ON THE VANNWAGON

Whatta Guy he was in his pro debut

By EARL VANN
PHILADELPHIA

And they said he was too small.

This was the opinion of unbelievers, about Guy Rodgers' chances of becoming a professional basketball player.

The reasons given sounded something like this: "A good little player, but he won't be able to take the beating."

Another skeptic remarked: "Bob Cousy will make him look like a baby."

And the third wise man claimed, "Big Bill Russell will make him crawl into his shell."

* * *

WELL, LAST week the stage was set. The Philadelphia Warriors played the Boston Celtics, and our Guy was making his professional NBA debut.

The game started as usual with the Celtics jumping into the lead. After nine minutes of the first quarter, Coach Al Cervic of the Warriors sent Rodgers into the game.

Just as if this were a movie scene, Bob Cousy (Mr. Basketball), was assigned the difficult task of stopping Rodgers.

What Guy did to Mr. Cousy and the entire Boston Celtics team was almost unbelievable to the 4,154 fans that braved the freezing weather to see this game.

He jumped shot, he faked, he stole the ball, he gave off accurate blind assists that sent the fans into a frenzy.

And all the time, he was putting on this one-man show the Warriors played like a new and revitalized team.

WELL, LEST we forget to mention it, the Warriors lost the game, 123-114. But Guy certainly won the fans back for the team.

He played only 28 minutes in all. But during that time he scored 10 field goals and four fouls.

From the moment he entered the game until the end Rodgers asserted himself as the team's general.

To say he came in like "Gang Busters" would be the understatement of the week. Guy is now a professional basketball player.

The little fellow surprised me not at all.

He merely played the type of game he has been playing since his high school days at North East. This fellow is a wonder and he is only beginning.

Somehow, through it all, my mind kept wandering back to another Temple All-American, Hal Lear.

Lear was also drafted by the Warriors a few years ago. He worked a sum total of about nine minutes as an NBA player and then was promptly released. Too small they said.

Today, Hal Lear is playing magnificent ball for Easton Up State. He is one of the stars of that league.

He could be playing with the St. Louis Hawks, who at one time wanted him badly.

* * *

HE WAS then under contract to Easton and they would not release him.

After doing his hitch in the Army, Hal has returned and decided he would rather not play in the NBA.

Hal's uncle, Charlie Baker, who is commissioner of records and deeds in Philly, had this to say:

"Hal has a good permanent job, and also earns a good salary playing ball with Easton.

"Add this up in dollars and cents and what do you have?

"He is earning more money than he would have made with the Warriors and does not have to do all the traveling that is required of NBA players.

Then Charlie added, "The only thing he is not getting is the publicity and the glory."

Then he smiled significantly and said, well, you get the message.

BATTLING BISON is Howard guard Marty Tapscott as he charges around Catholic U's Tom Oltorik in the Gallaudet Invitational final at Gallaudet Saturday night. Bisons lost heartbreaker 59-58 after a spectacular comeback drive that had given them a one-point lead with seconds remaining. Catholic guard Bob Talbot (in background) sank the two free shots that clinched the game. In background for Howard is forward Gene Johnson. Tapscott led Bisons scoring with 16.

H.U. soccer coach praises new champs

WASHINGTON

Howard University soccer coach James (Ted) Chambers has closed the 1958 season of play with a city championship for the Bisons plus a post-conference all-star game victory Sunday, leading the Collegiate Soccer Association Standouts to a 5-1 win over the National Soccer League All-Stars.

In the wake of this double triumph, the Bison mentor was avid Monday morning in praise for his players.

After the game Sunday, coach Chambers called his All-Stars "One of the best combinations I've ever coached."

Coach Chambers, who played Herculean at three different positions during the game, termed the Bison sophomore a versatile player "whose overall knowledge of the game has helped me immeasurably throughout the season."

ALSO president of the D.C. Collegiate Soccer Association, coach Chambers thinks that soccer is gaining more and more public interest in this area.

He pointed out that the attendance at Sunday's game, which drew over 300 spectators in below - freezing weather, represents a sizeable increase in attendance as compared with past seasons of play.

The Collegiates held an awards banquet Wednesday night in Howard's Baldwin Hall. Highlight of the program was the presentation of the area championship trophy to the winning collegiate team. The trophy was presented by the Washington Pigskin Club to Howard.

Shrine Bowl to have tan trio

CHICAGO (ANP)—Three tan players — all from the Big Ten —will represent the East in the annual Shrine game at San Francisco on Dec. 27.

Don Clark, Ohio State; Ellis Kelly, Michigan State, and Sid Williams, Wisconsin, will be members of the 25-man squad that will meet the West in the annual classic for the benefit of crippled children.

Clark, an outstanding ball carrier for OSU, will likely get a starting role. He gained nearly 2,000 yards in his collegiate career.

Kelly, father of six children, was a standout on defensive for a drab Michigan State team this season.

Williams, the first tan quarterback in Big Ten history, was picked on the all-star squad as halfback. He is rated an excellent defensive back.

Prairie View, Southern, Florida placed 1, 2, 3 in grid rankings

BY LUCKYRGIL OVERBEA
FOR ANP

By virtue of being the nation's only undefeated team, although once tied, the Prairie View Panthers rank as the nation's No. 1 football team for the 1958 season.

Playing against top competition in nearly every game, Prairie View opened the season with a 14 - 14 tie against the Jackson Tigers, then rolled to seven straight victories to end the season with a 7-0-1 record.

The Panthers' victims included Texas Southern (26 - 19), Grambling (44 - 6), Arkansas AM and N (37-13), Texas College (43-0), Mississippi Vocational (59-14), Wiley (13-0) and Southern (20-14). Prairie View spotted Southern 14 points, then came back to win. This victory earned the No. 1 spot.

RATED SECOND are the Southern Jaguars Cats (6-2-0). Southern started off strong until it ran into a 13 - 6 snag against Texas College. The Jaguars reached their peak when they walloped Florida A and M 33-6, then faltered in their third. The Rattlers had a good season, but were not as strong as last year. They had narrow final game of the season against Prairie View.

Florida A and M (7-1-0) rates row squeaks against Morris Brown and Texas Southern, but won most of their games handily.

HOLDING DOWN fourth is Lincoln (Mo.) with an 8-1-0 record. The Tigers did not lose to any colored teams and won a bowl game to achieve their record.

After a slow start Texas Southern (5-3-0) finished strong to land in fifth place. The Grambling Tigers (6-3-0) were strong great until they ran into Prairie View, then faded in the stretch. They rate sixth.

* * *

SEVENTH are the Jackson Tigers, the team that tied Prairie View. Jackson achieved a 5-2-1 record. Tennessee State's Tigers with a 4-4-0 mark, poor for them, were still good enough for eighth place.

The A and T Aggies (7-2-0) place ninth, and the North Carolina College Eagles (7-2-0) rank 10th. Rounding out the Huddle's Baker's Dozen ratings are South Carolina State (7-2-0), Wiley (4-3-0) and Morgan (5-3-0).

Conference champions for the season are Prairie View in the Southwestern, Lincoln (Mo.) in the Midwestern, Florida A and M in the SIAC (Southern Intercollegiate ATK letic Conference) and A and T in the CIAA (Central Intercollegiate Athletic Association).

Baltimore award to Ernie Banks

BALTIMORE

Ernie Banks, the National League's Most Valuable Player in 1958, will receive the Sultan of Swat crown awarded by the Maryland Professional Baseball Players' Association at its annual "Tops in Sports" banquet on Monday evening, January 12, at the Lord Baltimore Hotel.

The 6-foot-1-inch, 180 - pound Chicago Cub shortstop, who will be only 19 days short of his 28th birthday on the 12th of next month, led the senior circuit in home runs last season with a total of 47, thereby establishing a new all-time major league record for most home runs in a season by a shortstop.

* * *

THE SLENDER star from Dallas, Texas, also led the National League in runs batted in with 129.

Banks is one of the few players in the history of baseball to begin his professional baseball without benefit of minor league experience. He was playing in the Negro American League in 1953 when the Chicago Cub purchased the 23-year - old shortstop's contract from the Kansas City Monarchs near the end of the season.

ERNIE QUICKLY took over as the Bruins' No. 1 shortstop and has never been challenged since. Of the five full seasons that he has been in the National League, he has appeared in every one of Chicago's games in four different seasons.

Only in 1956, when injuries forced him to miss 15 games, has he failed to play in all of his club's games. In the process he set a major league record for most consecutive games played from the start of a major league career, appearing in 424 straight games from September 17, 1953, through August 10, 1956.

Banks began to establish various records as early as 1955, his sophomore year in the National League. That year, he hit five basesloaded home runs to set a new all-time major league mark. And on August 4 of that year, he hit three home runs in one game.

* * *

BANKS HAS been named to three All-Star teams during his five-year career.

He has slammed a total of 183 home runs in a little more than five major league seasons, averaging more than 36 a year and his lifetime total of 47 ranked in is 518, better than 100 a year.

Banks is the first National League player to win the Sultan of Swat award, which is a gold crown, engraved with the batting feats of the winners and studded with diamonds. Two years ago New York Yankees center-fielder Mickey Mantle received the crown and last year Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox won the award.

JOE BLACK

PLAINFIELD, N.J. — "We are agreed on just about everything, and I guess you can say I'm as happy as a man can be."

That was the reaction of Joe Black late this week when the AFRO reached him at his home here, to obtain confirmation of a Washington Senators' announcement that he will scout for them next year.

* * *

BLACK, A former pitching star with the then Brooklyn Dodgers and later a member of the Cincinnati Redlegs and Senators, was one of nine new scouts signed on a full-time basis by the Washington Club this week.

Currently a teacher of physical education and assistant baseball coach at Plainfield High School, Joe will not be required to lose any time from his school post. The Senators have assigned him to cover the talent-rich New Jersey area and have agreed to withhold any traveling assignments until after the close of school.

* * *

ACCEPTING TO the ball club, Joe and another colored scout, Harry Redd, were involved in a large scale reshuffling of the farm system. The turnover resulted in the letting out of six former bird dogs and the acquisition of the nine new ones.

In making the announcement of Black and Redd, the Washington club officials emphasized this fact:

Although we wish to take advantage of the knowledge of these men and their familiarity with colored prospects, their assignments are in no way to be construed as "racial." Both are expected to uncover the best available talent in their areas, regardless of color and nationality."

Redd, who lives in New York, has tentatively accepted assignment to the New York City area. Both he and Black will work the greater New York territory.

Redd's contract also calls for him to devote the spring months to covering games involving teams of predominantly colored colleges.

* * *

THE 34-YEAR-OLD Black was born and raised in this city. Following a brilliant scholastic career in four sports—football, basketball, baseball and track — Joe enrolled at Morgan State College, Baltimore.

In Baltimore, he starred in football as an end, played basketball and competed in track for Morgan. He pitched for several years with the Baltimore Elite Giants of the Negro National League.

* * *

HE WAS, purchased at the close of the 1950 season by the Brooklyn and moved up to the Montreal International League team. After two seasons at the National League club, he went to the Dodgers and was a key figure in the winning of the 1955 National League pennant.

His 15-4 record, acquired mostly in relief, won for Black the 1952 "Most valuable player" award and made him a strong candidate for the "most valuable player" citation (he finished second to Hank Bauer).

Joe remained with the Dodgers through the 1954 campaign then spent most of 1955 in the minors, at Montreal and Nashua.

* * *

IN 1956, he was acquired by Cincinnati and was with the Redlegs until Washington picked him up on waivers in 1957.

When he was released by the Senators at the end of the '57 campaign, Black proposed to President Calvin Griffith that the club sign him as a scout. The action this week was an outgrowth of this proposal.

Last ten grid title tilts mixed

Sunday's (28th) battle between the Baltimore Colts and the winner of the playoff between the New York Giants and Cleveland Browns for the Eastern Division title, will include 11 tan players if the Giants are the opponent, and 13 if the Browns are the opposing club.

* * *

CONSECUTIVE COLORED participation dates back to 1949, when the Los Angeles Rams (with Dan Towler, Tank Younger, et al) met the Philadelphia Eagles in a game won, 14-0, by Philadelphia.

The game pitted the Rams (Towler, Younger, Bob Boyd and Harry Thompson) against the Cleveland Browns (with Marion Motley, Lenny Ford, Bill Willis, et al). The Browns won, 30-28.

In 1951, the Rams were back to beat the Browns, 24-17, the old guard of Towler, Motley, etc., being joined by Horace Browns.

Stilt hits 28 for Trotters at Uline

WASHINGTON

The famous Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain breered into town Wednesday night for his Washington debut with the Harlem Globetrotters. To celebrate the occasion, the basketball funnymen defeated the Hawaii Surf riders, 86-76, at Uline Arena as Chamberlain scored 28.

Chamberlain did most of his scoring on inside hook shots, but the 7-foot ex-Kansas player found time between antics for some fancy long shots that brought more than than 4,600 fans from their seats.

* * *

AS FOR the antics themselves, Chamberlain seems to fit in quite with the Globetrotters' style of comedy. But the show-stealer Wednesday night was Meadowlark Lemon.

Lemon, reminiscent of the former Trotter comic, Goose Tatum, brought laughter from the crowd as he tormented players and referees alike with tricky ball handling, fancy dribbles, and just plain monkey business.

At one time Lemon so upset one of the referees that the Harlem star was chased off the court and up into the jam-packed grandstands, much to the amusement of the crowd.

Near the end of the game, the Trotters, with a 10-point edge, abandoned basketball tactics and went into an exhibition of football, kicking a 'field goal' into the stands as the puzzled Surfriders looked on.

By the time the opposing team and the spectators had gotten used to the uncanny transition, the famous funnymen had switched positions and eased into a baseball formation, with Chamberlain on the 'mound' tossing the ball across the "plate" as each teammate took a swing at it.

The Trotters may have had a couple of more antics up their sleeves but the clock was running out and suddenly the contest was over.

In an earlier game, the Texas Cowgirls turned back Carroll Hall's Press and TV All-Stars, 37-18.

COUNT BASIE LOUIS ARMSTRONG

BAKER'S DOZEN:

Hail the Dee-Jay, but...'dig the poll'

By BAKER E. MORTEN

All year long they've played records over and over again, again.

They've played everything from "Purple - People Eaters" to "Cherry - Pink and Apple-Blossom Time."

They've spun platters by Elvis Presley, Screamin' Jay Hawkins, Muddy Waters, Dirty Waters and even Dish Waters, till the tunes came out of your toes.

* * *

THEY'VE DISCUSSED these entertainers at banquets, dinners, luncheons, track meets, funerals, wakes, beer gardens, barber shops, schools, churches, and perhaps even in politics.

They gave us Chuck Willis, Huey Smith, Big Maybelle, Clyde McPhatter, Ricky Nelson, Little Anthony, Big Anthony, Middle - Sized Anthony, Little Willie John, Big Willie John.

Bobby Darin, Jimmy Reed, Sam Cooke, Jimmy Clanton, the Coasters, the Platters, the Toasters, the Sensations, Inflations, Duration.

The Heartbeats, the Rubies, the Pearls, the Gems, the Chantels, the Dells, the Bells and the Smells.

* * *

THEY FILLED us with "Splish - Splash," "Peggy Sue," "Hard - Headed Woman, "Do You Want to Dance," "Yakety Yak," "Tom Dooley," "Bird Dog," "Hound Dog," "No Dog Get a Job," "Rock-in Robin and "Tequila."

Then comes the 11th Annual Disk Jockey Poll. And who do they select as their favorite artists?

None other than Frank Sinatra, Perry Como, Nat "King" Cole, Doris Day, Patti Page, Peggy Lee, Ella Fitzgerald, The Four Freshmen, George Kenton and Nelson Riddle, among others.

* * *

SINATRA BESTED Como and Cole as the top male vocalist. Doris Day won female singing honors over Ella Fitzgerald and Patti Page, with Sarah Vaughan not even mentioned.

Nor was Dakota Staton, Ernestine Anderson or Dinah Washington mentioned, except as "promising" female singers.

(ED. NOTE: How much promise is necessary in this business? Dinah's only been singing for the past 12 years and commanding salaries in the four-figure bracket.)

George Shearing's group took first place honors in the instrumental group category, with Jamal's Trio was fourth and the Modern Jazz Quartet was listed among those "pretenders."

Count Basie was fourth among big bands, according to the Dee Jays. Duke Ellington wasn't even mentioned and Les Brown won first place.

* * *

LIKE I SAID in the beginning, all year long they've played records over and over again.

And look what comes out in the end.

But, despite it all, fellows . . . Happy Holidays and a happy New Year. . . to you. . .to readers. . .to all.

Belafonte hails TV use of tan stars

NEW YORK (ANP)—Harry Belafonte told reporters here that a lot of colored actors and singers, not in the top brackets, were not getting a fair share of the TV work.

"But the picture," he admitted, "is changing and it will level off. In most fields of entertainment, America has shown a great growth in terms of the use of colored talent.

"In a short span of a week or 10 days, I saw Lena Horne, Sammy Davis Jr., Johnny Mathis, Mahalia Jackson, and Nat Cole on TV. And that's delicious with me!"

SPECIAL CHRISTMAS ALBUMS

One of the most cherished of all yuletide traditions is the singing of Christmas carols, the songs that tells the story of the birth of Christ. Where ever and wherever carols are sung, they help to rekindle the spirit of Christmas.

This year, in keeping with that tradition, many record companies are releasing special recordings of Christmas music in LP's, stereo, and singles. A number have already hit the sales market.

AMONG THE BEST released to date are albums by RCA, Capitol, Vanguard and Warner Brothers. Capitol's entry is in stereo. All the albums are done up in gay colors matching the season.

"Christmas Holidays at Radio City Music Hall," by RCA, is the best of the lot. Featuring the Radio City Music Hall Orchestra, under the direction of Raymond Paige, and the Music Hall's choral ensemble this album provides the finest balance of orchestral excellence and sound reproduction to be found anywhere. Fine pacing and brilliant introduction of the selections add to listening pleasure.

ANOTHER RCA Christmas treat is "To Wish You A Merry Christmas" by balladeer Harry Belafonte.

Harry's musical Christmas greeting consists of 20 songs that are not all standard carols. Top side mixes such novelties as "A Star in the East," and "Gifts They Gave," with the better known "O Little Town of Bethlehem," and "Deck the Halls," while on the flip Harry is especially good on "O Come All Ye Faithful," "Joy to the World," and "I Heard the Bells on Christmas Day."

Harry is in top form on this album, and the music, provided by orchestra and chorus conducted by Bob Corman, is outstanding.

"JOY TO THE WORLD!" is the title of Capital's Christmas stereo offering, an absorbing recording of 19 carols of varying vintage.

The oldest tune on the record is "Angels We Have Heard on High," said to have been compissioned by Telesphorus, Bishop of Rome, in 129 A. D.

Played on stereo hookup, it provides a full spectrum of sound that is rich and ebullient, particularly the singing by the Roger Wagner Chorale, which is featured throughout the set, elected president.

FLOPPY JO ON HER head, cashmere on her frame and mink on her arm, singer Abbey Lincoln arrives at London Airport from Montreal. The popular American entertainer made her British television debut last week on "Chelsea at Nine," a widely publicized BBC variety show.

African Society is formed at Oxford

LONDON — Africans at Oxford University last Tuesday organized the African Society, a Pan-African non-political unit to promote interests in sympathetic understanding of African problems.

Dennis Bouwer of South Africa, a Rhodes scholar, was elected president.

REPORT FROM THE UN

W. Africans take step for freedom

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (HNS) — Often discussed in United Nations circles these days is the fact that many countries in West Africa, particularly in the French orbit, are taking advantage of techniques designed to gain freedom.

Since Nov. 24, eight countries in West Africa have declared their independence and decision to join the French Community of Overseas States.

They are French Sudan, population 3,650,000 and area of 591,000 square miles; Senegal, population 2,108,000 and an area of 80,600 square miles; Chiad, population, 2,250,000 and an area of 486,000 square miles; Mauritana, population, 565,000 and an area of 415,000 square miles; Gabon, population, 700,000 and an area of 132,000 square miles; Ubangi-Shari, population, 1,083,600 and an area of 250,000 square miles, and Upper Balta, population, 3,136,600 and an area of 103,900 square miles.

Another 10 countries are expected to join these soon.

THE ACTION of Guinea was different from the above mentioned countries. Guinea chose immediate independence by the rejection of the DeGaulle proposals.

The countries joining the French Overseas Community have until next February to make final their decisions.

However, the admission of her African Colonies to accept the proposition of "autonomy" has come as a surprise to the French Government and political leaders. The French are stalm. This is certainly "Africa's Hour."

ENGLAND HAS long recognized that the hour has struck for colonialism, and has moved in cases where it was evident that she had to. France has been more reluctant, so have Belgium and the Netherlands.

One-off hears the question, "What do the Africans want?" They want four things:

Political independence, the chance to take up and develop their own culture in the way that they want to; economic development, and most want freedom from entanglement in the 'cold war.'

This adds up to the simple proposition that the Africans simply want to be themselves. All of these are rights that free men demand for themselves wherever they are or whomever they may be.

AMBASSADOR LODGE of the U.S. delegation to the UN, was one of the first to go over and shake the hand of Ambassador Telli after he was seated. The United States recognized the Government of Guinea last Nov. 1.

They are going to publish the verbatim record of the debate on South West Africa. British, American, Netherlands and other efforts notwithstanding, the fight of Ghana, India, and the Arab and of the Asian-Arab-African group stood up.

Yes and don't leave out Liberia. The record will be out some time in January—watch for it.
