WASHINGTON LETTER.

Some News Collected at the National Capital by Our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Oct., 7, 1901.—President Roosevelt has started out by establishing very cordial relations with the democrats, especially those from the South, who are most prominent in national legislation. The fact that the President rather boasts of being "half-Southern" by birth and that he has heretofore expressed eminently just and friendly sentiments toward the Southern people has given him a warm place in popular esteem in that section. But from these personal observations it is not to be hastily conjectured that he will violently reverse the republican policy of regarding the solid South as ungrateful earth. He may lend some official help to any promising effort to break down democratic supremacy in certain Southern states: for instance, the McLaurin movement in South Carolina or the anti-negro-disfranchisement democratic faction in Alabama. President Roosevelt is a stalwart republican. He is not at all likely to repeat the Greek-gift policy of President Hayes in dealing with southern situations. Mugwump democrats will find as little favor with him as mugwump republicans. Hence, the wiser Southerners are not predicating too freely upon favors to come from President Roosevelt. They say "he will be as fair as a patriotic republican President dare be" and that is the sum total of their expectation.

Unless there is very skillful management of the projects of anti-anarchy legislation in the coming Congress an unfortunate wrangle will occur. Men of all parties are substantially agreed that a measure to prevent the importation of anarchists and punish the exploitation of anarchistic doctrines should be passed. But any attempt that presages undue restriction upon the ancient rights of free speech and a free press will meet with strenuous opposition from leaders of both parties. Senator Hoar has already sounded a warning against any such attempt and the democrats in Congress may be counted as a practical unit against any such legislation. It is even strongly intimated that President Roosevelt would promptly veto any bill that should go too far in that direction.

Two months yet intervene before Congress assembles but, already the President has begun to shut himself in with his thinking-cap on to prepare his message to the national legislature. The message which President McKinley would have written had been discounted by his public utterances since his re-election so far as its most salient features were predicable. President Roosevelt's message will be another type of document. The whole nation expects it to be [illegible]lent of Rooseveltism and will be [illegible]ous for its appearance. After [illegible]ling reciprocity, a merchant ma[illegible] and the Philippine policy the [illegible]dent will have unrestricted right [illegible]y for new suggestions regard[illegible]rusts, civil [illegible]fran[illegible]

[illegible]liticians at the capital. The dem[illegible]crats are handicapped by having an

[illegible] republican candidate for governor, is [illegible] a bold eloquent campaigner and is
[illegible]making a hot and bitter fight against [illegible] his former associates of the democ[illegible]racy. Nevertheless the democrats are [illegible] confident of a complete victory at the [illegible]polls but realize they will have to
[illegible]fight for it without stint or sleep.

In Maryland there are complaints of general apathy among the voters of both parties but it is promised that ex-Senator Gorman will now actively take the field at the head of the democratic column and he has already predicted a sweeping victory for the party in November. The Senator is one of those wise men who never predicts unless he knows.

The Delaware State Board of Health met last Thursday at Seaford and discussed the small-pox situation in this section of the Peninsula. SOME GOOD ADVICE.

For the Benefit of our Boys and Girls This is Written by "Children's Friend."

There is very little transcribed in this age to encourage young people in doing right and, less done in the family circle to instil principles in boys and girls to make them develop into noble men and women. True, there are some who have the old Adam so thoroughly implanted in their nature that it is difficult to conquer—as must have been the case with the cruel assassin of our beloved President, which latter was high-toned as a boy of six years of age.

Dear children, imitate Mr. McKinley, who was a model for goodness as a boy and, as a man and President of these United States, forgave his enemies and did good to all and had faith in his people and in his God. If any one does you an injury, forgive him as McKinley did the assassin, who took the life of a noble and patriotic man—a second Washington, whose christian life and heroic death will ever be remembered. Boys make a name for yourselves as McKinley did and you will become true and noble citizens.

There are a good many handsome boys in our little village. There is an old adage, "Handsome is, that handsome does" but I cannot truthfully say that the conduct of our boys fully correspond with their appearance. No one of sober thoughts can approve of boys throwing oyster shells and stones at carriages and their occupants; playing ball in the center of the town; hallooing like animals of the forest or making ill-natured remarks to those who are not gifted with good looks.

I should like to arouse our children to the importance of forming good habits in their youth, to be upright and honorable and have an object in life and not lay too much stress upon having what they call a "good time." After school hours let your thoughts be directed towards your parents and assist them in their arduous and unceasing labors for you. Instead of loafing in the street, often using profane language, go to the wood pile and saw or chop wood. This is grand exercise and will help your mother materially, invoking a smile of pleasure from her which will be photographed in your hearts for reflection throughout your whole lives. When you see your mother wielding the broom take it from her tired hands and learn to use it yourselves. You have youth and strength; share it with her and lighten her burdens. She has no waiting maid and many duties to perform: that of housemaid, seamstress and all. In sickness she is ever at the bedside of husband and children: a "ministering angel" for those she loves and who should love her in return. Think of your mother and father, boys, and help them instead of loitering in the streets.

The parents of Queenstown have a duty to perform too to their offspring. They should cooperate with their teachers and uphold them in their authority while under their guidance at school. Both parent and teacher will be encouraged. An interest will be aroused for the good behavior of our boys that has been lacking for sometime in Queenstown.

No doubt you say your prayers at night but are there not some of you who leave your bed in the morning without thinking of God and his care of you during the dark hours? Take time, dear children, to repeat the prayer I have used myself for sixty years and which I copied from a little reading book when I was a girl of eleven years of age and fatherless and motherless. This is it. Cut it out of Mr. Aker's paper and use it as a gift from one who is deeply interested in your welfare:

Now I've arisen from off my bed
May I, in Thy path be led.
Keep me safe from every harm
Under Thine Almighty arm.

Guide, direct my steps this day
In the true and living way
Should I die before the night
Take me to the realms of light.

Blessed Savior may'st Thou be
Life and health and strength to me
May'st Thou prove in sorrow's light
A source of comfort and delight.

Should't Thou Lord, another day
Suffer me on earth to start
May I better, better be Prepared to live eternally.

Don't tack it on your bed post as the Irishman did his prayers and look at it and say: "There's my sentiments," but go through every verse and I am sure you will be able to battle against the ills of life that may beset you through the day. "There is nothing so nice as a boy that is good."

A Typical South African Store.

O. R. Larson, of Bay Villa, Sundays River, Cape Colony, conducts a store typical of South Africa, at which can be purchased anything from the proverbial "needle to an anchor." This store is situated in a valley nine miles from the nearest railway station and about twenty-five miles from the nearest town. Mr. Larson says: "I am favored with the custom of farmers within a radius of thirty miles, to many of whom I have supplied Chamberlain's remedies. All testify to their value in a household where a doctor's advice is almost out of the question. Within one mile of my store the population is perhaps sixty. Of these, within the past twelve months, no less than fourteen have been absolutely cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This must surely be a record." For sale by B. E. Cockey & Co.

"I had long suffered from indigestion," writes G. A. LeDeis, Cedar City, Mo. "Like others I tried many preparations but never found anything that did me good until I took Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. One bottle cured me. A friend who had suffered similarly I put on the use of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. He is gaining fast and will soon be able to work. Before he used Kodol Dyspepsia Cure indigestion had made him a total wreck." J. S. Denny and Wye Mills Drug Store.

A FELONIOUS ASSAULT.

Lloyd Burke Commits an Assault on Helen Tarman, 12 Years old near Centreville.

Lloyd Burke, a carriage painter, aged 33 years, was arrested Wednesday in Ridgely, Caroline county, and brought to Centreville, charged with felonious assault upon Helen Tarman, aged twelve years, daughter of T. J. Tarman, of Centreville. Burke works at Ridgely and went to Centreville on Tuesday with a buggy to carry his wife home. He went to the boarding house of Mr. Tarman and ordered his supper, saying he would put away his team and return. It was then about dark.

Helen, who had been sent on an errand by her mother, was on the street looking at a performing bear and says Burke forced her to go driving with him in his buggy, taking her nearly to the village of Burrisville, four miles from Centreville. She did not get home until 8.30 o'clock and told her mother of the treatment she had received and that Burke had threatened "to cut her to pieces with his horse whip if she told anything about it."

Before the mother had secured this information, Burke drove off with his wife to Ridgely. State's Attorney Harper was notified Wednesday and the sheriff's officers telephoned in all directions to look out for the accused, who was found in Ridgely in the afternoon and arrested as before stated. He is about six feet tall, slenderly built and weighs 165 pounds. Mr. Tarman, the father of the girl, was away from home working as a machinist and his wife was managing the boarding house.

Sheriff James E. Meredith and Constable Coursey took the prisoner to Centreville and lodged him in jail. A large crowd was assembled at the jail and Burke ran from the carriage to the prison. He admits having the girl out driving but would say no more. Dr. James M. Cockran attended the girl and it is stated that she was badly used.

Centreville now Rejoicing.

The opening of the Centreville branch of the Queen Anne's Railroad Monday with regular trains was warmly welcomed by the citizens of Centreville though there were no ceremonies as quite a number of trains had been run over the road previously. The north-bound train, Monday morning carried seven passengers and the south-bound train carried twelve. The opening of this road marks a new era for Centreville and this county. A number of Queen Anne's farmers have declared that next year they will raise considerable truck for the Baltimore market.

Postmaster Wilson and the business people of Centreville are endeavoring to have the mail contract changed so that mails can be taken to Centreville on the train and consequently, arrive an hour earlier and leave an hour and a-half later in the day. Monday morning the people of Centreville were disappointed in not getting their Baltimore papers by train as they confidently thought arrangements would be made to have them taken there in that way. By so doing they will reach there an hour earlier than the Philadelphia papers, whereas now they are generally later.

McKinley Postal Cards.

The Postoffice Department has announced that the likeness of President McKinley will appear on the next issue of postal cards. Under the new contract these cards will be issued shortly after December 1. The head of McKinley will replace that of Jefferson, in use for some years on the one-cent domestic postal card. The head of Adams will continue in use on the smaller cards used by ladies, the likeness of Grant on the double, or reply, postals and the head of Liberty on the international postals.

Under the head of the late President will appear the word "McKinley" and the date of his birth and death. Above the likeness will appear the words "One Cent" and "Series 1901." Instead of the old wording, "United States of America—Postal Card," the simple phrase "United States Postal Card" will be used. This will appear on the face of the card on a line a little lower than the likeness of the late President. The object of this change is to allow more room at the top of the card for the postmark, so that the latter may be more legible. The address will be written in the same relative place on the card.

Stricken With Paralysis.

Henderson Grimett, of this place, was stricken with partial paralysis and completely lost the use of one arm and side. After being treated by an eminent physician for quite a while without relief, my wife recommended Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and after using two bottles of it he is almost entirely cured.—GEO. R. MCDONALE, Man, Logan county, W. Va. Several other very remarkable cures of partial paralysis have been effected by the use of this liniment. It is most widely known, however, as a cure for rheumatism, sprains and bruises. Sold by B. E. Cockey & Co.

Useless to Oppose Judge Brown.

The Republicans of the Second Judicial circuit of Maryland met in the Elkton Opera House at noon, Monday to nominate a candidate for judge to succeed the late Judge Frederick Stump, of Cecil county and, after a short session, adjourned without making a nomination.

The delegates arrived at an early hour and from the time of their arrival it was apparent that they proposed doing all in their power to prevent a candidate being nominated. Especially was this the case with the delegation from Kent, headed by John D. Urie and the Talbot county delegation, headed by ex-Congressman Issaac A. Barber. The argument used by the Kent delegation was that the nomination of a candidate for the judgeship would seriously injure the chances of the election of their local ticket in Kent and that the Democratic nominee, Judge Edwin H. Brown, being an Independent Democrat, would roll up a majority in Caroline and Kent and that it would be useless to nominate any candidate in opposition.

This feeling was not, however, shared by the Cecil delegation, who wanted either L. Marshall Haines or George A. Blake nominated. Mr. Haines would have accepted the nomination had all the delegates in the circuit been unanimous in their efforts to have a nomination made but as they did not hesitate to oppose the nomination of anyone, Mr. Haines would not accept the nomination.

Governor John Walter Smith announced Friday of last week that he had appointed Mr. Edwin H. Brown, of Queen Anne's county, to the position of Associate Judge of the Second Judicial Circuit. Mr. Brown's appointment is until his successor shall be elected. It is to fill the vacancy now existing in the judicial circuit caused by the death of the late Judge Frederick Stump. Col. Brown took the oath of office, Monday afternoon and now Judge Brown is sitting on the bench at Denton, Caroline county, where he went the day following his qualification.

Vaccine Questions Answered.

The following information relative to the vaccination of public school children is given in reply to some inquiries upon the subject: If a student, on entering school, gives the teacher a certificate from a regular practicing physician stating successful vaccination has been done he is entitled to attend school throughout life; a vaccine physician, on visiting a school to carry out his duties, is shown all certificates on file; where they state successful vaccination, he does not re-vaccinate.

If a certificate simply states that vaccination was done, the vaccine physician, on the opening of another scholastic year is required to examine the scab and, if he reports the same as satisfactory, the child is admitted throughout school-life. If not satisfactory, he must re-vaccinate; this is to be done once a year until satisfactory results are obtained. Should the vaccination not "take," a child is thus admitted to school for a year on a certificate which simply shows vaccination. It is the duty of the parent or guardian to have vaccination done before the child enters school. If this is omitted then the teacher must carry out the law. A certificate has the same effect whether secured through the efforts of parent, guardian or teacher.

Autumn is Here.

The evidence of the changes in the seasons is quite apparent. The veranda groups of the summer have retired to the interior of the house, and as one passes in the chill darkness outside they make a pretty tableau as they sit about the table in the family dining-room, the glow of lamplight falling about them. The atmosphere has taken on the healthy vigor of autumn and, although the foliage has not yet begun to put on radiant hues of autumn, the goldenrod and its companion blossoms bloom in the country lanes and fields. The boating trips and tennis playing of summer have given place to long walks in the woods. The young folks who were made silly by what the waves said as they sat on the beach with a stretch of starlit sky above them and the water thumping the sand at their feet, are equally susceptible to the language of falling leaves and the whispered comments on man and things the trees occasionally make to one another. Nutting parties will soon be in order, the boys and girls will tramp about and gather health and strength from the October sunshine, to return home in the hazy twilight with rosy cheeks, keen appetites and a certain appreciation of the light and warmth and creature comforts of the fireside.

Tot Causes Night Alarm.

"One night my brother's baby was taken with croup," writes Mrs. J.C. Snider, of Crittenden, Ky, "it seemed it would strangle before we could get a doctor, so we gave it Dr. King's New Discovery, which gave quick relief and permanently cured it. We always keep it in the house to protect our children from croup and whooping cough. It cured me of a chronic bronchial trouble that no other remedy would relieve." Infallible for coughs, colds, throat and lung troubles. 50c and $1. Trial bottles free at B. E. Cockey & Co.'s drug store.

Hicks' Predictions for October.

We will scarcely have recovered from heavy equinoctial storms late in September, when renewed conditions will begin to appear in the western parts of the country. Between the 2nd and the 6th, these conditions will grow into cloudiness and will touch many parts of the country in their transition from west to east about Wednesday the 2nd to Saturday the 5th. From the 8th to to the 10th anti-storm conditions leading to make storms of rain and snow. The 9th is the central day of this reactionary period. Look for change to rising barometer and colder after the storms central on the 9th. The conjunction of the moon with sun on the 12th will precipitate the change to warmer with falling barometer at the very outset of this regular Vulcan period and returning storms of rain and snow will pass across the country about Monday the 14th to Thursday the 17th. Snow and sleet are more than probable in northern sections, with high northwesterly gales and an October cold wave. The 20th to 21st are central days of a reactionary time of autumnal disturbances. A perceptible change to warmer will be noted in the weather about the 19th; this change will be followed by falling barometer and October rains, fringed in the north by sleet and snow, will traverse the country from west to east during the 20th to 22nd. Some of the heaviest storms of the month may certainly be counted on during the Vulcan storm period central on the 26th. Cold wave will follow.

Laying of Cable Deferred.

The laying of the telephone cable from Love Point to Sandy Point was delayed this week on account of orders. The cable on a large barge reached its destination, Wednesday but the workmen on this side failed to put in their appearance and work was suspended until Thursday morning. When the workmen arrived on Thursday they found the barge fast ashore and work had to be discontinued until to-day when it is hoped they will be able to proceed with the work. The cable contains wires with five complete metallic circuits and 1½ inches in diameter with a protecting armor of 18 wires. Each wire is insulated with two wrappings of paper, twisted in pairs and bunched into a cone which is wrapped with two thickness of insulation. The cable is to give direct telephone communication between Baltimore, Washington, Annapolis, etc., and all points on the Eastern Shore, through a single call. Connections will be made between the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company.

Horse Accidentally Shot.

Mr. Carroll Vane, a constable residing at Starr, carried an old style pistol to the blacksmith shop of Mr. Michael Lew last week. While they were working upon the pistol to get out the bullets which had been in the barrels for years, a colored man brought a horse in for the purpose of having him shod. The blacksmith put down the pistol for the purpose of shoeing the horse. While he was at the anvil punching holes in a shoe the pistol, which Officer Vane had picked up and was handling, went off in his hands and shot the horse in the left side over the heart. The horse bled very freely as he was led slowly home and in the evening died. It is extremely fortunate that Mr. Lew had just left the horse for the purpose of working on the shoe when the pistol exploded as the ball hit just where the blacksmith would have stood.

Cannery Destroyed by Fire.

The canning house and contents, owned by J. A. Wright about a mile from town, was totally destroyed by fire, Tuesday night about 11 o'clock. The fire was discovered by Mrs. Jas. Dorrell who happened to get up to give some medicine. The entire building was in a light blaze and she at once aroused the inmates of the burning house who were sound asleep and who barely escaped with their lives. All the inmates lost all their clothing and Mr. and Mrs. James Dorrell who resided in the building, lost everything they possessed, including all their clothes and household effects. The fire is thought to have originated in the boiler room of the cannery as it was the only fire in the building. Several young men from town went to the fire and helped the unfortunate inmates but failed to turn in an alarm. The loss is estimated at $3,500 with about $2,000 insurance.

Haines—Wilson.

The marriage of Miss Laurine Wilson, daughter of Mrs. Hannah Wilson and Mr. Warren J. Haines, of Philadelphia, was solemnized at St. Paul's P. E. Church, Centreville on Thursday evening at 5.30 o'clock by Rev. James A. Mitchell. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. John E. Wilson. The bride wore white crepe de chine, with tulle veiling and carried white roses. Mr. and Mrs. Haines took the evening train of the Queen Anne's Railroad for Queenstown and thence by the steamer Queen Anne for Baltimore. From there they will take an extended tour through the North.

A Fiendish Attack.

An attack was lately made on C. F. Collier of Cherokee, Iowa, that nearly proved fatal. It came through his kidneys. His back got so lame he could not stoop without great pain nor sit in a chair except propped by cushions. No remedy helped him until he tried Electric Bitters which effected such a wonderful change that he writes he feels like a new man. This marvelous medicine cures backache and kidney trouble, purifies the blood and builds up your health. Only 50c at B. E. Cockey & Co.'s drug store.

First.—By amending section 9 of Article 5, of the Constitution of the State.

Second.—By amending section 4 of Article 3, of the Constitution of the State.

Third.—By amending section 2 of Article 3, of the Constitution of the State, which said bills and amendments are in words following, to wit:

CHAPTER 185.

AN ACT to amend section nine, of Article 5, of the Constitution of this State, and to provide for the submission of said amendment to the qualified voters of this State for adoption or rejection.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, (three-fifths of all the members elected to each of the two Houses concurring,) That the following section be and the same is hereby proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of this State, and if adopted by the legal and qualified voters thereof herein and as by law provided, it shall supersede and stand in the place and stead of section nine of said Article.

SECTION 9. The State's Attorney shall perform such duties and receive such fees and commissions or salary not exceeding three thousand dollars, as are now or may hereafter be prescribed by law; and if any State's Attorney shall receive any other fee or reward than such as is or may be allowed by law, he shall, on conviction thereof, be removed from office; provided that the State's Attorney for Baltimore city shall receive an annual salary of forty-five hundred dollars, and shall have power to appoint one deputy, at an annual salary not exceeding three thousand dollars, and such other assistants at such annual salaries not exceeding fifteen hundred dollars each, as the Supreme Bench of Baltimore City may authorize and approve; all of said salaries to be paid out of the fees of the said State's Attorney's office, as has heretofore been practiced.

SECTION 2. And be it further enacted, That the foregoing section hereby proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of this State, shall be, at the next general election for members of the General Assembly, to be held in this State, submitted to the legal and qualified voters thereof for their adoption or rejection, in pursuance of the direction contained in Article 14, of the Constitution; and at said election the vote on said proposed amendment shall be by ballot, and upon each ballot there shall be written or printed the words "For the Constitutional Amendment" or "Against the Constitutional Amendment," as the voter shall elect, and immediately after said election one return shall be made to the Governor of the vote on said proposed amendment, as directed by the said Fourteenth Article of the Constitution.

SECTION 4. As soon as may be after the taking and publishing of the National Census of 1900, or after the enumeration of the population of this State, under the authority thereof, there shall be an apportionment of representation in the House of Delegates, to be made on the following basis, to wit: Each of the several counties of the State, having a population of eighteen thousand souls or less, shall be entitled to two delegates; and every county having a population of over eighteen thousand and less than twenty-eight thousand souls, shall be entitled to three delegates; and every county having a population of twenty-eight thousand and less than forty thousand souls, shall be entitled to four delegates; and every county having a population of forty thousand and less than fifty-five thousand souls, shall be entitled to five delegates; and every county having a population of fifty-five thousand souls and upwards, shall be entitled to six delegates and no more; and each of the four legislative districts of the City of Baltimore shall be entitled to the number of delegates to which the largest county shall or may be entitled under the aforegoing apportionment, and the General Assembly shall have the power to provide by law, from time to time, for altering and changing the boundaries of the existing legislative districts of the City of Baltimore, so as to make them as near as may be of equal population; but said district shall always consist of contiguous territory.

2. The City of Baltimore shall be divided into four legislative districts as near as may be of equal population and of contiguous territory, and each of said legislative districts of Baltimore City, as they may from time to time be laid out, in accordance with the provisions hereof, and each county in the State, shall be entitled to one Senator, who shall be elected by the qualified voters of the said legislative districts of Baltimore City, and of the counties of the State, respectively, and shall serve for four years from the date of his election, subject to the classification of Senators hereafter provided for.
