CAPSULE
RIDER BANK BARN

8207 White Manor Drive is a stone bank barn that has been renovated into a house. The barn is reputed to have been built in the 1750's although the exact date of its construction is not known. The barn has many structural elements that show it to be at least of the early 19th century. It shows post and beam framing, log joists in the basement and attic, and wood pegs. Many of the log joists in the basement still retain some original bark. Interesting original features of the barn are the five vents and wood pegs that fasten the window frames.
