ANNAPOLIS DINGS

By ELOISE RICHARDSON

The event of the season, which the community looks forward to each year, was the Northwest Street YMCA annual dinner, which was held on Tuesday night at the First Baptist Church.

Guest speaker for the occasion was Dr. Vernon Stone, head of the Business Department of Maryland State College.

Such an eloquent speaker! Annapolis was fortunate to have him!

His subject was "The YMCA, the Fountain of Youth." He stated three reasons, pointing out that the YMCA is a fountain of youth because youth can come to it and drink of its fine ideals.

He also said that the YMCA is a fountain of youth to adults because it keeps them young, and its waters eternally spring forward.

The speaker was introduced by Frank B. Butler, a member of the Committee of Management.

MUSIC WAS furnished by a mixed ensemble of Bates High School students under the direction of Mrs. Bernice Gibbs, music instructor.

And were the selections beautiful and well rendered! Bernice is really an excellent teach of music and the youth she trains shows evidences of this in their appearances.

The group did two numbers, "This Is My Country" and "Italian Street Song." Clinton Hunt offered "The Song of Life" as a solo.

The Rev. Leroy Bowman was toastmaster, and a good one he was. It is surprising how versatile some ministers are. His sense of humor gave just the right space to the program.

The Rev. Joseph Grant, pastor of the Mount Olive AME Church, offered grace, and the Rev. David H. Croll, vicar of the St. Philip's Episcopal Church, announced the benediction.

EACH YEAR the YMCA dinner is held, awards are made, acknowledging appreciation to those who have been cited for various activities in the Y program.

This year, Miss Alice Holt, who was secretary of the Committee of Management for five years, and who is head of the Camping Committee, was given a certificate and a pin for her meritorious service.

Glenn Brown received a pin and certificate of merit for an honor membership based on extensive volunteer work as an all-round handy person.

Others who received awards were Herbert Griffin, Eugene Hall, Richard Parker, Harry Brewer, Thomas Alsup and James Hall.

These persons did a beautiful volunteer job in that they painted and decorated the interior of the Y building.

Miss Amanda Nunley, head of the Home Economics Department of Bates High School, served the dinner, assisted by students.

MRS. ELECTA HOLLAND and Miss Jean Queen were in charge of decorations of the dining room and tables. Tables were furnished by the Twin Club, Inc., of which H. Earl Brooks is president.

Paul D. Haughton, executive secretary, is to be given much credit for the fine work the Y is doing in the community in the short time he has served in his positon here.

Starting from scratch with only a USO program as a results, the program now, is one to be proud of.

The Physical Committee, headed by Roland Queen, is promoting leagues in basketball, baseball and soft ball for Gra-Y aged boys to adulthood.

The Youth Committee, with Miss Adele Phelps as chairman, supervises activities on a co-ed basis. There is a story hour, rifle class, boys' chorus, tumbling, and a game hour among these activities.

THE CAMP COMMITTEE, a sub-division of the Youth Committee, is led by Miss Alice Holt. Highly skilled counselors and a planned program is reflected in increased participation. This past year 119 young men enjoyed the summer camp program.

MRS. Beatrice Coates, who is chairman of the YMCA Sunday Committee, did a thorough job this year and had special pulpit speakers for YMCA Sunday in every church, when the interpretation of the Y purpose and program was given across to the various congregations.

The Adult Program Committee is headed by J. Alexander Wiseman. Monthly teas are conducted by various civic, social and fraternal organizations at which time the Y program is again interpreted to the public.

The entire Committee of Management participates in other program features such as World Service (a missionary program), the Enrollment Campaign and the Week of Prayer.

MEMBERS OF the Committee of Management are: Alexander Wiseman, chairman; James R. Cutting, vice chairman; Miss Adele Phelps, secretary; Roland J. Queen, Assistant secretary; Frank B. Butler, finance chairman;

Also Mesdames Beatrice Coates and Beulah Diggs, Miss Alice Holt, the Revs. Leroy Bowman and James A. Greene; Messrs. Herbert Hilliard, Walter S. Mills, Everett Pettigrew, Francis Noel, William H. Richardson;

Also Messrs. H. Earl Brooks, Russell S. Callow, James R. Cutting, Carroll H. Hynson, Douglas S. King, Roscoe Parker, George Phelps Jr., William Reese Jr., and John Makell.

The Annual Dinner Committee is headed by Walter S. Mills. Others serving are the Rev. Mr. Bowman, Frank B. Butler, H. Earl Brooks, Misses Alice Holt and Adele Phelps.

Mrs. Viola Johnson is program secretary and Richard Brown is the custodian of the building.

By the way, the Northwest Street YMCA will initiate its Enrollment Campaign at a kick-off meeting on Tuesday night, March 4 at 8 p.m.

The general theme of the campaign is centered around the outlay of the drive, "Citizens' Army to Build a Better Community for Our Youth."

"Generals" for the drive are Mrs. Rosie Tyler, Misses Alice Holt and Adele Phelps and Messrs. Hanson Brooks, Walter S. Mills, George Belt, George Reid, Harvey Ennis and Elijah Arthur.

During the meeting, a panel will be presented, when the theme, "Making Better American Citizens" will be discussed by persons who are professionally serving in the community.

Participants will be Mrs. Flora Andrews, a visiting teacher; Mrs. William H. Richardson, children's librarian; the Rev. Mr. William H. Davis from the church, Leroy Boston, a social worker, and Alexander Wiseman, professor of education, who will represent the Y.

Miss Adele Phelps will be the moderator. The public is urged to attend the meeting, which will be held at the Y building.

George Phelps Jr. is general chairman.

The group has been acclaimed by music critics as a leading choral aggregation, and it is making its initial appearance in Annapolis.

Members of the panel were the Rev. Mr. S. T. Collins, who discussed the relationship of the church to the school; Joseph Turner, the home, and Arthur Brown, the community.

Another highlight of the evening was the celebration of Founders' Day of the PTA, at which time all past presidents were invited to participate. Mrs Margaret Crowner and Mrs. Catherine Tongue were the honorees.

Mrs. Helen Smothers, the principal, gave the purpose of Founders' Day. Mrs. M. Ella Anderson, the fifth grade teacher presented the honorees with a birthday cake.

THE GEORGE WASHINGTON BALL, which was to have been held on Saturday night, Feb. 22, for the benefit of the Anne Arundel County NAACP branch, had to be postponed because of the snow, until Saturday night, March 8.

The public is urged to attend this affair or support this effort in some way, because it is being given for a worthy cause.

We know in the recent years and months, the work of the NAACP has been growing stronger in its fight for justice for our group.

We also know that money is very necessary to make this possible. There are many things in our immediate community that needs to be done by our own branch.

Mrs. Douglas S. King, overall chairman, is asking that all persons who are responsible for tickets, make their final reports at a meeting on Monday night at 7:30 at the YMCA.

Also on this night, Monday night, the executive board of the branch met and set up its committees for its Voters Campaign, which will be launched on Wednesday, March 5.

The Voters Campaign Committee is headed by Milton Hawkins. Others serving with him will be Miss Josephine Young, the Rev. Clarence Davis and Roland Randall.

"Another meeting in connection with the campaign will be held on Monday night at 8:30, when literature will be given to members of the committee. This literature will be distributed among the workers through this group.

The campaign will start in the main area of Annapolis and spread out into the county. Mrs. Talu Hawdesty is president of the local branch.

THE TOWN Choir, a leading choral group of Baltimore, will be presented in concert at the Asbury Methodist Church on Thursday evening, March 7 at 8 p.m.

Sponsored by William Hayes, president of Men's Day, the proceeds from the concert will be for the benefit of this effort.

Frank B. Butler, one of our veteran educators and leading citizens of Annapolis and the State of Maryland, passed over another milestone recently. He was 70 years old on Feb. 10.

Before his retirement last year, which rounded out 47 years of teaching in his life time, he was vice principal of administration of the Wiley H. Bates High School.

Fondly called "Prof," he still contributes his share to the religious, civic and fraternal welfare of his community . . . and it is often that you see him around in the classroom at Bates.

MRS. J. B. BROWN in College Creek Terrace had as her guest for several days, her sister, Mrs. Robert C. Holmes (she's the popular and charming Helen Holmes of Holmes Restaurant and Guest House) of Atlantic City.

Widely known throughout the country, Helen was picked the No. 1 best dressed woman in her home city last year by the Needle Craft Shop on the board walk and the Chamber of Commerce.

Whenever Helen arrives in Annapolis you can be sure she is armed with at least one of her stunning outfits.

She was smart and chic on Sunday in a Christian Dior imported black and white British tweed suit, set off by black jet accessories and trimming.

Her adorable little clutch hat was all black jet and her elbow length antelope gloves were adorned in jets.

Looking down at her feet one saw Christian Dior again in fine antelope set off by black jets.

LITTLE DONNA and Joyce Vauls, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Vauls Jr. in Parole St., had a gay time Saturday afternoon, when they celebrated their birthdays together at a party given by their mother.

These two young lassies have their birthdays in the same month on the same day, yet they are a year apart in age.

Donna was seven and Joyce was six on Saturday. They dress alike, act alike, and like the same things.

They are the grandchildren of the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Preston Vauls Sr. (he's the pastor of Mt. Zion Methodist church in Eastport and John Wesley at Annapolis Neck).

At the party, the children played games and danced. The table was centered with a very pretty birthday cake, decorated in a color scheme of pink and green, having both names and 13 candles on it. The birthday "ward" was carried out in the table accessories.

FAVORS GIVEN the children were party caps decorated in different colors and nursery rhymes.

Ice cream, cookies, sodas, candy and peanuts were enjoyed by the group.

Guests were:

Deborah Makell, Denise Adams, Philip Chambers Jr., Milicent Luck, Bradley Wright, Denise Hicks, Tullica Tubbs, Michael Pellegrino, John Simms, Arthenia Johnson, Deborah Boykins, Reginald Simms, Brenda Brown, Mrs. Georgia Pettigrew and Miss Delores Makell.

Mrs. Vauls was assisted by her daughter, Miss Pauline Heigh; and Miss Mary Murden.

DOWN GALESVILLE WAY—Men's Day was observed at the Ebenezer AME Church on Sunday. At the morning service, the pastor, the Rev. J. C. Taylor, was the speaker.

Guests at the service were the Methodist Men of Mount Zion church, and Joseph Turner of Lows Memorial, West River. Richard G. Thomas of Lothian, lay leader of the Mount Zion group, gave remarks at the service.

At the evening service, the Rev. Harrison Holt, pastor of Adams Chapel, was the speaker, and his choir furnished music. James Randall of Mount Moriah AME Church at Annapolis, was a guest.

The Men's Day organization was as follows:

Leslie Makell, chairman; Benjamin Crowner Jr., James Hicks and William Jackson, captains.

Mrs. Harriet Hull and her family were quite happy to have her return home after the big snow. She was marooned at Crownsville for five days.

Mrs. Margaret Watson of Shadyside spent the week-end here with her foster grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Crowner Sr.

CROWNSVILLE NEWS—The scheduled meeting of the Crownsville Athletic Association has been postponed. A later date will be posted in the employees' cafeteria.

The CAA, which is sponsored by employees in the interest of recreation for the group, has received much cooperation from Miss Elizabeth Moss, hospital administrator, and is grateful to her for her interest in its welfare.

Miss Moss, who has been employed at the hospital for 35 years, is active in civic and political work in Anne Arundel County and is respected and liked by both the administrative staff and hospital personnel.

Several of the doctors in the community have advanced in their profession. Dr. John Hamilton is now an instructor of obstetrics at University Hospital in Baltimore.

Dr. George Phillips is an instructor of psychiatry at Howard University and Dr. John McGee has started a promising practice in Baltimore.

DR. CAMPDEN MAIN and his staff are to be congratulated for the work they are doing in the field of psychiatric research at the hospital. This project could lead to great heights in the treatment of patients in the future.

However, such a project involves much expense, and since it is not included in the hospital budget, donations will be accepted.

Anyone who would be interested in the cause may contact the Department of Mental Hygiene at Baltimore.

The Crownsville basketball team journeyed to Rosewood this week where they challenged the Fort Gate AC of Owings Mills. There will be several events in the employees' recreation room the coming months, to which the public is invited.

The ping pong players and the basketball team will be available for bookings on Mondays, Fridays and Saturday nights. For further information, persons interested may contact Mr. Conn at Victory 9-5881 before 11 a.m. any day.

ALMOST TWINS—Little Donna and Joyce Vauls of Annapolis celebrated their birthdays together on Saturday at a party given in their honor by their mother, Mrs. Preston Vauls, Jr. While the two children are a year apart in age, they were both born on February 19. Donna is 7 and Joyce, 6.

followed testimony by a police officer that the mythical rocket ship which the popular DJ frequently pilots into outer space, failed to orbit early Friday morning following a "misunderstanding" in the 1500 block of Pennsylvania Ave.

PATROLMAN John Barnold testified to the following:

"On the morning of Feb. 21 around 2 a.m., I investigated an altercation in which the defendant was involved.

"That was taken care of and the defendant and the other party was sent on their way.

"Ten minutes later he approached me, he had been drinking, and said, "It's fortunate you didn't lock me up, I would have made a fool out of you in court. You can't lock me up" the officer testified Mr. Hulbert told him.

In answer to the question by Magistrate Fanseen, "was he intoxicated? Officer Barnold answered:

"There's no question about that. He resisted a bit. He wanted to lie down in the street and not go anywhere."

AT THE BEGINNING of the hearing, Mr. Hulbert's attorney, Milton B. Allen attempted to enter a no defense plea for his client but it was turned down by the court.

In denying the motion, Magistrate Fanseen declared; "I'm denying you the right to offer a nolo contendre. You will be allowed to plead either guilty or not guilty."

It was then Mr. Allen asked the court's permission to offer testimony as to his client's character and community activities.

For a character witness the attorney called on James T. Dorsey, owner of a service station at Pennsylvania Ave. and Mosher St., who testified:

"I have been acquainted with Mr. Hulbert ever since he came to Baltimore.

"When I heard of this incident, I was surprised. He has always helped us in the YMCA drive."

Mr. Dorsey added that he worked in the Y drive for the past two years and also conducted a program for teenagers.

"I'm not trying to say that he wouldn't do anything like this for it was evidently done" Mr. Dorsey concluded.

FOLLOWING his testimony, Mr. Allen introduced letters of commendation addressed to Mr Hulbert from more that a half dozen civic groups.

Among the organizations mentioned were the YWCA, Howard University, the Department of Correction, the Radio Club at Baltimore City College and the Baltimore Good Will Association.

After reading a part of each letter, Mr. Allen stated, "this is the kind of man we are dealing with.

"He's been here for seven years and has been a good citizen. What has happened is unusual.

"He does not contest the officer's
