FUN AND LEARNING for babies as young as three weeks is the purpose of Playtentials, a progressive series of toys for the crib set, created and tested by Dr. Burton L. White, director of the Harvard University Pre-School Project. The Color Play Windmill above introduces baby to cause and effect action. When he pulls the handle, the windmill turns. Colors seem to melt and merge. He feels a gentle breeze and hears a whirring sound. The handle is designed for gumming. In the center of the picture is Baby's Image Mirror."

Boots require special care

For women, boots are THE important fashion accessory this season.

And for children, boots beat rain, snow, slush, and cold weather. By choosing carefully, you can have smart looks and easy care in today's leg-accented scene. Certainly, it's never been more important to keep boots looking store-fresh. And the easiest avenue to soft sheen is suds-cleanable boots.

Echoing the fashion theme in shoes, boots are more elegant, leg-loving, and sleek designed in styles for rough-and-tumble, casual, and dressy wear. The most popular seem to be knee-high which can be worn with any skirt length and with pants. But the newest look is the lower midi boot. There are front and side lacings, zippers and expandable gores, stretch leather-looks and shiny crushed patents. Tour a shoe store or department to see the many styles and colors for dawn to dark activities.

Fashion boots are made most often of leather or vinyl. Winter boots are pile- or foam-lined for warmth. For fall and spring, boots are lined with nylon tricot or light-weight cotton or nylon fleece. There are also rubber or molded vinyl over-the-shoe boots — always waterproof for wet weather wear.

To avoid possible disappointment, know the difference between waterproof and water repellent and ask questions before buying. Many of the handsome, high-style boots will resist splashes or damp pavement but cannot be expected to keep feet dry in puddles or snow. The secret is in construction.

Boots that are cut and sewn, whether leather or vinyl, are not waterproof unless seams have been sealed. In addition, leather itself must be treated to gain water repellancy or waterproof properties. Leather boots are cut and sewn, a method which allows greater detailing. Leather also has built-in breathability for comfort, a rich texture and beautiful grain.

• • •

Boots of vinyl may be molded from a single piece which automatically makes them waterproof. Vinyls simulate leather grains and textures from smooth to crushes to reptile. When boots are made from sheet vinyl instead of the molding process, they are constructed like leather boots, have greater detailing, but require special tape for waterproofing.

Boots can enhance or ruin general appearance.

Good looks depend on establishing a regular routine — after-wear-a-little-care — especially in wet or snowy weather. Vinyl boots and those of other man-made materials should be wiped clean with a sudsy sponge and dried with a cloth. Today's leather boots have special finishes to keep them soft and flexible. These, too, may be cleaned with a sudsy sponge. Then rinse with a clean damp cloth and wipe dry. Scuffs may be minimized with shoe polish or application of paste wax. It is especially important to clean boots after walking through rock-salt used on icy pavements. Unless taken care of promptly, rock-salt will discolor boots.

Over-the-shoe boots — of rubber or molded vinyl — close with a zipper, a strap-plus-gusset, or have an extra-wide top with loop and button or adjustable strap. Getting boots on and closed can be a source of great frustration for nursery and kindergarten age children. Rubbing a bar of soap up and down inside the back helps shoes slide in. If the child can manage it, a plastic bag put over the shoe first provides better sliding power than rubber heels.

Children's boots respond quickly to suds care and should be given frequent attention since children tend to be rough on footwear. Boots should be cleaned inside from time to time and the crevice tool of a vacuum cleaner is ideal for this. In spite of precautions, snow-time fun usually means snow inside the boots. If boots are really soaked, blot up moisture with paper towels or clean cloths. Then insert the hose of a hair dryer into the top and blow the pile dry. This makes boots ready for wear in a short time and prevents odor build-up from long periods of wetness.

Relaxacisors banned by FDA

WASHINGTON — The Food and Drug Administration warned today that the sale of second-hand relaxacisors is illegal.

The warning stemmed from reports that owners of the electrical devices are attempting to dispose of them by offering them for sale in classified advertisements.

The devices provide electrical shocks to the body through contact pads. They were declared dangerous to health in a California court ruling last April against Relaxacisor, Inc., the distributor.

In his decision, Judge William P. Gray said the devices could cause miscarriages and could aggravate many pre-existing medical conditions, including hernia, ulcers, varicose veins and epilepsy.

More than 400,000 units have been sold for exercise and reducing. After Judge Gray's decision, many concerned owners wrote to the distributor requesting a refund. In seeking to allay their fears, the firm said it had filed an appeal and was confident the ruling would be reversed.

The appeal was dismissed last November 25, by agreement between the firm and the Government, thus ending the case.

In recent weeks, FDA has supplied posters to all post offices, warning against use of the devices.

In its warning today to both sellers and prospective purchasers of the devices, the FDA said such sales are in violation of the Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act and the devices are subject to seizure.

The agency recommended that owners of the devices either destroy them or render them inoperable to avoid any possibility of harm to unsuspecting users.

When washing woolens or corduroy, turn the clothing inside out. This will help prevent the woolens from balling and keep the corduroy looking nice. To maintain the softness of corduroy, brush the fabric with a whisk broom while still damp.

Some Sleeping Pills Retard Rest

STANFORD, Calif. — Some sleeping pills prescribed for insomniacs actually make it harder for them to snooze, the director of Stanford Medical Center's Sleep Research Clinic recently warned.

Dr. William C. Dement said some of the drugs given sleepless patients may suppress vital components of sleep, such as rapid eye movement (or REM) dreaming. During normal sleep, REM periods occur about every 90 minutes. When sleeping pills contain REM suppressants, Dement said, the patient actually finds it harder to sleep naturally and can become dependent upon drugs.

Tax Hint For This Week: Make sure you have proof to back up any deduction you claim. Best record of proof is a cancelled check, a bill of sales, etc. Keep your proof for at least three years. When you get your refund check, this only means that your arithmetic is correct, not that Uncle Sam is through. He might question you about a return that's three years old, and if something out of the ordinary comes up, he will go back even further.
