FROM SOUTH CAROLINA.

DESCRIPTION OF THE CONFEDERATE RAMS—PREPARATIONS TO RECEIVE THEM.

Correspondence of the New York Tribune.

HILTON HEAD, S. C., August 4.—From latest intelligence, it is ascertained beyond doubt that the Confederates have two marine engines of destruction at Savannah. One is a large oblong floating battery, moved by two propellers, and coated a foot thick with railroad iron. This battery has ten guns, four 10-inch columbiads on each side, and one each at bow and stern. So heavy is the plating that it has strained and started the casing or frame on which it has been built, the vessel being intended originally only for a plating six inches in depth. Owing to this cause, the battery is said to leak badly, and to be in need of the repairs now being given to it by "Commodore Anderson," as the negroes who bring us this intelligence call the commander. Evidently this vessel is intended to operate against Fort Pulaski, and to cover the crossing over of the enemy in flat-boats from the mainland to the islands on which our troops are stationed. As it will draw only five feet of water, this vessel will be admirably adapted for the business proposed, and we may look for her at an early day coming down Lazaretto Creek and opening on Fort Pulaski.

Of the ram Savannah, formerly Fingal, commanded by J. Pembroke Jones, the intelligence by our contraband Mercuries is of the clearest character. She is nearly finished, and the trips in which she has exposed herself to view from Fort Pulaski were trial trips to test her speed and her obedience to the helm, which is said to be faulty. A large number of additional 42 pounders, of the James pattern, and throwing the celebrated "wheel-hub" projectile, have been shipped to Cockspur Island within the last few days; and all the batteries around this harbor are being armed to the teeth with the heaviest metal in our ordnance stores.

To-day Admiral Dupont visited General Hunter, and received a report of the latest intelligence brought down by escaped chattels from Savannah. It was found to tally precisely with the information gleaned from other sources by the Commodore; and a perfect plan of concert between the navy and land forces has been agreed upon. It is well for the country that we have in these two officers—men both bearing the highest reputation for personal daring and a high sense of honor—men, who are not afraid nor ashamed to avail themselves of the inestimable services of the runaway colored loyalists who come within our lines. General Hunter's orders are, "admit, welcome, defend and make available all who seek to come within our lines in the name of the Union!" And similar instructions have been given by our noble Admiral to the commanders of his gunboats and other vessels of war.

Dupont and Hunter welcome all negroes, and are rewarded by the most minute and absolutely trustworthy intelligence as to every movement made by the enemy. It pours in upon them from a thousand sources, and in every variety of shape and utterance, the house and hotel servants talking with clearness and remarkable quickness of the points they have heard discussed or boasted about at their masters' tables; and the semi civilized plantation hands jabbering in their own half-inarticulate manner as to the camps and the moving regiments, roads, forts and defences in the vicinities they have come from. We welcome the negroes, and are forewarned of every danger. A different policy is pursued elsewhere, and the history of the war in the regions where the "exclusive" policy prevails is one of surprises and utter hoodwinkings of the Union commanders.

STORM IN NEW ORLEANS.

The New Orleans National Intelligencer of the 30th ult. says:—The Picayune of yesterday evening saves us the trouble of relating in our own words the account of Monday's storm, as follows:

The storm yesterday was for a time "grand, gloomy and peculiar." From all that we can learn in relation thereto, we are inclined to suppose that the city was never more thoroughly overflowed from the effects of a single shower. All the principal streets, especially in the rear of the city, could easily have been navigated by skiffs, and even by small sized steamboats. Wooden bridges were swept away in every direction, and it will take some time to have them thoroughly repaired. When the storm was at its height, the thunder and lightning were very violent. A three-story house on Bienville street, between Bourbon and Dauphin streets, was struck by the subtle fluid, knocking out several bricks, and splitting the front and end walls. No person in the house was injured. A tree at the corner of Delord street and Tivoli Circle was also struck and shivered into fragments; but to the people and houses quite near the tree no damage was done. The action of the storm was altogether eccentric.

Yesterday, again, we were visited by a heavy rain, and at the time we write there is every prospect for a wet night.

ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION OF THE EMPEROR OF RUSSIA.—The London Morning Star publishes this piece of news:

"We have received positive information of an attempt made within the last few days upon the life of the Emperor of Russia. As Alexander was walking in the gardens of his palace in St. Petersburg, he was fired upon by an assassin. The most strenuous efforts have been made by the Russian Government to prevent the news from getting abroad, or, in case of any rumor finding its way out, to induce it to be confounded with a reported, but not fully authenticated, attempt of the same kind, which gave rise to some alarm several weeks back. Indeed, the Russian Government exhibits at present the most feverish anxiety to keep political intelligence from either entering or passing out of Russia. So much is this the case that we are positively assured that the Queen's messenger, who has just arrived from St. Petersburg, was stopped on the frontier; that the bag with the seal and signature of our Foreign Minister was taken from him, opened, searched and then resealed and forwarded to St. Petersburg. The motive for this extraordinary proceeding is believed to have been a suspicion that the British despatch box had been used as a means of conveying into Russia communications which the Russian Government desire to have kept out of the country."

AN IRISH "NATIONAL CONFERENCE."—A public conference of members of Parliament, mayors, chairmen of town commissioners, municipal representatives, magistrates, gentry, &c., who have joined in the national demand for a charter to the Catholic University, was held at Dublin on the 21st, Alderman Ryan, of Limerick, in the chair. Mr. Brady, M. P., and The O'Donoghue, were among the gentlemen on the platform. The following resolutions were passed: "1. That we regard the refusal by Lord Palmerston to grant a Charter to the Catholic University of Ireland as an act of gross injustice and a deliberate insult to the feelings of the vast majority of the Irish people, emphatically and unmistakably expressed through their parliamentary and municipal representatives. 2. That we believe this insulting refusal of a just right is dictated by that policy which maintains injurious and oppressive distinction between Irishmen of different religious denominations, and we call upon every sincere believer in the glorious principles of civil and religious liberty, to combine in demanding the removal of all State endowments of religion. 3. That it is desirable to establish an association having for its object constitutionally to unite and organize the people of Ireland for the removal of the many grievances, civil and religious, which now oppress her. 4. That the chief object of such association shall be the equitable and just settlement of the land question, the abolition of State endowments, and of all oaths, penalties or disabilities enforced on religious grounds, and complete freedom and reform of the Poor Laws."

WHAT IT IS TO BE GRAND.—Some short time back, an action was brought against the Compagnie Immobiliere, proprietors of the immense building on the Boulevard des Capucines, which has just been opened as the largest hotel in Paris. A person named Muller, who has for the last twenty years been owner of a furnished hotel, corner of the Rue de la Paix, commenced a suit against the company just named, to prevent it from giving the name of "Hotel de la Paix" to its establishment, that designation having been adopted by him for very many years. The Tribunal of Commerce, before which the suit was brought, ordered the Compagnie Immobiliere to affix to the name of its hotel such a designation as would prevent all confusion or mistake as to name, and the company decided on calling the new building "Le Grand Hotel de la Paix." Muller, considering such a title as an aggravation of his position, as it implied that his was the Petit Hotel de la Paix, appealed, and the case was decided the other day by the Imperial Court. The sentence declared that as Muller had for many years held an establishment called the "Hotel de la Paix," the corner of the Boulevard des Capucines, no other hotel in the neighborhood could take the same name, or one with the word "Grand" before that appellation. It therefore interdicted absolutely the Compagnie Immobiliere to give to its hotel the name of "Grand Hotel de la Paix," and condemned it to pay the costs.

THE FREEDOM OF THE PRESS PARTIALLY RESTORED.—After an involuntary absence of about three months, during which time we were made familiar with the classic and once hallowed grounds of Fort McHenry—we again resume, partially, our old vocation of "enlightening the world with lamp-black." Our Press, being deemed dangerous by the Government, has been kindly limited, and, for the future, instead of publishing "THE SOUTH, or any other paper, without consent of the Commanding General," we shall modestly labor in the humbler department of the "art preservative of all arts," by executing every description of BOOK AND JOB PRINTING, hoping through that medium to sustain ourselves and those dependent upon us, and would earnestly appeal to our friends to favor us with their patronage. We have prepared our JOB PRINTING DEPARTMENT to execute all kinds of printing neatly, expeditiously and cheaply, and solicit a call at our old buildings. SAMUEL S. MILLS, BOOK AND JOB PRINTER, Office—122 Baltimore st., 2 doors from North.
