School cookies sparked Mrs. Stocks' interest

By LULU JONES GARRETT

BALTIMORE — Mrs. Mae Ellen Stocks is a very young homemaker . . . still in her early twenties, but this you'd never guess when it comes to her cooking.

For she has been "dabbling in the kitchen" since she was 13, when she first became interested in the cooking of her school cafeteria. She first tried du-plicating the cookies, served there . . . and from that point went on to become an expert baker.

Because she prefers to bake is no indication that she doesn't cook other items as well, or, as she says "almost as well."

Her "Sweet and Pungent Pork," a Chinese dish, and her "Sweetbreads Baked with Herbs" are among her specialties.

FOR THE PORK dish she uses one and a half pounds of pork shoulder, cubed, two eggs, beaten, a cup of flour, peanut oil, three green peppers, cut in strips, two cups drained canned pineapple chunks.

Also three-fourth cup brown sugar, a cup vinegar, three tablespoons molasses, three tomatoes, peeled and diced, two tablespoons cornstarch, a teaspoon salt and black pepper.

To make: Combine eggs, flour, salt and a fourth cup of water. Add the pork and stir until coated.

Fry pork in two inches of hot oil for three minutes or until golden brown. Drain pork and keep it hot.

Combine green pepper, pineapple, brown sugar, vinegar, molasses, a dash of black pepper and one and a half cups of water.

Bring to boil, stirring constantly. Add tomatoes and simmer for five minutes, stirring occasionally.

Combine cornstarch with a fourth cup cold water, and stir into green pepper mixture. Cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add pork and simmer for 15 minutes.

MRS. STOCKS makes the other dish with three pairs sweetbreads, four tablespoons butter, melted; a half cup chopped onion, a garlic of clove, minced; a half cup diced carrot, a fourth cup chopped parsley, a bay leaf, crumbled; a half teaspoon thyme, two tablespoons dry sherry, a cup beef bouillon, a teaspoon salt.

Pour butter into casserole. Add onion, carrot, parsley, bay leaf and thyme. Bake in a very hot oven (450F) for 15 minutes.

Put sweetbreads on top of mixture. Add sherry, bouillon and salt. Reduce heat to 350 F and bake for 45 minutes, basting occasionally.

MRS. STOCKS is the wife of Oscar O. Stocks. They are parents of a little daughter, 4.

In addition to holding down a job and caring for her household, Mrs. Stocks is taking a secretarial course.

She likes music, especially "sounds" and "jazz," she says. Nat King Cole is her favorite vocalist.

SCHOLARSHIPS have been awarded to three freshmen students who made high scores in a series of competitive examinations in the field of home economics at A & T College, Greensboro, N.C., They are, left to right: Miss Iris Patrick of Winterville, N.C., Miss Alice McDowell and Miss Arthur Mae Winford of Greensboro. They are being congratulated by Mrs. Clara Evans, chairman of the Home-Economics Department of the college.

Avoid holiday hustle, bustle

Why be the victim of needless hustle and bustle during the holidays?

If you're the type of homemaker who declares, "Never again!" at the end of the year, now is the time to turn over a new leaf — not January 1.

DON'T, FOR INSTANCE, let plans for entertaining pile up on you. The holidays are such festive occasions that many issue invitation after invitation, only to realize later that they've tied themselves down too much with kitchen and housecleaning chores.

Get the family into the holiday act, and that doesn't mean merely the fun of trimming the Christmas tree. Children can help out, for instance, on polishing silver—if it's made to seem fun — and on washing glassware and special dishes that have been reserved for joyous occasions.

SPECIAL DIETS, such as the low-fat one recommended for people with some types of heart disease, can be a problem, but don't make a production of feeding such an individual at holidays, or for that matter, any time. A new margarine, Emdee, that lowers blood cholesterol levels, the usual goal of such a diet, is now on the market and can be served as a suitable and tasty table spread for your low-fat diet guests, and for the whole family.

The new product can also be used in baking, cooking and pan frying. It is sold only in drugstores, although it is a food.

HERE'S ANOTHER WAY to simplify your holiday entertaining. Use canned goods where you can — cranberries, for instance, are as good as mother used to make. Keep salads simple. And fall back on your bakery for desserts.

Finally, don't forget about the left-overs! Good planning will of course keep them to a minimum. For the inevitable ones, why not check your cookbook and use them in some tasty new dish the family never heard of.

EASY DOES IT

BY ..... HELEN HOLE

Any gift made or bought, wrapped imaginatively and given with joy, is pleasure for the giver as well as the receiver. See what these can suggest in supplying you your gift list:

For someone who likes salads, why not give a salad bowl, filled with several packaged dressings? Cut green tissue in shreds to fill the bowl, wrap in cellophane and tie the salad fork and spoon to the outside with a sprig of parsley.

Someone with a pet on your list? Get pet foods and toys, wrap each in separate package

COOKING IS FUN

Jack Horner had right idea: a plum to enhance the holiday

By FANNIEJOE REID

No one today is quite sure of the recipe used to prepare Jack Horner's Christmas pie in the nursery rhyme.

But the idea of putting in his thumb and pulling out a plum indicates that his family knew the traditions of Christmas feasting.

TODAY'S HOMEMAKER or chef has an easier life than the cooks of bygone generations, because many of the traditional Christmas foods are in ready to - serve form — or at least ready-for-the - oven condition. You can obtain your mince-meat, brandied hard sauce, plum, fig and date pudding, and fully baked vacuum, or otherwise packaged fruit cake, all ready to serve.

You might add your own touch, sprinkle one of the puddings with brandy and flame, for an exotic holiday dinner.

ONE DAY during the holiday change the tone of your feasting to a lighter, but still festive ending to a meal. Serve a hot fruit soufflé for dessert.

There's really no trick to soufflés, so don't be afraid to try one. It's true that they must be eaten at once when they come from the oven. When served immediately from the baking dish an Apricot Nectar Soufflé is light as a feather and deliciously flavored.

APRICOT NECTAR SOUFFLE is simple to make, too, for apricot whole fruit nectar is ready to use, just as it comes from the can. You start this just like a white sauce, only using nectar instead of milk, and adding sugar. Then egg yolks are stirred in, and stiffly beaten egg whites are folded in last.

Here's the recipe:

You will need: Three tablespoons of butter, a fourth cup sifted all - purpose flour, a fourth cup of sugar, a fourth teaspoon salt, a cup apricot whole fruit nectar, one and a half teaspoons fresh lemon juice and three eggs.

Melt butter and blend in flour, sugar and salt. Add nectar and cook and stir until thickened. Add lemon juice. Separate eggs. Beat whites and yolks separately.

Stir hot mixture into yolks. Fold in whites, mixing until well blended. Pour into casserole and set in pan of hot water. Bake one hour in moderately slow oven (325 degrees F.) Serve at once.

FOR SUMPTUOUS dining at holiday time, serve Turkey Thermidor . . . a heavenly mixture of leftover turkey, mushrooms, cream and mellow-flavored Calavo avocado.

Yes, it's very rich, but it's delectable. Fine-flavored wine

THIS WEEK'S RECIPE

New Orleans Pralines

(Makes 24)

3 cups light brown sugar, packed

1/3 cup water

1/3 cup butter

2 cups pecan halves

Place all ingredients into 3-quart saucepan. Heat over low heat, stirring until sugar dissolves. Attach thermometer, boil slowly, stirring constantly, until it reaches 248 F. Remove from heat. Drop by tablespoonfuls on waxed paper.

and give in an aluminum foil plate, tied with saran wrap and a bright bow.

A hostess? Make a package of paper plates, napkins, tinned spreads, crackers, olives and cheese. Use foil wrapping and place a noisemaker on top.

Beauty conscious teen-ager? Spray with gold a mesh bag such as oranges and grapefruit come in, then decorate it with dime store flowers. Fill this with hair spray, permanent kit, dusting powder, cologne, etc.

Miss Martini

We're back in wonderful romantic mood, beautifully expressed by this Miss Martini styled and sized for the woman who is 5'5" or less. Maintaining a definitely fitted midriff so as not to shorten her proportions, Miss Martini adds further height with a low decolletage swathed with a crushed bias cut drape that extends to the back.

Here it folds over in criss crossed panels attached to the hem of the skirt. The flower detail (to be purchased separately) emphasizes the exceptionally flattering line of the drapery, make a point of the bosom. Choose party fabrics, in stiff silk, shantung rayon weaves and even fancy cottons.

FROM THIS SIZE CHART select the one size best for you.

Sizes	Bust	Waist	Hips	Length From Nape of Neck to Waist

There's nothing more satisfying than giving a gift that you know will be enjoyed.

This is especially true of a beauty-bath box, easily made and which can be tailored to suit the recipient, whether she likes a special scent, or a particular product.

Also, you can assemble a variety of glamorous and amusing bath props and cosmetics and package them in as large or as small a gay box as you wish. You thereby control what you wish to spend for the gift, also.

HERE'S HOW you do it yourself:

Select a box large and deep enough to hold the items you are giving, and cover it with an adhesive-backed vinyl plastic in a dainty pattern. Then add a feminine little ruffle or two of fancy edging. Glue this in place with rubber cement around the lower half of the box or along the bottom edge of the lid.

Fill the box with such delightful items as bubble bath, bath oil or bath salts, fancy soap, body lotion, a giddy little shower cap (if she's a gal who prefers a tub, the cap will come in handy as a hair-do protector).

Tuck in a box of bath powder and a big, fluffy puff, or a pretty mitten filled with sweet-smelling talc. Add a "jewelled" nail brush, a pastel sponge, some toilet water or cologne, a deodorant for daintiness, and — for the height of luxury — a foam rubber pillow that clings to the tub by means of suction and allows the bather to lie back and relax in perfect comfort.

These items, and many others equally appropriate, are available at the cosmetic counters of drug, chain and department stores. A beauty-bath box is fun to assemble, and the recipient is sure to be enchanted!

Suds stainless steel promptly

Stainless steel tableware has emerged from the kitchen to sparkle on the sideboard in new designs carried out in high quality metal.

Hollow ware, such as water pitchers, comes in satin-finishes which never tarnish and have an unusually high resistance to corrosion.

However, certain foods, if left on the steel for long, may cause stains so it is wise to whisk stainless steel pieces through hot soap and detergent suds immediately after use. Rinse and dry thoroughly to keep shining bright.

A BEAUTY-BATH BOX, which you can make yourself and tailor to the needs of the recipient, will be a delightful make-it-yourself gift to prepare for a Christmas present.

WOMEN'S WORLD

Jobs are choice rather than need for many women workers

By the NNPA News Service

If present patterns of marriage and childbearing persist, and if positive attitudes toward work outside the home by wives and mothers continue to grow in strength, employment among women in their middle and later years is likely to become even more common than it now is.

Recent tendencies indicate that work at this stage of women's lives will be even more a matter of choice and less a product of necessity than in the past.

In consequence of these developments, girls will take it increasingly for granted that they will be likely to work during two stages of their lives—immediately after they leave school and after their children are old enough to go to school.

The impact of automation upon future employment opportunities cannot be forecast with any certainty.

The technological innovations now represented by that term are, however, expected to require the development of new skills, to reduce the need for semiskilled workers engaged in routine tasks, many of whom are women, and to result in the temporary displacement of some workers.

AUTOMATION is not likely to have a drastic effect in the near future upon women's employment in service, sales, and secretarial jobs, or in such professional occupations as teaching and nursing.

With a social climate favorable to the employment of women, a continued expansion of the economy promises a further growth in the female labor force not only in absolute numbers, but also in relative size.

And much of this growth would result from the higher proportion of women returning to or entering employment for the first time when they are past 30.

Women over 45 are now working outside the home to an extent which was, only a few years ago, not expected to be achieved until almost 1970. This demonstrates how risky prediction is, but it also testifies to the power of those social and economic forces which have brought about rapid alterations in what had been fairly stable patterns of behavior.

Miss Dorothy Jean Milburn is bride of Richard S. Jackson

ELKTON, Md. — Miss Dorothy Jean Milburn, daughter of Mrs. Harry E. Johnson of this city and Arthur H. Milburn, of Ardmore, Pa., and Richard Sylvester Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Jackson, of Vandergriff, Pa., were married recently at the Immaculate Conception Church here.

Father Francis Lynch performed the nuptial mass.

THE BRIDE, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of deep lustered satin. The bodice was of Alencon lace, trimmed with seed pearls, and the circular skirt ended in a chapel - length train. She carried a cascade bouquet of white French carnations with a white orchid and baby's breath. Her cultured pearl necklace was a gift to her from the bridegroom.

MRS. LORENZA Y. ROBINSON, of Washington, D.C., was the matron of honor. She wore of rust stain was of waltz length with matching stole. Her shoes and gloves. Her veil was trimmed with pearls, and she carried pompon chrysanthemums.

The bridesmaids, dressed similarly in teal satin were Mrs. Harold Blackwell of Washington; Mrs. Ann Clark, of Elkton, and Mrs. William Grace of Baltimore. They carried bronze nosegays with pompon centers.

Robert Ximnes, of Philadelphia, and brother- in - law of the bride, was best man. Ushers were Dr. Archie Evans of Philadelphia, Joseph Herbert of Baltimore, and Emett Lee of Washington, D.C.

The mother of the bride wore a blue lace dress with matching shoes. She wore a lavender orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a green lace dress with black accessories and a white orchid.

THE RECEPTION was held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. James L. Johnson.

Mrs. Jackson is a graduate of Hampton Institute and holds a master's degree from New York University. She is a teacher of physical education at McKinley High School of Washington, and a member of the Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority.

Mr. Jackson received his bachelor's degree at the University of Pittsburgh and his master's degree in business administration from New York University where he majored in accounting. He is now employed in the State Insurance Department of New York. He is a member of the Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*) — the discovery of a world-famous research institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called *Preparation H. Also for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories — Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

- Mrs. Dolly Jenkins newlywed
- Singer Sheila Bond married
- Art Fauntleroys new parents
- Beaux Arts Ball to the Bronx

WITH LULA JONES GARRETT

Mrs. Dolly Jenkins and Ernest Wright, both of Baltimore, were married in her Forest Park home, there, Saturday. The Rev. Solden Nicholson of Glen Burnie, Md. officiated.

The bride was lovely in soft blue lace, made with a fitted bodice and softly pleated skirt, a matching hat, blue satin slippers and a corsage of deep red roses.

Mrs. Sarah Sharp, in pale pink satin, was matron of honor; Archie Coleman, best man.

The reception following was attended by her daughter, Mrs. Ruby Wilson of Wayne, Pa., her sister, Mrs. Ida Brown; the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Nicholson, Messrs. and Mesdames Aaron Jenkins, James Williams, David Whitehead, John Manning, Edward Osborne, Alonzo Brown, Ernest White, Moore Ray, James Cottman;

Joe Whitehead, Misses Dorothy Coles, Louise Boyd, Ophelia Parke, Christine Harrison, Beulah Yarbrough, Connie Whitehead and Sarah Sharp.

And Sheila D. Bond (she's soloist in the Second Army Showmobile, and toured the Far East for two years as an entertainer with the Armed Forces) and SP4 William C. Hawthorne, formerly of New Jersey and now stationed at Aberdeen Proving Ground, Maryland were married Thanksgiving Day.

The wedding took place in the Baltimore home of the bride's godparents, Mr. and Mrs. Luke E. Webb.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Fauntleroy welcomed a seven-pound one-ounce daughter, in Louisville, Ky. on Nov. 8.

Mr. Fauntleroy is a former captain of the Morgan State College football Bears, and is presently coach at the William B. Jason High School in Bridgeville, Del. Baby has been named Sharie Denise.

The Thomas N. Randalls Jr. (she is the former model Marsene A. Robinson) had their four-month-old daughter, Bernel Andrea christened in Grace Methodist Church in Catonsville, Md., on Sunday. The date was also the birthday of the baby's father.

The Rev. C. C. Brown officiated.

The baby wore a white 3-piece-nylon and satin ensemble with hand embroidery and hand-stitched lace on bonnet and sacque, Hand-knitted bootees with large pompon ties were especially made for the occasion. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Butler (he is county contractor) and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas N. Randall, Sr. of Melvin Park, Catonsville.

Following the services, the junior Mrs. Randall entertained at a dinner party at her Baltimore National Pike home in swank Douglas Park.

Guests included:

Mrs. Jacqueline Hebron (godmother), Miss Sharon Hebron, Kevin Hebron, John Butler Jr., Miss Leslie Butler, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas N. Randall Sr., Mr. and Mrs. John H. Butler, Miss Gloria Randall, Miss Elnet Randall,

"Christmas Sister Week," that seven-day period in which the Christmas fairy walks the Bennett College campus, in Greensboro, N.C. got under way this week.

Each year, at this time, each member of the Bennett Family — students, faculty and staff —draws the name of a person who will be the recipient of special favors or small gifts throughout the week.

Identities will not be revealed until the Christmas party to be held on Saturday, December 13, at which time each person receives a major gift.

PEREGRINATORS: Miss Blanche Parker, retired teacher of Huntingdon, Tenn., was recent guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Buck, Old Frederick Rd., Baltimore, Md. Went on to Washington to spend several weeks with a brother in the Capital.

When Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Goldsmith of Walterboro, S.C. held their holiday open house, their guests included Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Patton of Spartanburg.

Their entertainment included attending the South Carolina State-Benedict game in Orangeburg, and a dinner party in the elegant new home of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Brown of Whittaker Heights, Orangeburg.

At the latter party were Mr. and Mrs. Brown and daughter, Audrey, Mr. and Mrs. Patten; Miss Bernice Rivers of Walterboro, Miss Nellie R. Hampton of Orangeburg Joseph Hampton of Columbia, Mr. and Mrs. Goldsmith and son, Reginald of Walterboro, and Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Brown.

The Goldsmiths also had as guests Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Summers of the upper Piedmont section of the State, who were visiting his parents for the holiday.

Dr. and Mrs. Raymond Hunt of Baltimore had as their holiday guests, her son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Clarence Pair of Mt. Vernon, N.Y., and Mr. and Mrs. Leon Marshall of New York City.

WITH THE LADIES: In the running for supreme basileus of the National Sorority of Phi Delta Kappa (educational) is Helen W. Maxwell, now first anti-basileus and Eastern regional director. (She was also recently named "Fraternal Leader of the Year".

She will run for the top office when the sorority meets in New York City, at Hotel Roosevelt, the end of this month.

A reading and curriculum specialist, it was through Mrs. Maxwell's skill and guidance that a reading clinic for retarded readers was established with the help of the Board of Education in New York City, and books and a reading room for youngsters in West Africa was set up with a paid librarian in Monrovia, West Africa. One of the rare native New Yorkers who has traveled extensively, Mrs. Maxwell has received a diamond pin, numerous certificates of merits and other honors for her prowess in human and fraternal relations from her own community and her sorority.

Dr. Cecil H. Edwards, professor of Nutrition at A. and T. College, Greensboro, N.C. delivered the keynote address at the annual meeting of the North Carolina Chapter of the American Dietetic Association, held at the O'Henry Hotel, there recently. She spoke on "Unusual Dietary Practices: Research and Its Implications for Nurtition Education." More than 150 members attended the meet in observance of the 25th anniversary of the organization.
