FRIDAY, JUNE 20, 1862.

From the N. Y. Herald, June 19.

PIERRE SOULE IN NEW YORK.

The arrival of Mr. Pierre Soule in this city yesterday as a prisoner, and at the same time passenger, on board the Ocean Queen, created considerable interest, and all kinds of inquiries were made everywhere to know how he had come, where he was going and what was to be done with him. In order to obtain some reliable information, our reporter called upon the captain of the steamer Ocean Queen—the vessel on which Mr. Soule took passage in New Orleans. The Captain says that the conduct of Mr. Soule was exceedingly orderly and quiet during the whole passage. He was by no means cast down or dispirited, but conversed freely with any person who felt disposed to address him, at the same time being careful to avoid any conversation of a political nature. He was treated in the same way as all the other passengers on board, no distinction whatever being made; it was the special order of General Butler previous to his embarkation. Mr. Soule came on board the Ocean Queen at New Orleans without any guard or protection, and was perfectly unknown to the other passengers on board, so quiet and gentlemanly was his conduct. He was immediately followed by the gentleman selected by General Butler to deliver him over to the United States authorities in this city.

On the arrival of the steamer in the harbor, a tug was immediately sent alongside by the United States Quartermaster (Mr. Tompkins) for the purpose of conveying the prisoner to the United States Marshal's office; and, indeed, his presence on board was kept so secret, and so reserved was he in his general conversation, that it was only on leaving the vessel that the majority of those on board discovered who was the gentleman with the long grey beard.

When the news of the arrival of Mr. Soule reached the city yesterday morning quite a large number of citizens assembled on pier No. 4—the dock at which the Ocean Queen generally lies—and so great was the anxiety to see him that hundreds loitered about the pier for the whole day; but, as night came on, it became evident they would be disappointed, as the vessel still lay riding at her moorings in the stream. The disappointment among the curious crowd, when it was ascertained that Soule had left the vessel in charge of the United States Marshal, was evinced on every countenance.

All access to or communication with the distinguished gentleman is strictly forbidden. His ultimate destination will be, it is supposed, either Fort Warren or Fort Lafayette, where he will probably be taken this morning.

UNITED STATES MARSHAL'S OFFICE.

June 18.—It having been notified to the authorities here that the ship Ocean Queen, from New Orleans, had arrived at the port of New York with the Hon. Pierre Soule and Mt. Adolphe Mazureau on board as prisoners of war, transmitted from New Orleans by order of General Butler, Deputy Marshal Thompson, in the temporary absence of Marshal Murray, despatched officer Borst on board a steamer waiting to receive the captives from the Ocean Queen. They found them under the charge of Major J. B. Kinsman, United States Army, aid to General Butler, and that officer, ascertaining on arrival at the Adjutant's department in this city, that the original instructions to take his prisoners to Fort Warren were countermanded, accompanied the Marshal's deputy with them to New York.

At about one o'clock the party arrived at the Marshal's office. There was a great concourse of persons present, anxious to see these notabilities. Mr. Soule was attended by a colored servant, who, with hat in hand, was as reverential to his master as ever "Jeames" was to his lordship of Berkley square.

No one was allowed to converse with the distinguished Southern prisoners. They were locked in the Marshal's inner office in the care of two aides, but from a furtive glance we were able to see that time, or the cares of this distracted country, had whitened his once dark hair. Mr. Soule appears to be about sixty-five years of age, with the keen eye of Daniel Webster, a head like the first Napoleon, and a figure midway between the rotundity of both.

The charges under which General Butler ordered the arrest of Senator Soule in New Orleans were, that he was a leader of a secret society known as the "South-ra Independent Association," of which each member was solemnly sworn to oppose at the cost of his life, if necessary, the reconstruction of the Union; the second charge is that M. Soule is the author of the letter sent by the late Mayor of New Orleans to Commodore Farragut, and that he was the principal supporter of the rebellion in that city.

Upon the arrival of Marshal Murray he telegraphed to Washington for instructions as to where the prisoners of war should be sent, he not having had any official instructions. The telegram was sent at ten minutes to three o'clock; but at the closing of the Marshal's office at half-past five o'clock no reply had been received. In the mean time Messrs. Soule and Mazureau were provided with accommodations at the Astor House for the night. We may further add that up to a late hour last evening no reply from Washington was received as to the final disposition of the prisoners.—The matter may, however, be brought up to-day.

Correspondence of the Philadelphia Press.

PROOF POSITIVE THAT THE CONFEDERATES ARE RECEIVING HEAVY REINFORCEMENTS.

New Baiton, Va, June 12.—Day after day the two opposing armies are becoming more savage. There was a time when the picketers hobnobbed together and high officers passed compliments, but that day has gone by. Strict orders have been given to fire upon every one of the enemy who shows himself, and the sharp cracks of innumerable rifles are heard all day long. The enemy seem to have the same orders in force, and back and forth the leaden bullets whiz, and woe to the man who negligently exposes himself to their deadly effect.

People at home need scarcely anticipate the speedy fall of Richmond. Within the past week the Confederates have received strong reinforcements, and have shown a wonderful addition of energy in their attacks upon us. Before the battle of Fair Oaks our bridge building was allowed to proceed without interruption; now, every log which is laid is done amid the whistling of bullets and the bursting of shell. The Confederates, too, have become most audacious in their attacks upon us. Shelling a picket or baggage train was the extent of their offensive operations, and it was only when attacked that they made any attempts at fighting the troops. Now they boldly attack us.

Every exposed position is constantly shelled; sharpshooters crawl through swamp and bush for miles to shoot at our pickets. Traps and ambuscades are laid to catch the unwary sentinel. A most wonderful energy seems suddenly to have inspited them, and desperation or reinforcements must have been the stimulant. This afternoon they attacked Mechanicsville. Heavy guns, formerly held in reserve, were brought to the front, and twenty or thirty shell, many of them bursting in our camps, bore testimony to their ability to worry us, if such were their wishes. A house there was almost battered down. It had been used as a hospital, and several sick men were it, when shell after shell burst in such close proximity that the invalids had to be carried out. Afterwards, a shell burst within the front porch, the fragments perforating the walls in every direction. General Taylor's brigade, comprising the first four New Jersey regiments, a regiment of cavalry, and a battery, were drawn in line of battle, when approaching night compelled me to leave. Our artillery were blazing away with telling effect, and, as after a half hour I heard no more reports, I suppose, as on several previous occasions, they silenced the enemy's guns.

That the Confederate army have received strong reinforcements is undoubted. Last week as many as ten thousand troops, with long baggage trains, passed down their lines towards our centre. This week fifteen thousand, half of them yesterday, have gone in the same direction, and long baggage trains seem to indicate their coming some distance. Still, if reinforcements come by way of Richmond, unless especially intended for the Confederate left wing, we here would never see them, as all their movements would be in the rear. A constant stream of twenty-five thousand men, all going one way, passing a part of the Confederate army which is confessedly weak, and against which I scarcely believe there will be any Federal demonstration—leaving a strong force at that point after their march as there was before—seems to be almost positive evidence that they are reinforcements.—Where from I cannot say. Beauregard, Jackson and Ewell all could send them, and for the latter his course would be the straight road.

General McClellan has begun to throw up entrenchments on the left wing, which is evidently the beginning of a siege. Fatigue parties are working day and night in the trenches, and no doubt many a Confederate sorrowfully looks down upon those vile earthworks which threaten such terrible consequences.

Friday Morning, June 13.—War between artillerists commenced on both wings with daylight this morning. Gen. Smith's batteries, at least from the sound I judge so, no doubt are doing hot work on the left, and the Mechanicsville guns on the right are taking a sweet revenge for yesterday's indignation. So the work goes on.

Firing shot and shell has been the daily order for a week past; and no doubt the enemy have been severely handled at many points.

Too good a story to be lost was yesterday related by a picketer. He says he invited a Confederate post to partake of his cup of coffee, and after drinking it, the Secessionist, to testify to his gratitude, instructed his benefactor after the following: "Now you lies on your posts are opposite each other. Well, the man that comes on after me, I will tell not to shoot, and he will do the same, and I want you to do the same with your relief. But the fellow who comes on last one after me, look out for him, he's a d—d Yankee!"

The Boston Journal asserts that the Government has redeemed all the acts of Gen. Butler since he took possession of New Orleans.

STILL ANOTHER TRIUMPH.

BALTIMORE, May 1st, 1862. I have experienced so much benefit by using PEARSON'S, MEDICATED TAR DROPS, that I believe it not only a duty but a pleasure, to make it known to others. I was afflicted with a Sore Throat and Dry Cough, which debilitated me so that I could get no rest. My friends told me that I had the consumption. I am now happy to inform you that your MEDICATED TAR DROPS have cured me.

I find that your MEDICATED TAR DROPS are counterfeited, and I caution the afflicted to be on their guard. This is really a shame that so efficacious a remedy should be injured by unprincipled men. I am glad, however, to see that your signature is now on each package, and I advise those who purchase to bear that in mind.

Yours, truly, HENRY FISHER, No. 15 North Bond street.

PEARSON'S MEDICATED TAR DROPS are prepared and sold by GEO. PEARSON, No. 5 Liberty street, Baltimore. Sold also by the principal Druggists at 10 cents per package. m10-tf

THE FREEDOM OF THE PRESS PARTIALLY RESTORED.—After an involuntary absence of about three months, during which time we were made familiar with the classic and once hallowed grounds of Fort McHenry—we again resume, partially, our old vocation of "enlightening the world with lamp-black." Our Press, being deemed dangerous by the Government, has been kindly limited, and, for the future, instead of publishing "THE SOUTH, or any other paper, without consent of the Commanding General," we shall modestly labor in the humbler department of "the art preservative of all arts," by executing every description of BOOK AND JOB PRINTING, hoping through that medium to sustain ourselves and those dependent upon us, and would earnestly appeal to our friends to favor us with their patronage. We have prepared our JOB PRINTING DEPARTMENT to execute all kinds of printing neatly, expeditiously and cheaply, and solicit a call at our old buildings. SAMUEL S. HASTINGS' COMPOUND SYRUP OF NAPTHA, NOT ONLY A POSITIVE BUT A WARRANTED CURE FOR CONSUMPTION AND ALL DISEASES OF THE LUNGS.—This Medicine has decided the dispute about the curability of consumption, and satisfied the Medical Faculty and all who have used it that consumption and all affections of the lungs cannot only be cured, but that they are as easily and simply CURED as almost any of the disorders to which the human frame is liable. The operations of a single bottle, which costs $1, is sufficient to satisfy any patient—if not already too far gone with the disease—of this fact, and even a single dose gives evidence of its extraordinary influence in arresting and eradicating the malady by the immediate relief which it affords. This is no quack or secret remedy. Dr. Hastings, its discoverer, is one of the most eminent Physicians of the age, and has made a full disclosure of its history and all its component parts to the world, not wishing to incur the possibility of confining to himself, for the sake of profit, a secret which was calculated to do such universal good. And such has been the wonderful results of its operation that the London Lancet and Medical Times, and the most eminent physicians of both hemispheres are anxiously calling upon sufferers to have immediate recourse to it, and proclaiming that, of all known medicine, it alone has positively established its efficacy by undeniable proofs of curing consumption and all diseases of the lungs. Price $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. For sale wholesale and
