DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (If known) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

On the Blackburn property exists a total of four interesting dwellings and farm buildings and two barns now in ruins.

CHAS 102 A. is in the form of a log building approx 10'x 15' (or less) with an "A" frame roof running E-W. The logs are hewn square and dove-tailed with a Mortar chinking. To what use it was originally erected is not known - however its present use is that of a chicken coop.

CHAS. 102 B. is a small 7'x 7' (approx.) frame shed also with an "A" frame roof running E to W.

Both CHAS 102 A & B are circa 1810 or later though log structure could pre date 1800.

CH 102 is a small two room dwelling facing E and with an "a" frame roof running N-S. At the exterior facing of the S end is a large chimney of brick with stepped hips and a free standing stack. One storey in height the E Elevation displays a large window of 9/6 guillotine to the S of the imaginary center line with a 2a. Vict. panelled door with a 3/3 overlight at the extreme N end ~~front~~. At the N. end are two doors centered (both of which are now windows) one at the 1st level and another at the attic level. On the W. wall rear (originally front) are two doors -

On the interior, ground floor, is an end hall and single large room with fireplace. The fireplace opening was somewhat foreshortened in the years since its erection and was originally taller in height than in breadth and still retains an interior bar for a trammel. Returning to the hall ~~yous~~ you are immidiately impressed with a small yet delightful curved stair in a Queen Anne style but possessing ea. Victorian step ends and newel posts. At the attic level ~~is~~ are two rooms of the same length as those below but retaining eave closet space.

Structuracly the house does not appear to predate 1820-30 and whether it served as an entity in itself or was connected to another building could not be decided at the time of this survey.
