News Items.

The all-absorbing topic at Washington, has been the President's Message, and its premature publication in a number of the enterprising Northern and Western papers. It occasioned much severe criticism upon the floor of Congress. But the charge made by Mr. Getz, that those papers which had published it had broke their "parole" with the President, was promptly met by Mr. Covode, who offered to prove—if they would investigate into the matter—that it was sold to the papers as merchandise, by one of the attaches of the President's household. It was received by both Houses with utmost indifference.

The story of negro insurrections in Jamaica, set afloat by the New York Herald, but eagerly believed and commented on by Democratic journals generally, proves to have been totally untrue, the only disturbance having been one originated by some drunken British soldiers. The story of a negro riot on Waddilam Island, South Carolina, telegraphed all over the country by the agent of the Associated Press at Charleston, was equally false.

The impeachment project, says the Washington Express seems to be losing ground every day, and there are now very few persons who profess to believe that it can be carried through the House. Mr. Boutwell, the spokesman of the majority of the Judiciary Committee, openly says he supposes it will fail.

The United States Circuit Court of Mississippi, in the case of Colonel McCardle, an editor, who was arrested by the military for denouncing General Ord, impeding reconstruction and other matters, has decided that his arrest was illegal and ordered him to be returned to the custody of the military authorities. The case will be taken to the Supreme Court of the United States.

Horace Greely publishes a card declaring he has not been officially notified of his appointment to the Austrian Mission and is not therefore at liberty to accept or decline, but that he does not intend leaving his country pending the presidential election, and suggests that it is a waste of stationery to apply to him for the post of Secretary of Legation. Sunset Cox, late of Ohio and now of New York, will, it is rumored, now recive the appointment.

Gen. Hancock has put himself in active training for the Democratic nomination for the Presidency and is undoing as rapidly as possible the work of his predecessors in command of the Fifth Military District. Tuesday he issued an order removing Gen. Mower from the command of the district of Louisiana, and also as Commissioner of the Bureau of Refugees directing him to join his regiment. He has also reinstated Judge Cazebot as Judge of the Seoned Judicial Court.

The vote in South Carolina on the Convention question is so close that the result can only be ascertained when the official returns from the whole State are received.

General Pope condemns much of the recent action of the Alabama Convention, and advises the Convention to adjourn without further legislation.

The election for Mayor in New York city on Tuesday resulted in the triumph of Mr. Hoffman, the Tammany candidate, by a majority over both Mr. Darling, the Republican candidate, and Fernando Wood, the candidate of the Mozart Democracy. One hundred and four thousand votes were polled, of which Hoffman received 63,931, Wood 22,832, and Darling 9,465.

A Convention of delegates representing the Sunday Schools of Maryland and the District of Columbia assembled in Washington on Tuesday.

GIFTS FOR CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEARS.—Attention is invited to the advertisement in another column of Messrs. Stanton Brothers & Co., who are offering large inducements in the way of Watches.

SNOW.—We had quite a dish of snow on Wednesday night. The week previous the weather changed from mild and pleasant, to that of very pinching cold, when on Wednesday the clouds thickened and Thursday morning the ground was found covered with snow to the depth of about an inch.

NEW FIRM.—Mr. James C. Norris, has sold out his store, near the market, to his brother, Samuel Norris and Jacob Williams and the business of that establishment will hereafter be conducted by the firm of Norris & Williams, two very clever and industrious young men and we have no doubt will do a good business.

THE LECTURE OF MISS ST. CLAIR.—Several weeks ago we were requested to give notice that the above named lady would entertain the citizens of Easton, with one of her popular discourses, and she arrived for that purpose, but owing to some mishap her hand bills did not arrive in time to give sufficient notice and the lecture was deferred. Since then she has determined to re new her visit and will lecture in the I. O. Fellow's Hall, on (this) Saturday evening. Doors open at 6 o'clock and lecture to commence at 7 o'clock.

☞ "I carry in my veins the blood of five European nations."—Vallandighom.

A mosquito might carry more than that in his hide and then be nothing more than a puffed up mosquito.

DECEASED.—We learn from Annapolis that Louis Gassaway, Esq., one of the oldest citizens of that city, died on Tuesday. He was nearly ninety years of age, and formerly held the position of register in chancery under the old constitution, long previous to 1851.

ELECTION OF BANK DIRECTORS.—The Cashier of the Easton National Bank of Maryland, gives notice, in another column, that there will be an election at their banking house in Easton, on Tuesday, the 14th day of January next, for the purpose of electing nine directors to serve for the ensuing year.

☞ A LITERARY and musical entertainment will be given at the town hall, on Monday evening next. I. C. W. Powell, Es, will repeat his lecture on "Bricks," delivered by him in the winter of 1865. The Easton Cornet Band will be present and enliven the entertainment by some of their most popular airs.

☞ We learn that a letter was received thro' the Easton Post Office, on Thursday night, from Edward Hambleton, Esq., formerly of this county, but now a resident of Australia. About nineteen years ago Edward and Wm. Hambleton, Esqs., brothers, and sons of the late Hugh Hambleton, embarked for California; after remaining there several years they separated, Edward going to Australia and William coming home. This, we believe, has been some nine years and the letter is the first tidings his family has had of him since, if we mistake not.—The letter was directed to his mother, an estimable lady, but she has ere this passed away from earth.

FRACAS ON THURSDAY NIGHT.—On Thursday night a colored man by the name of Washington Wilson was married and about 9½ o'clock, a calithumpian band, composed of a large number of colored men and boys, assembled at where Wilson was staying, near the corner of West Street and the Point Road, with bells, horns, &c., for the purpose of giving him a serenade in regular calithumpian style.—Upon hearing this the bailiff, Mr. W. H. Bostick, accompanied by several others, went to where the crowd had assembled for the purpose of dispersing it, when a difficulty arose and Geo. Gale, Esq., received a severe blow on the forehead with a stick, inflicting a severe flesh wound and a colored man in the employ of Mr. F. G. Wright, by the name of Jacob Sutton, also receiving a severe blow in the same place. We learn that Sutton was lodged in jail.

HOW OUR FEATHERS FELL.—A few nights ago, we were sitting in our sanctum, all alone, (and at an early hour, of course, as it is well known that we detest night owls,) and everything was so quiet that scarcely a mouse stirred, a bright light suddenly flashed through the window by our side and a number of voices were heard in an under-tone. We thought to ourself, what can all this mean? On going to the window we soon ascertained that it was the Easton Band, putting itself on a square, to cause a musical tornado. Of course we took it all to ourself, and put on all the dignity at our command, thinking what an important personage we had become all of a sudden—and rather wondered that it had not been discovered before. Well, the band played several tunes, and we thought what delightful music. We had just commenced to write a letter to a "friendess" and what a splendid chance to speak of the compliment, such as newspaper men, seldom receive. It also had a tendency to swell our bump of hospitality, or by whatever other name you may choose to call it, and we began to reflect upon what had best be done, for we felt considerably nonplussed, at not being better prepared for such an event. We knew that we could not give them a speech, and as to refreshments, being a temperate man, except, when like some others we have heard of—in a billious state or a cramp in the finger—we had nothing to put before them but a bottle of ink and an empty tumbler. But thinking this might cast a cloud over the proceedings, we refrained and ventured to the front door. Upon getting a better view of the musicians we noticed an occasional upturning of the eyes, but thinking that some of them might have mistaken the man in the moon for a woman, hence the attraction, and we thus consoled ourself. But! lo, and behold, it was all a mistake. We were sold. The serenade was intended for our young friend Townsend, of the Journal, and his estimable lady, who occupy rooms, at Albertson & Norris' popular hotel, just above our sanctum. We felt as flat as a pan cake cooked at a country school house, and struck a V line for West street.

CONGRESSIONAL.—The President's Message was received and read in both Houses of Congress on Tuesday. On it being presented in the House of Representatives, Mr. Schenck, of Ohio, called the attention of the members to the fact that while the Message was addressed to the Congress of the United States, it had already been spread before the country in the newspapers. He said he understood it had been sold to the newspaper correspondents by some lacquery or hanger-on of the White House Other members also asserted that copies of the Message had been publicly sold, and charged the President with consenting to the transaction. The party who furnished the Message for publication before its transmission, and who must have made a round sum by the transaction, is said to be the correspondent of the Boston Post, whose reports of confidential conversations with the President have heretofore given him some notoriety. The Senate voted to strike the prefix of "Honorable" from the names of Senators wherever it occurred in recording their presence in the opening of the session. The Standing Committee of the Senate were elected. It shows no change in any of the chairmanships and only the following alterations: Mr. Bayard is added to the committee on Private Claims and Pensions; Mr. Connese on that on Revolutionary Claims; Mr. Guthrie to that on Mines and Mining; Mr. Patterson, of New Hampshire, is placed upon the Joint Committee on Retrenchment in the Senate, and Messrs. Anthony, Pomeroy and Edmunds are appointed the Committee on Revising the Rules of the Senate.

In the House of Representatives Mr. Schenck, from the Committee of Ways and Means, reported a bill abolishing the tax on all cotton grown in the United States after the year 1867. As most of the cotton grown during the present year had passed out of the hands of the producers into those of brokers and speculators, the committee deem it inexpedient to make the bill apply to the product of 1867. Mr. Brooks moved an amendment abolishing the tax from the date of the passage of the act. No action was had. The report of the Committee on Elections admitting Messrs Beck, Jones, Grover and Knott, of the Kentucky delegation, to their seats was adopted. It is understood that the investigation in the case of Messrs. Brown, Trimble and Young has not been completed.

THE LITTLE CORPORAL, for December, is a capital number. It contains "On the Hearth Rug," "The Great Panjandrum Himself." "Jennie's memory String," a new "Rhyme of Little Red Riding Hood," the conclusion of "Camp Bruce," besides a number of sparkling poems, among which is a perfect gem, by the associate editor, Mrs. Emily Huntingdon Miller, entitled "The Baby's Stocking;" music by Geo F. Root, a letter from Theodore Tilton, and an Editorial describing the beautiful process by which Chromos are made.

A new volume of the Little Corporal begins with the next number. The publisher has determined to continue his offer of the November and December numbers free to all new subscribers received during December. Terms $1 a year. Sample copy free, if sent for before January 1. Address Alfred L. Sewell, publisher of the Little Corporal, Chicago, Ill.

GODEY'S LADY'S BOOK for January is presented to the public in a new and attractive style. There is no magazine published in the United States that expends so much money to gratify the growing taste of the American ladies for everything that is tasteful and useful as the publisher of the Lady's Book. The embellishments in the number now before us consists of the following: New Shoes.—A fine steel engraving. Steel-plate Title-page, containing three pictures of our winter amusements—skating, sledding, and snow-balling. A colored fashion plate, containing six figures. Winter Sports, &c., &c. The Music, Receipt, Cottage and Horticultural departments are still retained in the Book. The Literary department of the number is very good. "Phemie Bowland," by Marian Harland, promises to be the story of the year. "The Decoy Duck," "Life's Contrasts," "Nettie's Sacrifice," "Raking Hay," are all excellent. There is also a New Year's story by Miss Frost, written in her pleasing style An increase of reading matter will also be noticed. It amounts to over twelve pages a month, or nearly two numbers a year. This is without doubt the best number Mr Godey ever issued. Now is the time for clubbing. We have made arrangements with the publisher of this valuable magazine to furnish it and a copy of the Gazette, one year for $4.50.

THE PEN AND PENCIL.—We have received a copy of a little weekly called the "Pen and Pencil," published by T. R. Dawley & Co., 21 Anne street, N. York. It is a nicely gotten up and spicy work. Accompanying this number is a ticket bearing the following inscription:

"$50,000 in greenbacks, returnable to the patrons of "The Pen and Pencil," in sums varying from $10,000 to $1. This Ticket will entitle the holder to participate in the lawful distribution of the funds returnable to patrons of the "Pen and Pencil." It will also admit the bearer to the public hall in which the Awards are to be made. This ticket is not sold, but one is presented gratis to every purchaser of "The Pen and Pencil," or 13 to each quarterly and 52 to each yearly.

LESLIE for December shows decided marks of improvement and renewed energy. Its reading matter comprises much that is useful and amusing and the fashion plates are equal to those published by any other magazine in the country. Independent of the double extension fashion plate given by Leslie every month, there is also enclosed in each number a full size drawing on oil paper, of some portion of a lady's dress. We believe that the fashion plates of Leslie are considered by the Ladies to be the cheapest and neatest to work by, of any published. Address Frank Leslie, New York.

HARPER'S BAZAR.—We have received from the enterprising publishers, Messrs. Harper & Bros., New York, the December number of Harper's Bazar.—This work is gotten up expressly for the ladies, and the plates are executed by the best artists in the country. The publishers of this book have gone to great expense in order to regularly receive the latest fashions and to make it a repository of fashion, pleasure and instruction. Besides the real fashions there may be found many things calculated to amuse, such as burlesques, amusing anecdotes, &c. Price Four Dollars per annum.

☞ It is again reported that Mr. Alexander T. Stewart will soon erect a block of dwellings, to cost $1,000,000, and to be forever the home of the working women of New York. It is not to be an alms house, but a home where women may find food and shelter at prices within their reach, and whatever revenue it may yield is to be employed in the erection of other like institutions. Mr. Stewart, it is also said, has resolved to expend $5,000,000 in the erection of tenement houses on an improved plan, and to devise them to a board of trustees, to be composed of one person of every religious denomination in the city, and to be so rented as to yield a revenue that shall be applied in the construction of other model tenement houses in the city.

"SPOONS,"—This appellation which has been for so long a time applied to Gen. B. F. Butler, we think can now be applied in another direction. We are informed that upon the occasion of the serenade to Col. Bowie, Governor elect, at his home in Prince George's county, on the evening of Monday last, one week ago, a number of silver spoons belonging to the Colonel were abstracted from the supper table by some one present. We do not know, of course, by whom they were taken, but it happened upon an occasion when no doubt Gen: Butler was denounced for the same thing. Democrats let up on Butler. Persons living in glass houses should not throw stones.—Annapolis Gazette.

Another Clergyman Writes as Follows:

"My voyage to Europe is indefinitely postponed. I have discovered the "Fountain of Health" on this side of the Atlantic. Three bottles of Peruvian Syrup have rescued me from the fangs of the fiend Dyspepsia."
