MRS. ESTHER POPEL SHAW

Mrs. Shaw buried in District

"Here was a rich life," the Rev. Shelby C. Rooks said at the last rites of Mrs. Esther Popel Shaw at Lincoln Congressional Temple Saturday.

Later she taught at Francis Junior High.

Ill health forced her retirement in 1952.

Mrs. Shaw, a native of Harrisburg, Pa., was graduated from Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pa., in 1919 with Phi Beta Kappa honors.

She finished in a class of 165.

Following is one of Mrs. Shaw's favorite poems taken from a collection entitled "Forest Pool.":

FOR ONE WHO DIED, OLD
It is not Death to die
When Age has come,
It is but rest,
And peace,
And calm repose
Hard won and welcomed
At the long day's end;
A meeting
With a gentle, trusted friend
Who understands.

"She sent out beauty and fragrance.

"You could not read the history of her life unless you found beauty."

For 42 years she was a city school teacher and vice-principal. She retired in 1938.

In describing Miss Browne, who was known for her beauty and personality, the Rev. Mr. Mitchell stated, "the flower had faded."

He added: "The church has lost, the family has lost, but heaven has gained a wonderful soldier.

"The flower has gone to rest."

AMONG THE 80 persons who joined in the 90-minute tribute to Miss Browne were others who remembered her as an inspiring teacher and associate.

Charles W. Jones, principal of Coleridge-Taylor School No. 122, represented the Department of Education.

He said: "I have known and worked with Miss Browne since 1916.

"She was a conscientious, sympathetic teacher who was deeply interested in the progress of her pupils and teachers . . . an expectionally fine teacher, scholar and citizen."

The Rev. W. N. Edwards, pastor of the Randallstown, Md. AME Circuit also spoke.

He said: "She was a good soldier, a fine Christian woman. She always had a smile, a word of comfort."

Miss Beatrice Nimmons was soloist. Mrs. Alma J. Caswell read the obituary.

Members of the Stewards' Board were honorary pallbearers.

A SPRAY of white orchids, anthemums and purple orchids decorated the mahogany casket which was surrounded by 15 baskets of flowers.

There was no review at the services but relatives received friends at the Holland Funeral Home prior to the services.

Miss Browne was dressed in pink crepe and lace.

Around her neck was a string of pearls and she wore pearl earrings.

A large purple orchid was pinned at her bosom.

AMONG THOSE who visited the funeral home were a Joan J. Sorrell, principal of Houston Junior High School No. 181 and a former student of Miss Browne.

He said: "As a teacher she was the prettiest woman!

"She could get more work out of the children just with that smile of hers."

Mrs. Florence Young Singleton, 1200 Clendenin St., also a former student of the beloved teacher, was there.

She said: "She was my teacher. Oh, how we loved her."

She taught under principals, the late George B. Murphy, George E. Biddle and Joseph H. Lockerman.

In an AFRO interview in 1942 Miss Browne recalled these men helped to inspire her and to continue as the guiding influence in the classroom.

EXACTING BUT tempered with sound reasoning, Miss Browne dealt expertly with her pupils and in later years saw many of them outstanding teachers and principals who credited their success to her.

She was vice-principal at the Garnett Elementary School No. 103 from 1929 to 1933 and at Lockerman Jr. School No. 100 from 1933 to 1938 the date of her retirement.

She also went to Michigan State Normal at Ypsilanti, Mich., Horace Mann School and Teachers' College in New York City.

She attended the local Shaftsbury College of Expression and later became tutor of expression in her spare time.

In 1927 she became a practice teacher at the Coppin Training School, now Coppin Teachers' College.

MISS BROWNE was honored by the Municipal employees Association in 1942 and received a gold pin for her 42 years service in the public schools.
