You-Never-Win Dishes

So you thought your problems were solved when the kids returned to school last month . . . but were you ever fooled. Your oldest daughter, now in the 12th grade, and your son, a 10th grader, seem to think you're running some type of service when they storm in after school with a half dozen friends for a bite to eat. The next time this happens to you, have this crowd-pleasing dish prepared . . . just waiting to be served.

Satisfy Your Hungry Crowd with Midnite Joes (Photo from Kraft Kitchens)

MIDNITE JOES

(12 sandwiches)

1 lb. ground beef
¼ cup chopped onion
1 1-lb. can kidney beans, drained
¾ cup Kraft barbecue sauce
1 tablespoon chili powder
½ teaspoon salt
3 cups shredded lettuce
12 frankfurter buns, split, toasted
Velveeta pasteurized process cheese spread, sliced, cut in half diagonally.

Brown meat; drain. Add onion; cook until tender. Stir in beans, barbecue sauce, chili powder and salt. Cover; simmer 15 minutes. For each sandwich, melt cheese slices on bottom half of bun. Top with lettuce and meat mixture. Serve with top half of bun.

MILK CHOCOLATE FROSTING

½ cup Parkay margarine
6 tablespoons milk
1½ squares (1½ ozs.) unsweetened chocolate
4½ cups sifted confectioners' sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine margarine, milk and chocolate in saucepan; bring to boil, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Add sugar; beat until smooth. Stir in vanilla; spread on cake. Sprinkle with nuts.

Heroines Of The Past

By Eloyce Brooks

Nannie Helen Burroughs founded the National Trade and Professional School for Women and Girls, located in Washington, D.C. This outstanding Christian leader left us a legacy of faith, courage and determination to live by.

She was born in 1883 in Orange, Virginia, as the only child to parents who were born in slavery. They later moved to Washington, where she went to school. She graduated from high school with honors.

Miss Burroughs then moved to Philadelphia where she worked as a bookkeeper and associate editor of the Philadelphia Christian Banner.

She left Philadelphia for Louisville, Kentucky. There she organized a Woman's Industrial Club where she rented a house and began teaching women in the evening. She basically taught domestic science and millinery. With the help of the club and a few backers she maintained this school for nine years.

In 1901, Nannie Burroughs asked the Women's Auxiliary of the National Baptist convention to help her build a Training School for Women in Washington, D.C. With some reluctance, her request was granted. It was primarily through her fund-raising rallies, using her oratorical talents, that enabled her to move into an eight-room farm house located in the Lincoln Heights area of Washington, D.C.

She opened the school in 1909 to thirty-one students who came from various parts of the country.

Since that first year, hundreds of young women have graduated and gone all over America, parts of Africa and to other parts of the world preaching and teaching her gospel of "Cleanliness is next to godliness."

Taught 'The Three B's'

She taught her students the meaning of her three "B's": Bible, Broom and Bathtub. The Bible meant that you were to keep your spiritual mind clean; the Broom — to keep your personal surroundings clean; and the Bathtub — to keep your physical body clean.

Dr. Nannie Helen Burroughs was honored by Shaw University with the degree of L.L.D.

She died on May 20, 1961, just before the dedication of a beautiful new brick memorial chapel. Up to that time she had built nine buildings of classroom and dormitory space. The school is still growing today.

In 1964 the Board of Trustees renamed the school, "The Nannie Helen Burroughs School," as a memorial tribute to her dedication, love and concern for the education of our black women.

FULL SIZE CAR? MID-SIZE CAR? SMALL SIZE CAR?

HERE'S TIMELY HELP FROM A COMPANY THAT MAKES ALL THREE.

We listen.

And we know that these days there's a lot of concern about a fuel shortage and an energy crisis. About inflation and rising costs.

If you're in the market for a new car, these things might even influence what size car you buy.

But before you make up your mind, you really ought to think about how you're going to use your new car.

For instance, the family of six trying to get by with a small size car may soon find out that a full size or mid-size car isn't an extravagance—it's a necessity. On the other hand, it might be just right for them as a second car or a personal car.

To help you choose the right car for your needs, Ford Motor Company will send you a free book.

It's the 1974 edition of "Car Buying Made Easier." And it tells you the pros and cons for the different size cars.

Part I is about cars in general—types, styles, engines, options, etc.—advantages and disadvantages. This information can help you regardless of which make of car you buy.

Part II covers 1974 Fords, Mercurys and Lincolns—all the models, features, specifications, even prices.

There's no other book like it. To get your free copy, just fill out the coupon.
