Semmes family once owned Church House of First Presbyterian Church--on site of Fort Cumberland. Later, the Devecmon family bought it.

Colonial with a circular driveway and an L on the west side. The basement had two large fireplaces, where the cooking was done. The stone steps and coping were brought from Scotland. Two rooms, a staircase and halls were added about 1880 making it a two-family house. David W. Sloan bought the side which had been the Church House and William Campbell bought the other side.

The above mentioned house was torn down in the 1950's to make way for an addition to the Washington Street Church and a parking lot.
