PUBLISHED WEEKLY AND SEMI-WEEKLY
EXCEPT ALL SUNDAYS.

WILLIAM H. COUNCELL,
EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

TERMS.

TWO DOLLARS PER ANNUM IN ADVANCE, or TWO DOLLARS AND FIFTY CENTS if not paid within one month of the time of subscribing, or the renewal of subscription—failure to notify a discontinuance is considered a new engagement.

THE EASTON GAZETTE.

Vol. LI. Easton, Talbot County, Md., December 21, 1867. No. 16.

ADVERTISEMENTS.

Of the square (six lines,) inserted one time for ONE DOLLAR, and TWENTY-FIVE cents for each subsequent insertion. Longer ones in proportion. A liberal deduction to yearly advertisers. Advertisements not marked the number of insertions desired, will be continued until forbid, and charged accordingly. Marriages and Deaths, 50 cents each.

Merchants and others who advertise by the year, will in no case be allowed to insert any advertisement not connected with their regular business, without an additional charge.

A orders addressed to the editor, post paid will receive prompt attention.

LEONARD & TOWNSEND,
Attorneys-at-Law,
mar 9-1y EASTON, MD.

P. T. KENNARD,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
(Office Opposite the M. P. Church.)
mar 16-1y EASTON MD.

CHAS. E. GIBSON
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
EASTON, MD.
Office opposite the M. P. Church. [mar 16-1y

SURVEYING.
THE subscriber, having had several years practical experience, offers his services to the public to perform all kinds of SURVEYING, &c.
Charges moderate. Address,
CHAS. E. SHANAHAN,
Surveyor,
apr 23—1y Bay Hundred P. O.

Auctioneering.
JAMES A. ROE,
EASTON, MD.,
OFFERS his services as Auctioneer, and will promptly attend sales whenever called on. [mar 9-1y

J. W. PITTS. G. R. STALEY. J. R. E. GRAHAM
J. W. PITTS & CO.
WHOLESALE GROCERS,
AND
COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
286 W. Pratt & 52 S. Howard Sts.
BALTIMORE
nov 3-1y

AUCTIONEERING.
THE subscriber having taken out licenses for the above business, most respectfully informs the public that he will promptly attend to auctioneering in any part of the county that his services may be desired. If it is not convenient for persons to see him in person, a letter addressed to him at Easton, will receive immediate attention.
WM. K. BATHELL.
june 22-tf

Auctioneering!
THE undersigned returns his thanks to the public for past favors, and respectfully informs them that no pains shall be spared to give satisfaction to all who may employ him as an auctioneer. He will attend sales in any part of the county, and orders left at either of the Printing offices in Easton, will be promptly attended to.
WM. H. BOGGIO, Auctioneer.
sep 26-1y

Remedial Institute
For Special Diseases,
NO. 11 BOND STREET, NEW YORK.
FULL information, with the highest testimonials; also, a Book on Special Diseases, in a sealed envelope, sent free. Be sure and send for it, and you will not regret it; for, as advertising physicians are generally impostors, without references no stranger should be trusted. Enclose a stamp for postage, and direct to Dr. Lawrence, No. 11 Bond Street, New York.
nov 17-1y.

FERTILIZERS
ROBERT B. DIXON, DEALER IN
BAUGH'S RAW BONE,
MARYLAND POWDER OF BONE,
MORO PHILIPS' PHOSPHATE,
LISTER'S PURE BONE.
THESE Fertilizers are all standard manures and of the best manufacture, which I offer for sale at lowest Factory prices, delivered at all the landings on Choptank, Tread Avon, Miles and Wye Rivers. Parties buying here save drayage in Baltimore and freight from Baltimore. Give them a trial. ROBT. B. DIXON.
Office on Washington St., Easton, Md.
aug 10

Fashionable Millinery.
NEW STYLES FOR
FALL AND WINTER, 1867.
MRS. M. A. STEWART, has just returned from the city, with a full and complete assortment of all kinds of fashionable MILLINERY GOODS & NOTIONS. All of which have been selected with care and judgment, and will be sold very reasonable. All kinds of Millinery Work, TRIMMING FOR BRAIDING AND EMBROIDERY, done with neatness and dispatch.
Thankful for past favors, she hopes to merit a continuance of them. Stand 3d doors below the M. E. Church.
Watches, Clocks and Jewelry, sold and repaired at the above place by oct 12 C. H. STEWART.

J. STEINEM & CO.
FALL and WINTER
GOODS.
THE subscriber being thankful for the patronage extended to them since commencing business in Easton, they are happy to again inform the public that they continue to carry on the same business at their new store room next to Haddaway's Hotel, where may be found
READY-MADE CLOTHING OF ALL SORTS,
Pants,
Vests,
Dress Coats,
Sack Coats, Whole Suits, &c. They hope by a strict attention to business to receive the patronage of the public. Now is the time to secure bargains in Fall & Winter clothing, holiday Gifts at also outlasting present stock. Called common they sound. [nov 2

Buckwheat.
JUST received a supply of fresh ground Buckwheat—warranted of superior quality.
oct 26 JAS. H. GRACE.

Owners of Water Power
Should use the celebrated
LEFFEL TURBINE
WATER WHEEL,
Manufactured by
POOLE & HUNT,
Baltimore, Md.
Send for a circular. [sep 28 6m

NEW FALL AND WINTER
GOODS.
POWELL & WRIGHT have opened their stock of Fall and Winter Goods, embracing in part, a complete assortment of Ladie's and Gentlemen's Dress Goods, Hosiery, &c.
They think in taste of selection and cheapness, they will compare favorable with any in this market. Call and see. [oct 5 1867. 1868.

FALL AND WINTER FASHIONS.
Millinery & Fancy Goods.
MRS. E. A. LYCH has just returned from the city with a new assortment of all kinds of MILLINERY and FANCY GOODS, such as Bonnets, Hats, Ribbons, Flowers, Ruffings, Corsets, and a great variety of all kinds of goods in the above line too numerous to mention. She invites her friends and the public generally to give her a call. Store corner Washington an Dover Street, Easton, Md.
oct 12

STILL LATER & STILL CHEAPER.
JOHN W. CHREZUM has just returned from the city, and has now open, the largest stock of FALL AND WINTER GOODS
ever offered by him, and purchased at the great decline of prices the last week.
For Ladies'—a great variety of dress goods, adapted to the season. For gentlemen—cloths, cassimeres in great variety of styles and prices, kerseys and flannels, red and white, cotton flannels and heavy drills, bleached and brown muslins.
He invites his friends and the public generally to give him a call to examine his stock and prices. [oct 12]

FASHIONABLE
FALL AND WINTER
Millinery for 1867.
MRS. E. A. MASON, has just returned from the city with her usual variety of the above goods. She would name in part all the latest styles of Bonnets and Hats; also a full supply of Bonnet Materials, which will be made to order in the latest styles, ribbons, all colors and widths, very cheap, Belting and Belt Buckles a large lot. Velvet Ribbons all colors and widths—full supply, latest styles Dress Trimmings. In Notions, she would name Ladies' and Childrens' Gloves, Childrens' Merino and Yarn Hose, Ladies' Merino Vests a fine article; Woolen Goods, such as Hood and Breakfast Shawls, Yarn and Zephyr Worsteds—all shades, Braids of all kinds, Skirt Braids, best quality, fine Mohair Braids, Whale Bones, covered Steel Corset Springs, the Empress Corset—best in use, and a great many other articles too tedious to name.
Having purchased her goods with great care, and to the best advantage, she will be enabled to sell them at the lowest possible price for the cash.
She returns her thanks to the public for their liberal patronage in the past, and will leave nothing undone to merit a continuance of the same.
☞ She will have her regular opening of ready-made Bonnets, on Saturday (to-day) and Tuesday, to which she invites the ladies generally.
Stamping, of all kinds done as usual.
DRESS MAKING.
She has secured the services of a first class Dress Maker from the city, and is now prepared to carry on the above business.
All the latest fashions received monthly.
oct 19

GREAT ATTRACTION.
IMMENSE STOCK OF
BOOTS & SHOES,
FALL AND WINTER TRADE.
JESSE HUGHES, has just returned from the city with a very large supply of Boots and Shoes, suitable for the present and approaching seasons, which I have selected with care as to durability, as I like to sell an article that will give satisfaction. My friends and the public are invited to an inspection, as I felt satisfied that I can suit them. My stock consists in part of Ladies' Side Lace, Opera and Congress Gaiters, Balmoral Boots, and a large lot of Rubber shoes, very cheap. Misses' Balmoral Morocco Boots and Leather Boots. Children's Balmoral Morocco and Leather Boots—a very large lot. Men's Boots—Sportsmen's boots, the celebrated Dixon Boots, superior to those of last season; fine shoes, gaiters, &c., boys and Youth's boots and shoes—a full supply.
MANUFACTURING.—I have also purchased good supply of Leather, which I am prepared to make into any kind of Boots and Shoes that may be called for. Repairing done as usual.
To my friends, and the public generally I wish to return my thanks for their liberal support in the past, and by strict attention to business hope to merit a continuance of the same.
oct 12

"APPLES! APPLES!! APPLES!!!"
A few barrels prime New York and Virginia Apples, consisting of Red Streaks, Sweets Greenings, Pears and Pippins, just received by nov2 DAWSON & BRO.

DOBIN'S ELECTRIC SOAP.—Saves time, labor, saves money, saves clothes, saves women. Sold by.
SAML. PATTERSON.

PLASTER.—Pure ground Plaster for grass, in bags, barrel or ton.
apr 13 NICHOLS & BARNETT.

WANTED.
RAGS, Rubber and Feathers, by DAWSON & BRO.

KINDNESS.

A cheerful voice
Bids all rejoice,
Oft making cheerful and joyous
The melancholy and morose.

A friendly glance
Will oft enhance
Enjoyments of associates,
Increasing confidence in mates.

A kindly tone
Has power alone,
To drive much bitterness away,
Else in the heart of man would stay.

A trifling word
Of kindness; heard
When trying sorrows grieve the heart,
Sweet consolation will impart.

A single smile
Will oft beguile
Away anxieties of life,
And lessen wear of human strife.

A helping deed
In time of need,
Make such impression on the heart
As time can never make impart.

Oh then, be kind!
Let hand and mind
Be active through the live-long day,
In deeds of kindness by the way.

You kindly greet
Each one you meet,
And you will find, you may depend,
That every one will be a friend.

Greene, N. Y.

Don't Marry a Man if he Drinks.

Young ladies, pray listen to me,
And keep just as quiet as mice,
While I sing you a song—it is not very long—
Which contains a piece of advice;
No matter what the people may say,
No matter what somebody thinks;
If you wish to be happy the rest of your days,
Don't marry a man if he drinks;
Don't marry a man if he drinks.

He may be so handsome and gay,
And have such a beautiful voice;
And may dance so divinely, you'll feel in your heart
That he must be the man of your choice,
If his accents are tender and low,
And sweeter than roses and pinks,
And his breath quite a different thing, you may know,
Your exquisite gentleman drinks,
Your exquisite gentleman drinks.

Just think of the sorrow and cares,
The heart rending sighs and fears;
Of the words and the blows, and cruelest woes,
And then think of the ocean of tears;
Think of Toodles, the drunkest of men,
His attitudes, his coughs and winks,
And then think what a dignified pair you will make
If you marry a man that drinks.

Young ladies, look well to your hearts,
Don't throw them away on a sot;
Or a man who is given to treating his friends,
Whate'er be his station or lot,
Though his pride may uphold him awhile,
Yet sooner or later he sinks;
Then if you would be happy the rest of your days,
Don't marry a man if he drinks.

How to Discover the Newly Married.

The fall season has fairly set in, and we find the matrimonial market buoyant in our county, hundreds of our misguided young men rushing into the holy estate. A more than usual number of wedding tourists are noticed by travelers and conductors on the different railroads.

Of course, it is not on account of being ashamed of each other that they try to disguise their situation, but simply to avoid being critised and remarked upon by profane strangers. Thus they lay the loud unction to their souls that they are traveling incog. But good gracious, how badly fooled they are. It is one of the easiest things in this world to the careful eye to tell precisely how many days, or even hours, they have been "spliced." They can sometimes be and are detected by the great pains they take to appear either like old married people or cousins as they promenade the deck of a steamer, or sit so demurely in the cars. In many cases their dress, in part exposes them. It is so appropos to the occasion, being neat, symmetrical and bran new. In cases where the parties have good taste, there is no guadiness or 'flubdubbing" about their attire. All glitter and display are thrown aside, and the city belle appears more like a quakeress in her simple traveling dress of mouse-color.

Sometimes the youthful culprits engage in playing at lovers, or affect flirtation, but it is always a stupendous failure. Their eyes betray too much happiness for wit, and reparte; there is such a peculiar coltness and tenderness in their confidential whispers, and such a pride in the possession of each other, that none around are deceived. It is generally the case that the bridegroom makes the discovery first, and throws his arm carelessly around the shoulders of his wife, as much as to say, defiantly to the envious, "Who's afraid? Who knows but that we have been married many years?" Not know?

The guilty slyness in the way that arm steals around, lies on the top of the seat-back and then gradually closer, while the bride evinces a silent pleasure, as she acquiesces in a very undeceiving way. Indeed, it is she who "lets the cat out of the bag" most quickly. The narrow gauge seats are preferable to the broad gauge, and if you sit on the back of them you will observe at first that the lady's shoulders are not even—they incline just a little to her partner. After travelling in this position a few hours, the neck goes on a wrinkled paper color, and her head gravitates to the broad shoulders of her husband, and there it reclines, [illegible] and truthful repose. Sometimes in spite of all precaution, sweet sleep will overpower the tired eyelids, and then all the world knows. But it always seems that there is order and neatness in their very disorder and abandon.

So they go, fancying themselves lost in the crowd—unnoticed, unknown, with their secret locked up in their own palpitating bosoms.—Poor young people!

The National Finances—Report of the Comptroller of the Currency.

The report of Mr. H. R. Hulburn, Comptroller of the Currency, is an exhaustive study of our present system of finance, and an argument in favor of withdrawing the Government from the buiness of banking, in which it is now engaged to the extent of the issues of greenbacks now in circulation. The two propositions recently put before the public are as follows:

First—To deprive the national banks of the right to issue notes for circulation, in order that the government may issue its own notes in their place.

Second—To issued United States notes in payment of compound interest notes, seven-thirty notes, and five-twenty bonds as they mature and become payable.

It is claimed that by the payment of interest on the bonds deposited by the banks to secure their circulation, the government pays to the banks a bonus for issuing $300,000,000 of currency, which it might have without the bonus by issuing its own notes. It is assumed that $18,000,000 would thus be saved to the treasury. But Mr. Hulburd shows that no such saving would result. Banks are a taxable property. During the year 1866 they paid to the general government over eight millions in taxes, and to State governments about the same amount—in all over sixteen millions. This is a legitimate offset to the interest. But there is another point. The banks are the creditors of the government directly to the amount of $340,900,000 of bonds deposited, and indirectly to the amount of $150,000,000 of the permanent reserve of legal tenders. On this latter they get no interest. On the former they receive $19,500,000, but they refund in taxes $16,000,000, leaving $3,500,000 as the actual net returns of profit from a loan of $490,000,000, or about three-fourths of one per cent.

Take another aspect. The loan of $150,000,000 legal tenders bears no interest, although if the banks were allowed to invest it, they could make it earn 6 per cent, or $6,000,000; so that taking the whole account between the government and the banks, the latter actually pay to the government a bonus of $5,500,000 for the privilege of circulating their own notes. From all these premises, Mr. Hulburn concludes:

First. Upon the merely technical ground of amount paid and received by the banks, the figures show that but two millions will be saved to the government.

Second. Taking these figures into account, it has been established that the banks loan the federal government $490,000,000 at less than three fourths of one per cent. per annum; and.

Third. Allowing that money is worth to the banks six per centum per annum, it is demonstrated that the interest on 150,000,000 legal tenders is annually given to the government which, added to the taxes paid, swells the total amount paid by the bank to the government to $25,000,000,—an excess of $5,000,000 over the interest received by them, which is a bonus they pay for their circulation.

On the second proposition, to pay off the existing securities, with legal tender notes, as they mature, Mr. Hulburd proceeds to quote from the debates in Congress at the time the greenbacks were authorized, and shows that the best financiers of both parties looked at such notes with aversion and distrust. Hardly a man, of all who voted for this really forced loan, defended it on any other principle than that of an emergency demanding a measure which could only be justified by the peril of the nation.

Mr. Hulburd next quotes the history of other nations, the dangers, and the financial ruin that have always attended the over-issues of irredeemable currency in England, Austria, France and Russia. He alleges that there must be now hoarded in the country not less than $300,000,000 in gold, which only waiting the arrival at par of our paper money in order to appear again in circulation; and which will remain hoarded, or only be used as a commercial article so long as our present system is maintained.

Death of H. D. Gough.

We regret to have to record the death of Harry D. Gough, which took place at the residence of Capt. Richard E. Bouldin, his son-in-law, about 10 o'clock, on Monday evening last. Mr. Gough was about seventy-six years of age, and was quite an active man up to within a short time previous to his death; in fact his whole life may be said to have been one of great activity.

In early life he adopted the sea as a business or profession, but soon abandoned it and turned his attention to other pursuits. During the war of 1812, between the United States and Great Britain, he served as a soldier at Baltimore, and has since that served Harford county in many important public positions, with credit to himself and usefulness to the community. He was repeatedly elected a member of the Maryland House of Delegates, and served for a number of years as a County Commissioner for the county. In 1845 he was appointed by the Hon. Thomas G. Pratt, then Governor of Maryland, Clerk of Harford County Court, and servrd with efficiency in that capacity until the year 1851, when he was superceded by a change in the Constitution of the State. On the election of A. W. Bradford as Governor in 1862, he was appointed weigher of live stock in the city of Baltimore, which position he held through the administration of Gov. Bradford and during the first year of the term of the present Governor. Besides these positions, Mr. Gough was at one time Deputy Sheriff of this county, and was several times Clerk to the Board of County Commissioners, School Commissioner for Harford county, Committee Clerk during several sessions of the Maryland Legislature, &c. In all these positions he performed his duties faithfully and to the entire satisfaction of those who reposed confidence in him.

In politics he was originally a Whig, but on the dissolution of that party, attached himself to and became a prominent leader in this county of the Know Knothing or American party and during the late war between the two sections of our country, he became a very zealous Union man, and afterwards a member of the Republican party.

Mr. Gough was during a long life a zealous and active partizan, but was never without many warm personal friends among the most violent political opponents. As a man and neighbor, none were more kind hearted and hospitable than he—ever ready to aid the helpless, and administer to the wants of those who from any cause appeal to the charitable and humane.

In all the relations of life he was kind, prompt and reliable, and it may be great truth be said of him, that if he had faults, they were at least so few as are possessed by most of us who are left behind him.

Previous notice of the appointment of the Court, on Thursday, H. H. Fountain, Esq., the appointment of the Court, on Thursday, H. H. Fountain, Esq., the appointment of the Court, on Thursday, H. H. Fountain, Esq.,