AND MARGARET GASSAWAY made an extra batch of Easter eggnog for the party she gave for her mother, Mrs. Lelia Cooper.

For this natal surprise were Mr. and Mrs. George Ford, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Demby, Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Johnson; Mrs. Grace Walker, Mrs. Ethel Davis, Mrs. Basil Gray, Mrs. Berha Williams, Mrs. Romaine Taylor, Miss Valerie Butler, Miss Catherine Beard, Miss Ellen Perkins, Augustus Walker, William Brown and Mr. Foote.

YOU CAN imagine why the lawyers of this city are so proud of their mates, after that swelegant affair given by the Lawyer's Wives on Friday.

It was a night packed full of fun from the first minute to the last. The girls had engaged the services of Leo Wood, who very effectively kept the men sizzling all evening by teaching them the square dance and the cha cha.

What with the sounds, the simply delicious and beautifully prepared food and the gals and their guys, the evening was complete.

Ruth Rosedom and her committee planned the very successful affair.

Hostesses for the evening were:

Madeline Murphy, president, Martha Allen, Bernice Barkley, Sarah Bundy, Ada Cooper, Adele Foreman, Shirley Hargrove,

Carrie Knox, Margaret Koger, Zaidee Koger, Margaret Mason, Rosa Murray, Verna Gosnell, Lucille Fitzgerald, clarice Parrish, Shirley Pinkett, Catherine Greene, Ruth Rosedom, Jacquelyn Watts, Anna Williams, Estelle Woodbury and Vivian Taylor.

Their guests included:

Milton Allen, James Bundy, Leroy Cooper, Benjamin Foreman, Vernon Greene, Willie Koger, Jacque Lees, David Mason, Donald Murray,

William Murphy, George Parrish, John, Hargrove, Archie Williams, R. Grant Pinkett, Peter Woodbury, Llewellyn Wodford;

Messrs. and Mesdames Harry Cole, Christopher Foreman, W. A. C. Hughes, Charles J. Josey, Robert Lee, James McAlister, Arthur Murphy and O'Neal Roger.

LEONA FELTON lured her husband, Joe, out of their Gwynns Falls Parkway home on Saturday even though he was down with a cold. Reason: she had invited friends in to mark his birthday.

When he returned about 9:15, they were gathered in the clubroom and greeted him with the usual "Happy birthday . . . surprise!"

About were Lemuel and Reva Leure, Queener and Carolyn Willis, Mary and William Bevins, Henry and Laura Phillips, Margaret and Ed Peck, Robert and Janet Smith, Earl and Palestine Anderson, Fenton and Irene Mallory;

Also Clara Lancaster, Evelyn Bailey, Otelia Hall, Horace Letehe, Hampton Williams, Ethel Davis, Mrs. Basil Gray, Mrs. Berha Williams, Mrs. Romaine Taylor, Miss Valerie Butler, Miss Catherine Beard, Miss Ellen Perkins, Augustus Walker, William Brown and Mr. Foote.

TEEN CLUB—The Petites and Gents, a local teen age club, expends some of its energy by doing volunteer work for the NAACP. Mrs. Eula M. Watts, first ladies sponsor. Club members are Sylvester Biggs, Gerald White, Otis Warren, Ronald Johnson Matthew Dogan, Norman Miller, Marian Miller, Carolyn Greer, Izetta Clanton, Dorothey Harvey, Leonard and Carolyn Harvey.

Ann Anderson, Russell Tarter, George Whyte, Betive and Frank Phillips and Cornelius and Mary Jones.

CHOOSING THE Odd Fellows Hall for Jimmy Smith's Orchestra, "The Ten Friends" invited their friends to help them celebrate their tenth anniversary on Saturday, January 25th. They are a group of women who contribute annually to underprivileged children. Last year, they sent twelve boys and girls to camp for two weeks.

Their tables were centered around a fountain decorated with ferns and pink and yellow gladiolas (pink and yellow being their club colors).

Jimmy Smith played a delightful evening, stopping on their favorite drinks, feasting and dancing until 3 a.m. The officers and members are: Helen Tilghman, pres.; Mary Mitchell, v. pres.; Clarice Tilghman, secretary; Rosetta Williams, treasurer; Vivian Scott, business manager; Connie Neal, Alice Williams, Hazel Bryant, Mary Brown and Dolores Young.

HAVING SHARED in the pleasure of seeing Mrs. Herbert Frisby honored upon her retirement from the Postal Service, here, Friday morning (she was the first women to be elected), ladies in the party went on to the Madison Avenue branch YWCA to prolong the party.

At the luncheon were:

Mrs. Bernice Kelly, who read an original poem to the honoree; Mrs. Melva Ginyard, who paid a tribute to her as a career postal worker;

Also Mesdames Direne Green, Annie Carter, Goldie Johns, Theresa Cooper, Violet Rideout, Nellie Sampson, Mary Carpenter, Clara Colbert;

Mesdames Louise Dolvey, Olga Rodney, Verda Welcome, Annie Mae Beverly, Mabel Frisby, Helen Woodland, Mary Williams, Alice Keys, Luverne Wiley and Misses Ruth Russell and Deborah Beverly.

THE CLOTHES LINE: Pipe please, Jean Harris in a sleek deep purple wool chemise . . . sleeker new motor in a paler shade of the same color. . . the biggest in the Olds line, swerving about town this week.

Arnetta Luttier is dancing, these days, in a heavy cordis re-embroidered silk, with flaring skirt and snug torso that fits her model site tall girl figure to a Nth. It's in white.

Laura Jones, taking a bow from Epsilon Omega chapter, AKA, for long-time membership, also took a fashion bow in pale orchid lace over satin.

At the same affair, and in the same material (lace) was a magnificent frock worn by Vernice Matthews. . . deep coffee color over satin, sprinkled with tiny rhinestones.

Carlita Murphy Jones, here from Buffalo a few days back, also wore a snarky lace frock, Black, it was, falling straight and classic at the front, flaring into fullness at the back.

And who but Gwendolyn Hillen (having the figure she has) could wear that swellicant all over sequin frock, sheathed a shuck from neck to below knee!

Charlotte Marshall Perry (lucky girl with a clothes-conscious husband) wore to the Chipperettes' dance, last week, a perfectly charmkit formal frock of heavy off-white satin. The entrancing decor were minute, rhinestone trimmed bows in an all-over design. Twas selected by her husband, William Perry Jr.

"LADIES IN RETIREMENT" by Edward Percy and Reginald Denham will be the third production by the Arena Players this season.

It will be presented on 14, 15 and 16 February 1958 at the Playhouse at 1908 Warwick Avenue.

Four performances will be held beginning with an 8:30 o'clock curtain on Friday night. There will also be a 2:30 p.m. Sunday matinee.

In this mystery Christine Minor stars as Ellen Creed and Joseph P. Wilson 3rd as "Albert Feather." Playing other important roles are June Thorne as "Lucy Gilham," Yvonne Hicks as Leonora Fiske," Verna Day as "Emily Creed," Nancy Beery as "Louisa Creed" and Vacontess Payne as "Sister Theresa."

Irvin Turner serves as director and set designer.

During the intermission there will be a showing of D. Clifton Smith's latest paintings in our art room.

And Charm Center has set it's fashion show for tomorrow (Saturday) when it will dispense style along with cocktails at the Casino. Show is at 2:45 p.m.

Mrs. Frisby first to retire from post office

Mrs. Annie Russell Frisby, for 15 years a distribution clerk at Baltimore's main post-office, was retired on Friday, the first woman employee to retire with benefits.

Mrs. Frisby qualified for such retirement under the new tenure law for female employees which was passed in 1956. It is known as public law no. 836.

Prior to its passage, women had no permanent status in the post office. Mrs. Frisby was one of a group of 14 women who received such status with the passage of the law.

The new law was passed because of the persistent efforts of the Baltimore chapter of the National Alliance of Postal Employees. Its passage climaxed a ten-year campaign.

Mrs. Frisby began work in the postoffice in 1943. As distribution clerk, she was assigned to the incoming mail division. She became eligible for retirement on December 31, 1957, a year after the new tenure law was effective.

IN LINE with the new procedure initiated by Acting Postmaster William F. Laukaitis, Mrs. Frisby was given a farewell ceremony in his office on Friday morning.

During the ceremony, she was presented flowers and the Postmaster praised her and other women for 'the fine job you have done.'

He said he was saddened that the postoffice was losing a well-trained employee like you.'

He made reference to the fact that during his administration colored postal workers have been promoted to supervisory jobs.

He added that he would continue to make such promotions on the basis of merit rather than race or color.

Relatives of Mrs. Frisby present at the ceremony included, Mrs. Helen D. Woolard, Mrs. Alice R. Keys, Miss Ruth Russell, Russell Frisby, George L. Russell Jr.

Among others in attendance: John W. White, president of the Baltimore branch, NAPE; and William Beverly, member of executive board; and members, Mrs. Theresa Cooper, Mrs. Anne Carter, Mrs. Goldie Johns, Mrs. Melba Ginyard and Ringold Dennis.

Also present: Mesdames Verda Welcome, John Colbert, Nellie Sampson, George Lothier, Arnett Frisby, Agnes Patterson, Ann Carter,

And, Orrin Nixon, City Councilman Walter Dixon, Josiah Henry, the Rev. Robert T. Newbold, the Rev. Hazelton J. Bryant, Jesse Foxx, Ernest Dennis, Mrs. Olga Rodney, and the Rev. William Foote.

Mrs. Frisby is the member of an old Baltimore family. She is the wife of Herbert Frisby, head of the science department at Douglass High School and Far North Baltimore correspondent for the AFRO-AMERICAN Newspapers.

BOUND FOR GERMANY — Typical of the family group that embarked with the 2nd Calvary for German is this one. Head of the household is Sgt. 1/C David L. McMullan. With him are his wife, Mrs. Della McMullan, and their children, Narvell, 3, and Andre, 6.

'Sound off' rings the command, and the 2nd sails for Germany

"We'll call your last names—you sound off with the first!"

To these orders, approximately 1,100 soldiers from Fort George G. Meade marched snappily aboard the U.S.N.S. Buckner Wednesday.

Destination — Germany.

Operation — Gyroscope.

However, there weren't too many unhappy faces among the departing soldiers because of wives and children being left behind.

For the families, wives, and even the pets in some cases, were included in "Operation Gyroscope."

FOR TWO weeks, members of the 2nd Armored Calvary Regiment and their families were processed for the operation.

Given immunization shots for typhoid, small pox, getting passports and baggage processed for shipment, the families wound up these details only one day before embarking Wednesday at 4 p.m.

Their personal effects like clothing, linen, household appliances—up to 6,500 pounds—were shipped ahead and will be waiting for them by the time they arrive at their new homes.

The families are fully furnished and the family will find even enough food for the mother to feed her family until she has time to shop for groceries.

The 2nd Armored Calvary Regiment is rotating with its sister unit, the 3rd Armored Calvary Regiment. The latter will soon arrive at Ft. Meade to assume the duties of the departing unit.

These rotating units police the German towns of Nuremberg, Amberg, Bamberg and Bindlach.

TYPICAL OF the families leaving Fort Meade are Sgt 1/c and Mrs. David L. McMullen.

The sergeant and his wife, Mrs. Della McMullen, have two children, Andre, their seven-year-old daughter, and Narvell, their three-year-old son.

They will stay in Germany for 30 months.

Sgt. McMullen has been in the army for nine years and intends to stay in for eleven more (a 20-year-man).

He has traveled with his unit to Belgium, Japan, Korea, Denmark and this is his family's second trip to Germany.

ON HIS first trip there, his wife and little Andre were also with him. Andre remembers that she had friends there.

The sergeant is a tank commander in his outfit. He supervises tank maintanence in peace time. "But in case of war you know what I do—I fight, of course," he said good-naturedly.

The transport on which they will travel, the U.S.N.S. Buckner, is 600 feet long.

Each family will have its own cabin.

Mrs. McMullens says her only worry about where life is that once Andre, who attends school, gets settled, it is time to move again.

JOLLYETTES — The club elected officers at a meeting held in the home of Mrs. Roberta Baptiste, 3223 Pressman St., this week.

Inducted were:

Mesdames Roberta Baptiste, president; Mildred Williams, vice president; Alice Robinson, recording secretary; Susie Young, financial secretary; Mesdames Louise Covington, treasurer; Norma Taylor, business manager; Annie Hill, conductress; Mary Pone, chaplain; Daisy Lewis, social editor.

Members named to the sick committee include Mesdames Alice Robinson, Mary Pone and Daisy Lewis.

Mrs. Laura Dickerson was guest of honor and other guests were Mrs. Mattie Byrd, Edward Jones, Arnette Robinson, Granville Young, Robert Baptiste, Hector Covinton.

Other members present were Mrs. Mamie Parker, Mrs. Cora Dawson and Mrs. Helen Jones.

FIRST WOMAN postal employee to retire with benefits, Mrs. Annie Russell Frisby is congratulated by acting Postmaster William Laukaitis. Mrs. Frisby was a distribution clerk in the main post-office for 15 years. Her retirement was effective January 31, 1957.

"But," she added, "I think the children are as happy here as they would be in any other situation."

One hundred, twenty-six families embarked on the Wednesday ship. Others will leave on Saturday on the U.S.N.S. Rose.

Larry Doby guest at YM campaign kick-off dinner

Baseball star Larry Doby, recently acquired Baltimore Orioles slugger, will be special guest speaker at the kick-off dinner Monday night of the Druid Hill YMCA spring membership campaign.

Sharing the platform with Mr. Doby will be Rev. Lennon Johns, director of the Baptist Christian Center.

The dinner will be held at the Druid Hill YMCA, 1618 Druid Hill Ave., beginning at 6 p.m.

GOAL OF the spring campaign which will continue through the month is $11,500.

Co-chairmen of the campaign are Claude (Buddy) Young, college and professional football star and now a member of the Baltimore Colt's front office, and Henry G. Parks, Jr., president of the Parks Sausage Company.

Twenty-seven outstanding citizens including Governor McKeldin and Mayor D'Alesandro, have agreed to serve as honorary chairmen of the membership effort.

Theme for the campaign is centered around well known football conferences, headed by conference commissioners.

THE FIVE conference commissioners are Frank Ellis, Big Ten; Augustus Knox, president; Bernard Harris Sr., Ivy League; Frank R. Veneri, Big Eight, and Roger Johnson, Pacific Coast.

Coaches heading well known gridiron teams will moderate under the commissioners.
