NAFAD chapter debut in Baltimore

with Lula Jones Garrett

As of Sunday, Baltimore has a chapter of the National Association of Fashion and Accessory Designers, Inc.

The new chapter was installed at a session in Madison Avenue branch YWCA, with the induction ceremony being performed by the national president, Mrs. Lois K. Alexander of New York.

Other participants on the program were Mrs. odelle Payne, who gave the opening invocation, and music by Mrs. Gloria Stokes and Mrs. Lucille Marcus, pianists; and Rufus Watkins, soloist.

President of the local chapter, Mrs. Nell Sheridan, presented Mrs. Alexander.

The induction of the Baltimore chapter brought a number of the national officers to the city, including Mrs. Jeanetta Welch Brown, of St. Albans, N.Y., who founded the association in 1949.

Also here were Mesdames Mildred Allen of Cleveland, Ohio, president; Lucy Cordice, president of the Boston, Mass., chapter; Lucinda Daniel, president of the Washington chapter; Estelle Banks of Philadelphia, N.Y., member of the board of directors.

Officers, other than Mrs. Sheridan, of the local group are Mesdames Ethel Clarke, vice president; Clarice Brooks, recording secrhtary; Alma Redden, Assistant secretary; Ruth Croxton, treasurer; Mazie Rea, narrator; Melissa Fox, historian.

Members include Mesdames Meribah Bell and Blanche Dugger.

The out-of-town guests, along with Mesdames Pauline Brooks, Melahee Yerrell Lynde Jordon, Meribah Bell and Blanche Dugger, were entertained at cocktails by Mrs. Sheridan following the induction.

WHEN THE WE WIVES met with Margaret Armstrong recently, the evening turned into a gala Birthday Party as the group feted members whose birthdays fell during the summer and early fall.

Gwen Tarter, chairman of the birthday committee, outdid herself in selecting the gifts and presenting miniature cakes to the honorees. Birthday children were Ivy Grinnage, Mae Dyson, Ruby Reid, Lillian Ross and Ida Smith.

Vernice Reynolds, chairman of the party committee, with her members Ivy Grinage and Iris Mapp reported on plans for the group's big activity, their Valentine party.

THE LADIES of Sharp Street Memorial Methodist Church not only provided a delightful day of meditation, of provoking thought and of high entertainment (with a dinner sandwiched in) but garnered $3,481.86 on their Woman's Day, Sunday.

The pastor's wife, Mrs. Phenola V. Carroll was chairman, and Mrs. Charlotte Harper, co-chairman; backed by a strong committee including Mesdames Myrtle Wake, Constance Brent; Miss Martha Gover, Mesdames Lillie Mae Jackson, Juanita Mitchell and Ruby Gill; and a group of energetic captains, among whom were:

Mesdames Martha Allen, Vivia Ames, Georgia Arvin, Rebecca S. Brown, Mary Carpenter, Beatrice Dabney, Elaine Fields, Hester Floyd, Alice Hammond, Charlotte Harper, Fannie Hall, Elvenia Hopkins, Sallie Fletcher;

Mesdames Esther Jackson, Lillie Jackson, Phenola Carroll, Lillian Jones, Sallie Larkins, Ecola McCleod, Juanita Mitchell, Catherine Moore, Gertrude Norris, Alice Parker, Barbara Patterson, Hazel Philips;

Mesdames Esther Roberts, Pearl Shipley, Inez Smith, Theodosia Stokes, Allegra Taylor, Helen Spriggs, Fannie Vaughn, Doris Wallace, Ruth Washington, Julia White, Hattie Young, Corrine Harris, Virginia Smith;

Misses Mary Allen, Thelma Anderson, Gladys Barbour, Anna Bennett, Lillie Mae Britain, Willie Mae Cheatham, Edith Gordon, Martha Gover, Cheryl Harper, Cynthia Johnson and Patricia Nicholson.

Ashby) Sir Stork handled his Christmas chores early this year. There the Parkers were all set for a December addition (Mrs. Parker was at club sessions the evening before) when up arrives five and a half pound Terri Pamela, this week. The young lady made her debut in Johns Hopkins Hospital.

In the same hospital, Beatrice (Mrs. Edward) Hurt is quite ill.

Iota Phi Lambda sorors are agog - deep in Christmas plans ... this year combining their efforts with those of other groups.

For instance, for the party they will have for underprivileged children at the Sharp Street Community House on Dec. 20, toys to be distributed to the children are being donated by Jack and Jill and the Frontiers Club will donate the ice cream and cake.

Clothing will be distributed by members of the sorority. Mrs. Violet Hill Whyte will tell stories to the children. The sorors will also visit La Plaza Old Folks Home to spread Christmas cheer.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Cunningham and son, Brain, of St. Algans, N.Y. were guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Hickens of Queenstown Rd., over the weekend.

Mrs. Cunningham was a Long Island delegate-elect to the AKA Sorority Leadership convention in Salisbury on Saturday.

In to meet the Cunninghams on Saturday night at the Nickens home were Messrs. and Mesdames Edgar Chase, Arnold Woodlon, John St. Clair, Elliot Caldwell, Shirley Diggs; Mesdames Anne Jones, Gladys Tyler, Francis Taylor, Agnes Cooper; also William Lewis, John Morris, Elsey Whitt.

THE CLOTHES LINE: Dr. Lorraine Williams, professor of sociology at Howard University and first anti grand basileus of Sigma Gamma Rho in chocolate brown woolen suit and beige accessories, gave per sors something to look at as well as listen to on her speaking engagement, here, Friday night. Highlighted the ensemble with a corsage of yellow tea roses tied with blue ribbons, symbolizing the sorority colors.

At the luncheon, at Coppin State Teachers' College, next day, Julia Medley selected an eye - catching avocado green wool and matching hat plastered with pheasant feathers across the front. Georgeanna Smith's white fur bumper, with black velvet band was mighty fetching.

A perky bow on Aray Laws' white satin hat drew more than a little attention. Was worn above a black crepe frock and with multiple strands of pearls. Mable Walters was in black velvet with white chiffon bodice, and the charming Pauline Butler was regal in olive green crepe frock and a matching hat with a wide satin bow as trim.

And speaking of hats, a tall standing number in white, spiked midway with red roses, worn by Lillian Lawrence at the Methodist Women's World Fellowship luncheon, was an attention drawer. 'Twas worn with a navy suit.

And at the same affair, Mrs. Edith Bryant a symphony in the violets ... her purple wool suit topped by a violet hat and worn with cerelean mink stole.

Town dentists sparked the fellowship dinner which followed their day's scientific clinic with the presence of their ladies ... and the ladies obliged with pretty enhancement.

Jeanette Christmas was wearing the snarkiest mink hat in season's age ... and a pretty blue satin chapeau was donned by the Auxiliary president Sarah Howell, along with a black frock. Eula Mae Watts, soloist for the evening, chose pale beige brocade, a fitted frock; and her accompanist, Mrs. Shellman Johnson, a print in huge flowers of all purpose and greens on a background of white. The fitted bodice of her gown was underscribed with a bell skirt. And Mrs. George F. Woodland, wife of the Dental Society's president, was in electric blue taffeta.

MRS. ALICE HAZZARD, former vice principal at Columbus School No. 99, was the honoree for whom the faculty of that school entertained, Friday.

Their dinner, at Park Plaza Hotel, was attended by the 40 faculty members, who gave Mrs. Hazzard a remembrance gift ... a desk pen set. Mrs. Hazzard has been promoted to the principalship of School No. 159.

In story about NAFAD new chapter, please change city, address of Mrs. Jeannette Welch Brown to St. Albans, N.Y.

I KNOW OF NOTHING that is so reassuring that the earth is still in its orbit as a session with women of the church.

Women with the welfare of the human race on their minds, with the wrongs of the world on their consciences and the determination in their hearts to do something about the latter.

Such a session was that held a Saturday ago by Methodist women.

The occasion was the second annual luncheon of the World Federation of Methodist Women, which was held in Metropolitan Methodist Church, and had as chairman, Mrs. Lillian Lawrence. The Women's Society of Christian Service and the Wesleyan Service Guilds of that church are sponsors.

There is no ticket selling. The ladies of Metropolitan prepare the lovely decorations and the young women of the church serve the luncheon.

Speakers on Saturday were Miss Annabell Clarke, who has recently returned from a world tour of the facilities of the Federation.

She told of the valiant struggle of women leaders around the world. She talked of the beauty of the many-hued children in the orphanages in Korea and of the wonderful job that is being done, under handicap, to provide for them.

Chiefly the children of American soldiers, Miss Clarke told the group that Korean mothers gave up their children, not for lack of love, but because that was the only way they could be sure that their babies would be adequately fed and housed.

She talked of a "Home of Holy Love" in Korea, where the remaining families of missionaries who have been killed, have banded together to survive and to carry on the work of their husbands and fathers.

Mrs. Jackson, who did some clinical work in Japan with her husband, the Rev. Kelly Jackson, during the summer, gave an intriguing picture of that country.

She pointed out that while the metropolitan cities of Japan may have become greatly westernized, life in the small villages go on very much as pre-war days.

The women, she said, still occupy third place, with the husband, first; the children, second. Usually their chief question, she said, was "What do you do in America to make the men so nice to you?" Mrs. Jackson also told of their work in propagating the Christian religion and of establishing the nucleus of a church in the village in which they worked.

There were other participants on the program including Mrs. Marie Brown, Miss Edna Phifer, Mrs. Margaret Arnold and Mrs. Cornelia Smith.

There were greetings from other divisions of the Methodist Church by Mrs. Cordie Martin of the AME Zion Church and Mrs. Edith Bryant of the AME Church. Shellman Jackson provided the beautiful background music as well as a solo.

ALPHA ALPHA SIGMA chapter of Sigma Gamma Rho Sorority climaxed its' Founder's Week celebration with a delightful luncheon at Coppin State Teachers College, Saturday.

"DESEGREGATION WILL NEVER WORK"
"White people advance faster, group things easier. You've got to have separate schools or hold the whites back, that's all" says Sheriff Willis V. McCall, of Lake County, Florida, whose views are quoted in a profile of this outspoken segregationist in the current issue of CORONET MAGAZINE. During Sheriff McCall's term of office, Lake Wonnie has been torn by strife, beset by unsolved cross-burnings, house bombings, rape-rows, and shotgun attacks. For the full story of this shocking situation, be sure to read, "The Law of Lake Country."
