To an Impartial Public.
VARIOUS reports having been spread to the detriment of my character, tending to make an impartial public believe of my being concerned in the failure of Charles Mornewick—I hereby declare that I never was, nor am at present in the most distant connection with him, neither have I had any thing belonging to him in my possession. The furniture in the Hanseatick Hotel is my sole property, and the business carried on by me is for my only account. Whoever should doubt this assertion will please to call on Mr. Peter Arn Karthaus, Merchant of this place, who will fully convince them thereof—I flatter myself to give entire satisfaction to those who favor me with their patronage, by a prompt attention to the fulfilment of their wishes, and by the moderation of my charges.

Insurances upon Lives
BY THE
PELICAN LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY,
OF LONDON.
THE Pelican Life Insurance Company, of London, was established in the year 1797, by a numerous and respectable proprietary, upon an extensive capital, vested in the public funds, with the additional responsibility of every individual proprietor. The board of directors, in consequence of repeated applications on the subject, having determined to extend their engagements to the continent of America, deem it proper briefly to suggest to the minds of the public, the numerous and important benefits resulting from such an institution to every rank and class of society.

Persons in the receipt of income arising from estates dependent upon life—profits in business—offices, civil or military—by the yearly payment of a moderate premium, may secure at their death an adequate provision for their families, relations, or friends.—Fines payable on leases renewable at the death of particular persons, may be provided for by insuring the lives of such persons. Insurance affords the means of reimbursement to those who advance money upon life-annuities, and in many cases furnishes ample security for the loan of money. Persons entitled to property in expectancy or reversion, or upon attaining a given age, may secure an enquivalent, in case their interests should be affected by premature death. In a variety of other instances, and most peculiarly as applicable to persons engaged in commercial pursuits, or in the enjoyment of casual income, this valuable precaution will establish a resource to which families may look with confidence and security, and by which the distresses too often attendant upon human life, may be alleviated or effectually prevented.

The rates of premium for such insurances will be rendered as moderate as possible, and in every instance proportioned to the age, health, and other circumstances of the life assured.

The terms will be made known on application at the Phoenix Fire Office, in Second-street.
