AND MARGARET GASSAWAY made an extra batch of eggnog for the party she gave for her mother, Mrs. Lelia Cooper.

For this natal surprise were Mr. and Mrs. George Ford, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dembo, Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Johnson; Mrs. Grace Walker, Mrs. Ethel Davis, Mrs. Basil Gray, Mrs. Bertha Williams, Mrs. Thomas Taylor, Miss Valoise Butler, Miss Catherine Beard, Miss Ellen Perkins, Augustus Holmes, William Brown and Mr. Foggie.

YOU CAN imagine why the lawyers of this city are so proud of their mates, after that swellcoat affair given by the Lawyer's Wives on Friday.

It was a night packed full of fun from the first minute to the last. The girls had engaged the services of Leo Wood, who very effectively kept the men socializing all evening by teaching them the square dance and the cha cha.

What with the sounds, the simply delicious and beautifully prepared food and the girls and their escorts, the evening was complete.

Ruth Rosedom and her committee planned the very successful affair.

Hostesses for the evening were:

Madeline Murphy, president; Martha Allen, Bernice Buckner, Sarah Bundy, Ada Cooper, Adele Foreman, Shirley Hargrove;

Carrie Knox, Margaret Kogler, Zaidee Koger, Margaret Mason, Rosa Murray, Verna Gosnell, Lucille Fitzgerald, Clarice Parrish, Shirley Pinkett, Catherine Greene;

Ruth Rosedom, Jacquelyn Watts, Anna Williams, Estelle Woodbury and Vivian Taylor.

Their guests included:

Milton Allen, James Bundy, Leroy Cooper, Benjamin Foreman, Vernon Greene, Roger Jacque Lees, David Mason, Donald Murray;

William Murphy, George Parrish, John Hardgrove, Archie Williams, R. Grant Pinkett, Peter Woodbury, Llewellyn Woolford;

Messrs. and Mesdames Harry Cole, Christopher Foreman, W. A. C. Hughes, Charles J. Josey, Robert Lee, James McAlister, Arthur Murphy and O'Neal Roger.

LEONA FELTON lured her husband to their home in Gwynns Falls Parkway home on Saturday even though he was down with a cold. Reason she had invited friends in to mark his birthday.

When he returned about 9:15, they were gathered in the room and greeted him with the usual 'Happy birthday, surprise!'

About were Lemuel and Reva Leure, Queenie and Carolyn Willis, Mary and William Bevans, Henry and Laura Phillips, Mr. and John Carter, Mr. and Janet Smith, Earl and Palestine Anderson, Fenton and Irene Mallory.

Also Clara Lancaster, Evelyn Bass, Otelia Hall, Horace Letehe, Hampton Williams, and Mrs. Grace Walker, Mrs. Ethel Davis, Mrs. Basil Gray, Mrs. Bertha Williams, Mrs. Thomas Taylor, Miss Valoise Butler, Miss Catherine Beard, Miss Ellen Perkins, Augustus Holmes, William Brown and Mr. Foggie.

MISS RUTH ROBINSON, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Robinson of 3010 Herbert St., Baltimore, and Joe L. Diggs were married by the Rev. T. R. Young, pastor of the Church of God in Christ, Saturday. Mr. Diggs is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Diggs of 1311 W. Franklin St.

Ann Anderson, Russell Tarter, George White, Betty Jean Frank Phillips and Cornelius and Mary Jones.

CHOOSING THE Odd Fellows' Hall and Jimmy Smith's Orchestra, "The Ten Friends" invited their friends to help them celebrate their tenth anniversary on Saturday, January 25th. They are a group of women who contribute annually to underprivileged children. Last year, they sent twelve boys and girls to camp for two weeks.

Their tables were centered around a fountain decorated with ferns and pink and yellow gladiolas (pink and yellow being their club colors).

The guests had a delightful evening, sipping on their favorite drinks, feasting and dancing until 2 a.m. The officers and members are: Helen Tilghman, pres.; Mary Mitchell, v. pres.; Clarice Tilghman, secretary; Rosetta Williams, treasurer; Vivian Segil, business manager; Connie Neal, Alice Williams, Hazel Bryant, Mary Brown and Dolores Young.

HAVING SHARED in the pleasure of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Brisby honored upon her retirement from the Postal Service here, Friday morning (she was the first women so feted), ladies in the party went on to the Madison Avenue branch YWCA to prolong the party.

At the luncheon were:

Mrs. Bernice Kelly, who read an original poem to the honoree; Mrs. Melva Ginyard, who paid a tribute to her as a career postal worker.

Also, Mesdames Lorene Green, Annie Carter, Goldie Johns, Theresa Cooper, Violet Rideout, Nellie Sampson, Mary Carpenter, Clara Colbert;

Mesdames Louise Dolvey, Olga Rodney, Verda Welcome, Annie Mae Beverly, Mabel Frisby, Helen Woodland, Mary Williams, Alice Keys, Laverne Wiley and Misses Ruth Russell and Deborah Beverly.

THE CLOTHES LINE: Pipe please, Jean Harris in a sleek deep purple wool chemise, sleeker new motor in a pale shade of the same color, the biggest in the Olds line, swerving about town this week.

Arnetta Lottier is dancing, these days, in a heavy cordy re-embroidered silk, with flaring skirt and snug torso that fits her model size tall girl figure to a NIh. It's in white.

Laura Jones, taking a bow from Epsilon Omega chapter, AKA, for long time membership, also took a fashion bow in pale orchid lace over satin.

At the same time, and in the same material (lace) was a magnificent frock worn by Vernice Mathews, deep coffee color over satin, spangled with tiny rhinestones.

Carlita Murphy Jones, here from Buffalo, a few days back, also wore a snarky lace frock. Black, it was, falling straight and classic at the front, flaring into fullness at the back.

And who but Gwendolyn Hilton (having the figure she has) could wear that swellicant all over sequin frock, sheathed a shock from neck to below knee!

Charlotte Marshall Perry (lucky girl with a clothes-conscious, husband) wore to the Chipperettes' dance, last week, a perfectly charming formal frock of heavy off-white satin. The entrancing decor were minute, rhinestone trimmed bows in an all-over design. Twas selected by her husband, William Perry Jr.

"LADIES IN RETIREMENT" by Edward Percy and Reginald Denham will be the third production by the Arena Players this season.

It will be presented on 14, 15 and 16 February 1958 at the Playhouse at 1908 Warwick Avenue.

Four performances will be held beginning with an 8:30 o'clock curtain on Friday night. There will also be a 2:30 p.m. Sunday matinee.

In this mystery Christine Moore stars as "Ellen Creed" and Joseph P. Wilson 3rd as "Albert Feather." Playing other important roles are June Thorne as "Lucy Gilham," Yvonne Hicks as "Leonora Fiske," Verna Day as "Emily Creed," Nancy Beery as "Louisa Creed" and Vacointess Frayne as "Sister Theresa."

Irvin Turner serves as director and set designer.

During the intermission there will be a showing of D. Clifton Smith's latest paintings in our art room.

And Charm Center has set it's fashion show for tomorrow (Saturday) when it will dispense style along with cocktails at the Casino. Show is at 2:45 p.m.

Mrs. Frisby first to retire from post office

Mrs. Annie Russell Frisby, for 15 years a distribution clerk at Baltimore's main post-office, was retired on Friday the first woman employee to retire with benefits.

Mrs. Frisby qualified for such retirement under the new tenure law for female employees which was passed in 1956. It is known as public law no. 836.

Prior to its passage, women had no permanent status in the post office. Mrs. Frisby was one of a group of 54 women who received such status with the passage of the law.

The new law was passed because of the persistent efforts of the Baltimore chapter of the National Alliance of Postal Employees. Its passaged climaxed a ten-year campaign.

Mrs. Frisby began work in the postoffice in 1943. As distribution clerk, she was assigned to the incoming mail division. She became eligible for retirement on December 31, 1957, a year after the new tenure law was effective.

IN LINE with the new procedure initiated by Acting Postmaster William F. Laukaitis, Mrs. Frisby was given a farewell ceremony in his office on Friday morning.

During the ceremony, she was presented flowers and the Postmaster praised her and other women for 'the fine job you have done.'

He said he was saddened that the postoffice was losing a 'well-trained employee like you.'

He made reference to the fact that during his administration colored postal workers have been promoted to supervisory jobs.

He added that he would continue to make such promotions on the basis of merit, rather than race or color.

Relatives of Mrs. Frisby present at the ceremony included, Mrs. Helen G. Woodland, Mrs. Alice B. Keys, Miss Ruth Russell, Russell Frisby, George L. Russell Jr.

Among others in attendance: John W. White, president of the Baltimore branch, NAPE; and William Moriarty, member of executive board; and members, Mrs. Theresa Cooper, Mrs. Anne Carter, Mrs. Goldie Johns, Mrs. Melba Ginyard and Ringtold Dorsey.

Also present: Mesdames Verda Welcome, John Colbert, Nellie Sampson, George Lottier, Arnett Frisby, Agnes Patterson, Ann Carter.

And, Orrin Nixon, City Councilman Walter Dixon, Josiah Henry, the Rev. Robert T. Newbold, the Rev. Harrison J. Bryant, Jesse Foxx, Ernest Dennis, Mrs. Olga Rodney, and the Rev. William Payne.

Mrs. Frisby is the member of an old Baltimore family. She is the wife of Herbert Frisby, head of the science department at Douglass High School and Far North war correspondent for the AFRO-AMERICAN Newspapers.

BOUND FOR GERMANY — Typical of the family group that embarked with the 2nd Calvary for German is this one. Head of the household is Sgt. 1/C David L. McMullan. With him are his wife, Mrs. Della McMullan, and their children, Narvell, 3, and Andre, 6.

'Sound off' rings the command, and the 2nd sails for Germany

"We'll call your last names—you sound off with the fixtin'."

To these orders, approximately 1,100 soldiers from Fort George G. Meade marched snappily aboard the U.S.N.S. Buckner Wednesday.

Destination — Germany.

Operation — Gyroscope.

However, there weren't too many unhappy faces among the departing soldiers because of wives and children being left behind.

For the families—yes, and even the pets in some cases, were included in 'Operation Gyroscope.'

FOR TWO weeks, members of the 2nd Armored Calvary Regiment and their families were processed for the operation.

Given immunization shots for typhoid, small pox, getting passports and baggage processed for shipment, the families wound up these details early one day before embarking Wednesday at 4 p.m.

Their personal effects like clothing, linen, household appliances—up to 6,500 pounds—were shipped ahead and will be waiting for them by the time they arrive at their new homes.

The homes come fully furnished and the family will find even enough food for the mother to feed her family until she has time to shop for groceries.

The 2nd Armored Calvary Regiment is rotating with its sister unit, the 3rd Armored Calvary Regiment. The latter will soon arrive at Ft. Meade to assume the duties of the departing unit.

These rotating units police the German towns of Nuremberg, Amberg, Bamberg and Bindlach.

TYPICAL OF the families leaving Fort Meade are Sgt 1/C and Mrs. David L. McMullen.

The sergeant and his wife, Mrs. Della McMullen, have two children, Andre, their seven-year-old daughter, and Narvell, their three-year-old son.

They will stay in Germany for 30 months.

Sgt. McMullen has been in the army for nine years and intends go stay in for eleven more (a 20-year-man).

He has traveled with his unit to Belgium, Japan, Korea, Denmark and this is his family's second trip to Germany.

ON HIS first trip there, his wife and little Andre were also with him. Andre remembers that she had friends there.

The sergeant is a tank commander in his outfit. He supervises tank maintanence in peace time. "But in case of war you know what I do. I fight, of course," he said good-naturedly.

"But," she added, "I think the children are as happy here as they would be in any other situation."

One hundred, twenty-six families embarked on the Wednesday ship. Others will leave on Saturday on the U.S.N.S. Rose.
