TOP ENGLISH ACTOR IN HARLEM'S HORROR FILM

Don't be misled by Sir Donald Wolfit's name.

The happen stance that one bearing so onomatopoeic appelation should play a bloodletting villain in "Blood of the Vampire," now playing to thrill horror fans at the Harlem Theatre, does not alter the fact that Wolfit is one of Britain's most celebrated actors, and its foremost Shakespearean star, and has graced the boards of London in leading roles since 1923.

His knighthood, in recognition of his acting career, was bestowed upon him in 1957.

Nonetheless, he was not above accepting the role of a villain. Like many another notable Briton, Wolfit has no "illusions," and accepted his role as a challenge to better other famous film rogues, including such classic characters as Lugosi's "Dracula," Karloff's "Frankenstein" monster, Fredric March's "Dr. Jekyll" and Alec Guiness' "Fagin."

POITIER HELD OVER FOURTH WEEK AT MET

Sidney Poitier may well look back on the year 1958 as the "best year of his life."

At 34 and regarded as America's foremost tan actor, he has just completed co-starring with Tony Curtis in Stanley Kramer's "The Defiant Ones," held over for the fourth smash week at the Met Theatre, through United Artists release.

This year will also see him in one of the leading role's in "Porgy and Bess."

Poitier, who admits becoming an actor because he thought it would be an "easy way to make a living," has changed his mind about that aspect of his professional life. It is not an "easy way," but it is now his way of life.

This year should give him the same standing with film audiences that he enjoys on Broadway, where he is known for his powerful performances in such shows as "Lysistrata," "Freight" and "Anna Lucasta."

He made his film bow in "No Way Out" in 1949, and has also appeared in "Cry the Beloved Country," "The Blackboard Jungle," "Something of Value", and "Mark of the Hawk."

ROCK N' ROLL IS KING AT ROYAL

The Royal's swinging screen hit is "Let's Rock!," starring teen-age singing idol Julius La Rosa and co-starring Paul Anka, Danny and the Juniors, Roy Hamilton, Wink Martindale, Della Reese, the Royal Teens and the Tyrones.

Randolph Scott stars in "Buchanan Rides Alone," outdoor action drama in Columbia Color, and companion feature on the bill.

Scott plays a Texas adventurer who wanders into a border town famous for its double-dealings—and double-hangings.

NEW REGENT FILM OFFERS NEW FACES

Jerry Wald's CinemaScope, DeLuxe Color study of fighting Marines and their lives and loves, "In Love and War," a Twentieth Century-Fox production now at the Regent Theatre.

Sweeping from the mansions of San Francisco's Bay area to the fishing hamlets of the West Coast, and then to the battle-torn islands of the South Pacific, the picture provides an electric background to the exciting cast headed by seven important young stars.

In keeping with Wald's now famous system of placing known young stars in different sorts of roles, and then sprinkling newcomers in with them—thus providing the audience with an all-new feel, "In Love and War" stars Robert Wagner, Dana Wynter, Jeffrey Hunter, Hope Lange, Bradford Dillman, Sheree North and France Nuyen.

Directed by veteran film-maker Philip Dunne, the picture was filmed at a cost in excess of two and one half million dollars in and around the scenic California seacoast.

The story, adapted for the screen by Edward Anhalt, is taken from Anton Myrer's best-selling novel, "The Big War," and tells of three young men and the effect of the second World War upon them, their girls and their parents.

Wagner portrays a man who tries unsuccessfully to cover his basic insecurities by drinking and a cocky attitude, and manages to find himself in combat, but loses Sheree North, the girl he loves, in the process.

The St. Louis man who lived as a
for over 30 years!!
Fred Demery used two names, fooled Negroes and whites
Fred Demery . . . and that was his real name . . . was a pillar of the Negro church, active in city and state Negro organizations, and a dutiful husband to a Negro wife. Fred Powell, and that was his other name, was a white man. He worked as a receiving clerk for a big hardware company in St. Louis. His friends assumed that he was free, white and over 21. How did this St. Louis man carry out this amusing masquerade for over 30 years? How could he possibly press himself off as both a white and a Negro? Did his Negro friends suspect when he finally confessed? Read, "I Lived Two Lives For Over 30 Years," in the exciting, December issue of EBONY, now on your newsstand.

Carmen--the pretty lady with a voice

By BAKER E. MORTEN

CARMEN McRAE

Jazz stylist Carmen McRae decorated Baltimore with song, charm and beauty Wednesday night—the latter quality nearly stealing the whole show.

A trance-like audience and management gave Miss McRae its undivided attention at a night club here as she whispered a medley of mood tunes in their ears ,and gave them an eyeful to look at to boot.

Carmen's curves were well-hidden by the brilliant red sheath dress she wore, but she fact that they were there never escaped the imagination as she "shifted tense" every now and then while doing her numbers.

Her voice appeared to have a slight hoarseness, especially in the upper ranges, but soulful tune delivery and selection made an asset out of the discrepancy.

MISS McRAE, who recently left Decca and signed a recording contract with Kapp Records of New York, says she's going to Europe next April.

"I'll be my first trip there. I want to see if it's true what they say about Europe," she explained, adding:

"The jazz tours overseas have done a wonderful job in cementing foreign relations."

Carmen's hobby is collecting jazz records. Her favorite artist is Miles Davis, a trumpeter.

OTHER MUSICIANS who capture her fancy as Julian "Cannonball" Adderly (alto sax); Sonny Rollins (tenor sax); Ray Brown and Paul Chambers (bass);

Art Blakey (drums); J. J. Jackson (vibes); Oscar Peterson (piano); Herbie Mann (flute) and Tony Scott (clarinet).

Her favorite big band is Count Basie and her top combo is the Modern Jazz Quartet.

Carmen said she hadn't thought in terms of the future, but said she and singer Sarah Vaughan had once talked of opening a night spot together someday.

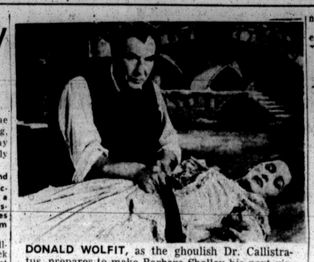
MISS McRAE moves into Washington next Tuesday and later goes to California to finish recording an album with Sammy Davis Jr.

She said she'd like to do a musical play some, but had no desire to make movies.

Her television schedule, she said, would probably include doing the Art Linkletter show when she goes to the West Coast.



DONALD WOLFIT, as the ghoulish Dr. Callistratus, prepares to make Barbara Shelley his next victim in "Blood of the Vampire," the Eros Film in color released by Universal-International which is now playing at the Harlem Theatre. The horror drama delineates incredible practices in a prison for the insane in 19th Century Transylvania, where the werewolf legends persist.

Baltimore Hosts At Two-City Duplicate Bridge Tournament

History repeated itself last Saturday night when the Double Finesse Bridge Club of Baltimore played host to the Washington Bridge Unit in a two - city match, in the Mondawmin recreation hall.

This marked the first officially sanctioned meeting between the two cities in over 25 years, and over 40 Washingtonians made the Baltimore trek to play in the City - Zable tourney.

Departing from the usual standard pairs play. Each of the local players took a visitor as partner in the battle for master points.

On hand were two of the national officers of ABA (American Bridge Association) Victor Daly, national president; and Kermit Ross, national secretary.

PLAY BEGAN, after welcoming remarks by Mr. Daly. A two - section Mitchell movement was used, and after the scores were matched, winning teams were;

Section A, N-S — Delores Agustus - Aubrey Jones; Section A, E-W— Barbara Allan-Alfred Wooleidge; Section B, N-S — Shirley Brown-Victor Daly; Section G, E-W — Kermit Ross-Iris Carr.

The match was directed by Bob Matthews. Other local players on hand included:

Deadline near for overseas mail

Surface Christmas mails destined for civilians in Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico should be mailed by postal patrons by December 1 Postmaster William F. Laukaitis has announced.

This, is necessary, he explained, because of available ship schedules from the port of dispatch, as well as possible delays due to bad weather frequently encountered at this time of year.

This is a deadline schedule, Mr. Laukaitis pointed out. Postal patrons are being advised that even earlier mailings will be an aid to the postal service, as well as provided an additional measure of insurance
