Why the Governor Will Send Troops to Lunenburg.

Richmond. Va, Oct. 23.—Governor O'Ferrall was approached by a reporter this morning and asked to give his reasons for ordering a military escort to Lunenburg for the convicted negro murders of Mrs. Pollard who are to be removed from the city jail next month. The Governor replied that his reason for sending the military to Lunenburg is the same now as when he sent soldiers there before at the request of the judge, the Commonwealth's attorney and the sheriff. "I regard the situation in Lunenburg respecting these negroes the same now as then," he said, "and I am determined to guard against probable violence. There has occured no lynching in Virginia since I have been Governor of the State, and there will not be any if I can prevent it with troops" His excellency said that he was perfectly satisfied that feeling continues very bitter in the county toward the convicted negroes, and that this feeling would be heightened in the event that a new trial should be granted by the Supreme Court.

DEATH OF A PROMINENT YOUNG MAN AT CHURCHFIELD.

This community was hocked and grieved by the death of Mr. John Scott, who departed this life, Oct. 22. The disease was ill but a few days and before many were aware of his illness the grim monster death had [illegible] and robbed us of one of [illegible] gentlest gems. Mr. Scott was a specially distinguished young man, of noble [illegible]shed, irreproachable character. He was distinguished by intelligent thought, by intensity of feeling. His mind was open to all intellectual [illegible] neither love nor glory, neither [illegible] of the earth nor the [illegible] heaven could dispel it. His [illegible] in the noble language of [illegible] Grey poet,

"A land of darkness
as darkness itself,
And where the light would irresistably gush thro."

All the portraits of him are singular ly characteristic. We can scarcely realize that he is no more. We are transported back a few weeks and can almost fancy that we hear his cheerful voice in our midst. His thoughts resemble those celestial flowers which the Virgin Martyr of Massinger sent down from the garden of Paradise to the earth, distinguished by their miraculous efficacy to do right, to elevate and to purify. His [illegible] enriched our literature. The [illegible]

NEWS NOTES.

Rev. T. G. Henston, pastor of Bladensburg Baptist church preached for the Tribe of Judah at Sharon Baptist church last Wednesday night

A night school was begun last Wednesday night in St. Peter Clavers Parochial school, Carey street above Presstman.

At John Wesley M. E. church last Sunday night the congregation which was very large, rose up enmasse at the soggestion of one of the leaders and protested against the slanders published on the colored people of this city and state in the Morning Herald.

Rev. I. F. Aldridge. pastor of Allen A. M. E. church, is engaged in delivering special sermons to his congregation. The service at each meeting are very interesting.

Our reporter dropped in the office of the Ancient Benevolent Order of Esdras and found Worthy Shepherd Geo. B. Mills busy looking over his mail, which was very large. In answer to questions, he said; "the order is in good condition. Over 900 persons have joined within the past year and are joining at the rate of 15 and 20 per day." The order already numbers over 3000 strong. One of the peculiar and popular branches of this order is the E. class, which admits to membership those who do not wish to be initiated.
