Description

This two story, three bay stone house appears to date from approximately 1854 when its lot was purchased by William F. Carr for $100. Carr and L.E. Suman were partners in a furniture making and undertaking business which was located on the lot south of the Methodist Church at 31 South Main Street. The house is constructed of large, roughly coursed stones and features single large stones over the openings. Windows have six over six pane sash within narrow frames. The entrance is in the center bay and includes a three light transom.

It is one of several stone buildings in Keedysville dating from the mid 19th century.
