversation offended not only against the character and rules of the place into which they had come, but against the rules of common decency and good behaviour. Considering these things not only, Gentlemen, but the impropriety of advocating any measure which might tend to draw away from the churches the few who are in the habit of regular attendance, or which might give excuse for the absence of others, you will, I am sure, hereafter reject all such articles as those penned by the selfish and degraded pen of a "Vernon." You will, by an absolute, and not by a qualified refusal of your assent to his disgraceful propositions, convince him, that you at least are not to be made the means of forcing the proprietors of Green Mount into his measures. JUNIUS.

[We do not think that our commentaries on the communication of "Vernon," merit the rebuke administered by "Junius." We should be as far from tolerating any proceedings of an indecent or improper character, in or out of the Cemetery, as the writer of "Junius"—nor did we view the communication of "Vernon" as designed to introduce or sanction misconduct. We have no wish to withdraw persons from their attendance on church; but we did suppose it possible that it might be a healthy and innocent recreation for ladies to walk to the Cemetery on Sundays in the afternoon. It seems that it is not thought sinful for lot-holders and their families to indulge in this exercise; and we cannot see that there would be any great harm in extending the indulgence to other reputable families, who might choose to purchase tickets. Improper characters should be refused admittance; and disorderly conduct be promptly punished. We presume that the Managers possess sufficient authority to cause order to be preserved; and a public cemetery, we should suppose, would be one of the last places on earth which would be sought for purposes of revelry or disorder.—There are many respectable persons who have not the leisure during the week to visit the Cemetery, who would be gratified to stroll among its romantic scenery on Sabbath afternoons. Whether or not they can be allowed this privilege is not a crime for "Vernon," or any other person, to suggest that it be granted; nor did we suppose that we were committing an unpardonable sin in permitting the suggestion to appear in our columns.

As "Junius" thinks it so highly improper to visit the Cemetery on the Sabbath, we marvel that he should have been among the "crowds who were permitted to throng the avenues" on a Sunday, when he witnessed the scenes which appear to have given him disgust.]

ALL SATISFIED. We like to see people contented and happy; and, from appearances, both political parties in Maryland are in this blessed condition. Judging from the papers on either side, we cannot but consider the nominations of candidates for Governor peculiarly fortunate.—Indeed we should doubt whether two other individuals could have been selected who would give the same satisfaction. With this condition of things we are particularly pleased, because, whichever may be elected, we must have a good Governor. We must, however, give one word of advice to both parties, and for which we hope to be excused, viz: to be contest with praising their own candidate without abusing his opponent. If they will forbear in this particular, the contest will be conducted in amity, and we shall have the proud satisfaction of welcoming a Governor whose character has been unassailed.

FLATTERING. We were informed a few days since, that a foreign literary and scientific journal of eminence, had copied some editorial articles from our paper, for which it gave us due credit. Now, were we to assert that this affords us no gratification, we should deviate from the truth, which we never wilfully do; and yet we shall not mount stilts and strut with assumed dignity. We state the fact, that our readers may know that the Baltimore Clipper (although a small craft,) has crossed the Atlantic in safety, and been well received on the other side.

GOOD. The Secretary of the Navy has issued orders requiring that all officers shall keep clean shaved, abolishing the abominable mustache.—The hair is also to be close cut—so that soap-locks, imperials and mustaches will be banished from the navy. We wish that these regulations could be extended to the young fools who sometimes parade our streets with their upper lips covered with dirty hair, a perpendicular bunch on their chins, and locks dangling about their ears.

TURTLE SOUP. Friend Elterman, of the Adelphi House, supplied us yesterday with some Turtle Soup of most excellent relish; and we advise those who are fond of this healthy diet to give him a call, and her will not disappoint their expectations.

WASHINGTON, June 29, 1841.

The House of Representatives met this morning at ten o'clock. Mr. Adams asked leave to present a plan of an Exchequer of Issues, by Alexander Hamilton, a son of the great financier, and moved that it be printed.

Mr. Brown thought it would be unwise to print it, as the very fact of having the names of individuals attached to such plans, would be sufficient to induce scores of others to form plans, just for the purpose of getting their names in print.

After some further debate of a conversational character, the motion to print was laid on the table and the communication referred to the Select Committee on the Currency.

The next business in order was a motion by Mr. Linn, of N. Y., to reconsider the vote by which the House had agreed to adjourn at three o'clock for the present week. After some talk about the hot weather, etc., the motion was rejected. Mr. Linn and his friends wanted the House to have a recess in the afternoon, and then to sit late—but experience has proved beyond doubt, that after members have been home to dinner, all the work they do afterwards is not worth sixpence.

Mr. Hunt then had the floor, on the resolution offered last week, in relation to the interference of a military officer in the case of McLeod.

Mr. Fillmore begged his colleague to postpone his remarks in order that the more urgent business of the House might be attended to. Mr. Hunt agreed, and so the matter lies over.

Mr. Calhoun, from the Committee on Naval Affairs, reported a bill making appropriation for the payment of Navy Pensions. It was read twice, and referred to a Committee of the Whole.

The several States and Territories were then called for petitions. A great number were presented, having reference to a National Bank.—They were referred to the Select Committee on the Currency.

Mr. Adams gave another broadside from his abolition battery, which was, however, "not received."

On motion of Mr. W. C. Johnson, the House went into Committee of the Whole, and resumed the consideration of his bill to distribute the proceeds of the sales of the public lands among the States.

Mr. J. then continued his argument from Friday last, viz: that the framers of the Constitution never intended that the public lands should be a source of revenue. Also, that the General Government was merely a trustee, and that the States now having need of the property, the Government was bound to yield it for their relief.

Mr. Clifford followed, and moved to strike out the enacting clause of the bill. On this motion he argued at great length, that the bill of Mr. Johnson was both inexpedient and unconstitutional. He had not concluded when the House adjourned.

From sources entitled to full credit, it appears that the quantity of the public domain is ten hundred and ninety-five millions, five hundred and ninety-two thousand and fifty-two acres. The Indian title has been extinguished to three hundred and nineteen millions five hundred and thirty-six thousand two hundred and fifty-two acres, of which there were ceded up to September, 1838, to twelve new States and Territories, twelve millions seven hundred and thirty-six thousand four hundred and eighteen acres, and sold up to September, 1840, eighty-three millions eight hundred and seven thousand eight hundred and twenty acres, leaving two hundred and twenty-two millions nine hundred and ninety-two thousand and fourteen acres, subject to immediate disposition by the United States. Of the value of this immense territory, some estimate can be formed from the fact that the aggregate of the sales of the public lands, from the year 1833 to September 30, 1840, inclusive, amounted to seventy-two millions, two hundred and sixty-nine thousand, seven hundred and forty-nine dollars. At the minimum price, the remaining quantity would amount to more than ten hundred and seventy-eight millions of dollars.

In the Senate the bill for the incorporation of a Fiscal agent was taken up and debated by Messrs Clay, Walker, and others.

NEWS ABOUT TOWN.

ARREST. John Burns, alias Mano Hassan, alias John Haskins, was yesterday arrested, by Messrs. Zell and Ridgely, charged with having robbed Abraham Littleford, of Richmond, Va. of a pocket book containing a $500 note, and some other money. The robbery was committed some time since, and these enterprising officers, Messrs. Zell and Ridgely having learned the fact, kept on the look out, and yesterday arrested the supposed robber, and took him before Squire Snyder. It appears that some two weeks since the man, with two aliases, called on Mr. Doyle, the broker, and exchanged a $500 note for Virginia money.—Learning afterwards that this robbery had been committed, Mr. D. kept on the look out, and yesterday informed Messrs. Zell and Ridgely, that the individual was in town. He was speedily taken before Squire Snyder, and upwards of $400 of the Virginia money obtained from Mr. Doyle having been found upon him, he was committed for further examination.

ABUSING A FEMALE. Josiah W. Gordon, charged by Ann Green with abusing her in the Lexington market, was taken to the Western District watch house on Monday night, and, in default of security, committed in the morning, by Justice Stuart.

TURBULENT. Warhington Williams, charged with threatening one of the city watch, was, on Monday night, taken to the Middle District watch house and, in the morning, released upon security.

RIOTOUS. Francis Steer charged, with rioting, was taken to the Middle District watch house on Monday night. Released in the morning upon security.

TO THE CITIZENS OF BALTIMORE.

☞We feel ourselves called upon from a card appearing in the Sun of the 22d June, in opposition to our stand taken against the present, and yet more threatening appearance for the future, in the high price of Beef Cattle; and the more to be regretted it is since said card bears upon it the endorsement of four names belonging to our own profession, namely, Thos. J. Rusk, Harry F. Turner, Wm. L. Rusk and John W. Penix. Gratifying would it have been, had unanimity existed with us all; but to quench internal as well as the external fire, will make the task the more laborious and the more unpleasant, from the circumstance of having heretofore been associated with those gentlemen by the nearest ties of fellowship. Now here it seems is the point on which they take issue with us. They say that "at the first meeting of the Butchers" a certain resolution was passed, "with the spirit of which they agree entirely," but cannot understand the meaning of "permanent location," and that "at the second meeting" they offered a substitute, which they considered more binding, but which was permitted to die on the desk of the presiding officer.

We will now confine ourselves to facts, and set those gentlemen right, by meeting them first collectively and then individually. Inducement was given to some of worthy butchers from the existing evil in question, and the more alarming prospects for the future, to call a meeting for Monday, June 14th, of all the Beef Butchers, "to act on business for the public good." The smaller Butchers generally met, but none of the above named gentlemen made their appearance; no doubt for reasons best known to themselves! The body then assembled did not deem it proper to act without some of the big fellas! adjourned over to Wednesday, the 16th, and gave publicity thereto accordingly, so that they might procure that aid so much needed. On Wednesday more than an hour after the time appointed, the meeting organized without either of the above named gentlemen again, and proceeded to business; when in the midst thereof, Mr. Harry F. Turner arrived, and no sooner was the resolution as adopted by us offered, than that gentleman raised his opposition to the stationed and located part, which opposition created some two hours warm and irritable discussion; but when the question was finally put, it passed by the overwhelming majority of THIRTY TO ONE! and ordered to be published on Saturday, with the pledges thereto, and absentees invited to sign also. It appears from a motive of good feeling, some ten of our worthy and respectable Butchers addressed a letter to M. Wolf on Friday, from the Lexington market, to cause the Secretary to postpone the publication of the proceedings, and call a meeting for Saturday, to bring about that conciliation so much desired. That meeting was attended by some forty Butchers, all with perfect unanimity on the resolution as adopted, with the exception of Messrs. H. F. Turner and Thomas J. Rusk, who was then present for the first time, and raised an obstinate opposition thereto, similar to that of Mr. Turner alone, on Wednesday; until all became satisfied that those two gentlemen would not act with the body of Butchers under any circumstances, as justly expressed at that time, by one of the meeting; and so the meeting found themselves compelled to adjourn in confusion and publish the proceedings from Wednesday accordingly; and as one of those two individuals has since desired that we give the proceedings of the Saturday meeting in print, we have only to say, they are as explicitly given in the foregoing as any one from the bunch could remember. The two gentlemen named on their card, never attended any of our last meetings, and yet attach their names to that document.

We deem it just to give the above history in respect to attendance of men, to step forth and give assistance to remedying the evil, to ask that had those four gentlemen been so patriotic as they pretend to be in their card, ought they not have been the foremost at the first meeting in lending their counsel? But we will also ask, had they possessed that republican spirit which they assume, would they not, like true republicans, have acquiesced, although somewhat differing in a measure carried by such unanimity? And their misstatement with regard to the first and second meeting, will by this time have been perceived. There were three meetings, and that number only caused by the absence of the big fellas!

Now for the contrast of the two resolutions, on which we are decidely willing to meet the gentlemen; the one as adopted by us, reads as follows, and not as perverted by them:

Whereas we, the butchers of Baltimore, assembled to take into consideration our grievances arising from the high price of cattle, believing the same to exist from men stationed here as speculators or commission-ed agents. Be it therefore,

Resolved, by us, here present, that we will not from our number, or any other person, act as any speculator or commissioned agent located or stationed permanently for that purpose, in the State of Maryland.

The resolution as assented by the four gentlemen, reads thus:

We pledge ourselves not to purchase any cattle of any speculator or commissioned agent, or other person who is known to purchase a bullock with intent to speculate on the same, or receive cattle as commissioned cattle after they have left their home.

Previous to entering into comparison, we will only say, that the sincerity of the gentlemen shall be tested by letting futurity tell, whether we or they have most strictly adhered to the respective rules. With regard to shedding crocodile tears, whether an injurious dealer resids in this or any other State, we will let them try out that matter themselves; the words State of Maryland, in place of this city, were used by us for the reason that such dealers should not locate themselves a short distance from Baltimore. Let us now first inquire, why the necessity of the several stands against the high price of beef in 1837, '39 and '41, at periods when no other product was comparative thereto; and history has proved that no scarcity in cattle existed in either of those times, which we are prepared to substantiate from unquestionable authority; and it is also known that speculation (and sometimes to a great extent) was always carried on in the article ever since Bait. more has been a city. It is also known that men were commissioned with cattle for this market from Virginia and Ohio in all former times, and yet the price of beef generally kept pace with that of other produce, until some seven or eight years back, when at that time symptoms began already to appear from the located agencies and stationed speculators in our city, that apprehension was ripening into maturity, and the ill omens were not disappointed of which the years of 1837, '39, and '41 can give ample testimony. The best information men can have, is to reason from analogy, and take experience for their guide, and what do incontrovertible facts prove? That no unnatural rise in the price of beef except by actual, or sometimes for a week or two, accidental scarcity, ever took place until the period above alluded to, unless it was when the individual who gave defiance to our actions a few weeks since and then cleared out to New York, was for about one year stationed here, which to the best of our memory was that of 1839, and he has scarcely showed his face in this place from that time until of late.

Mr. Steenbergen himself, together with his father before him, had been, for twenty-five or thirty years, largely engaged in cattle speculation; but were they ever enabled to produce extortioned prices until he established agencies in Baltimore. Philadelphia and other places? and so it matters not who may be engaged as salesman, unless they are permanently located, as they never have, nor ever can regulate matters so as to bring about the extortions complained of. It may be well, for the information of the public, to explain the ranging of cattle for this market; it is divided into three sources; the supply from Ohio commences about the middle of April, and continues until about the middle of July, and from that time until the first of December we are supplied from Loudon, Fauquier, Shenandoah, and the nearer counties in Virginia; then comes on what are called the Branch and Greenbrier cattle, which fill up almost exclusively until some time in April. All the fat stock, for beef, from all other quarters, during said periods, are of very small account. Now it is a known fact, that one or two men can do all the selling of cattle in this market; and let us supposed that one or two individuals were located and stationed permanently here for that purpose, and all the cattle from the sections mentioned, were consigned, either by a large speculator, or by the farmers themselves, (and we have it from undoubted authority that such has been in contemplation and progress in Ohio and Virginia by the feeders and graziers) into his or their hands, and at the same time furnish them with money to buy the odd lots of cattle, should any come in contact with them; could they not, under such circumstances, (say, they have acted similarly,) keep prices up to double the legitimate value, were they so minded? And who will trust them? Experience forbids they should be trusted! But the four great men in their card, say "that certain favorite individuals come from Virginia and stay for several months, to sell cattle," whom we will not debar from that privilege. To that we will answer, nor shall we, nor will we do so at this time! But we have boldly declared, and now do so again, that whether these or any others, become oppressive to the community or ourselves, we will endeavor to locate them in a similar way to those who have already been found guilty. And we have reason to infer, should we succeed in our present undertaking, even that itself, together with our determination for the future, will deter others from venturing on imposition. And as we have shown above, even speculation itself, such as good of a time speculation never did any injury; nor is there a country to be found where cattle speculation is not carried on to some extent, and we might as well endeavor to stem the current of Niagara, as make an effort, in this country, to stop the traffic entirely. Now what is the four great men's resolution? That we must not purchase from those who "buy a bullock on the road," or "receive cattle as commission cattle, after they have left their home." Can it be presumed practicable, or even possible, for every butcher, previous to buying, make the necessary discovery from whence the salesman has procured his stock, when it is known that men cattle sold in this market are fattened over 100, and some 500 miles off or has ever any evil resulted from such buying or receiving, until men stationed themselves here for that purpose? We now challenge them to point to such a period. Our aim is to eradicate the evil, and by diving into the full cup of experience, and inquiring into present circumstances, we are only able to discover one main cause, and that cause is "speculators or commissioned agents located or stationed permanently for that purpose," in this midst of us; for we believe that the mischief which has been perpetrated by some of our own craft, has emanated from the inducement of permanent stationed salesmen. Man is fallible, and will be ambitious when an opportunity for self-interest presents itself, and thereby may become corrupt; so we hope it may be considered an act of philanthropy if we endeavor to remove the future temptation; snatch our fellow beings from vice, and lead them again into that path of rectitude where there are no obstructions! But the four gentlemen who figure so largely before the public, have said that they agree entirely with the spirit of our resolutions. Then we might simply ask, why not step forth and sign the same? Those gentlemen cannot be so apprehensive as not to discover that said resolution embodies but one principle and that is the stationed and located sentence, which carries itself out with the words "for that purpose," and when properly considered, as we have shown that to be the only main source whence evil can arise, it cannot be offensive to any citizen of Maryland, unless it be such men as calculate to derive exclusive advantages by the subservancy of having the stationed dealers at their hand for sinister purposes; and are there not strong indications to be drawn from circumstances, which have taken place between some of those four gentlemen and the stationed cattle speculators lately, and for several years past, to prompt them with such a motive? Having now followed the four gentlemen collectively, by comparing the two resolutions, it may be as well to take them individually, and inquire whether there are not symptoms on their part to show some self actuating principle? Have not two of them practised, in some instances, buying cattle, and giving them into the hands of those located salesmen for speculation? Did not one of those gentlemen, not long and so the meeting found themselves compelled to adsince, when trying to purchase a certain number of cattle from a worthy old Virginian, of which one of the located dealers was to have the half, receive words of reproach from the old gentleman for bringing by such an act, and then refused to let him have the stock? But not the other, for several weeks previous to the first call for the Butchers to meet, ran out as much, if not more, about the several markets; and also went to the Sun office and requested that journal to publish against those located dealers and their oppression? But lo! it seems that between the publication of the call for the first meeting and that time designated, an uncommon large purchase of cattle was made by the gentleman from those stationed dealers. Now, whether the golden tail of one of those bullocks, or something else, prevented him from attending the first meeting, to appear at the second as the champion for the located salesman, to not for us to say; neither do we feel disposed to inquire as to that; but we do believe, had the two above means gentlemen published a card, and therein only said:—We regret sincerely for not "continuing" entirely to sell beef in market, like two others of our craft did in 1839; the public then would have become in possession of their present intention and inward sentiment. It should also not be forgotten, that when the Butchers passed certain resolutions in 1839 as to the prices to be given for cattle, and the asking prices were refused by all the other Butchers then at the drove yard; the purchase at the same time made by those two very identical gentlemen caused the then [illegible] Beef Butchers! Now, ye little ones, what thinks you?" or some words to similar effect. And aye, was not one of the same two gentlemen the first member from the association of 1839 to buy cattle from the then monopoly again? And so let us dismiss those two.—Another of the four is a young man of amiable disposition, and whom we all like; but by reflection we cannot avoid regretting that his father and only one other Butcher in this city stood out against all the others in Baltimore and Philadelphia in 1839, and had it not been for the noble stand assumed by the greater portion of our citizens, that is, of refraining then from buying beef, those two might have supplied all the consumers, and Mr Steenbergen be yet our cattle master. And we do sincerely deplore the circumstance yet at this time that ana citizens supported the then monopoly by eating or buying beef during the months of May and June, 1839. It would, nevertheless, be gratifying to us all, would the old gentleman, that is, the father of the young man in question, come forth now and give his useful assistance to accomplish the present desired aim, as well for ourselves as for the good of the community; but we have fearful apprehensions that the signature of the son to the card published, is a token that we will again be deprived of the aid from the father. Another name is attached to the card, also, from a very clever, nice young man, of whose actions in speculating business we have not as yet much information, and hope his future course, (although now an opponent) may be as passive and inoffensive as the past; and if so, we will, fifty years hence, forgive him for his present wrong.

Having now followed these four gentlemen as far as necessary, and although much more might be said on the existing evil in question, we deem it rather prudent to add, that we regret in the extreme being compelled to intrude this lengthy and dry epistle on the public; and hope a lesson will be taught at this time to avoid periodical agitations on beef subjects in future; yet it may be possible that assistance from the citizens may be indispensable to accomplish this one's desired end at this time, from the experience derived in 1839; when at that time the blow was struck decisive, yet not effectually; that is, a sufficient number of this community then supported the Butchers in routing the Goliah; but had there been unanimity on the part of all consumers, there is no question that such as the present crisis would have been far distant, and even the aid of a microscope could scarcely have discerned a nullifier in our own ranks in 1841, of twenty years hence.

☞The fortunate ticket entitled to ten thousand dollars, Nos. 8 27 61, in the Virginia Lottery, drawn in Saturday, was purchased by a gentleman of this from the well established and all fortune HEISLER & CO. who have furnished more splendid prizes than any oth Union. The beauty of it is, all these fortunate venders are pr extra dis count. COLD SPRING HOTEL.

THIS DELIGHTFUL PLACE, situated 9 miles out of Baltimore, on the York Turnpike, the pleasantest road and finest scenery leading from the city. The house is large and airy, finished and furnished in the best manner to accommodate Boarders and Select Parties. The Garden affords the most choice Fruits, Flowers, and Vegetables. Below the garden is a Cottage, the Cold Spring, Fish Pond and Ice Pond, with its gravelled walks and green shades, which makes the scenery the most picturesque imaginable. To strangers visiting the city, Cold Spring is a most desirable place to while away a day or an hour.

SUGGESTED ON SEEING A BEAUTIFUL ROSE BURSTING FROM THE BUD.

When I beheld this fairest flower
That bloom'd in Eden's balmy bower;
Yes, when I saw the beauteous rose
By Flora call'd from calm repose,
Just rising from the op'ning gem,
Bearing her golden diadem,
And spreading to the rising morn
Her glories which our earth adorn.
It brought to mind that awful day,
High Heaven's great and grand display,
When the arch-angel's thunder-call
Shall on the ear of beauty fall,
She, rising from the op'ning tomb,
And smiling in ne'er-fading bloom,
O'ercome the monster and the grave,
Triumphant her wide pinions wave;
By angels led thro' trackless air
To spread her radiant glories there
In Heaven's blissful bowers, where she Shall bloom in immortality. ATKINSON.

FREDERICK COUNTY BANK. The Frederick Examiner of this morning will probably contain the particulars in regard to the recovery of a portion of the funds of the Frederick County Bank, and the negotiation by which they were obtained. We can hardly believe it possible that the terms were such as have been stated, for it was certainly a losing bargain for the Bank. If, however, the money was obtained through Wiley, and he demanded and received a compensation from the Bank for protecting the thief, then, if it be practicable, the advice given in the following communication should be promptly adopted. If there be power in the law, Wiley should be punished; if there be not, banks and individuals hold their property by a slight tenure.

We shall pause until we hear from Frederick, when we may possibly have more to say on the subject of the robbery, &c.

Frederick County Bank. Messrs. Editors:—Among the many instances of utter abandonment of character with which the press has teemed of late years, I venture to say none can be named to compare with the unblushing villany of the New York attorney, with whom the officers of the Frederick County Bank have held the weakness to compound the daring felony on that Institution. If the version of that transaction given in the public journals be true, the Grand Jury of Frederick County should at once present the attorney either as a principal, or as a receiver of property known to have been feloniously abstracted from the Bank, and the Executive of Maryland should demand him from the Governor of New York, to be tried in Frederick County for the offence. There is no law, surely, in any civilized country, which would screen such a creature from merited punishment. R.

BALTIMORE MARKET, JUNE 29.

FLOUR.—There is a further advance in flour since our last quotations. Sales of Howard-st. have been made at $5.50 for good common brands, and holders, we learn, are asking $5.62½ a $5.75. We quote the receipt price at $5.37½. City Mills $5.75. Susquehanna was selling at the last advices for $5.75.

GRAIN.—There is an improvement in wheats. We quote Penn'a. mixed, at 126 cents. Md. white 125 cents.; red do. 115a120 cents. Md. white corn 84 cents; do. yellow 61a63 cents. Md. Oats 42a43 cents; do. Va. at 36a37c.

PROVISIONS.—Transactions in this commodity have been confined to small parcels. We quote prime western assorted Bacon at 5¼a6 cents.—Hams 6a8 cents; sides 5 3-4a6 cents; shoulders 4a4½ cents. We note some sales of assorted prime quality at 6 cents. The receipts continue abundant, though the demand is limited. We have not been apprized of any transactions in Balt. bacon. We have no alteration to make in barrel meats. Baltimore Mess Beef is held at $12,50; No. 1. at $9, and Prime at $8, nominal. The last sale of Mess Pork was at $12, cash.—The stock of Mess and Prime is heavy with no demand. Some holders of No. 1. Western Lard are less firm and the article is now held at 7¾ to 8 cents. Stock moderate.

CATTLE.—The demand for live cattle is rather inactive. We quote at $6a$7,75 per hundred lbs. as to quality, from inferior to prime. Live Hogs are in abundance, and are found to be dull sale at $4 to $4,25 per 100 lbs.

WHISKEY.—We quote Whiskey in hhds. 22 cents; and in bbls. 23 cents. The wagon price for barrels is 20c., exclusive of the barrel.

DRUNK AGAIN. Joseph Frazier, whom we published a day or two since, as having been found drunk in the street, was taken to the Eastern District watch house, on Monday night, for the same offence.

MEDICAL AID.

THE SUCCESS that has attended the treatment of many thousand cases of Venereal Complaints for twenty-five years past, induces the subscriber to inform the public that he may be seen daily, and consulted on all cases of the kind, recent and chronic, and on diseases of the urinary organs generally—such as Gonorrhœa, Gravel, Gleets, Strictures, &c. His treatment is speedy, safe, and certain—the medicines are so mild that the most delicate may take them without restrictions in diet or occupation. Many persons, who have tried all the lauded quack nostrums of the day, are frequently calling on the subscriber to have the injuries they have sustained by their use relieved. In recent cases a thorough cure will be guaranteed for three dollars. Goonorrhœa Medicines will be furnished at one and two dollars a bottle, according to size, a large one generally cures in a few days. PILLS may be had at a dollar per box. The Vegetable Anti-mercurial CORDIAL is one dollar and fifty cents per bottle—this Medicine is the greatest purifier of the blood in the world. It renews and regenerates old and shattered constitutions, and, it may be said, is literally working wonders. Apply at

CASH FOR NEGROES.

THE subscriber being permanently located in this city, is at all times wanting to purchase likely young negroes of both sexes, for which cash and the most liberal prices will be paid. Persons having such to dispose of will find it to their interest to call on me before they sell, as they may rest assured, by doing so they shall obtain their VALUE for them. The subscriber's establishment is located on Harford Avenue, in one of the highest and most healthy parts of the city, having a free circulation of air, and a yard for exercise through the day—must necessarily be more healthy than in the centre of the city, especially in hot weather. Servants will be received for safe keeping, and every attention paid to their comfort and cleanliness, at the low rate of 25 cents per day. Application to be made to me at my office in Calvert-st. Near Market. st., one door below Mr. Bloomer's hat store, or at my residence, or to my brother at Whitman's Eagle Hotel, Pratt-st., immediately opposite the Baltimore and Ohio Rail road Depot. CASH FOR NEGROES.

THE HIGHEST PRICES will at all times be given for NEGROES of both sexes, that are slaves for life, and good titles. My office is in PRATT STREET, No. 85, between Sharp and Howard streets, where myself or my Agent, (Mr. J. M. WILSON,) can be seen at all times. All persons, having Negroes to sell, would do well to see me before they dispose of them, as I am always buying and forwarding to the New Orleans market. I will also receive and keep Negroes at twenty-five cents each, per day, and forward them to any Southern port, at the request of the owner. My establishment is large, comfortable and airy, and all above ground; and kept in complete order, with a large yard for exercise; and is the strongest and most splendid building of the kind in the United States. And as the character of my house and yard is so completely established, for strength, comfort and cleanliness, and it being a place where I keep all my own, I will not be accountable, for the future, for any escapes or any kind from my establishment.

MOFFAT'S LIFE PILLS AND VEGETABLE BITTERS.

THE perfectly safe, unerring and successful treatment of almost every species of disease by the use of MOFFAT'S LIFE MEDICINES, is no longer a matter of doubt, as a reference to the experience of many thousand patients will satisfactorily prove. During the present month alone, nearly one hundred cases have come to the knowledge of Mr. Moffat, where the patient has, to all appearance, effected a permanent cure by the exclusive and judicious use of the Life Medicines—some eight or ten of these had been considered beyond all hope by their medical attendants.—Such happy results are a source of great pleasure to Mr. M. and inspire him with new confidence to recommend the use of his medicines to his fellow citizens.

The Life Medicines are a purely VEGETABLE preparation. They are mild and pleasant in their operation, and at the same time thorough—acting rapidly upon the secretions of the system—carrying off all acrimonious humors, and assimilating with and purifying the blood. For this reason, in aggravated cases of dyspepsia, the Life Medicines will give relief in a shorter space of time than any other prescription; in Fever-and-ague, Inflammation, Fevers of every description, Sick headache, heartburn, dizziness in the head, pains in the chest, flatulency, impaired appetite, in every disease arising from an impurity of the blood, or a disordered state of the stomach, the use of these medicines has always proved to be beyond doubt greatly superior to any other mode of treatment.

All that Mr. Moffat asks of his patients is to be particular in taking them strictly according to the directions. It is not by a newspaper notice, or by any thing that he himself may say in their favor, that he hopes to gain credit, it is alone by the results of a fair trial. Is the reader an invalid, and does he wish to know whether the life medicines will suit his own case? If so let him call or send to Mr. Moffat's agent in this place, and procure a copy of the Medical Manual, designed as a domestic guide to health, published gratuitously. He will here find enumerated very many extraordinary cures of cure; and perhaps some exactly similar to his own. Moffat's medical office in New York, 175 Broadway, and for sale by the Agents. JAS. WEBB'S PATENT BURNERS, AND CAMPHINE OIL.

FOR SALE AT No. 109 E. BALTIMORE STREET, between South and Calvert streets, where Burners of every description can be obtained. Those who are sceptical as to its safety or economy, would, I trust be perfectly satisfied by examining the opinion of Professor Locke, of Ohio, on "Webb's Camphine," or by referring to the Journals of the Franklin and American Institutes, of Philadelphia and New York. All those desirous of obtaining a clean, brilliant, and economical light, will find it exactly to their advantage by calling on the subscriber. The public may be assured of one fact, that we require no meters to ascertain the amount of Camphine consumed, as they register correctly and in plain English.

The following letter to the Agent, exhibits the superiority of the Camphine over Gas or Oil light, in brilliancy and cheapness:

New York, March 23, 1840.

DEAR SIR—I received yours of the 19th instant, and proceed, as you request, to inform you that WEBB'S PATENT LAMP, in my opinion, is much superior to any Lamp now in use—the Camphine produces better light than Gas or Oil. I have burned Oil for five years, Gas for eleven, and Webb's Camphine for 20 months. I have a better light in my bar-room with five of Webb's burners than I had in the same room with eleven gas lights. In fact, I light my whole house at less expense with the Camphine than it cost me to light my bar-room alone with gas. I recommend it as being the cheapest and best light now in use.

Yours respectfully, THOMAS RILEY,

BALTIMORE LOCK DISPENSARY,
No. 17 HARRISON ST.
"NO CURE NO PAY."

DR. HUNTER'S RED DROP. This long established and highly valuable medicine is now no novelty. It has been before the public for a long time, and by its merits alone, has it risen to a degree of estimation not enjoyed by any other medicine, for the certain cure of the Syphilitic disease. Prompt and efficacious in action, yet harmless to the constitution, is its well established character, having never failed to give entire satisfaction in all the many thousand cases, where it has been used as directed.—These absolute and undeniable facts speak trumpet-tongued to the afflicted, and are the basis of a well founded hope of the philanthropist, that this unequalled medicine may circulate far and wide for the benefit of the human race.

This medicine gives the prodigal a chance to repent. Thousands have been saved and radically cured, after suffering under the hands of impostors, by this medicine, and who with grateful hearts are ready to attest to its value, and have allowed themselves to be referred to.

Persons residing at any distance, can have medicine sent to them, packed secure from observation.

It was out of pure motives of philanthropy, that this medicine was first made public; the price always to remain $1 per Bottle, to be within the reach of the most unfortunate.

☞Letters addressed, (post paid) describing the case, mode of living, &c. will be promptly attended to. Direct No. 17 Harrison street.

N. B. All sold elsewhere under the name of Hunter is a base fraud. Call and read certificates. m1-tf

PHILADELPHIA

NO. 48 BALTIMORE-ST., ONE DOOR FROM GAY. The subscriber will sell Ladies' SLIPPERS at 75 cents per pair, such as are sold at other stores for one dollar, and Fancy SHOES in the same proportion. Call and satisfy yourselves.

REMOVAL.

THOMAS M. CROUCH has REMOVED his Brush, Basket, and Wooden Ware Factory and Furnishing Store, from Baltimore street, to No. 6 CENTRE MARKET SPACE, (4th house from Baltimore street,) where he will be pleased to wait on his old customers and the public generally.

Persons commencing housekeeping will find it to their advantage to call and select from my assortment of BRUSHES, BASKETS, TIN WARE, WOODEN WARE, &c. as I will make a liberal discount to those who make their general bill at my Store.

☞Mr. JOHN S. BRASHEARS has a Tin & Sheet-iron Ware workshop in the rear of the Store, and will make and repair all kinds of Tin and Sheetiron work, Spouting, Roofing, &c. in a workmanlike manner, at short notice. His friends and the public are invited to patronize him. ap1-tf

THE PROPRIETORS OF THE CAY-ST. CHAIR WARE ROOMS, would inform their friends and the public generally, that they have now on hand, a very splendid assortment of Parlour and other CHAIRS, comprising Mahogany, Maple, Walnut, and a variety of imitation wood colours. They would request persons, disposed to purchase, to give them a call, as their assortment is not surpassed if equalled by any establishment in the city.

They would also inform Shipping Merchants that they have on hand a large assortment of Cane and Slat-back KNOCK DOWN, suitable for the West Indies or South American market, among which is a large proportion of very rich colored white tops—all of which they are willing to sell on the most accommodating terms. se1-dtf A. & J. B. MATHOT.

☞Orders sent from any part of the United States for Lime, for building or agricultural purposes, meets with prompt attention. je14

SUMMER ARRANGEMENT.
GREAT SOUTHERN
UNITED STATES' MAIL LINE,
DAILY TO THE SOUTH.

☞Bear in mind, that Passengers who go by the Chesapeake Bay and Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road, have 40 miles of Rail Road travelling through the DISMAL SWAMP at midnight, over one of the worst Rail Roads in America, and men are often compelled to lay over 17 hours at Weldon, one of the most unhealthy places in the whole Southern country.

TRAVELLERS FOR THE SOUTH, are informed that, by taking the Cars at Baltimore for Washington at 9 A.M., they proceed, without one moment's delay, via Washington, Fredericksburg, Richmond, Petersburg, Weldon, and Wilmington, N. C. to CHARLESTON, S. C., reaching Charleston the second morning after leaving Baltimore, and often one day in advance of any other Line—the Companies on the route being bound by the Postmaster General to make the following quick Schedule:

Leave Philadelphia	12 P.M. reach	Baltimore	8 A.M.
" Baltimore	9 A.M. "	Washington	11 A.M.
" Washington	11½ A.M. "	Fred'ksburg	6 P.M.
" Fred'ksburg	6½ P.M. "	Richmond	11 P.M.
" Richmond	11½ P.M. "	Petersburg	1 A.M.
" Petersburg	1½ A.M. "	Weldon	6½ A.M.
" Weldon	7 A.M. "	Charleston	12 M. next morning.

Passengers by this Line not only reach Charleston ONE DAY SOONER than by the Bay boats, but they avoid being compelled to remain all night at Weldon, one of the most unhealthy places in the whole southern country, where, by the Bay Line, they are often delayed twenty-four hours.

Passengers for Richmond and Petersburg will find this Line far the most expeditious, arriving at Richmond to lodge, (as will be seen from the above Schedule,) on the evening of the day on which they leave Baltimore, being from 16 to 18 hours in advance of those taking the Bay Steam Boats.

☞This is much the nearest, quickest, and cheapest route to the interior of Virginia, North and South Carolina—at Petersburg, Va. commences the route by way of Raleigh, N. C.—145 miles of Rail Road from Petersburg to that city. Stage Lines branch off from Raleigh Rail Road to the old Piedmont Line, to Milton Danville, &c., and to Knoxville, (Tenn.)

☞Passengers for the Raleigh and Gaston Rail Road pay through to Petersburg, Va.

Fare to Richmond,	$10.00
Fare to Petersburg,	10.50
Fare to Weldon,	12.50

UNITED STATES MAIL LINE,
DAILY TO THE SOUTH, Sunday's excepted
Via the Chesapeake Bay and Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road,

THE BALTIMORE STEAM-PACKET CO. announce to the public that in accordance with the New Mail Arrangement, the Boats composing their line, viz: ALABAMA, Captain Sutton; GEORGIA, Captain Coffey; and JEWESS, Captain Holmes, will, on and after WEDNESDAY, the 26th of May, leave the lower end of Spear's wharf daily, (Sunday's excepted,) at nine o'clock, A.M. for Norfolk and Portsmouth, Va.

Passengers for Charleston will find the cars of the Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road Company, on the wharf, on their arrival at Portsmouth, ready to convey them to Weldon, N. C., where they will always arrive in time to take the cars for Wilmington, from which point to Charleston is by the Steamboat, which leaves Wilmington immediately after the Passengers are delivered from the cars.

Passengers for Richmond, Petersburg, or intermediate points on James River, by leaving Baltimore on Monday, Wednesday, or Friday, will sleep on board the Bay Boat and be transferred to the James River Boat next morning.

The Steamboat Fox leaves the Black Water station on the Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Road, every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, on the arrival of the cars from Portsmouth, for Edenton and Plymouth, N. C., and returns every Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday, delivering her passengers to the cars as they pass down from Weldon, enabling them to arrive in Baltimore next day, (Sundays excepted.)

RETURNING, one of the above Boats will leave Norfolk every night (Saturday being excepted) at 10 o'clock, and cross over to Portsmouth where she will wait the arrival of the Cars from Weldon, and depart for Baltimore as soon as the passengers and baggage are on board, arriving here in about 14 hours after departing from Portsmouth.

Should the Boat get an early start from Portsmouth, Passengers for Philadelphia and New York will have the opportunity of being placed on board the Philadelphia Steamboat in the Patapsco River, and will arrive in Philadelphia the same night by 11 o'clock, after having travelled 300 miles in 20 hours, without as much fatigue as would be incurred in walking 4 on the Boats to the wharf.

☞No freight will be forwarded on the day it is left, unless it is alongside, prior to 8 o'clock, A.M.
