BA-532 WILLIAMS ELECTRIC COMPANY (SITE) - 1828-1831 - 9832 York Road, south of Church Lane, Texas. Two-story limestone building, five bays wide, also called Winghaven. Gable roof, inside end-chimneys, stone back building 1-½ stories high. Probably built within three years of a lease and agreement executed by Amon Bosley to John Clark in 1828. Shown in old plats as Wise's Tavern. Possibly the "stone tavern house" mentioned in Mrs. Mary Cockey Owings Nisbet's will of 1846. Refurbished for offices and commercial use in 1970s. Owner: Williams Electric Company. Demolished, 1987.

BA-533 HENRY'S DELIGHT - c. 1850 - 2615 Pot Spring Road, north of Timonium Road. Stone Victorian house, 2-½ stories with full-width porch, cross-gable with rounded window in peak; gable roof; inside end-chimneys; overhanging eaves. Square end-windows in attic. Probably built by Charles Bosley between 1837 and 1850. East wing added in 20th Century. Good condition. Owner: Dr. Robert I. White.

BA-534 L.C. POST HOUSE - Before 1873 - 1609 Pot Spring Road. Built before 1873 by Howard Ridgely and wife, who operated Long Quarter Dairy Farm on part of Lot 4 in Division of real estate of Charles Ridgely of Hampton (d. 1872). In 1920, house became home of Elkridge Hounds, which in 1935 sold to Richard H. Randall. Sold in 1953 to Pietro Persico and wife. Large, stone, 2-½ story house in vernacular style, gable roof, inside end-chimneys, five bays wide. Photos of c. 1925 show that house was radically altered by removal of Victorian cross-gable and trimming eaves flush with walls.
