saucepan containing a few inches of simmering water. Do not allow water to touch the bottom of the bowl. Stir with a wire whisk until mixture is creamy and no longer cold to the touch. The mixture must not begin to actually feel warm.

Remove the bowl from saucepan and beat on high speed until it is very thick and glossy, about 5 minutes. Note: The meringue will stand in almost stiff peaks. Cream the butter and add to meringue by the tablespoon, continuing to beat at medium-high speed.

When frosting is ready, it will be stiff but of spreading consistency. Beat in vanilla.

If frosting begins to separate, continue to beat and it will thicken into a smooth buttercream. Note: if butter is too cold and forms lumps, allow the mixture to sit at room temperature until it softens, and then beat until smooth.

TO ASSEMBLE CAKE

Using a sharp serrated knife cut each cake layer horizontally into thirds, forming 3 thin layers from each cake. To assemble each tier; place bottom layer of large cake layer on a 10" cardboard round support; spread with chocolate and cranberry fillings, ending with top cake layer. Chill in freezer while preparing remaining 2 tiers.

Repeat with remaining two layers in same fashion using a 7" cardboard round support for the middle layer and a 6" support for the top layer. Chill in freezer.

NOTE: Cake may be prepared up to this point; wrapped securely in freezer paper or aluminum foil and frozen.

TO FROST AND DECORATE

Use 1 recipe of Meringue Buttercream to totally frost the sides and tops of each cake layer with a thin coating to seal in crumbs. Chill in freezer until ready to finish cake with final icing.

To finish cake; frost each tier with second recipe of Meringue Buttercream, smoothing sides and tops with a metal spatula.

Assemble tiers on wedding cake plate with tier on bottom; 7-inch tier in the middle and the 6-inch tier atop of the bride and groom to save for their first anniversary. Using a pastry bag, fitted with a small shell tube or small star shape, pipe extra frosting between layers, to fill openings. Chill in freezer until ready to serve.
