"Quick Sales and Small Profits,"

IS STILL THE MOTTO OF HENRY ISAACSON & CO.,
AT EASTON, MARYLAND.

WE beg leave to inform our customers and the public in general, that we have just received the largest assortment of ever offered in this section of the country. Encouraged by unabated success during the last season in our business, we augmented our large stock, by adding a vast number of new articles, never kept before; so that our stock is one of the most complete on this shore.

Fall and Winter Goods,

In Foreign Goods, we wish to recommend an extensive selection of the finest styles and fabrics, of solid colored goods, comprising Delaines, Alpacas, Imperials, Catahias, Ducals, Melanges, Poil de Chevre, Reps, Mohairs, and all the brands of Black Dress Silks.

All these goods, also in figures and designs, purchased for nett cash in the first Importing Houses on this continent.

In Domestic Goods, we have almost every brand of Bleached and Unbleached Muslins, Canton Flanels, Drills, Denims, Ginghams, Calicoes, Cottonades, Bed-Tickings and Cambrics.

Prices of Calicoes and Muslins, ranging from 15 cents upwards.

To our BOOTS and SHOES,
HATS and CAPS,
READY MADE CLOTHIG,

and general assortment of GENTLEMEN'S FURNISHING GOODS, we have made unusually vast additions.

N. B.—Shirts and Drawers, selling from 75 cts. upwards.

Extra quality of Boots at $4.00, and full suits of Clothing from $8.00 upwards. Prime quality Hats $1.50, and Caps 50 cents.

Our Shawls, Blankets, Ladies' Cloaks, Basques, Talmas, Walking Coats, Zephyr Knit goods and Cotton and Woolen Hose,

We shall strictly sell as heretofore, at New York and Philadelphia prices.

Especial attention is solicited from the Ladies, to our vast stock of Skeleton, French Embroidered and Balmoral Skirts. Skeletons just now on hand as low as 75 cts., Balmorals at $1.50.

To our former published facilities and advantages in buying our stock, we have the pleasure to announce that we have made permanent arrangements at our Head Quarters in Philadelphia, to draw supplies of our foreign goods direct from Houses in Europe.

We repeat our thanks for favors, and shall with no less zeal in the future, study the interest of our customers. Respectfully, &c [oct 6] ISAACSON & CO.

NEW FALL AND WINTER GOODS.

THOMPSON & KERSEY
WHOLESALE & RETAIL DEALER IN FOREIGN & DOMESTIC GOODS,

HAVIN just returned from the cities of Philadelphia and Baltimore with one of the finest stocks of ever offered in this market. Their Stock comprises every variety of goods usually found in a country store, all of which have been selected with the utmost care, bought at the lowest cash prices, and will be disposed of at a very small advance over the cost.

Fall and Winter Goods,

They deem it unnecessary in this advertisement to attempt to itemize—suffice it to say that their stock of

LADIES' AND GENTLEMENS' DRESS GOODS,

is superior to any thing ever offered by them

BOYS' AND GIRLS WEAR,

is unequaled. Their stock of HOSIERY, GLOVES, HANDKERCHIEFS, &c., is surperior to any thing ordinarily exhibited on the Shore. To an examination of which they earnestly solicit an early call from their numerous friends and the public generally, promising to sell as cheap as the cheapest, and warranting every article to turn out as represented.

THOMPSON & KERSEY'S CARPET WARE ROOM,

Is now stored with the largest and most beautiful stock of Carpets, Oil Cloths, Rugs, &c., &c. ever offered in this county, and will be sold for cash, at a less price than they can be bought for in the city. Call and examine them for yourselves, and prove the truthfulness of what they say oct 13

THE FALL FASHIONS.

MY friends and the public general are notified that I have just received the FLL FASHIONS, and am prepared to "cut and fit" coats, pants and vests in a manner to please all.

I hope my friends will all give me an early call and leave their measures, as nothing sets off a gentleman so much as a new suit of fashionable clothes.

All work made by me warranted to fit. Cutting done as usual.

I want all my friends to know that I work very cheap for CASH; and it is better to pay the cash than to have their work done on a credit;

All whose accounts have been standing over twelve months, are notified that one year is the limit of the law; if they don't call and settle, I shall be compelled to send some one to hunt them up. So, come up, friends, and do the fair thing, that there may be no hard thoughts between you and your tailor.

Boots & Shoes.

JESSE HUGH has returned from the city with a full supply of Boots and Shoes for the Fall and Winter trade, which I think is as good, if not superior to any establishment in the town. My motto is always to sell a good article and such as will give general satisfaction. As it has been purchased under my own inspection I will warrant it to be inferior to none. I invite my friends and the public to an inspection of the same, feeling satisfied that I can please them in any article they may want.

I would note in part, Ladie's, Misses, and Children's Gaitors, Marocco Boots &c. Gentlemens Boots, Gaitors, Shoes &c. A fine supply of gentlemen's Sporting Boots. The celebrated Dixon Boots still kept, and other articles too numerous to mention.

MANUFACTURING.—I have also my usual large supply of supperior leather, which I am prepared to make to order, into any kind of Boots or Shoes customers may desire. Repairing done with dispatch. Feeling thankful for past favors hope a continuance of the same. [oct 20

The Rabbit on the Wall.

The cottage work is over,
The evening meal is done;
Hark! through the startling stillness
You hear the river run.
The little children whisper,
Then speak out one and all—
"Come, father, make for Johnny
The rabbit on the wall."

He smilingly a[illegible]
They gath[illegible] chair;
"Now, g[illegible] Johnnie—
Don't t[illegible] quite [illegible]."
So speaking [illegible] fingers
He threw a shadow tall,
That seemed the moment after,
A rabbit on the wall.

The children shout with laughter,
The uproar louder grows:
Even grandma chuckles faintly,
And Johnny chirps and crows.
There ne'er was gilded painting
Hung up in lordly hall,
Gave half the simple pleasure
Of this rabbit on the wall

The Reconstruction Bill.

The following is a correct copy of the Reconstruction Bill:—

Whereas, No legal State government or adequate protection for life or property now exists in the rebel States of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana, Florida, Texas, and Arkansas:

And whereas, It is necessary that peace and good order should be enforced in said State and loyal and republican State governments be legally established: therefore

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled That said rebel States shall be divided into military districts, and made subject to the military authority of the United States, as hereinafter prescribed: and for that purpose Virginia shall constitute the First district North Carolina and South Carolina the Second distric; Georgia Alabama and Florida the Third district Mississippi and Arkansas the Fourth district, and Louisiana and Texas the Fifth district.

SEC. 2, And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of the President to assign to the command of each of said districts an officer of the army not below the rank of brigadier general, and to detail a sufficient military force to enable such officer to perform his duties and enforce his authority within the district to which he is assigned.

SEC. 3. And be it enacted, That it shall be the duty of each officer assigned as aforesaid to protect all persons in their rights of person and property; to suppress insurrection, disorder and violence, and to punish or cause to be punished all disturbers of the public peace, and criminals; and to this end he may allow local civil tribunals to take jurisdiction of and to try offenders; or when, in his judgment, it may be necessary for the trial of offenders, he shall have power to organize military commissions or tribunals for that purpose, and all interference, under color of State authority, with the exercise of military authority under this act shall be null and void.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That all persons put under military arrest by virtue of this act shall be tried without unnecessary delay, and no cruel or unusual punishment shall be inflicted; and no sentence of any military commission or tribunal hereby authorized, affecting the life or liberty of any person, shall be executed until it is approved by the officer in command of the district; and the laws and regulations for the government of the army shall not be affected by this act, except in so far as they conflict with its provisions; provided, that no sentence of death under the provisions of this act shall be carried into effect without the approval of the President of the United States.

SEC. 5. Be it further enacted, That when the people of any one of said rebel States shall have formed a constitutional government, in conformity with the Constitution of the United States in all respects framed by a convention of delegates elected by the male citizens of said State, twenty-one years old and upwards, of whatever race, color, or previous condition, who have been residents in said State for one year previous to the day of such election, except such as may be disfranchised in rebellion or for felony at common law, and when such Constitution shall provide that the elective franchise shall be enjoyed by all such persons as have the qualifications herein stated for electors of delegates, and when such Constitution shall be adopted by a majority of the persons voting on the question of ratification who are qualified as electors for delegates, and when such Constitution shall have been submitted to Congress for examination and approval, and Congress shall have approved the same, and when said State, by a vote of its Legislature, elected under said Constitution, shall have adopted the amendment to the Constitution of the United States proposed by the Thirty-ninth Congress, and known as article 14; and when said article shall have become a part of the Constitution of the United States, said State shall be declared entitled to representation in Congress, and Senators and Representatives shall be admitted therefrom on their taking the oath prescribed by law; and thereafter the preceding sections of this act shall be in operation in said State: Provided, That no person excluded from the privilege of holding office by the said proposed amendment of the Constitution of the United States shall be eligible to election as a member of a convention to frame a constitution for any said rebel States, nor shall any such person vote for a member of said convention.

SEC. 6. And be it further enacted, That until the people of said rebel States shall be by law admitted to representation in the Congress of the United States, any civil government which may exist therein shall be deemed provisional only, and in all respects subject to the paramount authority of the United States at any time to abolish modify, control or supersede the same, and in all elections to any office under such provisional government all persons shall be entitled to vote, and none other to any office under such provisional government all persons shall be entitled to vote, and none other who are entitled to vote under the provisions of the fifth section of this act, and no person shall be eligible to any office under such provisional government who would be qualified from holding office under the provisions of third article of said constitutional amendment.

Antique Advertisements

A few specimens of antique advertising may show that, while we have improved in orthography and punctuation, we have made scarcely any advance in the true art of advertising. The following proves that Isaac Punchard was "a man-of-all work." His advertisement appeared in a paper published in Aylesham, County of Norfolk, England, in 1680, and reads thus, verbatim et literatim:

"By his Majesty's letters patent, Beards taken off and Registered by Isaac PUNCHARD, Barber, Perrewig maker, Surgeon, Parish Clerk, Schoolmaster, Blacksmith & Man Midwife. I shaves for a penne, cuts hare for two pence, and oyld and Powdird in the bargane, young Ladies gentely educated, lamps lited by the year or quarter, young Gentleman also taut their Grammer language in the neatest manner & great keer takin of their marrels & Spleen. Also Salme Singing and Horse shewing by the reel makir, likewise maks & Mends all sorts of butes & shews, teaches the Ho boy and Jews harp, cuts corns, bledes & Blisters on the lowest terms. Cowtillions and other dances taut at boam and abrode, also deals holesale & retail in Perfumery in all its branches, sells all sorts of Stashinary ware, together with blackin-ball, Red herrins, Gingerbread, Coles, Scrubbin brushes, treycle, mousettraps, & all other sweetmeats, Likewise God-father's cordial, red rutes, Tatoes, Sasnges, Black Puddins, and other Garden stuff.

P. S. I teeches Goggrity & and all them outlanguaged kind of things. A bawl on Wednesday and Friday. All performed God willon by me Isaac Punchard. To be hard of at my warehouse were you may be sarved with the very best Bacco, by the ounce, r-am, quire, or single sheet.

N. B. Also Likewise, beware the Counterfeets for such abrode."

Travellers between New York and Philadelphia will be not a little edified by the following, which appeared in Bradford's Philadelphia Mercury, March, 1732—3:

"This is to give notice unto Gentlemen, Merchants, Tradesmen, Travelers, and others that Solomon Smith and James Moor of Burlington keepeth two Stage Wagons, intending to go from Burlington to Amboy, and back from Amboy to Burling on again. Once every week or oft'r if that business presents. They have also a very good storehouse, very commodious for the sorting of any sort of Merchants' Goods free from any changes, where good care will be taken of all sorts of goods."—Harper's Magazine.

The Schoolmaster in that Bed.

The following is one of the many incidents that befall a "boarding-round" school master.

I had been teaching in Lewis county, in this State, and this term was boarding round. One evening after school, one of my scholars stepped up to me, and said:

"Mr. Jones, father said you would come home with me."

"Very well," I replied, and forthwith set out for my patron's house, which was distant some two miles. Now, be it known, James McHenry—for such was his name—had two daughters, the pride and envy of the whole community. I had heard so much about them that I was anxious to see them. It seemed, however, I was to be disappointed.

When we arrived I learned the girls had gone to a party the other side of the creek; so I went to bed execrating the luck which deprived me of seeing them that night. The night had well advanced when I heard one of the girls come home, and passing into an adjoining room she warmed herself before some coals which were alive on the hearth. It seems the old gentleman and lady slept in the same room, which I was not aware of then. Having warmed herself, she turned to leave the room, when the old man spoke:

"Girl," said he, "the schoolmaster is in your bed."

"Very well," said Sarah, and passed through the room I slept in, and went up stairs.

About an hour had elapsed when I heard Judy, the other one, come. She stood at the door a long time talking with her sweetheart, then entered softly.

Disrobing her feet, she entered the room where I lay, in her stocking feet, carefully undressed herself, and coming to the side of the bed prepared to get in. Now, it happened I lay in the middle of the bed, and turning back the clothes, she gave me a shake, and said in a suppressed whisper:

"Lay over, and whipped the corner of the pillow in my mouth to keep from laughing. In she bounced, but the bed would squeak. The old man heard it, and called out:

"Judy!"

"Sir!" was responded in a faint tone from the bed beside me.

"The schoolmaster is in that bed!"

With one loud yell, and "oh heaven!" she landed on the floor, and fled with the rapidity of a deer up stairs. She never heard the last of that, I can tell you.

How to Clear Land of Brush.

Our pastors are encroached upon by shrubs and trees of inferior growth, making nestling places for weeds and shading much land which otherwise would produce grass. We prefer to use the brush hook and cut up everything, to lay the dry brush over stubs and burn it. If sheep are kept on the lot afterward, they will feed down the young growth which starts from the roots, for the most part; and a scythe will keep under the remainder. A correspondent of the Homestead gives his views as follows:

"This is often a problem of much importence, and the solution of it is attended in some sections with much difficulty and expense. After cutting and burning the brush piled up in heaps many think the best and perhaps the only mode of extermination is plowing and thorough tillage. This is an effectual remedy, and, where circumstances will admit, a good one. Either the occupant cannot stand the requisite expense or impediments to plowing stand in the way.

"In many sections there are large quantities of land now comparatively useless, that will, if the brush be destroyed, be valuable for grazing. Last year I tried burning the land over without cutting the brush, and have been so well pleased with the result that I wish to recommend the practice to others, and also draw out the experience and opinions of others. Now is the time as soon as the ground is dry enough. The fire runs best in the middle of the day. From a single experience I have come to the conclusion that fire running over the land a few consecutive years, will run out the brush, and the land be benefitted by the operation, especially if a top-dressing of gypsum or something else is applied afterward."

Early Rising.

Dr. Hall, in the February number of his Journal of Health, says: "One of the very worst economies of time is that filched from necessary sleep. The wholesale but blind commendation of early rising is as mischevious in practice as it is arrant folly in theory. Early rising is a crime against the noblest part of our physical nature, unless it is preceded by an early retiring. We caution parents particularly not to allow their children to be waked up in the mornings; let nature wake them up, she will not do it prematurely; but have a care that they go to bed at an early hour; let it be at an early hour; let it be earlier and earlier, until it is found that they wake up themselves in full time to dress for breakfast. Being waked up early, and allowed to engage in difficult or any studies later and just before retiring, has given many a beautiful and promising child brain fever, or determined ordinary ailments to the production of water on the brain."

STAND UP.—A conclusive consequence of what the woman's rights movement will come to, if successful, was well illustrated during the proceedings of the strong-minded female's convention at Albany, New York, a few weeks ago.—During one of the days of its session a street car was crowded. There entered a severe looking female. An old gent rose to give her a seat.

"Be you one of these woman-righters?" he asked.

"I be," replied the ancient.

"You believe a woman should have all the rights of a man, do you?" he inquired.

"Yes I do," was the emphatic answer.

"Then," said the man, "stand up and enjoy them like a man," and she had to stand up.

A GOOD medical authority ascribes to the tomato the following very important medical qualities:

1. That the tomato is one of the most powerful aperients of the liver and other organs; where calomel is indicated, it is one of the most effective and least harmful medical agents known to the profession.

2. That a chemical extract will be obtained from it that will supersede the use of calomel in the course of disease.

3. That he has successfully treated diarrhœa with this article alone.

4. That when used as an article of diet, it is almost sovereign for dyspepsia and indigestion.

5. That it should be constantly used for daily food. Either cooked or raw, or in the form of catsup, it is the most holdsome article in use.

A HANDSOME young peddler made love to a buxom widow. He accompanied his declaration with an allusion to two impediments to their union. "Name them," said the widow. "The want of means to set up a retail store." They parted, and the widow sent the peddler ample means. When they met again, the peddler had hired and stocked the stoor, and the smiling fair one begged to know the other impediment. "I have another wife," cred the notion dealer.
