THE SENTINEL.

Account of the Battle of Roanoke by an Eye-Witness.

A Confederate officer furnishes the Richmond Enquirer with the following account of the battle at Roanoke Island:

The advance forces of the enemy, consisting of twenty-two large steamers and one tug-boat, began the attack upon the island at half-past ten o'clock on Friday morning. The battle continued throughout the day, and whenever our steamers drew near to lend assistance, the whole of the enemy's flotilla, excepting three in shore, concentrated their fire upon them. About four o'clock in the afternoon the steamer Curlew was disabled by a shell from the enemy, and was compelled to make for shoal water where she sunk.

During the cannonading the enemy were busily employed in landing their forces below Pork Point battery. Two of their steamers ran into a slough in the neighborhood, and succeeded in covering their landing. The enemy continued the attack until about dark, when they withdrew.

A little after four o'clock the ammunition of our squadron getting short, an application was made for a supply to the upper battery, but the commanding officer could spare only about ten charges. As it was essential that ammunition should be had, and as there was no more to be obtained from the batteries, a steamer was sent to the upper batteries with a dispatch to the officer in command informing him that the fleet was without ammunition, and that it would repair to Elizabeth city—thirty miles distant—for the purpose of obtaining a supply, and that it would return without delay. Previous to leaving, information was received by the fleet from Capt. Taylor, of the navy, who had been at Pork Point battery during the day, that they only had one killed and three wounded, and there was every reason to believe that they would be able to hold out if the rear of the batteries was not turned.

The fleet reached Elizabeth City on Saturday morning, and finding very little ammunition there, sent an express to Norfolk for it. On Saturday afternoon, having put all the ammunition and fuel which could be obtained on board the Sea Bird and Appomattox, these two steamers were sent forward to Roanoke Island. On arriving at the mouth of the river they met a boat, and learned from it that the Island had been surrendered, and shortly afterward discovered five of the enemy's gunboats standing for Pasquotank river. They returned immediately to the battery at Cobb's Point, about a mile and a half below Elizabeth City, and, after sending an express to General Henningsen, distributed all the ammunition among four steamers and a schoonter. A company had been detailed the day previous for duty at this battery, and the object of the fleet was to co-operate with them.

Shortly after daylight the enemy appeared in sight, and a messenger was sent from the fleet to ascertain the condition of the battery. Finding only seven men there, and supposing that the enemy would first attack the battery, the officers and crew of the Beaufort were sent ashore to man two of the guns—these being as many as they had ammunition to supply. The Beaufort was sent to the mouth of the canal, where the Raleigh had been previously sent.

Instructions were given by the Commodore to the commanding officers of all vessels that, when all means of resistance failed, and they found themselves unable to escape, they should run into shoal water, set them on fire and save their crews.

The action commenced at forty-five minutes past seven in the morning, and resulted in the enemy passing the battery and overwhelming the Sea Bird and Alice. The last mentioned vessels were the only ones known to have fallen into the hands of the enemy. The Fanny was burned by her commander, and the Appomattox is believed to have escaped up the river. The Forrest was on the ways at Elizabeth City, repairing damages, and if the information we received yesterday be correct, she too was burned to prevent her falling into the hands of the enemy. As far as known there were only six killed and three wounded among the entire naval force which we had in the action.

We omitted to mention that the guns at Cobb's battery were all spiked before being possessed by the enemy.

CONFEDERATES KILLED AND WOUNDED.

The Norfolk Day Book says: Our total loss during the battle of Roanoke Island was eight killed and 80 wounded. There were 2,500 prisoners of ours taken by the Federals, who are to be paroled for exchange immediately, and will return from Roanoak Island. The Federals confess to a loss of three hundred killed, among them two of their principal Colonels and other prominent officers, and one thousand wounded.

HEALTH OF THE POPE.—The following letter from Rome, of the 25th ultimo, contains the particulars of the Pope's late illness:

"The Holy Father has been slightly indisposed." It was on Wednesday morning last that he felt himself unwell. His physicians then persuaded him to keep his bed. In the afternoon he had a slight fever, caused by a sore, the consequence of erysipelas in the leg. The fever continued until yesterday, when it abated, and he was enabled to quit his bed. This morning he gave audience, as usual, to all his ministers and other persons. The Pope is seventy years of age, and his health requires great care. The sore on his leg becomes irritable from time to time, and fever then ensues.

Peace Resolutions of the Maryland Legislature.

JUNE SESSION, 1861.

WHEREAS, in the judgment of the General Assembly of Maryland, the war now waged by the Government of the United States upon the people of the Confederate States, is unconstitutional in its origin, purposes and conduct; repugnant to civilization and sound policy; subversive of the free principles upon which Federal Union was founded, and certain to result in the hopeless and bloody overthrow of our existing institutions; and

WHEREAS, the people of Maryland, while recognizing the obligation of their State, as a member of the Union, to submit in good faith to the exercise of all the legal and constitutional powers of the General Government; and to join as one man in fighting its authorized battles, do reverence, nevertheless, the great American principle of self-government, and sympathize deeply with their Southern brethren in their noble and manly determination to uphold and defend the same; and

WHEREAS, not merely on their own account and to turn away from their own soil the calamities of civil war, but for the blessed sake of humanity, and to avoid the wanton shedding of fraternal blood, in a miserable contest which can bring nothing with it but sorrow, shame and desolation, the people of Maryland are enlisted, with their whole hearts, on the side of reconciliation and peace; now, therefore, it is hereby

Resolved by the General Assembly of Maryland, That the State of Maryland owes it to her own self-respect and her respect for the constitution, not less than to her deepest and most honorable sympathies, to register this her solemn protest against the war which the Federal Government has declared upon the Confederate States of the South, and our sister and neighbor, Virginia, and to announce her resolute determination to have no part or lot, directly or indirectly, in its prosecution;

Resolved, That the State of Maryland earnestly and anxiously desires the restoration of peace between the belligerent sections of the country, and the President, authorities and people of the Confederate States, having, over and over again, officially and unofficially, declared that they are willing to throw down the sword, the instant that the sword now drawn against them shall be sheathed, the Senators and Delegates of Maryland do beseech and implore the President of the United States to accept the olive branch which is thus held out to him; and, in the name of God and humanity, to cease this odious and most wretched and unprofitable strife, at least until the assembling of Congress in Washington shall have given time for the prevalence of cooler and better counsels.

Resolved, That the State of Maryland desires the peaceful and immediate recognition of the independence of the Confederate States, and hereby gives her cordial assent thereunto, as a member of the Union—entertaining the profound conviction that the willing return of the Southern people to their former Federal relations is a thing beyond hope, and that the attempt to coerce them will only add slaughter and hate to impossibility.

Resolved, That the present military occupation of Maryland, being for purposes in the opinion of this Legislature, in flagrant violation of the Constitution, the General Assembly of the State, in the name of her people, does hereby protest against the same, and against the oppressive restrictions and illegalities with which it is attended; calling upon all good citizens, at the same time, and in the most earnest and authoritative manner, to abstain from all violent and unlawful interference, of every sort, with the troops in transit through our territory or quartered among us, and patiently and peacefully to leave to time and reason the ultimate and certain re-establishment and vindication of the rights of Maryland, as it is inexpedient to call a Sovereign convention of the State at this time, or to take any measure for the immediate organization or arming of the militia.

Into this comprehensive space, the Code, into which is incorporated the Acts of the last Legislature, collects and digests the Public Laws passed at the January Session of 1860, with an abstract of and well classified index to each Article and Section, [illegible] matter by unfamiliar with the subject of law, may easily become the [illegible] in regard to the Laws [illegible]

In order to render the work in every respect useful to Purchasers, we have made arrangements to issue in Pamphlet Form, uniform with the present volumes of the Code, the ACTS of each Future Session of the LEGISLATURE. By this means the purchasers of the Code will be enabled to possess all the Legislation of the State, in regular order, at a very moderate price.

Mr. Trail—The specimens of soap you gave me, I caused to be thoroughly tried, and found them to be all you represented. I have never seen any soaps to equal them, both for their superior quality, and for the great economy there is in using them. I cheerfully recommend them to the public. A. F. BOSWELL.

THE SENTINEL

ROCKVILLE, MD.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 21, 186[illegible]

IMPORTANT BILL.—An important bill was reported in the House of Delegates of Maryland, on Wednesday, the 19th instant, to provide ways and means for the defense of the State, by raising an amount sufficient to pay the State proportion of the United States direct tax. It proposes to issue $2,500,000 of State stock, for a loan to be called "The Maryland Defense Loan," bearing six per cent. interest, payable semi-annually, and redeemable at the pleasure of the State; one million and a quarter of said stock to be reserved for the investment of the interest accruing on the sinking fund of the State. The bill proposes to lay an additional direct tax of fifteen cents on every hundred dollars' worth of assessable property in the State, to be pledged for the payment of the loan.

☞ An order was issued by the War Department, on Friday last, releasing the political prisoners now incarcerated at Fort Warren and elsewhere, on their subscribing to a parole, engaging themselves to render no aid or comfort to persons in hostility to the United States. This order applies to all persons under arrest except those held as spies, and others whose release, at the present time, would be deemed incompatible with the safety of the Federal government. To all persons who shall be released under this order, and keep their parole, the President promises to grant an amnesty for all past disloyal or treasonable offences. Extraordinary arrests are hereafter to be made only by the military authorities.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.—In the House, on Friday last, passed the Senate appropriation bill, with amendments, appropriating $15,000,000 for building gunboats for the navy, and $1,000,000 for the increase of the manufacture of guns at the Washington navy yard. The Senate passed a bill providing for the appointment of a warden of the jail of the District of Columbia. The appointment is to be made by the President, and confirmed by the Senate.

☞ "Ion," the Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun, under date of the 19th instant, writes:

"The House will become again involved in a discussion of the great financial measure of the session, for the report of the committee on ways and means disagreeing to nearly all the Senate amendments to the treasury note bill reopens the whole question. The House committee will neither accept the provision fixing interest on the public debt in lieu of the provision for setting aside certain revenue as a sinking fund, which is the considerations that induced the Senate to yield to the legal tender clause.

FROM MISSOURI.—A dispatch from Missouri, states that the Confederates under Price, had reached Cane Hill, twenty-five miles distant from Springfield, and that the Federal troops, under General Siegel, were in close pursuit. It is said that Price expected to be reinforced by twelve or fifteen regiments under General Van Dorn, when, if not earlier intercepted, he would turn upon his pursuers and offer battle.

THE CASE OF GEN. STONE.—Some of the Boston papers ask that Gen. Stone, now under arrest, shall be tried at a speedy trial. The Boston Courier says: "Gen. Stone is well known and highly respected for an upright, honorable and magnanimous gentleman, and people will be slow to believe him guilty in the present case, and will believe it at all until they see the evidence."

☞ It is reported from Washington that the Territorial Committee of the Houses of Congress have nearly agreed a bill for the future government of what was once the States of the West. It is much more radical and broad in its scope than the bill introduced by Mr. Harris. It proposes to annul the Missouri law of the seceded States, and treat them as free territories, ignoring entirely the institution of slavery.

ARRESTED.—Mr. SAMUEL A. MAGRUDER, for some time past engaged in the Potomac, was arrested on Sunday night by the Provost Guard of this place, and taken to their quarters, at the Grounds, where he remained until yesterday, when he was released.

☞ The general impression that a few of the shad and herring fishermen on the Potomac will be worked during the coming spring, and therefore other places of supply will attract attention.

"ROUY" shall appear next week, but reached us too late for to-day's issue.
