COOKING IS FUN

Meat balls, plain or fancy make fine budget stretchers

Take meat balls . . . nearly all of us will, if the taste is right, for certainly they are to our budget taste.

And for us, our slip of meat balls (or spaghetti), regardless of how good they can be. Meat balls are delectable in many ways, some of which we will consider today.

IF YOU became a barbecue fan the past summer, you might take the following recipe right in doors with you for winter use.

Take a pound of finely ground beef, an egg, a half cup cracker meal, salt and pepper, a fourth cup of ketchup, an onion chopped fine and a small pepper, also chopped fine for this recipe.

Combine all ingredients thoroughly, and roll into 20 small balls. Place these on a greased baking sheet, allowing enough space between them to keep the balls from sticking. Bake them for about 20 minutes in a moderate oven.

Add them to barbecue sauce made as follows:

Saute a small onion, finely chopped, into two tablespoons olive oil until golden brown.

Combine with onion one vinegar, a cup water, a fourth cup, prepared mustard, one and a half cup tomato ketchup, one teaspoon brown sugar, a tablespoon of Worcestershire sauce, a teaspoon chili powder, a half teaspoon salt and a pitch of garlic powder. Add to onions.

Simmer for an hour, stirring occasionally. Add one or two teaspoons Tabasco sauce about 15 minutes before serving.

BEEFBALL STROGANOFF is a favorite at my house, especially when served on hot long - grain rice. It is also good with noodles.

For this you will need a pound of ground beef, three-fourths teaspoon monosodium glutamate, a teaspoon salt, a half teaspoon pepper, a half cup fine dry bread crumbs, a half cup milk, four teaspoons shortening, divided, a fourth cup chopped onion, a half pound sliced mushrooms, two tablespoons flour, a cup of beef stock or bouillon, a teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, and a cup of sour cream.

Mix meat in mixing bowl. Sprinkle with monosodium glutamate, salt and pepper. Toss to distribute seasonings. Blend in bread crumbs and milk.

Form into one - inch balls. Brown on all sides in three tablespoons of shortening, shaking the pan and turning the balls to brown uniformly.

Remove the balls from pan. Add the remaining tablespoon of shortening to skillet and put in the onion and mushrooms. Cook, stirring occasionally for about 10 minutes.

Add flour, stir to blend. Gradually add stock, stirring constantly. Add meat balls, Worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper to taste. Cover and simmer for 20 minutes.

Stir in cream just before serving.

Canned, frozen vegetables good buy during shortages

When many of our fresh vegetables are in short supply as they are now, then it is time to carefully check and compare costs of canned, cooked and frozen vegetables, according to Virginia L. Metheric, extension specialist, Baltimore Office, Department of Markets, University of Maryland.

Not all of the many fresh vegetable items have been affected by weather conditions in southern growing areas and are moderate to high in cost.

TO ACCURACY compared costs of fresh, frozen and canned, it is necessary to know the yield or number of servings from various size packages of the per pound. Then you have a basis on which to compare cost per serving so you can easily recognize the best value for the money.

A lb. or twelve ounce package of frozen vegetable will yield approximately three to four servings, while a No. 2 can yields five servings. A No. 303 can, four servings. Here are a few fresh vegetables with the number of servings per pound that will help guide you in purchasing: Broccoli, green; Brussel Sprouts, five; cabbage, cooked four; carrots, five; and cauliflower, three.

THIS IS THE time to consider canned foods. Canned and frozen peas are especially abundant. Peas come packed in a number of different sizes, graded by sieves to obtain uniform size in each container. Some peas are canned as mixed sizes, also called garden run. You will find this vegetable selling at economical prices.

Canned corn is in generous supply and available in both white and yellow varieties, packed in one of three styles, whole kernel, creamed style and vacuum packed 12 ounce cans. In comparing costs and considering quality, processed snap beans are the best buy on the present market.

You will find green and yellow wax beans canned and frozen. Choose the type you like: whole, cut or French style.

The fresh goodness counter offers some attractive buys this week. Red cooking apples from California and Arizona are arriving in good quality and sizes. Prices are low, and slightly higher in about six weeks. Yellow Delicious are still a good buy considering the yield of 4 servings per pound and their nutritive value. Both old or white and new green cabbage are available.

THE GREEN cabbage comes from the Carolinas and Texas. Southern California and Arizona usually sell at a higher price than the above or old from New York and New Jersey. Onions remain one the best buys. Yields this week. Mushrooms provide for one of the vegetable group which lends flavor and goodness to many favorite dishes.

They give a lift to many simple dishes. Add them to omelets, into filling main dishes, on the light your family. White mushrooms are attractive, certainly buying some canned white mushrooms. For best flavor plan to use them within a day or two after purchasing.

APPLES ARE the headliners at the fruit counter. Bell is quality and price. There is a wide choice in varieties and size. For those of you who store apples, large size containers are a more economical buy.

Suggestion for the protein portion of your shopping list include butterfish, pickerel, white or cured shoulder cut pork, and fresh pork items. Grade A large size eggs are recommended.

Before you go to market call Saratoga 4-5353, "Timely Food Tips" and be sure you are an informed shopper.

PEAS CONTINENTAL require two tablespoons butter or margarine, one-fourth teaspoon salt, speck pepper, one-eighth teaspoon dried marjoram, two cups drained hot cooked or canned peas, one cup rooms, one-fourth cup minced onion, one-fourth teaspoon nutmeg, two tablespoons sherry or cooking sherry (optional).

In hot butter in skillet, saute mushrooms and onions about five minutes, or until tender. Add salt, pepper, nutmeg, marjoram, sherry, then peas. Make four servings.

Frank bake

Rice, a creamy cheese sauce, sliced frankfurters and wedges of ripe olives to make a special treat, all go into "Olive 'n' Frankfurter Bake." It's a delicious supper dish. Substitute canned peas for over cooked sprout for the frankfurts if you like — chicken or ham go very well into this

Stir in cream just before serving.

Fresh pork in liberal supply

Fresh pork, now in plentiful supply, would be a tasty meal.

To make the most of it while the supply lasts, the U.S. Department of Agriculture suggests cooking aimed at fine flavor, the least shrinkage, and saving fuel and other expense. That includes especially the important B-vitamins, which pork rates high.

Fresh pork needs to be cooked "done" all the way through to bring out its best.

But department specialists explain that thorough "cooked" doesn't mean overcooking and cooking at such high heat that the meat is dry and hard.

LOW COOKING temperatures are recommended to help save nutrients and the juiciness that makes this meat such good eating. Important to remember is that pork is safely done when all traces of pink

One check on doneness is to insert a fork deep into the thickest part of the pork and make sure the juice it drains out has no trace of pink.

For roasting, use an oven temperature of 325 degrees F. recommended. Place the roast on a rack in an open roasting pan for easy slicing and serving. Season either before or after cooking.

Here's how long to allow for doneness:

In an oven at 325 degrees F. a small pork loin, of two to three pounds takes about one and one-half to two hours; a five to seven-pound loin takes three to four hours; a six-to-eight-pound ham, 4 to 4½ hours; a five and one-half pound shoulder, 3 to 3½ hours. If these cuts are boned and rolled, allow 30 minutes more a pound. Also allow more time if the meat is very cold.

LOOK FOR specials on pork roasts at your market in Baltimore. Many cuts are good for roasting as the pork loin. The center loin cut, which corresponds to the T-bone steak in beef, is the prize roast. It is carved easily into generous meaty chop-shape portions.

Other low-priced cuts are boned and contain more lean in proportion to meat and generally are found lower.

Some homemakers like to add special flavor to these roasts. A mixture of brown sugar, mustard and vinegar can be spread over the top before roasting.

Peach cream

"Peach Ice Cream" made with convenient canned cling peaches and I can in the freezer compartment of your refrigerator, makes a delicious dessert for holiday meals, or evening refreshment. Crisp almond cookies or rich chocolate walnut brownies serve as ideal companions.

PEACH ICE CREAM is made with four to six canned cling peach halves, one-half cup sugar, few grains salt, one cup milk, two cups cream, and three tablespoons lemon juice.

Drain peaches and press in to make one cup pulp. Combine all ingredients and stir until sugar dissolved. Pour into refrigerator tray, place in freezing compartment with control set at lowest temperature and freeze until firm. Turn into chilled bowl and beat with rotary beater until smooth and fluffy.

Return to freezing compartment and freeze until firm. Reset temperature control to normal.

Makes about two and one-half pints.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery
Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain, Stops Itching as it Shrinks Hemorrhoids
New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching and relieve pain—without surgery.
In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.
Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction of retraction (shrinking) took place.
And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!
In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.
All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringent of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.
This new healing substance is offered in suppository-ointment form called Preparation H.* Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.
