VICTOR KERNUS, Plaintiff/Counter-Defendant v. IRIT KERNUS, Defendant/Counter-Plaintiff	)	CIVIL ACTION NO. 96-984

01 AUG 15 10 PM 1:22

JUDGMENT OF ABSOLUTE DIVORCE, OPINION, AND ORDER DISTRIBUTING PROPERTY

The Court has been called upon to resolve issues of marital property, monetary award, and absolute divorce. In reaching the conclusions set forth herein, the Court has carefully considered the evidence and testimony introduced at the hearing on November 16, 1998 as well as the legal arguments filed by counsel; accordingly it is hereby,

ORDERED, that the Plaintiff/Counter-Plaintiff, VICTOR KERNUS, is granted an absolute divorce from the Defendant/Counter-Plaintiff, IRIT KERNUS. This absolute divorce shall be granted on the grounds of the two consecutive years of voluntary separation.

In applying Title 8 of the Family Law Article, Annotated Code of Maryland (1999), the Court is called upon to determine what property is marital and to "grant a monetary award . . . as an adjustment of the equities and rights of the parties concerning marital property," if necessary. Md. Fam. Law Code Ann. Section 8-205 (1999). Thus, pursuant to Md. Fam. Law Code Ann. Sections 8-203, 8-204 (1999), the Court must first determine what is marital property, and then must determine the value of all marital property, accordingly, it is further

ORDERED, that the marital property of the parties and the value thereof is determined as follows:

Apartment in Neve David, Israel
Ester Hamalka St., Apt. 16/3, Neve David $60,000

Pursuant to Md. Fam. Law Code Ann. Section 8-202 (a) (3) (1999), "the court may not transfer the ownership of personal or real property from one party to the other."; accordingly, it is further ORDERED, that the following marital property is to be sold in lieu of partition:

Apartment in Neve David

ORDERED, that all real property of the parties shall be sold pursuant to Title 14, Chapter 301, et seq. of the Maryland Rules volume of the Ann. Code of Md.; that DAVID WEISKOPF, Esquire, and SUE ANN ARMITAGE, Esquire, be and are hereby appointed Trustees for the purpose of private or public sale of all real property of the parties; bond will not be required and the net proceeds of the sale be distributed equally between the parties.

The Court also makes a specific finding that the Plaintiff/Counter-Defendant, VICTOR KERNUS, had acquired a retirement during his marriage to the Defendant/Counter-Plaintiff, IRIT KERNUS. As defined by the Md. Code Ann., Fam. Law 8-203 (1999), retirement and pensions are "marital property". To give a valuation of such a plan this Court uses Md. Fam. Code Ann.8-205:

> "...after the Court determines which property is marital property, and the value of the marital property, the court may transfer ownership of an interest in a pension, retirement, profit sharing, or deferred compensation plan from 1 party to either or both parties, grant a monetary award, or both, as an adjustment of the equities and rights of the parties concerning marital property . . . ".

There are certain factors in determining amount and method of payment or terms of transfer, as discussed in Md. Fam. Code Ann.8-205. Only after reviewing and considering those factors can the court make a judgment. Namely, in this case the Court refers to several factors listed for consideration in 8-205. Number seven in the listings of factors, "the duration of the marriage", number eight, "how and when specific marital property or interest in the pension, retirement...was acquired, including the effort expended by each party in accumulating the marital property or the interest in the pension, retirement...", and number 9, "the contribution by either party of property described in 8-201 (e) (3) of this subtitle to the acquisition of real property held by the parties as tenants by the entirety". With said factors considered a determination may begin.

In finding a determination of award for the said retirement one must look to Bangs v. Bangs (59 Md. App. 350). As stated, the Defendant has a right to, " . . . a fractional share of appellant's retirement pension if, as, and when he receives it. The fractional share payable to appellee out of each pension payment appellant receives is: one-half of a fraction of which the number of years and months of the marriage is the numerator and the total number of years and months of employment credited toward retirement is the denominator." Since, in this case, the Plaintiff/Counter-Defendant, VICTOR KERNUS, and Defendant/Counter-Plaintiff, IRIT KERNUS, were married before the retirement began, there is no overlapping factor to be considered (i.e. if Victor Kernus had worked for 5 years prior to getting married to Irit Kernus).

There are alternatives to using the "if, as , and when" methodology, but this Court feels the process undertaken is the most logical. There are three methods to determine the value of pensions: contributions by the wage-earning spouse to the fund, present value of the wage earner's retirement, and fixed percentage for the non-wage earner for future payments the wage earner receives under the plan payable if, as and when paid (Deering v. Deering 292 Md 115). If the Court were to decide to use either of the first two valuation methods, it would have the discretion to order the payment in either a lump sum or installments. The Marital Property Act "does not require an equal division of marital property..."(292 Md 115 (1981)). The facts of this case do not contain instances which complicate the use of if, as and when decisiveness, but rather with the evidence presented a fixed-percentage award is more equitable to the parties than a summation award. Therefore, it is further ORDERED, that the Thrift Savings Plan acquired by the Plaintiff/Counter-Defendant, VICTOR KERNUS, be equally divided to the Defendant/Counter-Plaintiff, IRIT KERNUS, if, as and when received.

Dated this 10th day of August, 2001.

After ninety (90) days have elapsed, and there is no QDRO in place, the Defendant agrees to pay Two Thousand Fifteen Dollars and Fifty Cents ($2,015.50) per month directly to the Plaintiff until such time as a QDRO is put in place; and it is further

ADJUDGED, ORDERED, AND DECREED that each party expressly waives any entitlement and/or request for alimony from the other party, and this clause is non-modifiable by any future Court action; and it is further

ADJUDGED, ORDERED, AND DECREED that the Plaintiff shall be entitled to and shall receive full survivor benefits from the aforesaid United States Government Retirement, to be paid out of the total gross retirement benefits; and it is further

ADJUDGED, ORDERED, AND DECREED that the Plaintiff shall remain the beneficiary on the government issued Life Insurance policy of the Defendant, and it is further
