'Mrs. Hamilton, woman of the century,' minister declares

"Mrs. Julia West Hamilton was one of God's best servants of this century, a woman of remarkably candid and clear integrity, compassion and convictions that we are mere servants of Christ working together toward one common end."

This eulogy was made by the Rev. G. Dewey Johnson at funeral services for Mrs. Hamilton at the Metropolitan AME Church Wednesday.

• • •

MORE THAN 1,000 mourners, including D.C. Commissioner Robert E. McLaughlin and educational, civic and Christian leaders of all races, heard the glowing tribute paid to Mrs. Hamilton.

One of the founders and president of the Phyllis Wheatley YWCA, Mrs. Hamilton died at Freedmen's Hospital Saturday at the age of 91.

Affectionately called the "Mother of the District," Mrs. Hamilton had been a leader in the Washington community for 60 years. She was a member of Metropolitan AME Church for 75 years and chairman of its trustee board for 12 years.

• • •

THE REV. Mrs. Rebecca Glover in her prayer spoke of Mrs. Hamilton as "The Christ woman who went about doing good. She gave her all. Let us emulate her."

The Metropolitan AME Choir sang "The Strife is O'er, the Battle Won."

Resolutions were by Dr. Gertrude Rivers of the YMCA, and Mrs. Estelle Webster of Metropolitan AME Church.

DR. MORDECAI W. JOHNSON, president of Howard University, said: "God has done much for us through Mrs. Hamilton. There was something great and supreme in the life of this woman. No matter how difficult the task, she was optimistic.

"The responsible mother of five children, she was homemaker, seamstress, printer and then turned to public life, particularly public school. She served the Parent-Teachers-Association and YWCA with motherliness and resourcefulness.

"In church she was not merely a sitting member, but a motherly statesman. And she saw the NAACP not as an organization, but an instrument for the good of the mother, father and child."

DR. JOHNSON added that a great book is yet to be written about the colored woman who built up the colored people. God gave us a picture in Mrs. Hamilton, he declared.

"I will remember her until I die. God bless the memory."

IN THE Eulogy, the Rev. Mr. Robinson recalled "She said let me die smiling, thinking, faithfully."

"Under the protection of God and by authority of Christ, her spirit is released, mortal to immortality." The choir sang "Peace, Perfect Peace."

Loss of Mrs. Hamilton, Jernagin cited by NAACP

The D.C. Branch NAACP mourned this week the deaths of two outstanding figures in the Washington community. Telegrams of condolences, signed by the branch president, Eugene Davidson, were sent to the families of the Rev. William H. Jernagin and Mrs. Julia West Hamilton.

The telegram to the family of Dr. Jernagin declared:

"The Rev. William Henry Jernagin's vitality, energy and dedication to the welfare and spiritual inspiration to the 100 years indeed is assured NAACP with whom he worked wholeheartedly and sacrificially.

"History will record him as one of the great men of this era."

TO THE HAMILTON family with all who knew her, we mourn with you the loss of a stalwart pioneer in the field of Christian living and civic betterment. Active until her passing the inspiration she gave so many organizations and people emphasizes the loss to the community.

"Her memory will continue to activate those who would emulate a life of sacrificial greatness."

'The world was his pulpit; Mt. Carmel was his heart'

By EDWARD PEEKS

"Dr. Jernagin was strong to the end. He helped himself by helping God to help him. He lived a youthful life. God only knows the amount of good he did."

Such was the eulogy delivered by the Rev. L. W. Perry of Oklahoma City at funeral services Tuesday for the Rev. W. H. Jernagin, 88.

The Rev. Mr. Perry, a lifelong friend of the noted church leader, spoke after more than 30 others paid tribute to the Rev. Mr. Jernagin at Mt. Carmel Baptist Church, Third and I. Sts., NW.

MOURNERS FILLED the church to overflowing, the basement and annex to the main auditorium. The Rev. Mr. Jernagin was Mt. Carmel's pastor for 46 years.

"The world was his pulpit, but Mt. Carmel was his heart," said Miss Ethel M. McDowell, who read the church paper. She summarized the pastor's worldwide leadership that centered around his church and the many organizations that engaged his interests.

Representatives of these various groups spoke of his influence for half a century in church and public affairs.

They represented the range of his interests across lines of race, denomination and religious faiths.

"DR. JERNAGIN, the sun is shining for you," declared Max Gobstein, a Philadelphia businessman, who addressed the deceased in a tearful voice. "The gates of Heaven are open."

Mr. Gobstein noted the noon sunlight streaming through the stained glass windows as he recounted his personal friendship with the Rev. Mr. Jernagin which was like a father to me."

The bereaved family heard others express similar sentiments of their loved one in the bronze casket modestly surrounded with sprays of fresh flowers.

THE MODEST display of flowers was in keeping with the family's wish that expressions be made in form of contributions to the Rev. Mr. Jernagin's favorite charities, instead of flowers. These charities include Cancer and Columbia Lighthouse for the Blind.

The Rev. Mr. Perry said, "It's not where you are born that counts, but what's in you."

He referred to the birth of his friend in Marshalsville, Ga.

The Rev. Mr. Jernagin lived an exemplary life up to the time of his death on Feb. 18 in Mt. Sinai Hospital in Miami, Fla., where he had gone to rest and recuperate from an attack of yellow jaundice.

THE REV. MR. PERRY stressed "the importance of blessings that come with old age."

He told mourners that the life of the Rev. Mr. Jernagin should be emulated for its lesson in living.

"We think about death too much," the Rev. Mr. Perry said. "God wants us to think about living."

Both Mt. Carmel Seminary and Junior choirs sang during the service. Members cried as they sang, "Steal Away to Jesus."

Mrs. Jernagin, the widow, remained calm throughout most of the service that lasted for more than three hours.

PRESIDING WAS the Rev. Andrew Fowler, president of the Baptist Convention of Washington and Vicinity.

Expressions were brought by the Rev. E. C. Estell, general director of the National Sunday School and Baptist Training Union Congress (NSS and BTU) which the Rev. Mr. Jernagin served for 32 years.

The Rev. A. P. Fishbr, dean of NSS and BTU; the Rev. J. L. S. Holloman, president of Washington Baptist Seminary; the Rev. C. C. Adams, secretary of foreign missionary board of the National Baptist Convention; the Rev. C. T. Murray, vice chairman of the Washington Bureau of National Fraternal Council of Churches, of which the Rev. Mr. Jernagin was board chairman.
