BUNGALOW (Higgins Bungalow. Hickory Ridge Road, Chaney)
Lyons Creek 1920's
Private

Bungalows were a popular style of house in Calvert County during the 1920's. There were different types of bungalows, and this house is an example of one popular variety with its square plan and hipped roof.

The whimsical, but nevertheless attractive ballustrade is not a common feature.

Its location on Route 4 makes it one of the first houses one sees upon entering the county. It is only a short distance from Drury House (CLVT-1) and the two together suggest the full range of historically important styles that exist throughout the county.
