The Easton Gazette.

SATURDAY MORNING . . . OCTOBER 8, 1859.

EAR-RINGS.

Dr. Pierce does not think much of them. Read what he says, and judge for yourself whether his remarks are just:

"We have admitted all that is admissable in relief of the wearers of such articles as may be classed with ornamental jewelry, sometimes, as we judge, unfairly. But we have said that all of these things, worn for purposes of show, fall necessarily into the category of "outward adorning"—the very evil forbidden in the word of God. And we now add, that there is a very little chance here to err in judgement. We might, however, name instances, or define particular cases, where ornament is the original motive. Ear jewels, for example, can plead no other origin or motive beside the love of show. No beautiful female of any thoughtfulness can believe that she can improve the work of her Creator, in as far as simple beauty of finish is concerned, by a violent perforation of that beautiful part of the ear chosen to be the hook-hole of these pitiful pendants; and no female of homely features and good sense would be so wanting in self-respect as to attempt to avert the eyes of her beholders by hanging jewels in her ears, to be seen at the expense of her features. Indeed, ladies, I must be allowed to ask you a question: Do you believe that there is anything artificial, from gold to diamonds, as pretty as the well-kept skin of a modest lady? or are you so enamored of metals and pebbles that you have to place yourselves at the mercy of needles or awls, and then be worried and pained for days with a seton, in order to prepare for the pendancy of extrinsic beauty, thus repudiating God's judgement of a beautiful female ear, by violating its structure, in order to give to it a more satisfactory appearance? Hence we say that the whole motive for ear jewels is found in the love of ornament—a motive in itself as far from the true object of piety as sin is from holiness. The motive, indeed, is sheer self-idolatry, and wholly of the world and the flesh. And there is not a member in our church who wears these hateful relics of ancient barbarism and idolatry, who, if she will pause to analyze her motive, will not see that it is too low for religion.

"I am happy to be able to place much of this evil to the account of a very bad taste. No great comfort, I admit; but a bad taste is a lighter evil, than a bad heart; and as no one can believe that they are worn as an evidence of either good taste or a good heart, we must make the most favorable disposition of them we can, which is, to set them down to the account of bad taste. I never heard either gentleman or lady of reputation for fine taste, speak of ear jewels save at the expense of the wearer's taste—frequently at the expense of her mind among men, all regard ear jewels as pitiful appendages. They are not tolerated as evidence of any excellency, but only as pleasing toys, with which the wearer is pleased. And, in this polite age, a lady must be indulged in her own gratification, no matter how much it may be objected to in a private circle. Much, perhaps most of all this folly is chargeable on mothers.—Bad taste in dress is very generally grafted on daughters by their mothers. This is eminently so in reference to ear pendants. I will not say I am right, but believe I am, in saying that very few if any of the ladies ever submit to ear-boring after they pass out of childhood. And yet, if ear jewels can add anything to a woman's charms beyond gold and pebbles, of which they are made, maturity is the very time when she ought to indicate her opinion to that effect. If the holes are not made in the nursery, the jewels are not seen in the parlor."

SMALL PENS FOR FATTENING SWINE.—That exercise conduces very little towards taking on flesh, while quiet assists materially in hastening the operation of fattening, is well known, and should ever be taken into account by those who would fit any animal for slaughtering. The following, from the American Agriculturist, is worth the attention of farmers:

"From observation, extending over a dozen years or more, made in villages and in the rural districts, we have noticed that the fattest and the best pork is made in the former, where one or two pigs are usually kept in a small pen. The villager has but small room, and crowds his pig into narrow quarters for the whole year. It is fed on slops for eight months, and for the last four is crammed with scalded Indian meal.—He gets pork of decidely better puality than he can purchase and gets it cheaper. The whole energy of the animal is forced by its training into the production of flesh and fat.

The pigs of the farmer, on the other hand, run in a pasture, or on the common, for six or eight months, and are shut up a dozen or more in a large pen to fatten, because he has plenty of room. The energy of the animal has gone very much to the development of snout and feet, and the propensity to run and to root is not circumscribed very much in his roomy pen. By Christmas he is not more than two-thirds fattened, and he has consumed quite as much as the village pig, which is ready for the knife.—We have two yearling pigs, good for four hundred and fifty pounds of pork by Christmas, that have never been out of a pen, eight feet by twelve, since they were eight weeks old. Small pens, kept dry and regular feeding, is the secret of their thrift.'

"I think," said a farmer, 'I should make a good Congressman; for I use their language. I received two bills the other day, with a request for immediate payment, the one I ordered to be laid on the table, the other to be read that day six months.'

Some very pious young women have established an association which they style. "The young woman's Anti Young-Man-Waiting-at-the-Church-Doors-with-ulterior-Objects Society." Nothing like a good title!

ST. LOUIS, September 24.—The Arizona correspondent of the Republican says a duel between Judge Watts and Mr. Otero, the candidate for Congress from New Mexico, had taken place near Mesilla. Three shots with Colt's navy revolvers, at fifteen paces, were exchanged without effect, when the parties were withdrawn by their seconds.

It was reported that Mr. Otero had been re-elected to Congress by 1,100 majority.

Lieut. Mowry has also been returned to Congress a delegate from Arizona.

DOCTOR BOWELL'S PURE ESSENCE OF JAMAICA GINGER—Ginger is a grateful stimulant and carminitive, and is often given in Gout, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, Cramp, Cholera Morbus, Cholic, Cholera, &c., &c.
In Nervous and Sick Headache, Sea Sickness, Nausea, Imperfect Digestion, or from Nausea induced by riding in a carriage, &c., it will be found most agreeable to the stomach and palatable to the taste, and affording at the same time almost in all cases immediate relief.
To the Inebriate it is particularly serviceable; a very small quantity used instead of the usual stimulant, will give tone and vigor to the digestive organs, and impart strength to resist the temptation, and may therefore be considered a valuable agent in reclaiming the drunkard.
The traveling public will also find it very efficacious in correcting the bad results arising from a change of water and diet, a few drops of which will give a glow and vigor to the stomach, equal to a wine glass of brandy or other stimulant, without producing any of the injurious and overrating effects which are sure to result from the use of stimuli of any kind. It is also a superior article for Flavoring Jellies, Preserves, Cakes, and for other Culinary uses, besides making a good beverage in hot weather.
DOSE.—An adult may take one spoonful; a child from 3 to 14 years old, half that quanity; and for a child 2 to 5 years old, 10 to 20 drops To be given in syrup or in sugar and water. Prepared and for sale by LEVIN H. CAMPBELL,
