ALPHA ZETA Chapter, Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, culminated its activities for the year with a picnic in Oyster Harbor, Annapolis, Md. at the summer home of Dr. and Mrs. T. Andre Pitts (Beatrice).

Soror Catherine C. Neal, basileus, took time out to express her gratitude to the sorors for their cooperation during the year and to wish each soror a vacation filled with rest, fun and adventure.

The cool breeze and beautiful view of the Chesapeake Bay afforded a delightful atmosphere for games and dinner on the lawn. The sorors made a beautiful picture in their colorful cottons.

In attendance were Sorors Catherine C. Neal, basileus, Isolene Crowner, Mae Fortune, Lillian Webb, Ruth Johnson, Edna Johnson, Alice Hall, Annie Moreland, Mary C. Smith, Hortense Smith, Ethel Hall, Doris Howell, Angie McClain, Sandra East,

Old Taylor Presents: Ingenious Americans

#10 in a series

Lewis Latimer (1848-1928)

He helped us see the light.

Lewis Latimer took a spectacular, though impractical, invention and completely changed the lives of thousands of Americans. The invention was Thomas Edison's electric light bulb. What Latimer did was improve the lamp with an inexpensive carbon filament and a wooden socket—much like the metal ones we use today.

Latimer's improved lamp caught the attention of a young businessman, Charles Weston, who could see its unlimited possibilities. Weston raised enough money to set up a company to make the lamp. Then he sent Latimer to Canada and England to supervise production there.

A year later, the Excelsior Electric Company asked Latimer to advise its engineering and legal departments. So when the two companies decided to set up an organization to protect their patents, Latimer was asked to be chief draftsman and legal witness. He traveled all over the world gathering evidence against companies which were using Weston and Excelsior patents without permission.

Millions of dollars rested on this one man's testimony. A man who had to go out and work to support his mother at age ten, a man who had been a 15-year-old cabin boy during the Civil War, a man who had begun his amazing career as an office boy in an engineering firm, a man who was self-educated in the field to which he was now so important.

In 1918, an organization was formed for the men who were regarded as the "creators of the electric industry." It was named the Edison Pioneers. And Lewis Latimer was one of its most distinguished members. Every time someone turns on an electric light, it becomes a memorial to a truly Ingenious American.

Miss Woods becomes bride of Mr. Burts

Miss Leonore Jocelyn Woods, daughter of Leo Chancely Woods and the late Mrs. Geneva Woods, was married to Norman David Burts, Jr. in the Cathedral of Mary Our Queen, here, Saturday.

Mr. Burts is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Burts, Sr. of Cleveland, Ohio.

The Nuptial Mass was said by the Rt. Rev. Monsignor Thomas Whelan. The double ring ritual was performed. The wedding took place at two in the afternoon.

THE BRIDE, given in marriage by her father, was attended by her sister, Mrs. Patricia Hamilton of Los Angeles, Calif., and Miss Priscilla Lansey of this city, matron and maid of honor, respectively.

Bridesmaids were Misses Catherine Jordan, Mary Sue Welcome and Sueann Woods of this city; and Betty Burts of Cleveland.

MISS WOODS wore a gown of white silk organza with lace appliques centered with seed pearls on the elbow-length flared sleeves, the front of the dress and on the train.

She wore a bouffant veil and carried a cascade of stephanotis and orchids.

The attendants were gowned in pale apricot chiffon dresses which featured green and apricot sashes. Their headdresses were brief veils to match the gowns, and they carried cascades of stephanotis and ivy.

Patrice Simone Hamilton of Los Angeles, niece of the bride, was flower girl. Her dress was of white embroidered organdy with a green velvet sash.
