Baltimore's Best Store Offers Absolute Security with Every Purchase

Whatever you buy at Baltimore's Best Store is returnable, within reasonable time, for refund or exchange, if you are not entirely satisfied with it.

This is not new. It was part of our policy when this store opened, nearly eighteen years ago, and it has been carried into effect every business day ever since.

It is this which makes this store an especially pleasant place to deal with by mail. With the best intentions in the world, you may order something and find that it is not what you want, or we may send you something which, upon examination, you find is not fully satisfactory. It is good to know that you are dealing with a store that "money backs" its goods without question or argument.

For the Children

A Fair Little Maiden In Costume of Long Ago

Every year in Brooklyn, now a part of the city of New York, a Sunday school parade is held. It is a very large affair, about [illegible] children taking part this year. For such an immense number to take part in one procession is of course impossible. The city is divided into districts and in each district the children of the Sunday schools have their day for that day. The parade or walk is accompanied by bands of music and fife and drum corps and the little folks enjoy themselves hugely. After the walk the paraders are regaled with ice cream and cake at the various churches to which the Sunday schools belong. Sometimes the participants appear in costumes of various periods of history and very pretty they look. The girl in the picture is dressed in the apparel of the old colonial times, before the United States were organized into a separate and free government.

The Snapping Turtle

As the snapping turtle is by far the largest of the fresh water tortoises, often attaining a diameter of two feet and a weight of 50 pounds, he is no mean antagonist. A single snap of his horny jaws will sometimes remove a finger or a toe, so it is well to beware of him, says St. Nicholas.

As might be expected from his nature and armament, the snapping turtle does not live exclusively upon plant life, as do other members of his family, but displays great fondness for a meat diet. Young ducks, frogs, fish and muskrats are all dainties to be added upon occasion to his bill of fare. While he is capable of some speed in the water, his favorite method of hunting seems to be to lie quietly with his victim comes within reach, and then with a lightning-like dart of his long neck seize his prospective dinner. He varies this in the case of ducks and other water fowl, by rising silently beneath them, a snap of the long jaws, or egg of wing, a despairing flutter in the water, and the luckless bird is dragged beneath the surface to be speedily drowned and eaten at leisure.

Advice to Swimmers

Everyone knows enough not to go in swimming right after a meal. Most boys know enough to wait an hour after a good meal, and longer after a particularly hearty one. But not all of them know enough not to go into the water while they are overheated. If you have been playing baseball or tennis, don't throw off your clothes and plunge into the lake as a severe cool off is apt to result. Wait a bit, flounce to cool off and then undress slowly and take your swim.

Word Puzzle

I am a word of two letters. My first letter represents that which is dearer to me than house or lands. My second letter is the name of an article that cheers my life and adds to my enjoyment. My whole is the most definite and the most indefinite word in the English language which may apply to anything in the universe and yet can designate only a single thing.

Answer: I tea it.

The Butterfly

Dainty little butterfly,
Where are you flying?
Back and forth and high and low,
Flight's course defying.

Pray, can I tell how you gleam
Like a flash of yellow,
Fluttering you a while seem
But a lucky fellow.

Morning, noon and even-tide,
Rest is not the fellow
Like a roving errant knight
Haunting beauty's bower.

Stealing sweets from every one,
And with jollie jaunty
Fleeing after love's sweet
To another mansion.

Pickle gay in summer time,
Where are you I wonder
When the merry sleigh bells chime?
Fast in deepest slumber.
