PUBLIC NOTICE
Baltimore County Department of Public Works
Location/Design Approval Received
Warren Road Extended to I-83

The Federal Highway Administration of the U.S., Department of Transportation granted "Location/Design Approval" for the extension of Warren Road to Interstate Route 83.

Location Approval has been received and Design Approval has been granted for Alternate 4S/4D which proposes improvements to the existing intersection at York and Warren Roads and a new roadway from York Road to a new interchange at I-83. Between York Road and Beaver Dam Road, the new Warren Road will be designed as a five-lane, 62-foot wide, curbed roadway. An at-grade crossing of the Conrail tracks is proposed, with appropriate signing, pavement markings, and warning lights. Between Beaver Dam Road and I-83, the new road will become a four-lane divided highway, with graded shoulders, a 34-foot median, and controlled access. The partial interchange with I-83 will provide movements to and from the south only; Warren Road traffic destined for northbound I-83 will be directed to the Shawan Road and Padonia Road access ramps by appropriately placed signs.

Having received Location/Design Approval, final design will be completed and construction plans will be prepared.

Comments received at and subsequent to the December 16, 1986 Location/Design Public Hearing were evaluated and made a part of the Final Environmental Impact Statement (FEIS). The "Location/Design Public Hearing Transcript" and the FEIS, adopted in support of Location/Design Approval, are available for public review at the following locations:

ORIGINALITY:
it's rewarding

At the turn of the century, Madame C. J. Walker's straightening comb turned Black hair care into a red-hot industry, made a millionaire of Madame Walker, and created scores of Black businesses.

Today, that tradition is continued by entrepreneurs like Bernice Calvin, President and CEO of Big Show Expo, the nation's oldest and largest ethnic beauty and information show.

Sponsored in part by Coors, Big Show Expo attracts more than 50,000 visitors to a touring show of new products, educational demonstrations and selling strategies.

Ms. Calvin also founded the National Black Beauty Heritage Association, whose turn-of-the-century artifacts will visit the Big Show Expo.

The Adolph Coors Company, brewer of Coors, Coors Light and Extra Gold Draft,* is proud to take part in keeping a beautiful tradition in business.
