This house has been worked over and adapted to the needs of the times ~~[illegible]~~ over and over again. This small farmhouse, nearly square, three bays by three, is 2½ stories high. It faces north, with a small porch at the west.

Windows, six lights over six, are set unevenly in the wall upstairs, suggesting construction added at different dates. The dormer window is six over six with side lights, narrow, two over two. Walls have modern aluminum clapboard over several layers of frame construction judging from the apparent bulge around the window frames of wall covering.

One small square chimney, tall, rises from the west wall.
