Belafonte named defendant in two suits in same week

NEW YORK — Singer Harry Belafonte was named defendant in two separate suits here last week in Federal District Court.

In the first action, Jay Richard Kennedy demanded an accounting of profits of Shari Music Co., charging that Belafonte wrongfully wasted assets of the firm for his own benefit.

In the second, Boosey and Hawker Music alleged Belafonte used the tune "Water Boy" in one of his albums without proper authority.

* * *

THE SHARI firm was set up in October, 1955, with Kennedy as president and director owning 20 shares of common stock and 50 per cent of capital stock. Belafonte, who had same amount of stock, is firm's vice president and director.

The suit charges that since June, 1956, Belafonte worked out a plan whereby he diverted income rightfully belonging to Shari for himself and that he acquired title to a number of calypso songs for his own benefit, depriving Shari of royalties and other monies.

* * *

KENNEDY ALSO charges that the singer utilized corporate property for his own benefit without payment to Shari for the tune "Island in the Sun."

Song, which will be used as a title theme for the upcoming 20th-Fox pic, had been developed as a corporate property but the suit alleges, Belafonte arranged for the licensing for $2,500 and terms unknown to Shari and then put the tune in his newly formed Clara Music firm.

Kennedy was longtime personal representative for Belafonte.

* * *

ACCORDING TO the Boosey-Hawker complaint, Belafonte was guilty of an infringement in taking "Water Boy," dubbing it as "traditional" and placing it, under his own arrangement, in Shari Music.

The plaintiffs contend that "Water Boy" is not a public domain number, having been written by Avery Robinson in 1922 and assigned to Winthrop Rogers Ltd., a British music firm. Robinson later assigned the copyright renewal term to Boosey and Hawker.

"WATER BOY" has been in litigation previously.

Many years ago, Robbins Music published the song, but withdrew its edition after Boosey and Hawker made its claim.

RCA Victor, which records Belafonte, was also named as defendant in the B and H action. Victor, incidentally, had licensed the "Water Boy" song from B. and H several times in the past.

Teenagers arrested in school robbery

Three youths, charged with breaking into a school and two business establishments, were ordered held in bail of $7,500 each Sunday in Southern Police Court.

They were: Theodore Bracey, 16, of the 2900 block Carver Rd.; Charles R. Inman, 16, of the 2800 block Winwood St.; and Tommie L. Kirkland, 16, of the 600 block Cheraton Rd.

Police charged all three with breaking into the Cherry Hill Junior High and Elementary School at Cherryland Rd., and Seaman Ave., where a box of cookies, a loaf of bread, a pound of cheese, nine aprons and two locks were stolen on March 8.

Also with breaking into a store in the 1600 block Hanover St., where a gas gun was reported stolen; and with taking five flashlights and $8 from a store in the 700 block of Cherry hill Rd.

CORE to get donation for rights fight

Mrs. Juanita Jackson Mitchell, Baltimore attorney, will present $80 to the local chapter of CORE Tuesday night to aid in the group's fight against discrimination.

The contribution to be made at CORE's regular meeting at the Fellowship House, 21 W. Preston St., is being donated by the now disbanded Leadership Conference.

Mrs. Ada Jenkins, 1830 Westwood Ave., a vice chairman of CORE, said the funds will be used in the organization's fight against discrimination in Baltimore restaurants.

* * *

THE LEADERSHIP Conference was organized here shortly after the start of the Montgomery, Ala., bus boycott to contribute funds to that crusade.

Funds still in possession of the Leadership Conference's treasury are being contributed to local groups fighting for civil rights, according to Mrs. Jenkins.

Singer Billy Williams is jailed on non-support rap

NEW YORK— Singer Billy Williams, leader of the popular Billy Williams quartet was jailed last week here on charges of non-support and abandonment of his wife and two daughters on a warrant from Bergen County, N.J., Domestic Relations Court, according to police.

The singer would not comment on his arrest.

Williams' wife, Lois stated that "I only want protection for my children," when she learned of the arrest. She said, she didn't know what was happening in the situation until she was called by newsmen.

* * *

WILLIAMS WAS arrested by detectives in an apartment here where he has been staying since moving from his Teaneck, N.J., home last fall, after a marital spat.

Mrs. Williams told reporters she has left legal actions as far as divorce or seperation up to Williams.

Mrs. Williams indicated she did not want a divorce or seperation saying:

"Everytime we planned to go through with some kind of action, I would back out hoping that things would straighten out between my husband and me. But up to now, the mixup has not been settled."

The couple have two daughters, Sharon 10, and Lesby, 7.
