Dr. Hull's Truss

For the relief and cure of Hernia, or Rupture.

Dr. AMOS G HULL, having witnessed, during twenty five years practice in Surgery, the distress and misery attending the disease of Rupture, and the fatal consequences frequently incident to it, and being convinced that the unhappy effects were generally the result of badly constructed Trusses or the neglect to use any, was prompted from feelings of professional duty, and an anxious desire to witness a more effectual remedy, to devote a share of his time to the construction of an instrument for that purpose. He is now satisfied that he has brought into successful operation a Truss, constructed on a new principle and adapted to all cases of Rupture in both sexes; always, without an exception, fulfilling the indication of confining or keeping up the bowel, and often, especially in young persons and recent cases, effecting a permanent cure.

Let it be observed that the pad of this truss, instead of being convex like that of all other Trusses, is slightly concave, like the open palm of the hand This pad being placed over the rupture and the spring of the truss exerting its power upon the centre of it, the strong pressure is made by its circular margin, around the rupture opening and a diminished pressure by its centre It thereby not only prevents the escape of the bowel, but approximates, and often unites the ruptured part so as to effect a radical cure of the complaint.

The following testimonials in its favour, are submitted to the public.

Extract from the second edition of "Thatcher's Modern Practice of Physic," Boston 1826.

"A great variety of Trusses, formed on different principles, have been from time to time, introduced to public notice; but with one exception it may be asserted, that they have been found altogether deficient in those just principles upon which such instruments ought to be formed. It is within a few years that a Truss has been invented by Dr. A G Hull, a respectable Physician and Surgeon of New York, and late President of the Oneida Medical Society, which is incomparably superior in its principles and properties to any of those previously in use. Dr Hull is exclusively entitled to the credit of first adapting the true surgical principle for the radical cure of Hernia He happily conceived the idea that the pad of the Truss should be so constructed as simply to support the muscular fibres around the ring or aperture as much as possible, in the state in which they are maintained in perfect health. Unless this be attained the parts can never recover their natural tone, whatever may be the degree of pressure applied"

Valentine Mott, M D Professor of Surgery in the University of New York, deposes:

"The great and signal benefits which are produced by this Truss, result from its strict subservance to, and accordance with Scientific and Surgical principles. Its mechanical adaptation to the parts, the simplicity of its construction the limited motion nicely graduated by experiment, to the different attitudes of the body, and to the action of the muscles; the permanency of its location on the body, and its pressure on the circumference of the abdominal ring, are qualities, the tendency of which is to strengthen and restore the weakened parts, to contract the aperture, and ultimately to accomplish a cure of the disease.

"The operation and effects of this Truss is therefore directly the reverse of all Trusses heretofore in use; which being convex tended ts enlarge the dimensions of the rupture opening." "I have adopted it in my own practice to the exclusion of all others and am of opinion that the union of physical design and mechanical structure in this instrument render it what has long been the desideratum of practical surgeons in Europe and America.

T. W Hunter, M. D. of N. York deposes as follows, "In two very interesting cases of Scrotal Hernia (which is the worst and most difficult kind) that came under my care, it was worn with perfect comfort, and effected a complete cure of both in less than twelve months. This Truss is approved of by the most eminent Surgeons in the United States and Europe, particularly by the celebrated Sir Astley Cooper, of London.

Joseph Evans, late of Philadelphia, Leather Merchant deposes as follows.

"Having been ruptured about seven years ago, I applied to Dr. Hull, in person, who furnished me with one of his Trusses, and after wearing it about six months, I found myself entirely cured, so much so that I can walk about with safety, without wearing the Truss; and in my opinion it is one of the greatest improvements and blessings to mankind that is known.

Extract from the Medical Review and Journal, conducted by Professors Eberle and M Clellan, Philadelphia,

"We have applied Dr. Hull's Trusses upon eight different patients, two of which were affected with Double Scrotal Hernia, and the results of our experience have been so satisfactory that we cannot avoid offering our testimony in favour of the new Truss, which we consider as altogether the best that we have as yet been made acquainted with."

N. B. Dr. Hull's Trusses adapted to the different species of rupture, to which males, females and children are subject, are kept at the office of Dr KNAPP, No. 37 East Fayette street, opposite the First Presbyterian Church who will attend to their application, &c, and where those labouring under this disease are invited to call. Persons residing at a distance can be fitted by sending a measure of the body near the hip. Orders from Country Physicians and Druggists, will be duly attended to.

PROPOSAL

FOR PRINTING

The Journals of the Conventions of the Province of Maryland,

Held in the City of Annapolis, in the years 1774, 1775 and 1776.

IF Sufficient encouragement be offered, the Subscriber proposes to publish, in one volume octavo, the Journals of the Conventions of the Province of Maryland in the years 1774, '5 and '6. It is believed that there are not more than two copies of these Journals now extant; and from the circumstance that they were printed in pamphlet form, and unbound, it may be fairly concluded that they, too, must in a few years be destroyed by the mere decay of time. These Journals are the only authentic evidence of the Political History of Maryland, during that interesting and unquiet period. Although we have, in abundance, histories of Maryland, as connected with the association of Provinces and Colonies, at that time formed, for mutual protection against the improper assumption of power on the part of the Mother Country, yet none of these works embrace what may be termed its Domestic and Internal Political History.

This part of the history of Maryland it should be her pride to hand down to posterity, not only on account of its deep interest, but as a public State Record of the voluntary sacrifices, daring spirit, and determined resolution, of her citizens, during this period of doubt and dismay.

In the confident expectation that the citizens of Maryland will consider the proposed publication of sufficient importance to entitle it to their patronage, the Subscriber is induced to issue these proposals.

The Price per Copy, not to exceed $2 00. J. GREEN.

DECISIONS

OF THE

Court of Appeals of Maryland.

PUBLISHED

By Subscription.

THE DECISIONS

OF THE

COURT OF APPEALS OF MARYLAND,

To be Reported by Thomas Harris, Esquire, Clerk of the Court of Appeals, and Reverdy Johnson, Esquire, Attorney at Law.

These Decisions will form a continuation of the first volume of Reports already published by Messrs Harris and Johnson, which closes with the year 1805. It is proposed to publish the Decisions in a Series of Numbers, each to contain not less than one hundred and twenty five pages, and four numbers to constitute a volume. The last number of each volume will contain a full and complete Index. This mode of publication, it is conceived, possesses advantages which give it a decided preference to that of publishing the Reports in bulky volumes. It ensures the earlier publication of the Reports, and as not more than four numbers will be published in a year, the expense will not be so sensibly felt.

TERMS

The price of each number of the Reports will be $1 25, payable on delivery.

 Subscriptions to the above work are received at GEO SHAW'S Store, the Maryland Gazette Office, and the respective Offices of the County Clerks of this State.

To the Public.

From the very generous support I received from my friends and fellow citizens, at the last election for Sheriff of Anne-Arundel county, I am induced to offer myself a Candidate at the ensuing election, and solicit the suffrage of those friends, and the public, who so zealously and actively, used their exertions towards me. Should I be the choice of the people, nothing shall be wanting on my part to give general satisfaction.

GENERAL WASHINGTON.

Life, Habits, and manners—Anecdotes.

From the Curtis Recollections and Private Memoirs of Washington.

The public days of the First President of the United States, were two each week. On Tuesday from three to four o'clock, a levee was held for Foreign Ministers, strangers, and others, who could there be presented to the Chief Magistrate, without the formality of letters of introduction. It was, indeed, more an arrangement of mutual convenience to the parties, than an affair of State; still it was objected to by some at that time of day, as savoring too of monarchical etiquette, than of the simpler customs which should distinguish a Republic. Who thinks of it now? In truth, the First President was so occupied with the multiplicity of public concerns, attendant on the outset of a new Government, that it became necessary to limit the time of visitors of mere ceremony, as much as possible; and the levee enabled all such persons to pay their respects within the moderate compass of an hour. The world is always governed in a considerable degree by form and usage. There never lived a man more averse to show and pomp than Washington. Plain in his habits, there was none to whom the details of official parade and ceremony could be less desirable; but correct in all his varied stations of life, the days of the First Presidency will ever appear as among the most dignified and imposing in our country's annals.

On Thursday the President gave his congressional and Diplomatic dinners; and on Friday night Mrs. Washington received company at what was then, and is still, called the Drawing Room.

The President attended Mrs. Washington's evening parties, and paid his compliments to the circle of ladies, with that ease and elegance of manners for which he was remarkable. Among the most polished and well bred gentlemen of his time, he was always particularly polite to ladies, even in the rugged scenes of war; and, in advanced age, many were the youthful swains who sighed for those gracious smiles with which the Fair always received the attentions of this old beau of 65.

An interesting class of persons were to be found at the side of the chief, on both his public and private days, who gave a feeling and character to every scene, and threw a charm over very many of the assoctations of more than thirty years ago. We mean the patriots and heroes of the revolution.

Among the finest recollections of those gone-by days, were the anniversary of Independence, when the grey haired brethren of the Cincinnati, assembled around their illustrious President General, many of them seamed with scars, and all bearing the badge of the most honoured association upon Earth. These venerated forms are now rarely to be seen, and soon will be seen no more; but, like Ossian's shadowy heroes, they will appear through the mists of Time, and their heroic lives and actions will inspire the Bards of Liberty, while Liberty exists to bless mankind.

Notwithstanding his great occupation in public affairs, the First President by no means neglected his private concerns. He was in the habit of receiving regular and lengthy reports from the agents of his estates in Virginia, and directed by letter the management of these extensive establishments, with both consum-
