JAN 1987

SALUTE TO:

DR. MARTIN LUTHER KING, JR.

The assassination of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., in Memphis, TN, April 4, 1968, ended the life of one of the black community's most influential leaders of all time.

Born January 15, 1929 in Atlanta, GA into a middle-class, successful family, his father, the Rev. Martin Luther King, Sr., was pastor of Ebenezer Baptist Church. Martin, Jr. grew up in a comfortable atmosphere and environment.

He entered Morehouse College at the age of 15, planning to become either an attorney or physician. He was persuaded by his father and his professors at the college to enter the ministry.

In 1947, he was ordained a Baptist minister, and named assistant pastor at Ebenezer Baptist Church — he was 18 years old at the time.

Just a year later, he received his degree and continued study at Crozer Theological Seminary in Chester, PA, and at Boston University, where he earned a Ph.D. in Theology in 1955.

During his first pastorate, at Dexter Ave. Baptist Church in Montgomery, AL, he came into contact with, and vowed to help combat the injustices against blacks.

On Dec. 1, 1955, Mrs. Rosa Parks was arrested for refusing to give up her bus seat to a white man in Montgomery. Her bail was posted by E.D. Nixon, a local activist who was involved in challenging the segregation laws of the city.

He called a meeting of black leaders to discuss a bus boycott, including the 26-year-old pastor of Dexter Baptist Church, the Rev. Dr. King.

And so, the 40 black leaders met at Dexter Baptist Church where they voted unanimously to launch a bus boycott. The Montgomery Improvement Association was set up to coordinate the boycott, and Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr. was chosen president of the organization.

His opening speech set the tone for the boycott, and launched the civil rights struggle which changed the destiny for black people throughout the world:

"...We have no alternative but to protest. For many years, we have shown an amazing patience. We have sometimes given our white brothers the feeling that we liked the way we were being treated. But we came here tonight to be saved from that patience that makes us patient with anything less than freedom and justice.

For the next 383 days, blacks in Montgomery refused to ride the public buses. A jitney service was established, car pools and private buses were employed to move blacks from place to place.

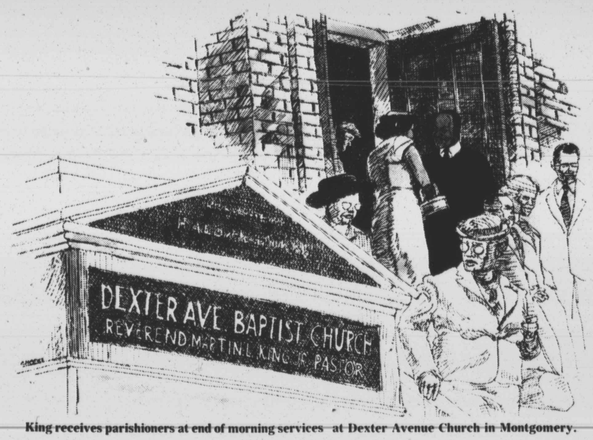
Throughout, boycotters were led by the young preacher from Dexter Ave. Baptist Church, and civil rights movement started to gather momentum — led by Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr.

Dr. King moved back to Atlanta, and headed up the newly-founded Southern Christian Leadership Conference, which became immediately involved in a national campaign to achieve equal rights for black citizens.

The philosophy of non-violence, of passive albeit staunch and solid resistance began to show results. The many speeches, beatings, threats, jail terms, marches, sit-ins and all the rest, culminated in the legislation.

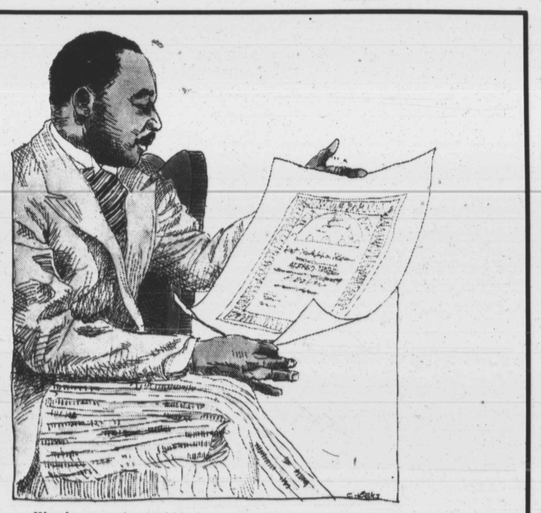
The Civil Rights Act of 1964 and the Voting Rights Act of 1965 finally put a legal end to segregation. For his role in this fight, Dr. King was awarded the Nobel Prize for Peace in 1964.

Four years later, at age 39, Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., was dead — the victim of an assassin's bullet. Minister, father, philosopher, scholar, humanitarian, social activist, husband, and martyr to the noblest of causes — the brotherhood of all men.



King receives parishioners at end of morning services at Dexter Avenue Church in Montgomery.

King and wife push Yolanda's stroller on sidewalk near their Montgomery home.



King becomes the third black, twelfth American, and the youngest person ever to win the Nobel Peace Prize.

National Museum celebrates

In just a few weeks the birthday of the late Martin Luther King, Jr. will be celebrated in various ways throughout the United States. The National Museum of American History, will present its annual tribute to Dr. King which focuses on the various aspects and locations of the Civil Rights Movement.

"Of Songs, Peace, and Struggle" is presented by the Program in Black American Culture and the Saturday After Noon Series. The initial program dealt with an overview of the civil rights movement, with previous years looking at Birmingham then Montgomery. This year, Saturday, January 27, from 1 to 4 p.m., the program will concentrate on Nashville, TN, The Sit-In Movement and the Freedom Rides.

The featured guest will be Bernard Lafayette, co-founder of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), and authority on the strategy of nonviolence. Mr. Lafayette will begin the program with a lecture examining his personal experiences in Nashville during the Civil Rights Movement. He will then lead the audience in a song workshop, concentrating on the same songs that activists sang while they were beaten, jailed or attending rallies.

For additional information about "Of Songs, Peace, and Struggle" please contact B. J. Davis at 357-3306, or Niani Kilkenny at 357-4176. The programs are free, and open to all interested persons.

From a letter from Coretta Scott King on, "Living the Dream" the theme for this year's holiday observance, which is part of Freedom Trail Poster.

"Our nation's holidays are special days. Some are days of remembrance and some are days of celebration. Martin's day is also a day of remembering and celebrating but it is even more than that. It must be a day of service. Martin Luther King, Jr. believed that, "everybody can be great because everybody can serve." So let our observance of the holiday be a time for all of us TO REMEMBER the life, work and dream of Martin Luther King, Jr.; TO CELEBRATE in the true spirit of togetherness and community; and most important, let the holiday be a catalyst for individuals, families, organizations and communities TO ACT — to live the dream by serving the causes of equality, justice, freedom, and peace.

Let Freedom Ring;
Coretta Scott King

If you want to say that I was a drum major, say that I was a drum major for justice; say that I was a drum major for peace; I was a drum major for righteousness.
