prevent him from receiving the debt due to him as aforesaid, that except what could be raised from the said property he had no means left to discharge his debts — He also states that since the conveyance to the aforesaid Susannah Greenfield, the woman aforesaid has been delivered by her of children, who have been supported by her who hath also derived considerable profit from their labour and services; that the said negro woman has since ~~since~~ the conveyance had other children, who are also supported by the said Greenfield —

Your complainant states that if the said conveyances were not made without any consideration, yet that the sum of money or price agreed to be given for the property was never paid, or if paid; that the payment was made after the judgment aforesaid was obtained, and after the encumbrances ~~of the said George~~ P. Greenfield had become disputate, when he might have been induced to accept in lieu of the money agreed to be given for the property a less sum than originally contracted for. But your complainant is advised that the property so conveyed was if not fraudulent at the time was bound by the judgment to the extent of the buckhead money then due, and that a payment made thereafter to Greenfield is void —

* For consideration whereof, and as there can be no relief except in this court where cases of this nature are cognizable and to the end that the said John Penie and Susannah Greenfield may on oath fully true and perfect answers make to all and singular the premises as if again repeated, and more especially that they and each of them may state whether the said George P. Greenfield did not convey property to them and what property? when was the conveyance executed? what was the consideration for the same or what was the bargain with said George P. Greenfield? was the money paid at the date of the conveyance or was a bond given for the purchase money? or was the money paid before the conveyance? or when was it paid? how was it paid and with what? did he not pay in Tobacco at what price and on what terms? May it please your honors to issue a subpoena to said John Penie, Susannah Greenfield, Betty Wailes, William Cottrell & Martha his wife and Charles Nesbitt to be directed to the Sheriff of Mercer County commanding them to appear and answer the premises; and that you will order the said property to be sold or a part thereof and the
