HOWARD COUNTY EVENTS ARE NUMBER ONE

America is getting into full gear for the celebration of the first National Martin Luther King, Jr. Holiday on January 20, 1986 — Martin Luther King, Jr., a man who dedicated his life to our country's struggle for equality, harmony and justice for all. He is America's hero and patriot. King's platform for social justice which he stood for was very controversial, but after his assassination 18 years ago, he became a widely respected leader of international stature. "Martin's moving example of dignity in the face of threats and hatred gave the whole nation a new hero to admire and emulate" says Mrs. Coretta Scott King.

"I Have A Dream!" Those famous words from the slain civil rights leader rang out to this nation. The Dream lives on and on and on, especially in the Howard County community. Black and white, young and old, rich and poor are helping to make King's dream a reality.

Sherman Howell and Roger Martin, co - chairpersons of the Martin Luther King, Jr. Howard County Holiday Commission declare, needs to take a vacation after the month of January, because they have spent sleepless nights and restless days planning the local events that will mark the nation's first official King's Holiday, a holiday that has finally come to reality.

Beauty Talk by Jean Ford

WINTER SKIN BEAUTY

For facial beauty, maintain a four-step regimen twice daily. Gently cleanse, tone, energize, and use a moisturizer with broad spectrum sunscreen. Select products for your specific skin type.

If skin is uncomfortably dry, try a creamy facial-off cleanser and apply double helpings of moisturizer on chapped areas. The delicate skin around eyes needs the extra protection of eye-cream. Lips can be kept soft with the constant protection of moisturizing lipstick or lip balm.

Thirsty winter body skin replenishes lost moisture with a 15 minute tepid bath enriched with softening bath oil. When showering, a mild body cleanser is usually less drying than soap.

While skin is still damp, apply moisturizer generously all over, to seal in natural moisture.

Hands, having fewer oil glands, need moisturizing throughout the day, and before sleep.

Avon's Moisture Therapy body care line for extremely dry and fragrance-sensitive skin offers four products the entire family can use during and after the bath. Hospital tests prove its formulas, enriched with an exclusive blend of moisture-retentive emollients, relieve extremely dry skin conditions in just seven days. Ask your Avon Representative for Moisture Therapy. If you don't have one, call 800-858-8000.
