more, to keep on his slaughter-house premises, to run at large thereon, only such number of hogs as may be deemed requisite for the purpose set forth in said Section 91.

The permit in the present case calls for a "hog pen and storage room", and it does not seem to me that such use of the proposed building is authorized by the above ordinances. If the permit is approved in its present form, it will authorize the applicant to keep hogs on his premises without any restrictions; whereas it is only lawful to keep them under the conditions prescribed by the ordinances. As the case now stands, therefore, I do not think that the permit should be endorsed by the Health Commissioner. Of course, if the applicant brings himself within the required conditions, he is entitled to a permit.

I enclose the papers, together with the permit, which Dr. Bosley asks to be returned to him.

Very truly yours,
(Signed) Albert C. Ritchie,
Third Assistant City Solicitor.

File No. 474.

LAW DEPARTMENT.

Baltimore, December 4, 1903.

James Bosley, M. D.,
Commissioner of Health.

Dear Sir:-

Referring to your favor of the 2nd inst., to me with regard to a permit, to construct a building for the purpose of using it as a hog-pen and storage room on the premises No. 722 north Chester Street, I enclose herewith a letter dated the 4th inst. from Mr. Ritchie, the Third Assistant City Solicitor, in which he reports to me his conclusions, after a careful examination of the questions involved.

Mr. Ritchie's conclusions meet with my approval.

Truly yours,
(Signed) W. Cabell Bruce,
City Solicitor.
