LOCALS.

THE CONVICT LAWRENCE.—Fred. Lawrence, whose case was removed to Caroline county, and recently convicted of the murder of Emeline Handy, was returned to the Easton Jail on Wednesday last, by Sheriff Richardson. He arrived by the 3 o'clock train and when brought in from the depot, he sat in a bending posture, with his head hung.—He had been expected for several days and just before the hour for the arrival of the cars, quite a crowd of both white and black were at the depot. He did not want to be brought back to Easton, but wished to be executed at Denton.—He had such an aversion to returning that he requested the Judge to intercede in order that he might not be executed in his own county. On Wednesday night, after his arrival, it was evident to the Sheriff that he wished to talk to him in reference to the murder and it was the first time he had ever evinced such a disposition. At length he began to speak of the circumstance, when Sheriff Bennett interrupted him by saying that if he wished to make a voluntary statement he would listen to him, but before doing so, he wished to impress upon his mind the importance of telling nothing but the truth. That he had been sentenced to death and referred him to the charge of Judge Wicks, where it says "from man you can expect nothing.—There is another tribunal before which you must appear," and advised him to make preparation for his exit from life to eternity. Lawrence then proceeded to relate the circumstance. He said on the morning of the murder, he had no intention of going to Mr. Wright's, but after having been up Harrison street to a house, where he had some clean clothes, he was passing the garden of Mr. Wright's, where Emeline was when she called to him to know something in reference to his taking one of the children, about which it appears there had been some arrangment made between them when Lawrence got over the garden fence and Emeline and himself went into the kitchen. Emeline told him that the child would be brought down stairs as soon as its sister, an older child, could get it dressed. Lawrence says the axe was lying in the floor near by some kindling wood and he went on his knees and commenced splitting it with one hand and holding on to the wood with the other, when he cut his finger with the axe. When he saw the blood it made him mad and he threw the axe over his head, accidently striking Emeline on the head—causing one of the wounds and that she fell against the stove which caused the other cut. Upon being asked why he did not make this statement before he said he was so frightened that he did not know what to do.

Such a confession has no weight upon the community. From the threats he had made to take her life, and the character and situation of the wound, it is believed that it was a premeditated, old-blooded murder, and we have no doubt that before the day of execution he will make a full confession.

KU-KLUX.—A white man named John Andrews was followed from the Hole-in-the-Wall on Saturday night, by a negro man named John Skinner, who attacked him when near Mr. David Kerr's with a club, and beat him severely. Constable Willis arrested Skinner on Monday, and he was lodged in jail. Andrews knows of no reason for the assault. Had the position of the two been reversed, and Andrews attacked Skinner, it would have been a "terrible Ku-Klux outrage," and the interposition of Congress been imperatively demanded. It is for assaults no worse than this that such a howl has been raised against the South, and that whole section is to be put under the despotism of martial law.—Journal.

We are not aware that the interposition of Congress has ever been requested on account of any assault, murder or attempted murder, in Talbot county—notwithstanding the above assertion. Was the interposition of Congress asked, when a few years ago, a colored man was shot at several times in the street for no cause; was the interposition of Congress asked for when last Christmas was a year, a colored woman was stripped almost naked, her person attempted to be violated and a man who attempted to intercede in her behalf, was knocked down and brutally beaten? If it was, we have never heard of it. In these cases the Journal appears to overlook one fact, and that is, in Talbot county the civil authority has full power to suppress outrages, consequently there is no need of interposition by higher power, while in some of the Southern States the civil authorities either have not the power or the disposition to bring to punishment violators of the law. We would have every man, both white and black, who is corrupting to a community, and bids defiance to law and order, brought to justice and dealt with according to his crimes.

TRUSTEE'S SALE.—Saml. T. Hopkins, Esq., advertises, as Trustee, in this mornings Gazette, that valuable tract of land, in Island Creek Neck, known by the name of "Waverly." It is divided into two farms. The main tract, known by the name of the "Home Place," contains one hundred and fifty acres and farm No. 2, contains ninety-four acres. This tract of land is situated immediately on salt water, in an excellent neighborhood and convenient to schools and churches.

PERSONAL.—Dr. W. Nick Pindell has removed his family to Newark, New Jersey, where he intends to make his future home. Talbot has lost a good citizen and a good physician by the removal of Dr. P. We wish him abundant success and prosperity in his new home, hoping he will find true and warm friends in Newark.—Comet.

VERY MUCH LIKE FEATHERS.—For several days past the atmosphere, hereabouts, has had very much the appearance of a feather bed being emptied from the top of some house, so that the down could be waited by every breeze. This down substance is the blossom blown from the Silver Leal Poplar, a very fine shade tree, which are very numerous in our town, The substance does not stick to the clothes like feathers do, but in appearance it resembles them very much. In some parts of Washington street the ground is almost covered and at a distance looks like snow.

THE A. M. E. CONFERENCE,—The Baltimore Conference of the A. M. E. Church will hold its session in the Bethel Church, Easton, on Wednesday next, the 26th inst. Bishop Wayman will preside, and will continue in session for several days. The Town Hall has been secured for the purpose of holding service there on Sunday, the 30th, owing to the limited dimensions of the Church. In the morning it is expected that the Bishop will preach at 11 o'clock, In the afternoon at 3 and in the evening at 7 o'clock, there will also be preaching in the same room.

ANOTHER IMPROVEMENT.—The Masonic Order of Easton, have in contemplation the erection of a new Hall. They have entered into it with great earnestness and zeal, and we have no doubt it will be accomplished. They desire to erect an edifice that will be both creditable to the order and the town. As yet, we believe, no plan has been matured or site located, but arrangements are being vigorously pushed forward whereby funds may be secured to put the enterprise on a permanent basis. We hope success may attend them in their efforts.

CADET APPOINTMENT.—Hon. Samuel Hambleton, Representative of the First District of this State, has nominated Wm. Collins, Jr., son of William Collins, of Trappe district, of Talbot county, as a cadet at the Military Academy at West Point, from the first congressional district, to report at the academy in June, 1872.

A TRIP OVER THE PACIFIC RAIL ROAD.—Col. Saml. Hambleton, took his leave on Wednesday last, for a trip over the Pacific Rail Road, to California, in company with Dr. N. Pinkney, of the U. S. Navy. The Colonel will be absent until about the middle of May. A number of his friends went to the depot to see him take his departure.

A FINE SHOWER.—On Thursday morning last, both the animal and vegetable kingdoms were made glad by the falling of a fine shower of rain. Previous to that it was quite dusty and the growing crops were suffering.

TWO FROM ONE.—Mr. Thomas F. Bridges, of Broad Creek Neck, informs us that he has two goslings hatched from one egg, and both living. This is something unusual to have a double yolk egg hatch out two seperate fowls.—Comet.

OPEN AND READY FOR BUSINESS.—The new hardware store of Messrs. Ford & Dawson, one door South of Jump & Co's., is supplied with a fine stock and their goods are open to the inspection of purchasers, ☞ MESSRS. NICOLS & TAYLOR, opposite the Brick Hotel, have just received a new addition to their already large supply of Hardware. Their stock is now very large.

FIRST OF THE SEASON.—It has already been announced that a Camp-Meeting will be held at Ennell's Spring, Dorchester county, in July next, to commence on the 28th of that month.
