SPARKLY ALMOND TWISTS are "cookies with a difference" and a delight to be served at tea.

Sparkly Almond Twists are 'Cookies with a difference'

Part of the fun of entertaining, to say nothing of enhancing your reputation as a hostess, derives from preparing and serving exceptional foods to your guests.

A popular choice by party givers and goers alike would be Sparkly Almond Twists.

* * *

These are cookies-with-a-difference. Some might not consider them cookies at all, since they're made from a basic sweet yeast dough recipe. Yet, Sparkly Almond Twists aren't yeast rolls. They're baked after only one rising (a time saver), resulting in a more crisp texture.

A smooth, subtly-spiced cream cheese-almond filling combines with the gleam of crunchy, sugar-coated dough to make these twists good beverage companions.

* * *

Serve the twists in napkin-lined mugs — which guests can pick up and fill with whatever quenches their thirst best.

They'll be getting a nutritional bonus from Sparkly Almond Twists, too. Products made from enriched flour contain three important B-vitamins, thiamine, niacin and riboflavin, and the mineral, iron, all added in the enrichment process.

Make Sparkly Almond Twists with four and one-half to five and one-half cups enriched flour, two packages dry yeast, one-half cup milk, one half cup water, one-half cup sugar, one-fourth cup oil, two teaspoons salt, two eggs, one-half cup sugar, and almond filling.

Stir together two cups flour and yeast. Heat milk, water, one half cup sugar, oil and salt over low heat only until warm, stirring to blend. Add liquid ingredients to flour-yeast mixture and beat until smooth, about two minutes on medium speed of electric mixer, or 300 strokes by hand. Blend in eggs.

Add one cup flour and beat one minute on medium speed or 150 strokes by hand. Stir in more flour to make a moderately stiff dough. Turn onto lightly floured surface and knead until smooth and satiny, about 8 to 10 minutes. Shape into ball and let rise in warm place (80 to 85 degrees) until doubled, about one and one-half hours.

* * *

Prepare Almond Filling; refrigerate until ready to use. Punch dough down; divide into four equal parts. Let rest 10 minutes. Sprinkle countertop with 2 tablespoons sugar; roll one portion of dough into 6 x 18-inch Rectangle.

Spread with one-fourth almond filling. Fold dough lengthwise in half. With sharp knife cut dough crosswise into 16 equal strips. Lightly stretch each strip; twist 2 or 3 times and place on greased baking sheet.

Repeat with remaining sugar and dough. Bake in preheated 375 degrees oven fifteen to twenty minutes, or until golden brown. Remove immediately from baking sheet onto wire racks.

* * *

Almond filling requires one package (eight ounces) cream cheese, softened, two tablespoons milk, one-half cup toasted, slivered, blanched almonds, four teaspoons sugar, and one-half teaspoon mace.

Blend together cream cheese and milk. Mix in almonds, sugar and mace thoroughly.

Tableware care is easy

Knives, forks, and spoons, collectively called tableware, have come a long way from early beginnings when fashioned from stones, twigs and shells.

Today's eating utensils fall into four categories — sterling silver, gold plate, silver plate, and stainless steel.

Each has its special characteristics, but all are kept in tiptop condition by prompt washing, either by hand or machine.

The metal of which tableware is made need not be considered in the light of "company best" versus "everyday."

Sterling grows more beautiful with use and some stainless is handsome enough to use with any table setting. In each category, there is a range of prices determined by quality of metal, weight and balance, craftmanship, and intricacy of pattern.

* * *

Through the centuries, sterling silver has been so closely associated with fine quality that it has given rise to colloquialisms, such as, a person of "sterling character."

Sterling stamped on the back of a piece means that it is made of 929 parts silver to 5 parts of an alloy.

Since by law, all silver is equally pure in silver content, the differences in sterling flatware are in the sharpness and clarity of pattern and the size, weight and balance of each piece.

Personal preference is a major criteria in selection. After purchase, proper care and washing techniques, though simple, are imporatant.

* * *

Besides its intrinsic value as a precious metal, sterling doesn't wear out. And it is appropriate for any occasion 8 from casula family dining to formal entertaining.

Unlike other possessions, frequent, even daily use, makes silver more lovely. It acquires a patina, the soft, lustrous finish created by the blending of many fine lines.

Happily, care is simple — either machine dishwashing or hot suds and rinses with an occasional polishing.

When washed by hand, be sure to dry thoroughly.

All metals, including stainless steil, spot if left to drain dry.

* * *

If necessary, use a soft, well-lathered brush to clean ornate silver.

Avoid using a stiff-bristled brush.

Polish so applied tends to remove dark shadow intentionally placed there by the silversmith to accent the design.

Rather, for an occasional shine-up use a liquid or cream polish made specifically for silver and follow directions.

Advice for fitness during 'off-season'

The YMCA of the Greater Baltimore Area, celebrating 123 years of YMCA service to the community, during the month of January, offers this advice to combat off-season exercise doldrums.

It only takes four simple steps to avoid them.

One, ask your doctor about exercise for you. If there are special limitation in your case he will tell you.

Two, once medically cleared throw overboard antique notions of exercise. Dancing, swimming, jogging, bicycling, sports are all good exercise and they're fun.

Three, seet aside some definite period each when you can — and will— power your body to life.

Four, you are now ready to reach for tha that top physi condition. Fidna n id physical condition. Find an organization where you can join in exercising activities with others — like the YMCA Branch in your area.

Exercise strengthens your heart, lungs and muscles; improves your circulation, aids elimination and is nature's own tranquilizer.

Exercise does this by putting your vital organs to work, something they don't when you are bound to a desk all day and flop into an easy chair in the long winter evenings.

Bowie fund drive goes into '70,s

Bowie State College will extend its fund raising campaign into 1970, according to Dr. Cecil Spellman, Director of Development for the college.

The campaign has been extended, Dr. Spellman said, due to increased participation from the Maryland community.

The goal of $50,000 dollars is needed for student scholarships and new innovative programs. The Alumni also welcomed the extention of the drive because of their revuenated efforts to raise the needed funds.

"Labor and local government have been instrumental in aiding the fund raising drive," Dr. Spellman said, "however, we still need greater participation from the community both local and state in order to achieve our campaign goal of $50,000 dollars."

"Send your tax deductable donation or pledge to Bowie State College Fund, Development Office, Bowie, Maryland 20715."
