The deposition of Mr Neal Simpson Merriner aged 60 yeares or thereabouts sworne and examined the 28th day of June 1650

Saith. That about Marcy last he being with Lt William Lewis at Appamattocks in the County of Northumberland in Virginia there and there heard Mr John Hallowell his wife say to the said Lt. Lewis, that she supposed he had intelligence and intended to carry away one William Greenstead and Thomas Meredith w[illegible] the said two servants that had run away or absented themselves from their Masters or to that effect. And he deponent thereupon advised the said Lt Lewis not to meddle with the carrying of them hence. And he deponent doth not certainely know but saith it is very probable the said Lt Lewis did (not long after) carry away with him the said Greenstead and Meredith from thence to Northampton, for that about a fortnight after he saw them at Lt Lewis his house there. But he deponent saith the said Greenstead and Meredith went from the said Lt Lewis his house at Northampton upon Whitsun Tuesday (as he remembers) and that he neither saw them there since, nor doth he know where they were at any time since, but saith they were gone to Virginia. And further he cannot depose materially to the same.
