more fully established, by his inefficacious labor to color them with distrust and alarm; He has walked up the hill of examination and gone down again, without leaving any other trace or effect behind him, than a recollection of pity for the mismanagement of so much time: He has inflated bubble after bubble, like a boy sporting with froth, and seemed self-diverted with the profitless toil, notwithstanding the airy figures burst almost in the moment of their formation, "so light is vanity!" We have seen two states of the Union slightly agitated with political differences; one was caused by an improper endeavor to incorporate a bank, in contradiction to the common desires of the citizens of that state; much declamation and some animosity was produced by the measure, which was, as usual, additionally embittered by anglo-federal tricks and slander; yet the state is now tranquilized, and the issue will undeniably prove, that the people have both the good sense and power to apply timely corrections for the amelioration or removal of any political evil, that may be engendered by an improper thirst for money, or hatred to our benign government. There is a floating difficulty in another state, upon which we do not think it delicate at present to offer our remarks: but we have full confidence in the perception and republicanism of a majority of its citizens, and possess no doubt, but the manifestation of their decree will be in accordance with political justice, and the honest claims of their country.

Placing these circumstances in view before us, do they not decidedly uphold the confirmation of popular government, and throw the lie direct into the teeth of those monarchical libellers of democracy who continued to bellow forth, that the people are their own worst enemies? Do they not unequivocally prove that there is an inherent principle of rational amendment, as well as resistance, in the nature and form of a democracy; and that the imputed tidiness and inconstancy of the many are but slanders circulated against the tendency of the national understanding, while acting under the pressure, or furtherance of reciprocal obligation, and universal good? Do they not prove that the best men may differ upon some topics so right, especially to human weakness, without endangering the health or vigor of the great parental body of legislation?

As we deem this plain reasoning to be irrefutably true, may we not turn upon the unceasing foes to the liberties and credit of human nature, and exclaim with indignant fervor: Go ye hypocrites in expression, and tyrants in thought; retire to the harsh and corrupt governments of the old world, where civil and religious freedom have lost their influence, and there gnash your teeth in despair that all your intrigues and force could not even weaken the felicities of the inhabitants of the new world. There lament that the virtue and wisdom of our executive authorities, render them calm in triumph, and firm in duty. That the avenues to their hearts and minds are inscrutable to the researches of unchastened ambition. That our national governor proudly acknowledges his first pleasure to be derived from the prosperity of the dignified many he governs; and that the governed, in offering social homage to their responsible ruler, make their obedience correspond with moral feeling, as when they bow their heads, the spirit voluntarily yields in unison with the body. Happy, happy empire, that is thus enabled to pass by the rudeness and rage of hostile factions, with contempt, and preserve your glory and your privileges from contamination and diminution.

1000 Dollars Reward.

ON Saturday evening, between dark and ten o'clock, the Office of Discount and Deposit, established in this city, was forcibly opened by thieves, and a Sum of Money in paper and specie, chiefly small change, contained in a small wrought Iron Chest, was stolen therefrom. The villians who perpetrated this daring robbery, were not able to succeed, although they made the most violent attempts to penetrate the vault: all they effected was to bear off the Iron Chest above mentioned, and its contents. Among other bank-notes therein, was a parcel of old defaced notes, two of which were for 500 dollars each, of this office; the indorsements on them entirely filled their backs. The said notes are generally much defaced, ragged, and scarcely fit for circulation.—About the hour this act was committed, a person was seen with an iron chest in a wheel-barrow, passing over Griffith's bridge. There is no doubt but several villains were engaged in the atrocious robbery.—The above reward will be given to any person or persons who will detect and bring them to conviction; and should one of the accomplices engaged therein make a discovery, so that the rest be convicted of the fact, he shall receive the above reward, and interest made with the governor of this state, to obtain for him a full and free pardon.

Pennsylvania House

AND

MYER'S CITY TAVERN.

THE subscriber respectfully acquaints his friends and the public in general, that he has removed from his old tavern stand, to the adjoining houses on the Pennsylvania Avenue, lately occupied by Mrs. Wilson as a boarding house, and Mr. Woodward's tavern, in which he is now opening a complete hotel. The stand is probably not excelled by any in the city, either for the accommodation of travellers or boarders; being at a convenient and almost equal distance from the capitol, the president's house, and public offices; near the theatre, Messrs. Ways' printing office, and centre market; opposite the office of the National Intelligencer and adjoining Mr. Duane's book-store——These houses contain twenty-six lodging rooms, with fireplaces, exclusive of dining, bar, assembly and coffee rooms, servants apartments, &c. The celebrated ridge-spring, is conveyed in pipes to the yard of this hotel, where it supplies the whole neighbourhood with flowing, cool water, to which the general health of this part of the city has in a general measure been attributed. The stabling of the hotel now erected is considerable; more however will be completed before the meeting of congress.

I now beg leave to inform my friends with confidence, that my prices shall be as heretofore, corresponding with Pennsylvania tavern rates; and in proportion as my establishment has for reason, my disposition to please shall be enlarged: I therefore respectfully hope the continuance of a share of the public patronage.
