DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (If known) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This rather plain center-hall brick house had a series of alterations in the Victorian era, including bracketted eaves at the end walls, a bowed bay window and solid-frame window sashes, downstairs only.

3 bays by 2, 2 stories, L shaped. The house faces west with the roof ridgeline running north-south, the wing running east along the north wall. Window framing is simple with two half-fan windows in the gable on either side of chimneys rising from heating fireplaces on each floor.

The Victorian elements include a peaked roof with a low pitch, altered perhaps when the roof may have been changed to slate.

Classical elements, retained perhaps from the original house, are the rather heavy dentellated cornice repeated at the front of the one-story porch at the top of heavy square tapered columns.
