Correspondents wanted in every town in Queen Annes County

SATURDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 27, 1915

Now, all aboard for Christmas!

Queen Annes had a very enjoyable Thanksgiving, thank you.

Merchants in all parts of the county are preparing for an unusually large volume of Christmas business.

Centreville's two newly paved streets will soon be completed. property owners can add to the town's appearance by having neat uniform pavements.

Business men in all parts of the country are looking forward to 1916 as the biggest and best year in decades. Every indication points to a most successful year from every point of view. Catch the optimistic spirit.

The Garden Club has expended considerable money and energy in planting shrubbery to improve the appearance of the Court House Square. Every citizen of the town should immediately delegate himself a committee of one to help preserve the result of the work this organization has done.

That horrible case in Talbot, where an apparently heartless father and step mother imprisoned a poor helpless girl in a prison room for eleven years, is an unspeakable outrage against all the traditions of parental love. Very little mercy can be tempered with the justice to be administered in a case of this sort.

The Progressive Farmers Club, of Price, deserves especial commendation for making such an elaborate agricultural display at the Maryland Week Show and is entitled to hearty congratulations for the success achieved there. Queen Annes might well consider herself fortunate if she had a few more such organizations as this.

To all the new county officials who took the oath of office this week, following the receipt of their commissions from the Governor's office Monday, THE OBSERVER takes this opportunity to extend its best wishes for a thoroughly successful administration. The men referred to are all of such sterling character and such unquestioned ability that it is useless to dwell at length on their individual accomplishments. They are men eminently and particularly fitted to fill the positions to which they were elected and they may be depended upon to discharge their several duties with distinction to themselves and to the satisfaction of their constituents.

The proposal of the Civic Betterment League of Centreville to purchase and present to the town a modern and up to date combination street sprinkler and sweeper, should, and with the hearty approval of [illegible] organization, but of every citizen of the town as well. Year after year the town is not in position to purchase one of these much needed machines. This year the town has made considerable saving by the [illegible] Plan. Can the League further lend a helping hand by [illegible] from every man, woman and child in the town?
