THE CIVIL RIGHTS ISSUES IN 1956

AS THE UAW FAIR PRACTICES DEPARTMENT SEES THEM

We in the UAW are proud that in the past four years we have made progress in collective bargaining, in the day-to-day operation of contracts in the plants and in states and hundreds of local communities. Practical steps AGAINST discrimination and FOR the establishment of fair practices on the job and in the community have been made.

Our Union has acted to support the Supreme Court decisions providing for integration of the Nation's public schools.

The progress we have made in strengthening our contracts with employers has meant a higher standard of living, better health, better housing, more security, more dignity and longer lives for our members and the members of their families.

In cooperation with the NAACP and other organizations, our Union has continued the fight for the enjoyment of full civil rights by all Americans in all parts of our Nation. That fight is still to be won.

The veto power of the filibuster continues to strangle civil rights.

The Senate continues to be the graveyard of civil rights legislation. The grave-digger is still Rule 22.

The filibuster weakens, delays and blocks other social, labor and economic legislation essential for stable prosperity and world peace.

Together with the NAACP and other national organizations participating in the Leadership Conference on Civil Rights, UAW representatives went to both the Democratic and Republican National Conventions to urge civil rights platform pledges, including a pledge to kill filibuster rule and substitute majority rule by changing Rule 22 so as to make it possible to limit debate.

The unbossed Democratic Convention adopted a pledge to end filibuster rule.

The managers of the completely bossed Republican Convention refused to adopt such a pledge. That refusal makes all other Republican pledges on civil rights meaningless.

WE FIND that in Congress, as in many State Legislatures and local governing bodies, civil rights generally have received more support from liberal Democrats than from Republicans. Specifically, we find that —

A. Three times as many Democrats as Republicans (16 and 5) voted January 7, 1953, to get rid of the filibuster by adopting a new Rule 22;

B. 41 Republicans voted with 29 Democrats for the Taft motion to keep Rule 22 and thereby keep the filibuster;

C. The 1956 Republican Convention, acting on Eisenhower's orders to please Southern delegates, softened its civil rights planks and refused to adopt any pledge to change Rule 22;

D. The 1956 Democratic Convention gave meaning to its civil rights pledges by pledging action January 7, 1957, to get rid of the filibuster and establish majority rule by changing Rule 22;

E. Stevenson spoke up before and after the Democratic Convention in support of civil rights, for the Supreme Court decision ending school segregation, and to urge use of the powers of the Presidency in support of the Court, saying the same things in Little Rock, Ark. that he says in the North.

WE CONCLUDE that in 1956

a vote for Republican control of the Presidency and Congress is a vote FOR Eastland, for continued filibuster rule and against civil rights;

a vote for Stevenson, Kefauver and other liberal Democrats:

* is a vote AGAINST Eastland and the Dixie Republican coalition;
* is a vote to get rid of the filibuster;
* is a vote for Majority Rule and for enactment of Federal Civil Rights legislation.

"SUPPORT THE COURT"—STEVENSON. Feb. 27, 1956
"IT MAKES NO DIFFERENCE" — EISENHOWER. Sept. 5, 1956

LAST FEB. 27, ADLAI STEVENSON SAID:

"The office of the President of the United States has great moral influence and I think the time has come when that influence should be used by calling together white and Negro leaders from the areas concerned in the South to explore ways and means of allaying these rising tensions."

If President Eisenhower had acted then, he could have put out white supremacy fires that were being lighted all over the South by professional race and labor baiters.

BUT INSTEAD, ON MAR 7, when asked what the role of the Federal Government should be in enforcing the Supreme Court decision, Eisenhower said:

"Well, of course you have asked a very great question that is filled with arguments on both sides. You have particularly brought up the question of whether the Supreme Court is the last word we have in the interpretation of our Constitution. Now this is what I say: there are adequate legal means of determining all those factors. We will make progress and I am not going to attempt to tell them now how it is going to be done."

AND AGAIN, ON SEPT. 5, when schools were opening and efforts were being made throughout the South to comply with the Supreme Court's decision calling for school integration, Eisenhower offered the alibi that he couldn't move until the State had failed to act.

He said Texas "had moved in and order was restored, so the question became unimportant."

At this point, the transcript of his news conference draws this portrait of a President who doesn't know and won't lead:

"SARAH McCLENDON of The El Paso Times—Mr. President, in doing so, Governor Allan Shivers sent Rangers to defy the court order, resign out the Negro pupils, and said in a public statement which was carried in the newspapers:

"'I defy the Federal Government.' He said, 'Tell the Federal courts if they want to come after anyone, to come after me and cite me in this matter.'

"I wonder if you have discussed this with anyone in the Department of Justice?"

"A—I have not discussed it because you are quoting both an order that I have not read and a statement that I have not seen.

"Now, I have—we have actually sent for the District Court order to know what it says. I don't know what it says. And, remember, that the Supreme Court placed in the hands of the District judges the primary responsibility for insuring that progress in every sector was made.

"Now, just exactly what Governor Shivers said I don't know. This is the first I have heard of it."

A few minutes later, asked if he endorsed or merely accepted the Court's decision, Eisenhower shocked civil rights supporters by saying:

"I think it makes no difference whether or not I endorse it."

ON THE OTHER HAND, STEVENSON, against the advice of local politicians, chose Little Rock, Ark. to speak out again. There, and before an estimated audience on Sept. 23, he said:

"The Supreme Court of the United States has determined unanimously that the Constitution does not permit segregation in the schools. As you know, for I have made my position clear on this from the start, I believe that decision to be right.

"But what is most important is that we agree that, once the Supreme Court has decided this constitutional question, we accept that decision as law abiding citizens.

"Our common goal is the orderly accomplishment of the result decreed by the Court

"I said long ago, and I stand now squarely on the plain statement adopted in the Democratic platform, that we reject all proposals for the use of force to interfere with the orderly determination of these matters by the courts.

"I have repeatedly expressed the belief, however, that the office of the Presidency should be used to bring together those of opposing views in this matter—to the end of creating a climate of peaceful acceptance of this decision."

A VOTE FOR REPUBLICAN CONTROL IS A VOTE FOR FILIBUSTER

Democratic 1956 Convention Pledged Fight to Break Filibusterers' Rule

Senator Paul Douglas (D., Ill.) and other liberal Democrats are going to carry out the pledge made by the unbossed 1956 Democratic Convention to establish the majority rule at the opening of the 85th Congress January 7, 1957, by changing Rule 22 so as to break the power of the filibuster.

Here is the text of that pledge:

"In order that the will of the American people may be expressed upon all legislative proposals, we urge that action be taken at the beginning of the 85th Congress to improve congressional procedures so that majority rule prevails and decisions can be made after reasonable debate without being blocked by a minority in either House."

RULE 22 IS A REPUBLICAN RULE

Senator Eastland and other Dixiecrats can use the filibuster to talk Civil Rights legislation to death only because northern Republicans continually vote for Senate Rule 22.

If the 41 Republicans who voted FOR Filibuster Rule 22 on January 7, 1953, had voted with liberal Democrats AGAINST it, Congress could have passed legislation AGAINST poll taxes, against interference with the right to vote, FOR fair employment practices, and a federal anti-lynching statute as well.

Here are the Republicans who joined with Senator Eastland and other southern Democrats to keep the filibuster and kill Civil Rights:

Aiken	Case (S.D.)	Knowland	Saltonstall
Barrett	Cooper	Langer	Smith, Maine
Beall	Dirksen	Lodge	Smith, N.J.
Bennett	Dworshak	Malone	Taft
Bricker	Ferguson	Martin	Thye
Bridges	Flanders	McCarthy	Watkins
Bush	Goldwater	Millikin	Welker
Butler, Md.	Hickenlooper	Mundt	Wiley
Butler, Nebr.	Jenner	Payne	Williams
Capehart		Potter	Young
Carlson		Purtell

Republican 1956 Convention REFUSED to Pledge Fight to Break Filibuster Rule

Senator Prescott Bush (R., Conn.), Chairman of the Republican Platform Committee, told civil rights supporters point-blank that Rule 22 is the business of members of the Senate, not the business of the American people.

No pledge to establish majority rule was even recommended to the completely bossed 1956 Republican Convention that catered to Eisenhower Southern Democrats. Refusal to make this pledge made Republican 1956 civil rights pledges meaningless.

If Republican Senators support majority rule, they will do so as individuals, AGAINST the position taken by Republican Senate Leaders Taft and Knowland that the Senate is "eternal" and can change its rules only by unanimous consent.

IMPORTANT: Now, before Election Day, urge your Senators and the candidates of both parties for the Senate to pledge themselves to vote at the start of the 85th Congress next January for a new Rule 22 providing that a majority of the Senators present and voting can break a filibuster by moving to limit debate and proceed to a vote on any motion or bill, including civil rights bills now trapped and strangled in the dead end of Filibuster Alley. This is the main event in the civil rights fight of the next two years; it will be won or lost in the first days of the new Congress.

Thinking of the things we used to say;
Thinking of each happy yesterday.
You have passed through the shadows of death
To the sunlight above.
Yet in my heart memories are winding you fast
With love, affection and love.
We will meet again someday,
But until then dear Sherwood
I will always think of you.
Wife,
MAMIE

REDDRICKS—In loving memory of our dear mother, ROSA REDDRICKS, who departed this life October 19, 1932.

What would we give to clasp your hand,
Your happy face to see;
Your loving voice, to see your smile,
It meant so much to us.
Her Daughters,
MISS LEAH REDDRICKS
MRS. LAURA BEAN

SCOTT—A birthday tribute to my beloved mother, HARRIET E. SCOTT, who departed this life September 19th, 1956 . . . on her birthday, October 27th.

There is a link death cannot sever,
Love and remembrance last forever.
