BUILDING DATE: 1873

7 Maple Street is a west-facing, vertically massed, three-bay, freestanding, rock-faced, random coursed stone church. The focus of the church is on the two-story, square, projecting center-bay tower that holds the pointed arched double doors and a round stained glass window. The flanking bays each have a narrow pointed arched, stained glass window. The building has serious structural problems that have been partially resolved through the addition of stone buttresses at the corners of the building. The structural problems are particularly evident at the side elevation windows where wide cracks and movements in the stone wall are apparent.

The church is indicated on the 1875 map of the town. According to the Smithsburg Historical Society, the church was founded by the Bishop, Towson, and Huyett families after the death, in 1870, of Dr. Elijah Bishop. The tower was added in 1916. This is indicated on the 1916 Sanborn, which numbers the building 201 Maple.
