DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (if known) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This small brick house is covered with thick layers of stucco. L shaped, 2 stories in the main house and 1 in the wing. The house faces northeast, 3 bays by 1, with the wing running southwest along the southeast wall 2 bays by 0. The pitched roof ridgeline runs northwest-southeast. One chimney rises from large fireplaces on the first and second floors. An arch in the basement supported a second fireplace in the northwest end of the house, since demolished.

The basement has hand-hewn timbers supporting wide width flooring, now covered on the first floor. Wall thickness is seen to be almost 24" at this level.

The back wing, also of brick, has an enclosed porch under an extended roof, and two chimneys, one rising from a cooking fireplace.
